

NASA Celebrates

AFRICAN-AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH

1
00:00:06,740 --> 00:00:07,880
Basically what we do as a planner is,

2
00:00:07,880 --> 00:00:09,900
we get to tell the crew what to do.

3
00:00:21,000 --> 00:00:23,440
We put together what's called an OOS, an O-O-S, 4

00:00:23,540 --> 00:00:24,940
which is an on-orbit operations summary,

5
00:00:25,100 --> 00:00:26,760
and it's a six month plan

6
00:00:26,760 --> 00:00:28,640
it's the entire mission

7
00:00:28,640 --> 00:00:30,880
it includes NASA, ESA, JAXA

8
00:00:30,920 --> 00:00:32,820
and Russia, and Houston.

9
00:00:32,900 --> 00:00:36,140
So everybody has something that has to go into this six month plan

10
00:00:36,340 --> 00:00:43,020
then, we get into the WLP or the Weekly Look Ahead Plan phase, and that's two weeks out.

11
00:00:43,060 --> 00:00:48,000
So what we do is take a week out of that six-month plan, and we plan a week at a time

12
00:00:48,020 --> 00:00:49,980
then we break that week into days.

13
00:00:50,320 --> 00:00:52,600

So two weeks out we're doing the weekly plan.

14

00:00:52,720 --> 00:00:54,520

One week out we're doing the daily plans,

15

00:00:54,520 --> 00:00:56,580

then they execute the next week.

16

00:01:00,960 --> 00:01:03,640

That's one of the things we come across is, things break.

17

00:01:03,680 --> 00:01:05,700

there's re-planning that goes on,

18

00:01:05,700 --> 00:01:07,560

like, the timeline change officer.

19

00:01:07,580 --> 00:01:09,120

one of our planning positions in the front room, 20

00:01:09,120 --> 00:01:13,100

that's what they do, if the timeline goes up in smoke

21

00:01:13,120 --> 00:01:14,760

they've got to re-plan for the next day.

22

00:01:18,540 --> 00:01:21,080

That's the coolest thing, actually, to look up on 23

00:01:21,120 --> 00:01:23,300

NASA Select, or look up on TV

24

00:01:23,300 --> 00:01:25,100

and say "Hey, I planned that, I did that"

25

00:01:25,220 --> 00:01:26,340

so, that's a cool feeling.

26

00:01:30,560 --> 00:01:35,300

We are snackaholics. You will not starve in the planning room, that's for sure.