

available and the high reputation of the workforce.

"The Welsh workforce has proved to be very, industrious, adaptable, have had a bigger budget to purchase Wales. This year's total allocation to

Western Mail 8/4/83

PR Thomas

WALES AND THE WORLD

Now it's The Brawdy Chronicles

REMEMBER MY item about the film being made of the West Wales UFO phenomenon? Now one of my readers has some startling information which could even bring about the downfall of the Secretary of State for Wales, Mr Nicholas Edwards, whose constituency is in Pembrokeshire.

Mrs A M Lockett of Chantry Rise, Penarth, tells me, "I have read all available books on the West Wales manifestations including The Uninvited. It would seem that the story would hold a high degree of authenticity. Until recently I was almost convinced."

But, says Mrs Lockett, "I have recently become aware of the fact that somewhere on the West Wales coast there is a secret United States underwater military base (the largest in the world, it seems).

"There is every reason to believe that it has nuclear connotations, otherwise the silence about its existence would not have been so thunderous," quips our reader.

She believes it lies in the specific area of Ripperstone Farm between Little Haven and Broad Haven, "since the coastline there is riddled with underwater caverns."

The UFO story would not be an unreasonable way of keeping locals (apart from the select few who know) in ignorance by exploiting the UFO story vigorously . . . all while the Americans work on the establishment of the base, in their sophisticated protective clothing and helmets.

Until someone can satisfactorily explain away the secret United States military base, she is unwilling to be convinced otherwise. After all, says Mrs Lockett, Callaghan didn't follow up the UFO sightings in 1976 and 1977, did he?

Mind you, she concludes, she would much rather think that UFOs had visited us than have to put her trust in United States military intentions . . .