

A satellite image of a tropical storm, Tropical Storm Gordon, showing a well-defined eye and a dense, swirling cloud structure over the ocean. The storm is centered in the lower right quadrant of the frame. The surrounding ocean is visible in shades of blue and green. In the upper left corner, a portion of a satellite or space station structure is visible, including a large black cylindrical component and some solar panel arrays.

Tropical Storm
GORDON