

Recently On-Board ISS...

Energy

ESA Astronaut Alex Gerst began his session of the ESA Energy investigation. The aim of Energy is to measure changes in energy balance during spaceflight, measure adaptations in the components of the Total Energy Expenditure (consumption) and to derive an equation for the energy requirements of astronauts.