

A close-up view of a large, cylindrical white space station module in orbit. The module has a grid-like structure on its side and is surrounded by various instruments and equipment. In the background, the Earth's blue and white horizon is visible against the blackness of space. A portion of another module with solar panels is visible in the upper left.

SCIENCE LAUNCHING TO SPACE STATION
LOOKS FORWARD AND BACK

