There must be something

PHILLIP BURROW, of Butts Beck, Dalton, said he believed in a higher force in outer space and that there must be something out there.

He added: "Just leave them alone to get on with it just as we are left to get on with ours."

ANGELA SPIERS, of Newbarns, described herself as a non-believer. She said: "I don't think there is anything out there. Well I hope not, just planets and stars."

She said she believed UFOs were people's imaginations.

DAVE MORRIS of Kendal, said there was something in outer space and thought it was good the scientific community was taking on board

WHAT DO YOU SAY?

A PANEL of international scientists have called for a full-scale investigation of UFOs after concluding some sightings were backed up with compelling physical evidence.

Reporter JODI PINE asked shoppers in Barrow whether they believe there is life in outer space.

reported sightings.

He said: "Outer space is so vast that we are bound not to be the only beings around."

ANDY HEWITT of Ulverston, said extra-terrestrial life could have been possible "but I don't think we'll find it."

He said: "It's so vast it is unlikely we will come together. I don't think we will ever have contact."

He thought there were better things to spend money on than for scientists to search for extra-terrestrials.

ALAN JACKSON of School

Street, Barrow, said: "We can't be the only things alive can we? There's got to be something out there. There has to be life in outer space if there is a planet which is blue and green and is full of life there has to be another one."

ADAM ROOKE of Mosley Street, Barrow, said: "I think there is because it is so big. There must be something, maybe life something a bit like ourselves. I would like to see a UFO. If I did I would tell a scientist."
