UFOs caught over London

A new video has emerged on YouTube purporting to show "a mothership and its fleet" zipping around in the clouds above a BBC building in West London.

They were caught on camera by a passer-by, and at least one other person, who can be seen taking pictures.

The video shows three white dots flashing across the sky at great speed in a triangle formation, quickly followed by two similar white dots and then a larger, slower disc-shaped object that circles briefly and zips off.
