00:00:00,000 --> 00:00:03,040

powerful monarchs.

00:00:03,040 --> 00:00:08,000

Ramsay felt that he should have absolute control over everything.

00:00:08,000 --> 00:00:11,000

Ruling by divine right.

00:00:11,000 --> 00:00:16,000

Tracing royal lineage back to a god implies great wisdom,

00:00:16,000 --> 00:00:18,000

almost celestial power.

00:00:18,000 --> 00:00:21,000

Centuries old dynasties,

00:00:21,000 --> 00:00:23,000

amassing enormous wealth.

00:00:23,000 --> 00:00:28,000

The royal family is one of the most successful organizations in the world.

00:00:28,000 --> 00:00:34,000

And legendary leaders wielding powerful weapons of mass destruction.

10

00:00:34,000 --> 00:00:39,000

What we're being told that this was extraterrestrial technology.

11

00:00:39,000 --> 00:00:44,000

Did the power and authority of the world's great kings come from mortal deeds?

12

00:00:44,000 --> 00:00:48,000

Or was it granted from other worldly sources?

13

00:00:48,000 --> 00:00:52,000

The rulers saw themselves as direct descendants of gods.

14

00:00:52,000 --> 00:00:56,000

And those gods apparently were extraterrestrials.

15

00:00:56,000 --> 00:01:01,000

Millions of people around the world believe we have been visited in the past

16

00:01:01,000 --> 00:01:04,000

by extraterrestrial beings.

17

00:01:04,000 --> 00:01:07,000

What if it were true?

18

00:01:07,000 --> 00:01:11,000

Did ancient aliens really help to shape our history?

19

00:01:11,000 --> 00:01:19,000

And if so, might they have guided us through our emperors, kings and pharaohs?

20

00:01:26,000 --> 00:01:32,000

The Great King of the West

21

00:01:32,000 --> 00:01:41,000

The Great King of the West

22

00:01:41,000 --> 00:01:48,000

The Great King of the West

23

00:01:48,000 --> 00:01:54,000

The Great King of the West

24

00:01:54,000 --> 00:02:01,000

Westminster Abbey, London, June 2, 1953

25

00:02:01,000 --> 00:02:08,000

27 year old Elizabeth Alexandra Mary is crowned Queen Elizabeth II of England.

26

00:02:08,000 --> 00:02:17,000

She has inherited the British throne, following the death of her father, King George VI.

27

00:02:17,000 --> 00:02:23,000

During the coronation ceremony, the young monarch swears to uphold the laws of God

28

and is anointed with sacred oil.

29

00:02:26,000 --> 00:02:33,000

It is an initiation ritual that has remained unchanged for more than a thousand years.

30

00:02:33,000 --> 00:02:40,000

There's a very interesting connection between the Bible and the British monarchy.

31

00:02:40,000 --> 00:02:46,000

So when you actually examine the oath that the family would swear to,

32

it describes the Bible as the oracles of God.

33

00:02:52,000 --> 00:03:00,000

It is said in the Divine Rite of Kings that God chose and appointed these rulers.

34

00:03:00,000 --> 00:03:07,000

Throughout human history, powerful monarchs have created laws, fought wars,

35

and explored vast regions of the globe.

36

00:03:11,000 --> 00:03:16,000

They have also used the wealth of their lands to wield enormous power, and all while claiming that they've received their authority from an even higher, otherworldly origin.

37

38

00:03:23,000 --> 00:03:27,000

This is something we see a lot in highly stratified societies,

39

this belief that the royalty actually was a different sort of person than the common man.

40

00:03:33,000 --> 00:03:37,000

Therefore this somehow justified their position at the top of the hierarchy.

41

And this is usually done religiously to say that, in a sense,

42

00:03:40,000 --> 00:03:45,000

the kings or the rulers or the pharaohs or whoever were to some degree divine.

43

00:03:46,000 --> 00:03:53,000

There's no question that those in control believed that they had the connection with the divine.

44

00:03:53,000 --> 00:03:58,000

They had the connection with the gods. They had the connection with the otherworld.

45

00:04:02,000 --> 00:04:07,000

Is it possible that ancient rulers were, in fact, connected to divine,

46

or some would say extraterrestrial forces?

47

00:04:12,000 --> 00:04:17,000

And if so, how and what was their purpose?

48

00:04:17,000 --> 00:04:20,000

According to ancient astronaut theorists,

49

00:04:20,000 --> 00:04:27,000

part of the answer can be found by looking into the extraordinary origins of the Egyptian pharaohs.

50

00:04:32,000 --> 00:04:34,000

Abu-Simble, Egypt.

51

00:04:35,000 --> 00:04:40,000

Here on the western bank of Lake Nasser are two massive rock temples.

52

00:04:41,000 --> 00:04:49,000

Carved out of the mountainside, they were built during the reign of Pharaoh Ramses II in the 13th century BC.

53

00:04:51,000 --> 00:05:00,000

Ramses II, also known as Ramses the Great, was probably the greatest of the builders of the ancient Egyptian pharaohs.

54

00:05:00,000 --> 00:05:05,000

He did this basically to impress upon everybody just how great he was.

55

00:05:05,000 --> 00:05:07,000

He was a great god.

56

00:05:09,000 --> 00:05:17,000

What he created was a series of absolutely gigantic statues of himself and certain gods,

57

00:05:17,000 --> 00:05:26,000

which formed the entrance into a rock cut series of inner temples, shrines and ruins.

58

00:05:29,000 --> 00:05:34,000

Ramses is forever here. When one comes here, you almost feel him around.

59

00:05:34,000 --> 00:05:44,000

He leaves this great temple here so that he could constantly communicate with his cosmic afterwards and his earthly domain.

60

00:05:47,000 --> 00:05:55,000

Within the main temple of Abu-Simble are statues of Ramses depicted, not just as a mortal king and warrior,

61

00:05:55,000 --> 00:05:58,000

but as the Egyptian god of the afterlife, Osiris.

62

00:05:59,000 --> 00:06:07,000

According to the pyramid texts, ancient Egyptian religious writings that date back to the 24th century BC,

63

00:06:07,000 --> 00:06:16,000

Osiris was the offspring of the earth god Gep and the sky goddess, Newt, and often portrayed as green skinned.

64

00:06:17,000 --> 00:06:25,000

He was considered to be a wise and beloved ruler who married his sister Isis and was murdered by his brother Set.

65

00:06:26,000 --> 00:06:30,000

Osiris and Set were in conflict.

66

00:06:30,000 --> 00:06:42,000

The story goes that Set, being jealous of his more successful brother, kills him and cuts his body into 14 pieces.

67

00:06:44,000 --> 00:06:50,000

Isis, in despair, collects the bodies and performs the first magical ritual of resurrection.

68

00:06:51,000 --> 00:07:00,000

Isis, the wife and sister, finds a way to revive Osiris briefly and conceive a son, the son as a god, the god Horus.

69

00:07:02,000 --> 00:07:15,000

Horus blows up and avenges his father, defeats Set, and becomes the first Horus king of the land of Egypt, the cosmic land of Egypt, the land of the gods.

70

00:07:16,000 --> 00:07:25,000

Is it possible that Ramsay's the second was, as he claimed, an actual physical descendant of Osiris?

71

00:07:26,000 --> 00:07:38,000

And if the legends are to be believed, does this lineage suggest that Ramsay's was, in fact, an extraterrestrial hybrid, part human, part so-called god?

72

00:07:39,000 --> 00:07:46,000

As Pharaoh, Ramsay's considered himself the embodiment of Horus.

73

00:07:47,000 --> 00:08:05,000

Essentially, the son got on earth during his lifetime and then once he passed on to the afterlife, he became essentially one with the gods, forming his rightful place in the everlasting pantheons of the gods.

74

00:08:06,000 --> 00:08:12,000

The myth of Osiris was extremely important in the credibility of the rulers of Egypt.

75

00:08:13,000 --> 00:08:25,000

Every Pharaoh saw himself as a reincarnation of Horus, the god of the daylight, the god of life, and the personification of Osiris, the god of the unseen and the underworld, the afterlife.

76

00:08:26,000 --> 00:08:42,000

And so consequently, the reason in ancient Egypt that the Pharaoh had the right to tell you exactly what to do and you had to obey him was because he was a direct descendant of a god, in fact, a demigod himself.

77

Was Ramsay's the second's otherworldly connection the reason he became one of the most powerful pharaohs in ancient Egypt?

78

00:08:53,000 --> 00:09:04,000

And what does this say about Egypt's other legendary rulers? Could they have been, as their legends claim, actual descendants of extraterrestrial beings?

79

00:09:05,000 --> 00:09:14,000

According to researchers, additional evidence can be found in the design and construction of the Abu-Simbal temples.

80

00:09:15,000 --> 00:09:26,000

In the Osirian Hall, amazing how they carved this out of the living rock. Slowly cutting, slowly fashioning, and they produced this. It's stoning.

81

00:09:27,000 --> 00:09:45,000

The temple at Abu-Simbal was built with astonishing precision. Twice a year, light from the morning sun traveled down the entire expanse of the temple cave to the very back wall, illuminating the statue of Ramses seated amongst the gods.

82

00:09:46,000 --> 00:10:05,000

Ramses saw himself as a living god and because of this, he felt that he should have this absolute control over everything, that he himself could even get the sun to shine in this way, as if the sun itself was working on behalf of him.

83

00:10:06,000 --> 00:10:23,000

But how and why did Ramses design and build such a sophisticated structure more than 3,000 years ago? Was it designed to channel some cosmic or otherworldly power?

00:10:24,000 --> 00:10:37,000

The world of the spirit and the world of matter seemed divided at times, but a great leader like Ramses II understands that the mysteries need to be concrete. There's a need for building.

85

00:10:37,000 --> 00:10:51,000

And in these monuments and palaces and other structures that Ramses built, there will be depictions of himself as a god or in the company of gods showing a divine connection to his rule and to the people.

86

00:10:52,000 --> 00:11:09,000

There are stories in which Ramses himself claims that he was in direct contact with the guardians of the sky. Now who were these guardians of the sky? Were they just fantasy or did they really exist?

87

00:11:10,000 --> 00:11:30,000

Ramses II and all the Egyptian pharaohs, they saw themselves as direct descendants of gods and their genetic material and their blood was the same blood that was coming from the gods. And those gods apparently were extraterrestrials.

88

00:11:31,000 --> 00:11:52,000

Is it possible, as ancient astronaut theorists suggest, that the legends and stories of Osiris, along with the architectural wonders like the temples of Abu Simbel, provide evidence that the pharaohs of ancient Egypt had, in fact, otherworldly origins?

89

00:11:53,000 --> 00:12:02,000

And if so, might similar legends of divine rulers throughout the world reveal extraterrestrial connections?

90

00:12:03,000 --> 00:12:11,000

Perhaps the answers can be found by examining the celestial origins of some of Asia's greatest emperors.

91

00:12:11,000 --> 00:12:13,000

The Yellow Emperor

92

00:12:18,000 --> 00:12:20,000

Xinjiang, China

93

00:12:22,000 --> 00:12:32,000

It was here that Wang Di, a mythical ancient leader known as the Yellow Emperor, is believed to have reigned throughout the 27th century BC.

94

00:12:33,000 --> 00:12:52,000

Viewed by many as the father of Chinese culture, the Yellow Emperor has been credited with creating traditional Chinese medicine, such as acupuncture, and introducing advancements like wooden houses, the bow and arrow, bronze coins, and a written language.

95

00:12:53,000 --> 00:13:08,000

The Yellow Emperor is, according to most Chinese, a legendary figure. He's a cultural hero as well as a ruler. But at the same time, he's also believed to be actually the founder of Chinese civilization.

96

00:13:09,000 --> 00:13:18,000

In fact, just about everything that you would think as the basic elements of civilization is somehow associated with the Yellow Emperor.

97

00:13:22,000 --> 00:13:37,000

According to some researchers, the Yellow Emperor, like other ancient rulers, possessed otherworldly power. And they believe the proof can be found by looking at the celestial origins of this mysterious leader.

98

00:13:39,000 --> 00:13:47,000

Like the Egyptians, the ancient Chinese believed their emperors received their powers and abilities from the heavens.

99

00:13:47,000 --> 00:14:01,000

The Chinese emperor is actually called the Son of Heaven. What that means is that the emperor earns his right to rule people because he received a certain guidance from heaven to rule.

100

00:14:02,000 --> 00:14:17,000

Heaven is always sending down these messages telling the emperor when is the best time to harvest, when is the best time to sow seeds, when to actually wage a war. So it's very important for the emperor then to read the signs.

101

00:14:18,000 --> 00:14:41,000

According to ancient Chinese legends, the Yellow Emperor was floating through space. He saw that the people of Earth were sad and poor. But he saw potential. So in order to help the people, he descended from the sky.

102

00:14:42,000 --> 00:14:48,000

And taught those people different scientific disciplines.

103

00:14:49,000 --> 00:15:02,000

The Yellow Emperor comes down to bring comfort, order and leadership to his people. So there is a direct connection between the divine realms and the beginnings of our personality, our identity, our nation.

104

00:15:03,000 --> 00:15:12,000

According to legend, after ruling for 100 years, the Yellow Emperor made preparations to leave his earthly kingdom.

105

00:15:14,000 --> 00:15:25,000

After Wang Di's work was done on planet Earth, he returned to the stars. And he did this by doing something very specific.

106

00:15:26,000 --> 00:15:35,000

He installed a cauldron. And the moment he installed that thing, according to the ancient legends, the heavens opened.

107

00:15:39,000 --> 00:15:48,000

The Yellow Dragon comes down from the heavens. And he rides the dragon out into the stars and becomes stars himself.

108

00:15:49,000 --> 00:16:09,000

Mysterious cauldrons. Flying dragons. Could these fantastic notions really have played a part in the fate of China's Yellow Emperor? Or is there another, perhaps more plausible explanation?

109

00:16:10,000 --> 00:16:32,000

Are we really just talking about folklore here? Or did something actually happen in real life? And of course the answer is that something was witnessed by our ancestors that they could best describe with the vocabulary that was available to them at the time.

110

00:16:33,000 --> 00:16:46,000

When we look at the story of the Yellow Emperor ascending into heaven, this to me sounds like a description of some type of UFO encounter. It's very possible that the Yellow Emperor was actually traveling on a UFO.

111

00:16:46,000 --> 00:17:13,000

Is it possible the Yellow Emperor was in fact an extraterrestrial being, one that traveled to and from Earth by means of a spacecraft? If so, might there be similar descriptions of close encounters found in the historical accounts of other, perhaps even more mysterious, far Eastern emperors?

112

00:17:17,000 --> 00:17:21,000

Japan, 660 BC.

113

00:17:22,000 --> 00:17:27,000

Emperor Jimo becomes the first ruler of the island nation's imperial family.

114

00:17:28,000 --> 00:17:38,000

According to legend, the ancient Japanese also believed Jimo was the direct descendant of the sun goddess, Amaterasu.

115

00:17:39,000 --> 00:18:02,000

The Japanese people worshipped a deity named Amaterasu, who was believed to shine like the sun. She sent her descendants to Earth in order to bring order out of chaos. Japan's first emperor, Jimo, directly connected himself as a descendant of Amaterasu, therefore setting up his lineage in connection to this divinity.

116

00:18:03,000 --> 00:18:20,000

He was the man who united the island of Japan's various warring factions into one country, and all emperors since Jimo have all claimed descent from the sun goddess.

117

00:18:21,000 --> 00:18:29,000

And the reason why the Japanese flag has this rising sun is that it represents the descent from the sun goddess.

118

00:18:32,000 --> 00:18:44,000

According to legend, the sun goddess Amaterasu gave three gifts to Jimo, a mirror, a jewel, and a sword.

119

00:18:45,000 --> 00:18:54,000

Known as the Imperial Regalia of Japan, it is believed that with these divine artifacts, Jimo was able to control his empire.

120

00:18:54,000 --> 00:19:17,000

Apart from the emperor and a few elite priests, no one's ever allowed to see them. So where they are, nobody knows, but it is said that in three separate shrines in Japan, which are also tourist attractions, somewhere deep inside them, the priesthood keeps these secret crown jewels that no one is ever allowed to see.

121

00:19:17,000 --> 00:19:33,000

But what unique powers might these three divine gifts have possessed? Might they have been not merely symbols of power, but examples of highly advanced extraterrestrial technology?

122

00:19:34,000 --> 00:19:39,000

According to legend, this mirror was quite extraordinary.

123

00:19:39,000 --> 00:19:53,000

They say in this mirror he could see what happened at every minute around all the islands in the Pacific oceans. At every minute. So what is this mirror? Some technical device?

124

00:19:54,000 --> 00:20:16,000

So what is it that we're looking at here? Well, if you look at it from a perspective of misunderstood technology, then next time you look at your computer monitor and you look at a YouTube clip from, let's say, the Iguazu Falls, then you're looking at a magic mirror that shows you everything in the world.

125

00:20:16,000 --> 00:20:35,000

And you have to wonder here whether these objects had more power than just an ordinary thing. And perhaps they were actually highly technical objects given to him by extraterrestrials, by the gods, to help him as the first emperor.

00:20:35,000 --> 00:21:04,000

Might Jemu's mirror really have been a technological device given to the emperor in an effort to help him rule his people? Does it suggest the emperor was actually an alien being? Or was he a human messenger employed by the gods to impose order and propagate the notion that otherworldly visitors were to be regarded by humans as gods?

127

00:21:05,000 --> 00:21:20,000

Perhaps the proof can be found by examining the legends of other ancient kings and rulers. Rulers, who some believe, had even more powerful and deadly extraterrestrial technology.

128

00:21:20,000 --> 00:21:47,000

November 13, 2012. Every fall, Hindus throughout the world celebrate in a festival of lights called Diwali. Diwali is a five-day festival of lights, which is as important to the Hindus as Christmases to Christians.

129

00:21:48,000 --> 00:21:52,000

The Hindus celebrate this festival with great reverence.

130

00:21:52,000 --> 00:22:05,000

The festival commemorates King Rama, one of the most popular figures of Hinduism. But just who was King Rama? And why is this ancient leader so revered, even to this day?

131

00:22:08,000 --> 00:22:16,000

Hindus believe that Rama was a real, physically historical king who lived 7,000 years ago.

132

00:22:17,000 --> 00:22:29,000

Now, Rama was supposed to bring writing and enlightenment and philosophy and all sorts of various other engineering skills to humanity.

133

00:22:30,000 --> 00:22:42,000

In Hindu mythology, Rama is described as the embodiment of truth and goodness. And it is said that he was a reincarnation of the blue-skinned god Vishnu.

134

00:22:43,000 --> 00:22:54,000

According to the Hindu texts, Rama's rise to power began after a battle he waged with a ten-headed demon king named Ravana, who had kidnapped his wife.

135

00:22:58,000 --> 00:23:07,000

Rama goes in search of his wife, who was kidnapped by Ravana. There's a long battle between Ravana and Rama and his army.

136

00:23:08,000 --> 00:23:17,000

Rama used an incredibly sophisticated device called the brahmastra to kill the demon king and rescue his wife.

137

00:23:25,000 --> 00:23:30,000

Known to cause severe damage, it was a weapon for which there was no defense.

138

00:23:31,000 --> 00:23:45,000

Brahmastra is the most deadliest weapon ever conceived, ever produced in Hinduism. And Brahmastra, obviously, as the name suggests, it was created by God Brahma himself.

139

00:23:46,000 --> 00:23:56,000

It was a weapon that was so powerful that when it was used, it would absolutely annihilate the enemy completely.

140

00:23:59,000 --> 00:24:07,000

And would also make the whole environment around where the weapon was used completely desolate.

141

00:24:08,000 --> 00:24:16,000

What this sounds like is something that we would create today, but it actually sounds like the effects of a nuclear bomb.

142

00:24:23,000 --> 00:24:32,000

Might the brahmastra, as described in ancient Indian texts, really have existed? And if so, where did it come from?

143

00:24:33,000 --> 00:24:42,000

Might it have been something like a nuclear weapon, one created by the gods and used by Rama thousands of years ago?

00:24:43,000 --> 00:25:00,000

In the case of the ancient Indian epics, what we're being told is that this was technology of the gods, that this was extraterrestrial technology, which was somehow used, where at least could be used on planet Earth and which could result in the complete destruction or annihilation of the human species.

145

00:25:01,000 --> 00:25:06,000

Did King Rama possess a deadly, perhaps nuclear power?

146

00:25:10,000 --> 00:25:20,000

If so, do the stories of the brahmastra help to prove that Rama and other ancient rulers like him descended from extraterrestrial beings?

147

00:25:21,000 --> 00:25:25,000

Sanjeev India

148

00:25:26,000 --> 00:25:34,000

Here, 400 miles south of New Delhi, lies the Great Stupa, a dome-shaped Buddhist shrine.

149

00:25:36,000 --> 00:25:48,000

This incredible structure was first commissioned in the 3rd century BC by Ashoka the Great, an emperor who ruled over most of India by 263 BC.

150

00:25:50,000 --> 00:26:00,000

Ashoka the Great was intent in conquering all of India, so there was one place that he had not been able to conquer, and he finally mounts this attack.

151

00:26:01,000 --> 00:26:06,000

It is said that many thousands of people were killed, the soldiers, from both sides.

152

00:26:07,000 --> 00:26:19,000

When he went to the battleground, he became very, very moved by this horrendous scene, and then he became a changed man, and he devoted all of his time in propagating the peaceful message of the Buddha.

00:26:21,000 --> 00:26:40,000

But according to the 2nd century Sanskrit text called the Ashoka Vedana, there is another, even more profound tale describing Ashoka's transformation from brutal tyrant to religious leader, one that some believe provides evidence of an otherworldly influence.

00:26:41,000 --> 00:26:51,000

A wandering monk was imprisoned by Ashoka, throws this man into a cauldron and wants to boil him alive.

155

00:26:52,000 --> 00:26:56,000

At this point, the monk levitates up into the air.

156

00:26:57,000 --> 00:27:05,000

The eyewitness reports say that the monk's body was half-fired and half-flowing water.

157

00:27:06,000 --> 00:27:12,000

Ashoka was so amazed by what he saw that he completely shut down the torture prisons.

158

00:27:13,000 --> 00:27:23,000

After Ashoka's conversion, he gets so engaged in the Buddhist tradition that he begins building stupas, most notably the one at Sanjhi.

159

00:27:24,000 --> 00:27:33,000

Like other stupas throughout Asia, Ashoka's great monument has become one of the most important places of Buddhist pilgrimage.

160

00:27:35,000 --> 00:27:41,000

Pilgrims would make a visit to the stupa in order to receive blessings and prayer energy.

161

00:27:42,000 --> 00:27:53,000

Ashoka built stupas and other structures throughout Asia that were inscribed with his teachings, and from this we get the idea that he was trying to communicate through stone throughout time and generations.

162

00:27:54,000 --> 00:27:58,000

But just what was Ashoka trying to communicate?

163

00:27:59,000 --> 00:28:06,000

Is it possible, as some researchers believe, that Ashoka had experienced an extraterrestrial encounter?

164

00:28:09,000 --> 00:28:19,000

And if so, might stupas actually represent something much more technological and with origins even more out of this world?

165

00:28:20,000 --> 00:28:33,000

When you look at the structure of these stupas, it certainly appears as if there may be some reference being made in their shape to actual extraterrestrial piloted vehicles.

166

00:28:34,000 --> 00:28:42,000

This may be related to the Hindu legend of the Vimana, which is allegedly a noiseless wingless aircraft that flies through the air.

167

00:28:43,000 --> 00:29:00,000

Vimana's are described in the Hindu epics, and their mission is to transport guards primarily, and the guards are the owners of these vehicles because they are worthy of traveling through space very fast.

168

00:29:01,000 --> 00:29:14,000

These people built in stone objects which they seem to have seen in the sky, in flight, at some point no doubt landed on the surface of the earth as well.

169

00:29:15,000 --> 00:29:23,000

When these objects left, they began to build them in stone so that they would have the reminders that this was the instruments in which the gods came to them.

170

00:29:24,000 --> 00:29:35,000

Might the Great Stupa really have been built to symbolize Vimana's, the mythological flying machines described in ancient Hindu texts?

171

00:29:35,000 --> 00:29:48,000

And if so, might this provide even more compelling proof that powerful leaders like Rama and Ashoka the Great were in direct contact with extraterrestrial beings?

172

00:29:49,000 --> 00:30:01,000

Perhaps additional evidence can be found by looking at the extraordinary bloodline of one of the most powerful and enduring royal families in human history.

173

00:30:08,000 --> 00:30:11,000

London, England, June 2012.

174

00:30:12,000 --> 00:30:20,000

Queen Elizabeth II celebrates her diamond jubilee, commemorating 60 years on the British throne.

175

00:30:22,000 --> 00:30:34,000

The 87-year-old monarch presides over the United Kingdom and 15 Commonwealth realms with a combined population of more than 134 million people.

176

00:30:35,000 --> 00:30:44,000

Her grandsons, Prince William and Prince Harry, are heirs to the throne in the line of succession after their father, Prince Charles.

177

00:30:47,000 --> 00:30:55,000

But from where does the British monarchy claim its authority? And what are the origins of its vast wealth and symbolic power?

178

00:30:56,000 --> 00:31:11,000

Queen Elizabeth II has sat on the throne since 1952 and she has huge prestige because the royal family in this country is one of the most successful organizations, institutions in the world.

179

00:31:12,000 --> 00:31:28,000

One of the most important things for any leader is their bloodline to be continued. We want the best for our own children, our own offspring, as if it's some form of immortality.

180

00:31:29,000 --> 00:31:36,000

The succession of power in ancient civilizations depended very much on bloodlines.

181

00:31:42,000 --> 00:31:53,000

Like other European monarchies, the British royal family has fiercely protected the integrity of its bloodlines for thousands of years. But why?

182

00:31:54,000 --> 00:31:59,000

What exactly is so unique or significant about royal bloodlines?

183

00:32:00,000 --> 00:32:10,000

Various leaders of ancient cultures went to considerable lengths to make sure that their own bloodline continued as the ruling elite.

00:32:11,000 --> 00:32:26,000

For example, the pharaohs of Egypt married their own sisters or mothers. The famous Tutankhamun was married to his own sister and previous to that he was married to his own grandmother so that they could keep the blood within the same family.

185

00:32:30,000 --> 00:32:39,000

So if you were of the same blood as Sirens, Remises, Alexander II, Leonidas of Sparta, you had some kind of claim to recognition.

186

00:32:40,000 --> 00:32:50,000

In the ancient world, it was seen as extending to the right to rule. It gave legitimacy, it gave continuity, it gave certainty.

187

00:32:51,000 --> 00:33:02,000

That is still recognized in some respects now. We have had, for instance, father and son presence in the United States. We've had a series of members of the same family running India.

188

00:33:03,000 --> 00:33:11,000

We have even had tyrannies, North Korea, father, son, inheritance. It's extraordinary the extent to which this still exists.

189

00:33:12,000 --> 00:33:27,000

It is important for people to feel their leaders are extraordinary, not common. So much is focused on the bloodlines. Have they descended from the gods? Have they descended from rulers that were unusually exceptional?

190

00:33:28,000 --> 00:33:40,000

And it was something that they would obviously pass on into the successive generations so that if you had that blood, you also had that pair of connection with the gods.

00:33:43,000 --> 00:33:54,000

According to some researchers, the bloodline of Queen Elizabeth II can be traced all the way back to that of a mythical deity named Woden.

192

00:33:55,000 --> 00:34:03,000

If we look closely, the current monarch, Queen Elizabeth II, could trace lineage to Woden through the kings of Wessex.

193

00:34:05,000 --> 00:34:12,000

Woden is supposedly an ancient king. He is obviously a variation on the Norse god Odin or the German Votan.

194

00:34:13,000 --> 00:34:26,000

But he is a mighty, powerful, furious leader, a semi-god or a god in his own right. He is also a warrior leader, so he is a very exciting, ecstatic energy.

195

00:34:27,000 --> 00:34:46,000

Now, interestingly, the legends associated with this god Woden was that usually around midwinter, the god Woden would lead a great hunt across the skies.

196

00:34:47,000 --> 00:34:52,000

All these horsemen would be seen flying across the skies.

197

00:34:54,000 --> 00:35:02,000

It's described that when Woden would pass overhead that people would witness seeing strong winds and hearing thunderous claps of sound.

198

00:35:05,000 --> 00:35:10,000

And Woden, in some legends, was said to have been seen riding an eight-legged horse.

199

00:35:11,000 --> 00:35:25,000

In ancient English legends, Woden was known as the god of wind, and whenever he appeared, he flew across the sky in a fiery eight-legged horse.

200

00:35:26,000 --> 00:35:28,000

Now, what does that mean?

201

00:35:29,000 --> 00:35:42,000

Whatever it was they encountered that they witnessed up in the sky could best be described as an eight-legged horse because they didn't have the vocabulary for spacecraft.

202

00:35:43,000 --> 00:35:58,000

But did, as mainstream scholars suggest, Queen Elizabeth's ancestors simply claim a blood connection to Woden in an effort to strengthen and legitimize their reign.

203

00:35:59,000 --> 00:36:06,000

Or is it possible that the British monarch is an actual flesh-and-blood descendant of other worldly beings?

204

00:36:07,000 --> 00:36:20,000

Tracing royal lineage back to a god implies great wisdom, almost celestial power, a connection to the divine, truly making the gods on our side.

205

00:36:27,000 --> 00:36:35,000

Kings and queens all over the world, particularly in Europe, they are from a special bloodline, and they make a big deal of that.

206

00:36:36,000 --> 00:36:43,000

So you have to ask yourself, what is it about their blood, as opposed to other people's blood that's so special?

207

00:36:46,000 --> 00:36:55,000

Might ancient royalties possible extraterrestrial origins explain why monarchs have protected their bloodlines for centuries?

208

00:36:55,000 --> 00:37:00,000

Or might there be another, even more biological reason?

209

00:37:01,000 --> 00:37:11,000

What if the proof could be seen with the naked eye, not in ancient monuments or deciphered texts, but in our own DNA?

210

00:37:18,000 --> 00:37:22,000

The Mongol Empire in the 13th century AD.

211

00:37:23,000 --> 00:37:33,000

This massive kingdom, one that stretched from the Caspian Sea to the Sea of Japan, was forged by the Emperor Genghis Khan.

212

00:37:35,000 --> 00:37:47,000

Uniting the nomadic tribes of northeast Asia, historians believe that by the time of his death in 1227, Genghis Khan ruled over as many as 100 million people.

213

00:37:48,000 --> 00:37:57,000

Many people think of the great empires of the world, such as the Roman Empire, the Empire of Alexander the Great, or the British Empire.

214

00:37:57,000 --> 00:38:04,000

The greatest in land mass area the world has ever seen was the Empire of Genghis Khan.

215

00:38:04,000 --> 00:38:12,000

He and his immediate descendants conquered all of China, conquered most of what's now Russia and half of Europe.

216

00:38:13,000 --> 00:38:21,000

It was an astonishing empire and built by people who had had really no proper civilization before that.

217

00:38:22,000 --> 00:38:34,000

Although generally believed to be a brutal and bloody conqueror, Genghis Khan also brought communication, technology, justice, and prosperity to his people.

218

00:38:35,000 --> 00:38:41,000

He attributed his success to Tengri, the god of the eternal blue sky.

219

00:38:42,000 --> 00:38:57,000

Genghis Khan was known to disappear for days and climb the most sacred mountain of Asia in order to commune with Tengri, who imparted to him not only battle plans, but spiritual capability that made him the amazing leader that he was.

220

00:38:58,000 --> 00:39:10,000

Genghis Khan believed Tengri to be his sky father and claimed that he had a direct genetic connection with Tengri. He even referred to himself as a man from the sky.

221

00:39:11,000 --> 00:39:18,000

Now, if this is actually the case, Genghis Khan might have some type of extraterrestrial component to him.

222

00:39:18,000 --> 00:39:24,000

We know that scientifically today, one in 200 people can actually be traced back to Genghis Khan.

223

00:39:25,000 --> 00:39:34,000

So if Genghis Khan does have any extraterrestrial genetics to him, it's possible that over 16 million people now share the same gene.

224

00:39:37,000 --> 00:39:45,000

Is it possible that Genghis Khan did in fact have extraterrestrial ancestry as he himself claimed?

225

00:39:46,000 --> 00:39:53,000

And if so, might evidence of that alien biology appear in certain bloodlines, even today?

226

00:39:58,000 --> 00:40:01,000

London, England, January 2013.

227

00:40:02,000 --> 00:40:09,000

Researchers at the University College London announced their discovery of a unique DNA sequence.

228

00:40:09,000 --> 00:40:15,000

One that suggests that some people may, in fact, be born to lead.

00:40:16,000 --> 00:40:31,000

Comparing DNA samples taken from sets of twins, both fraternal and identical, scientists were able to determine that as much as 24% of leadership behavior could be attributed to genetics.

230

00:40:32,000 --> 00:40:41,000

These are classical twin studies. The identical twins are genetically identical, non-identical twins are basically like siblings.

231

00:40:43,000 --> 00:40:49,000

The kids were asked whether in their job they supervised someone or they did not supervise one.

232

00:40:49,000 --> 00:40:56,000

This was the question the research team associated with leadership quality, yes or no.

233

00:40:57,000 --> 00:41:08,000

Minor changes in the genetic composition were then correlated with the incidence of having a leadership or not having a leadership based on the answer to the question.

234

00:41:09,000 --> 00:41:16,000

And it was demonstrated that one particular genotype associates with having a leadership role.

235

00:41:17,000 --> 00:41:28,000

Before this, it was assumed that leadership was learned, but now we know that leadership has a direct genetic component to it and it can in fact be inherited.

236

00:41:30,000 --> 00:41:39,000

But is it really possible that the world's legendary leaders might have shared a common genetic trait, a so-called leadership gene?

237

00:41:40,000 --> 00:41:48,000

And might this gene have been not a product of genetic evolution, but inherited by mankind from some other worldly source?

238

00:41:49,000 --> 00:41:58,000

Long, long time ago, the gods from outer space were on Earth and they definitely made a genetic change with some of our humans.

239

00:41:59,000 --> 00:42:05,000

These humans, obviously, are of a little higher level than the rest of mankind.

240

00:42:06,000 --> 00:42:13,000

Just like today, we want to view our leaders as being special, smarter than us, more capable.

241

00:42:14,000 --> 00:42:25,000

And it's the same thing in ancient times too. The rulers were special. They somehow had God in their blood. They were descendants of the gods. They had special DNA.

242

00:42:26,000 --> 00:42:38,000

One thing is certain and that is if it wasn't for these ancient peoples believing that their kings and emperors were divine, there is very little to have held these early civilizations together.

243

00:42:39,000 --> 00:42:50,000

And believing that your leader was somehow a god or descended from a god kept people together and so it's a part of survival of the human race.

244

00:42:51,000 --> 00:43:01,000

Many of our greatest rulers were guided or influenced directly according to what they say by celestial beings.

245

00:43:02,000 --> 00:43:10,000

Perhaps it is this influence that gave some of these rulers the capacity to change human history.

246

00:43:10,000 --> 00:43:21,000

Were there really extraterrestrial influences steering the emperors, kings and pharaohs of the ancient world?

247

00:43:22,000 --> 00:43:36,000

And if so, does this mean that the blood of the so-called gods doesn't only flow throughout the veins of today's monarchs, but in the DNA of millions of people living throughout the world?

248

00:43:36,000 --> 00:43:53,000

The implications are both astonishing and profound because it may not be that we need to wait for Earth's alien ancestors to return. It may be they are already here.
