

A photograph taken from space showing the Earth's horizon. A vibrant green aurora borealis (Northern Lights) is visible as a glowing arc across the sky above the horizon. The Earth's surface below is dark and textured, possibly showing clouds or landmasses. The overall scene is set against the blackness of space, with some faint stars visible.

DOWN TO EARTH

1

00:00:00,034 --> 00:00:02,000

[SOFT MUSIC]