00:00:07,250 --> 00:00:09,146

Flight Engineer Sandra Magnus: Space shuttle Discovery arriving.

00:00:09,620 --> 00:00:10,383

NASA Commentator: You can see now that the hatches are open at 6:09 p.m. Central Time, while the shuttle and station were orbiting about 234 miles above the southern ocean southeast of New Zealand.

00:00:14,590 --> 00:00:21,923

00:00:55,760 --> 00:01:00,626

Can see Commander Lee Archambault in the right hand corner of the screen.

00:01:02,950 --> 00:01:03,643

In front of him, Pilot Tony Antonelli.

00:01:04,790 --> 00:01:07,723

In the center, Mission Specialist Joe Acaba.

00:01:09,000 --> 00:01:09,586

Behind him in the white shirt, Mission Specialist Koichi Wakata.

8

00:01:12,680 --> 00:01:16,346

And just floating in, Mission Specialist John Phillips.

00:01:17,770 --> 00:01:23,370

Behind him looks like Mission Specialist Ricky Arnold, coming in holding the camera.

10

00:01:46,770 --> 00:01:48,249

Commander Mike Fincke: All right, to the crew of Discovery,

11

00:01:48,250 --> 00:01:49,350

Welcome aboard our beautiful International Space Station.

12

00:01:50,950 --> 00:01:51,916

We've been waiting for you guys for awhile.

13

00:01:52,850 --> 00:01:54,430

We understand you have a couple of really important things for us.

14

00:01:55,670 --> 00:02:00,936

First and foremost, Koichi-san, first long-duration Japanese guy in space ever,

15

00:02:01,840 --> 00:02:02,840

Welcome aboard!

16

00:02:03,490 --> 00:02:04,073

And we also understand you have a truss out there, more power to us,

17

00:02:07,440 --> 00:02:07,813

Got some spacewalks lined up,

18

00:02:09,000 --> 00:02:09,003

We're excited for that.

19

00:02:10,530 --> 00:02:15,596

And also it's always proper to recognize a former space station crew member,

20

00:02:15,900 --> 00:02:16,016

John, welcome back!

21

00:02:17,050 --> 00:02:17,716

It's gotten a lot bigger since we both first flew on here.

22

00:02:20,250 --> 00:02:21,929

Mission Specialist John Phillips: It's great to be back!

23

00:02:21,930 --> 00:02:22,563

Fincke: So welcome, Lee. Welcome to your entire crew.

24

00:02:24,830 --> 00:02:26,630

We're dang glad to see you.

25

00:02:28,020 --> 00:02:31,396

Commander Lee Archambault: Mike, it's an honor to be here again, a second time for myself and Swanny and 26

00:02:31,910 --> 00:02:35,376

And we're really delighted to join you, Sandy, Yury.

27

00:02:36,670 --> 00:02:38,719

And we got a lot of work to do, and we're looking forward to it
