Corn circle aliens should shape up

CROP circles are in the news again, a sign that we are in the middle of the summer, albeit a pretty wet and windy one.

The appearance of these pretty designs in the middle of farmers' fields are always hailed by the UFO fraternity as a sign that there is life 'out there'.

Quite why that life, should want to occupy its time coming down to earth to create fancy patterns in fields is a mystery. Surely there must be a better way of communicating? But the thing that bamboozles Off Centre the most is the limited nature of this allegedly extra-terrestrial art form.

After all, one never hears of crop squares, or crop triangles. Is it beyond these aliens' ability to vary their style a little?

Yes she does
