

Western Mail 19/4/85
PR Thomas

Mystery of the lights in sky solved

THE mystery of the Star Wars battle raging over Cwmbran has been solved.

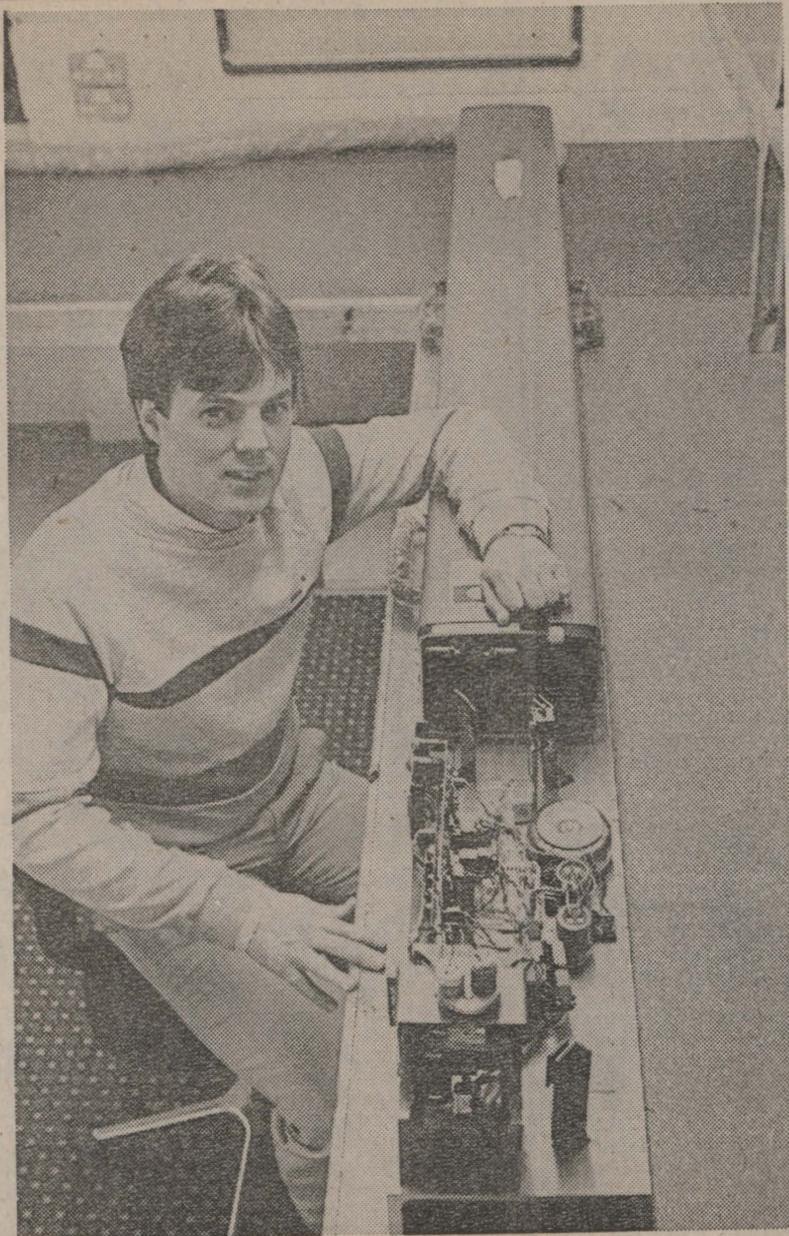

Residents have been baffled in recent nights at the green and blue lights flashing across the town. The phenomenon has even puzzled policemen on the beat at Croesyceiliog and Llantarnam.

But the battle masters have now been exposed as local firm Laser Systems, who have been demonstrating their powerful laser scanners to visiting foreign businessmen.

The scanning systems — the most powerful has a distance of 20 miles — are used for outdoor displays.

The firm have already put on a display at the Cardiff Military Tattoo and even have a laser on top of Blackpool Tower.

"We buy the lasers from the United States and covert them for discos and outdoor events," said a spokeswoman for the firm, whose factory is on the Llantarnam Industrial Park.

● Laser Systems sales director Mr Geoff Jones with one of the company's products.