

1

00:00:00,000 --> 00:00:09,300

(crickets and mechanical whirring noise) We are this morning here standing in the tall damp grass in the dark

2

00:00:09,300 --> 00:00:13,200

awaiting the launch of the Antares rocket that's going to carry the Cygnus cargo module to the International

3

00:00:13,200 --> 00:00:20,400

Space Station. T-minus 10. mark Hi, I'm Kay Hire NASA

4

00:00:20,400 --> 00:00:24,420

astronaut. Witnessing a rocket launch in person it

5

00:00:24,420 --> 00:00:29,189

can actually emotionally change you a little bit, once you hear the sound waves

6

00:00:29,189 --> 00:00:34,699

actually kind of hit you. (Crowd: 5-4-3-2-1)

7

00:00:34,699 --> 00:00:40,100

(Rumble and roar)

8

00:00:40,809 --> 00:00:46,789

You actually feel this launch and that is is something very special to 9

00:00:46,789 --> 00:00:53,479

experience in person. Definitely encourage anyone who's never seen a 10

00:00:53,479 --> 00:01:04,539

rocket launch to try to get to one. It's really such a great visible
