00:00:00,000 --> 00:00:04,000

a doorway to other dimensions.

00:00:04,000 --> 00:00:08,000

They were traveling through some sort of energetic portal.

00:00:08,000 --> 00:00:11,000

An unexplained disappearance.

00:00:11,000 --> 00:00:16,000

The idea that all of a sudden they would just disappear into thin air,

00:00:16,000 --> 00:00:18,000

there's something going on there.

00:00:18,000 --> 00:00:22,000

And a cave said to be the gateway to hell.

00:00:22,000 --> 00:00:28,000

Even to die, any birds going near it fall down dead.

00:00:28,000 --> 00:00:32,000

Is it possible that portals to other points in the universe

00:00:32,000 --> 00:00:36,000

truly exist right here on Earth?

10

00:00:36,000 --> 00:00:44,000

And might these so-called stargates actually provide a connection to alien civilizations?

11

00:00:44,000 --> 00:00:49,000

It's possible that we were created by these ancient gods who came here in stargates,

12

00:00:49,000 --> 00:00:53,000 and they intended for us to one day join them in the stars.

13

00:00:53,000 --> 00:00:57,000

Perhaps today is that day.

14

00:00:57,000 --> 00:01:04,000

Millions of people around the world believe we have been visited in the past by extraterrestrial beings.

15

00:01:04,000 --> 00:01:07,000

What if it were true?

16

00:01:07,000 --> 00:01:12,000

Did ancient aliens really help to shape our history?

17

00:01:12,000 --> 00:01:18,000

And if so, might they have arrived here through stargates?

18

00:01:27,000 --> 00:01:30,000

Welcome to Earth.

19

00:01:52,000 --> 00:01:56,000

Pamukkale, Turkey.

20

00:01:56,000 --> 00:02:02,000

Here, 200 miles south of Istanbul, lie the ruins of Heropilus,

21

00:02:02,000 --> 00:02:10,000

an ancient city that served as a sacred site to the Phrygians in the 3rd century BC.

22

00:02:10,000 --> 00:02:16,000

In March 2013, Italian archaeologists announced that they had unearthed something the ancient Greeks described as a gateway to hell.

23

24

00:02:23,000 --> 00:02:29,000

The ancients in Greece and Roman civilizations had a fascination with the underworld.

25

00:02:29,000 --> 00:02:32,000

The realm of Hades and Pluto.

26

00:02:32,000 --> 00:02:39,000

There were many stories of travelers who were able to transit into these unseen realms.

27

00:02:39,000 --> 00:02:50,000

To go to the land of the dead and survive was a great miracle showing great heroism.

28

00:02:50,000 --> 00:02:55,000

According to the accounts of Greek geographer Strabo, this cave, now partially bricked up,

29

00:02:55,000 --> 00:03:02,000

was known as a plutonium, or Pluto's gate, for the god of the underworld.

30

00:03:02,000 --> 00:03:08,000

It was considered so sacred that only cult priests were allowed near it.

31

00:03:08,000 --> 00:03:14,000

These priests worshiped a powerful goddess known as Sibli.

32

00:03:14,000 --> 00:03:22,000

Sibla started out as a goddess that was important in Asia Minor and then spread west into Greece and Rome.

33

00:03:22,000 --> 00:03:26,000

She is known as the guardian of the gateways.

34

00:03:26,000 --> 00:03:31,000

You would have to get Sibla's permission to move through time and space.

35

00:03:31,000 --> 00:03:38,000

Iconographically, she's often portrayed as standing next to the gate to the other world.

36

00:03:38,000 --> 00:03:45,000

I think the realm of the gods has always fascinated humans because it is imagined as being very different from our own realm.

37

00:03:45,000 --> 00:03:50,000

And so humans have always sought a way to enter the realm of the gods,

38

00:03:50,000 --> 00:03:56,000 to have those ecstatic experiences that happen when you are in communication with a deity.

39

00:03:58,000 --> 00:04:07,000

Legends from around the world describe sacred entryways similar to Pluto's gate, that led to the land of the gods.

40

00:04:07,000 --> 00:04:14,000

In many cases, these gates not only provided instant passage outside the confines of Earth,

41

00:04:14,000 --> 00:04:18,000

but even beyond space and time.

42

00:04:18,000 --> 00:04:24,000

And according to some myths, they were traversed by other worldly beings.

43

00:04:24,000 --> 00:04:32,000

Throughout the ancient world, we're presented with stories of advanced beings who came from the stars, star beings.

44

00:04:32,000 --> 00:04:40,000

In many of these instances, they are described as passing through portals or star doors.

45

00:04:40,000 --> 00:04:43,000

The term we use today is star gate.

46

00:04:44,000 --> 00:04:54,000

A star gate is a place that allows transportation to another planet or somewhere out in the stars.

47

00:04:55,000 --> 00:05:04,000

There have been a number of locations across the planet where it's been felt that the ancients built star gates.

48

00:05:06,000 --> 00:05:13,000

Are such passages or star gates just the product of our ancestors' imaginations?

49

00:05:13,000 --> 00:05:19,000

Or might this kind of interstellar travel have actually existed in the ancient world?

50

00:05:20,000 --> 00:05:27,000

If so, who or what created such advanced technology thousands of years ago?

51

00:05:28,000 --> 00:05:38,000

Some ancient astronaut theorists believe more clues can be found in the descriptions of the elaborate rituals that took place at the Turkish plutonium.

52

00:05:39,000 --> 00:05:47,000

It was a great spectacle when the priests of Sibili would do their ceremonial sacrifice.

53

00:05:47,000 --> 00:05:53,000

They'd lead a bull into the cave, and the bull would die of the gases in this cave.

54

00:05:53,000 --> 00:05:55,000

And the people were gathered watching this whole thing.

55

00:05:55,000 --> 00:06:01,000

Then the priests would bring out this sacrificed animal, and everyone would notice the priests were alive,

56

00:06:01,000 --> 00:06:08,000

showing they had some great power or direct connection to the divine source to be able to survive the rituals themselves.

57

00:06:08,000 --> 00:06:15,000

This would prove then that this was the gate to hell, and all the people would be afraid and have great respect for it.

58

00:06:16,000 --> 00:06:21,000

The fact that these rituals existed, the fact that Sibili was known as the guardian of the gateway,

59

tells us that the ancients were doing something really important with this idea of time travel, of portals.

60

00:06:31,000 --> 00:06:40,000

Excavations have revealed that in fact there are vapors rising from the ground at the site that contain poisonous levels of carbon dioxide

61

00:06:40,000 --> 00:06:46,000

and other gases capable of killing anyone or anything that breathes them in.

62

00:06:46,000 --> 00:06:53,000

The ancient stories said that animals that came anywhere near this would drop down dead.

63

00:06:53,000 --> 00:07:00,000

At the same, still occurs to die. Any birds going near it fall down dead.

64

00:07:01,000 --> 00:07:09,000

If the toxins within the cave were potent enough to kill a ball, how did the priests survive this ritual?

65

00:07:09,000 --> 00:07:17,000

Is it possible, as some ancient astronaut theorists believe, that the priests had received secret knowledge and perhaps even access to a stargate from an otherworldly being known as Sibili?

66

67

00:07:25,000 --> 00:07:36,000

In Pamukkale, Turkey, this does appear to be a preserved record of a possible stargate technology that is being used.

68

00:07:36,000 --> 00:07:44,000

As these special priests were able to go into this area, they may have been traveling through some sort of energetic portal

69

00:07:44,000 --> 00:07:53,000

that gave them the ability to reach some other location that was completely different from where people normally were going

70

if they walked into this area.

71

00:07:56,000 --> 00:08:04,000

They have to wonder if there was something secret in this cave that they were hiding, perhaps some kind of interdimensional stargate technology

72

00:08:04,000 --> 00:08:14,000

and that they would put on this show to basically frighten them, make sure that they realized this cave was a forbidden place to go into

73

00:08:14,000 --> 00:08:21,000 and in fact was some kind of repository for alien technology and possibly stargates.

74

00:08:23,000 --> 00:08:34,000

Could the plutonium really be an extraterrestrial stargate, one that was protected by priests, in order to dissuade others from approaching it?

75

00:08:34,000 --> 00:08:38,000

And if so, why?

76

00:08:38,000 --> 00:08:47,000

Perhaps the answer can be found at another ancient site, more than 7,000 miles away.

77

00:08:47,000 --> 00:08:50,000

Machu Picchu, Peru.

78

00:08:50,000 --> 00:08:57,000

Approximately 50 miles northwest of Cusco, nestled high up in the Andes Mountains.

79

00:08:57,000 --> 00:09:05,000

These ancient Inca ruins, believed to have been a palace complex, date back to the 15th century.

80

00:09:05,000 --> 00:09:15,000

Located in the southwestern corner of what archaeologists contend was the site's main plaza, is the temple of three windows.

81

00:09:16,000 --> 00:09:27,000

A stone hall 35 feet long and 14 feet wide, containing three trapezoidal windows along one wall.

82

00:09:27,000 --> 00:09:40,000

Textbooks say that the windows of the temple of the three windows are aligned perfectly to let June Solstice sunrise come right in at a perfect angle.

83

00:09:40,000 --> 00:09:50,000

That the entire building is oriented to receive the first light as it comes over the mountains through those three windows at Summer Solstice.

84

00:09:50,000 --> 00:09:59,000

Some scholars believe the three windows symbolize the Incan creation myth.

85

00:10:00,000 --> 00:10:14,000

According to legend, the children of the sun god Viracocha stepped into the world through three mysterious openings in a mountain and gave rise to the Incan civilization.

86

00:10:14,000 --> 00:10:27,000

In the creation story of the Incan people, the children of the sun, the Ayer brothers, came down through three portals, three windows to begin the Incan people.

87

00:10:27,000 --> 00:10:35,000

The temple at Machu Picchu with three windows is said to represent this miraculous event.

88

00:10:35,000 --> 00:10:50,000

These brothers were the offspring of the god Viracocha that seemed to have brought the first wisdom and knowledge and rudiments of civilization to the peoples of South America.

89

00:10:51,000 --> 00:11:01,000

And by simply looking through these three windows, the mind could reach out and connect once more with these gods and communicate with them.

90

00:11:04,000 --> 00:11:11,000

Some ancient astronaut theorists believe the Incan creation story may be more than simply mythology.

91

00:11:12,000 --> 00:11:19,000

They believe it could be a description of stargate travel taking place thousands of years ago.

00:11:19,000 --> 00:11:29,000

When you read this story, you're instantly thinking that this is some kind of a stargate they're describing and that these children of the sun, these advanced solar beings, possess some kind of stargate technology that enabled them to open these gateways.

93

00:11:29,000 --> 00:11:34,000

94

00:11:35,000 --> 00:11:42,000

And maybe the Inca story is a recollection of their utilization of this stargate technology.

95

00:11:42,000 --> 00:11:54,000

The Ayer brothers could be very real beings who came in, visited the Incans, gave them the basis of their science, their technology, their spoken language,

96

00:11:54,000 --> 00:12:02,000

all of the aspects of civilization and used a stargate cordial technology on the side of a mountain to get there.

97

00:12:03,000 --> 00:12:11,000

Was the great Inca empire actually created by extraterrestrials that traveled to Earth through a so-called stargate?

98

00:12:11,000 --> 00:12:17,000

And might that explain why ancient sites like the Plutonia were so highly guarded?

00:12:18,000 --> 00:12:26,000

Perhaps the answer has already been discovered, not in the ancient world, but by modern science.

100

00:12:27,000 --> 00:12:35,000

Princeton, New Jersey. July 1935.

00:12:35,000 --> 00:12:46,000

While collaborating at the Institute for Advanced Study, physicists Albert Einstein and Nathan Rosen publish a groundbreaking idea.

102

00:12:46,000 --> 00:12:55,000

They come to the conclusion that the theory of relativity actually allows for shortcuts across the space-time continuum.

103

00:12:56,000 --> 00:13:09,000

These paths, called Einstein-Rosen bridges, more commonly known as wormholes, connect two distant locations, making travel to the most remote stars in the universe a possibility.

104

00:13:10,000 --> 00:13:19,000

What you're talking about is a structure in space that involves very, very strong bending of space and the connecting of two different parts of space.

105

00:13:19,000 --> 00:13:25,000

So if you think of a piece of paper curved around and then punched out and connected from one place to the other,

106

00:13:25,000 --> 00:13:27,000

that's your basic wormhole.

107

00:13:29,000 --> 00:13:36,000

If we look at the distance from our planet to the nearest star system, it's 4.2 light years away.

108

00:13:37,000 --> 00:13:45,000

That means you would have to travel for 4.2 years at the speed of light, which is 186,000 miles a second, just to get there.

109

00:13:47,000 --> 00:13:51,000

The only way really to do that would be by something like a wormhole.

110

00:13:52,000 --> 00:14:01,000

While the idea of wormhole travel offers incredible possibilities, realizing this technology poses immense challenges.

111

00:14:05,000 --> 00:14:13,000

Scientists estimate that creating a traversable wormhole would require a far greater amount of energy than anything we can produce today.

00:14:14,000 --> 00:14:22,000

But there is a theory that so-called exotic matter may provide the key to unlocking wormhole travel.

00:14:24,000 --> 00:14:31,000

What you need is matter with negative mass, and we're only aware of matter with positive mass, so we call this exotic matter.

114

00:14:31,000 --> 00:14:35,000

Not that it couldn't exist, we're just not aware of it yet.

115

00:14:35,000 --> 00:14:39,000

The bottom line is it takes huge amounts of energy to create these.

116

00:14:40,000 --> 00:14:45,000

Imagine taking all of Jupiter now, its entire mass, and converting that to energy.

117

00:14:47,000 --> 00:14:51,000

You know, you're talking to millions and millions of times more energy than you have in a nuclear bomb.

118

00:14:55,000 --> 00:15:04,000

Although most scientists say that we're a long way from developing the technology to create wormholes, if such a thing is even possible at all, there are those who believe these celestial shortcuts already exist.

119

00:15:04,000 --> 00:15:08,000

120

00:15:13,000 --> 00:15:22,000

In 1991, scientists at Vanderbilt University proposed that the chaos of the Big Bang not only created the universe,

121

00:15:23,000 --> 00:15:28,000

but also may have caused the formation of many wormholes billions of years ago.

122

00:15:29,000 --> 00:15:36,000

During the Big Bang, space-time itself was being mashed together, expanded, contracted.

123

00:15:37,000 --> 00:15:43,000

And one theory says that if you had something like the size of the Himalaya Mountains,

124

00:15:44,000 --> 00:15:53,000

the space-time around it could have been so badly stressed that it would mash this matter inside its own event horizon.

125

00:15:54,000 --> 00:16:02,000

In the same way, you can imagine space-time being mashed together and forming a mini-wormhole.

126

00:16:04,000 --> 00:16:10,000

The possible result, according to researchers, would be a wormhole about the size of an atom.

127

00:16:14,000 --> 00:16:20,000

Once located, these mini-wormholes could possibly be stretched to create a traversable wormhole.

128

00:16:21,000 --> 00:16:29,000

One of the things we know is that since the Big Bang, the universe has been expanding, which means space-time overall has been stretching.

129

00:16:30,000 --> 00:16:38,000

So when the universe is quite small, you make a teeny little wormhole as that whole structure stretches, that whole wormhole stretches and grows big as well.

130

00:16:39,000 --> 00:16:41,000

So you could end up with a very large wormhole now.

131

00:16:42,000 --> 00:16:51,000

If wormholes were created in the earliest stages of the universe, is it possible, as some ancient astronaut theorists suggest, that celestial beings have already used them to travel to Earth in the distant past?

132

00:16:52,000 --> 00:16:57,000

133

00:16:58,000 --> 00:17:07,000

It's very possible that wormholes or stargates opening and beings coming through them are a way to explain how man was interacting with ancient gods.

134

00:17:12,000 --> 00:17:14,000

Chihuahua, Mexico.

135

00:17:16,000 --> 00:17:19,000

Just 125 miles from the Texas border.

136

00:17:22,000 --> 00:17:31,000

This vast archaeological site, situated near the base of the Sierra Madre Occidental Mountain Range, dates back to 1200 AD.

137

00:17:32,000 --> 00:17:43,000

Known as both Paquime and Casas Grandes, only part of the extensive remains, estimated to contain more than 2,000 clay rooms, have been excavated, revealing a well-planned city containing plazas, stores, workshops, and multi-story residential buildings with an advanced water and sewage system.

138

139

00:17:56,000 --> 00:18:08,000

Paquime or Casas Grandes is larger than any other site for hundreds of miles in any direction, and there's an interesting melding of different cultures.

140

00:18:09,000 --> 00:18:14,000

In some aspects, it's a very Mesoamerican or Aztec city.

141

00:18:15,000 --> 00:18:20,000

In other regards, it's a very Pueblo or Southwest culture city.

142

00:18:20,000 --> 00:18:29,000

At its height, Paquime is believed to have had a population of more than 10,000.

143

00:18:30,000 --> 00:18:38,000

But this thriving pre-Columbian civilization declined and mysteriously disappeared by the 16th century.

144

00:18:41,000 --> 00:18:45,000

While no one knows exactly who the inhabitants of Paquime were,

145

00:18:46,000 --> 00:18:54,000

it is believed that their descendants may be the indigenous people of the region, known as the Tarahumara.

146

00:18:55,000 --> 00:19:00,000

The Tarahumara now live high up in the canyons of the Sierra Madre,

147

00:19:01,000 --> 00:19:08,000

and much of what is known about the ancient city of Paquime comes from the stories passed down to them from their ancestors.

148

00:19:09,000 --> 00:19:17,000

According to their legends, Paquime is a sacred place where star people have appeared for centuries.

149

00:19:18,000 --> 00:19:27,000

Described as light, tall and blonde, the Tarahumara say these mysterious beams emerged from doorways in the ruins.

150

00:19:30,000 --> 00:19:36,000

The Tarahumara truly believe that the star people exist still today in the Chihuahua Desert.

151

00:19:36,000 --> 00:19:43,000

They believe that these tall, blonde people represent maybe the heirs of the star people that first brought them to this world.

152

00:19:44,000 --> 00:19:54,000

They believe that there is a portal and that these star people use this portal today to transport to various places on the earth and off world as well.

153

00:19:57,000 --> 00:20:03,000

Throughout the architecture of Paquime are hundreds of uniquely T-shaped openings,

154

openings that closely resemble an ancient doorway more than 4,000 miles away in southern Peru.

155

00:20:16,000 --> 00:20:23,000

Here, perched high in the Andes Mountains, this shallow T-shaped opening called the Doorway of Amarumuru

156

00:20:24,000 --> 00:20:32,000

is surrounded by many legends describing it as an active portal that transports beings both into and out of this world.

157

00:20:34,000 --> 00:20:45,000

This could be a coincidence if it weren't for the fact that at Paquime there are strange stories of the appearance of these Caucasian-like beings.

158

00:20:47,000 --> 00:20:52,000

And there are very similar stories to do with this gate of the gods in Peru.

159

00:20:53,000 --> 00:21:08,000

It's possible that this does represent a star gate location in which extraterrestrial humans are seen as coming and going during certain opportune points in the year when the star gate becomes active.

160

00:21:09,000 --> 00:21:24,000

Considering the similar doorways and legends of otherworldly beings at Paquime and Amarumuru, is it possible that extraterrestrials once accessed these ancient sites through star gates?

161

00:21:27,000 --> 00:21:35,000

Some ancient astronaut theorists say that not only were star gates present at places like Paquime and Amarumuru in the distant past, but that there may be functioning star gates here on Earth, even today.

162

163

00:21:48,000 --> 00:21:50,000

The Sargasso Sea.

164

00:21:51,000 --> 00:22:02,000

Stretching 700 miles wide and 2,000 miles long, this strange body of water is completely isolated in the middle of the North Atlantic Ocean.

165

00:22:03,000 --> 00:22:10,000

It is a sea without shores, surrounded by some of the strongest currents in the world.

166

00:22:11,000 --> 00:22:22,000

And due to a number of unexplained incidents that have occurred here, it has earned the nicknames Sea of Lost Ships, the calms of death, and the sea of fear.

167

00:22:23,000 --> 00:22:31,000

And curiously, although the waters around it are violent, the Sargasso Sea itself is calm.

168

00:22:32,000 --> 00:22:43,000

The water is unusually blue, mysterious as if the currents don't affect this one area, as if the winds stop, or as if time stands still.

169

00:22:44,000 --> 00:22:55,000

Back in the time of sailing ships, if sailing ships went into this area, they could not necessarily get out, and they were seen as sort of being trapped by the Sargasso Sea.

170

00:22:57,000 --> 00:23:02,000

Boats will be found perfectly intact there, but the crew will have disappeared without a trace.

171

00:23:03,000 --> 00:23:10,000

Now why would that be? Because it's strange, since the Sargasso Sea is known for its calm waters.

172

00:23:13,000 --> 00:23:26,000

Perhaps the oldest known and most famous disappearance reported from the Sargasso Sea occurred in August 1840, when a merchant ship called the Rosalie was traveling from Germany to Cuba.

173

00:23:28,000 --> 00:23:40,000

According to the London Times, when it was discovered drifting aimlessly, the vessel was completely abandoned, although perfectly intact, with the sails still set.

174

00:23:44,000 --> 00:23:53,000

What happened to the Rosalie remains a mystery, but similar occurrences have continued to plague the Sargasso Sea for centuries.

175

00:23:56,000 --> 00:24:02,000

In 1881, a ship by the name of the Ellen Austin found a derelict schooner in the Sargasso Sea.

176

00:24:03,000 --> 00:24:08,000

They put a crew aboard it and sailed in tandem back towards London for several days.

177

00:24:09,000 --> 00:24:21,000

About two days later, the schooner was found to be sailing erratically, and when it was boarded again, that crew had also disappeared, absolutely into thin air.

178

00:24:22,000 --> 00:24:26,000

It was as if the people were simply beamed out of it.

179

00:24:28,000 --> 00:24:35,000

It is also interesting note that the Sargasso Sea is directly in contact with the area we call the Bermuda Triang.

180

00:24:35,000 --> 00:24:41,000

There may be some type of stargate or portal activation in this area.

181

00:24:42,000 --> 00:24:55,000

Could the reports of strange disappearances occurring in the Sargasso Sea, and also in the Bermuda Triangle that overlaps this body of water, be explained by the presence of a stargate?

182

00:24:56,000 --> 00:25:07,000

Ancient astronaut theorists believe further evidence can be found deep within one of North America's largest lakes.

183

Lake Michigan, stretching across this 22,300 square mile body of water.

184

00:25:16,000 --> 00:25:25,000

From Manitowoc, Wisconsin to Luddington and Benton Harbor, Michigan, is another mysterious area known as the Michigan Triangle.

185

00:25:28,000 --> 00:25:36,000

Like the Sargasso Sea, this portion of the massive freshwater lake has been associated with bizarre and puzzling disappearances.

186

00:25:38,000 --> 00:25:44,000

In 1937, there was a freighter named the McFarland which passed through the Michigan Triangle.

187

00:25:45,000 --> 00:25:51,000

The captain of the ship went to his cabin to get some sleep, told his second mate to come and awaken him in a specific time.

188

00:25:52,000 --> 00:26:00,000

When the second mate knocked on the door, there was no answer. The door was locked from the inside, they broke in, and the captain had simply disappeared.

189

00:26:02,000 --> 00:26:09,000

None of the portholes were open, none of the windows were open. There was no way for the captain to have gotten out of the ship.

190

00:26:09,000 --> 00:26:19,000

They never could find the guy. Did he jump off the ship? Who knows, but the ship was exactly in this triangle in Lake Michigan.

191

00:26:22,000 --> 00:26:28,000

But ships aren't the only crafts affected by this area of Lake Michigan.

192

00:26:29,000 --> 00:26:35,000

There are accounts of as many as 40 planes that have disappeared in the Michigan Triangle.

193

00:26:36,000 --> 00:26:52,000

In 1950, 13 years after the captain of the McFarland went missing, Northwest Airlines Flight 2501 carrying 55 passengers and three crew disappeared as it passed over the Michigan Triangle.

194

00:26:53,000 --> 00:26:59,000

The wreckage has never been discovered, and investigations continue to this day.

195

00:27:00,000 --> 00:27:06,000

No wreckage was ever found. The families have been despondent over it. They continue to look for the wreckage.

196

00:27:07,000 --> 00:27:14,000

There's a monument to them on the shores of Lake Michigan, but not a trace. Not a belt buckle, not a wallet, not a chair.

197

00:27:15,000 --> 00:27:19,000

Nothing from the aircraft has ever been found, and the area was searched for six days afterwards.

198

00:27:20,000 --> 00:27:25,000

It's been searched extensively by salvagers in a decade since, and no one has ever found a thing.

199

00:27:26,000 --> 00:27:34,000

Ships have been there, they've disappeared, airplanes have flown into the region, they've disappeared.

200

00:27:35,000 --> 00:27:38,000

These aircraft and ships are just gone.

201

00:27:39,000 --> 00:27:51,000

Now, for me, the very fact that they are totally vanished, that makes me think that possibly they've been sucked into some form of wormhole and unfortunately get trapped on the other side.

202

00:27:55,000 --> 00:28:02,000

Could the murky waters of Lake Michigan actually be hiding the entrance to a wormhole, as some researchers suggest?

203

00:28:03,000 --> 00:28:17,000

Might that explain why there has been such peculiar phenomenon here, including countless sightings of strange unidentified flying objects, both overhead and coming from below the surface?

204

00:28:18,000 --> 00:28:26,000

There have been witnesses that have actually seen green glowing discs fly up out of the lake. They've seen blue spherical objects fly into the lake.

205

00:28:29,000 --> 00:28:36,000

Gateways through space and time will have a luminous quality. They will appear as spherical formations of plasma.

206

00:28:37,000 --> 00:28:43,000

It seems that certain areas of water are often where these portals are naturally forming.

207

00:28:44,000 --> 00:28:57,000

It's possible that extraterrestrials who may have been accessing that area and in fact it may still be active today, thus accounting for these UFO sightings and all the bizarre disappearances.

208

00:28:58,000 --> 00:29:08,000

These areas are very inaccessible. The whole concept of some of these stargates and portals being actually underwater makes a lot of sense.

209

00:29:09,000 --> 00:29:22,000

It's possible that there's a network of underwater portals spread throughout the world. These portals could be accessed by extraterrestrial beings who use them to come and go from the stars.

210

00:29:26,000 --> 00:29:34,000

Could there be stargates hidden deep within our lakes and oceans that extraterrestrials might still be using even to this day?

211

00:29:35,000 --> 00:29:42,000

And if so, might humans one day be able to access these stargates as well?

212

00:29:43,000 --> 00:29:54,000

Some scientists believe that not only will we travel through stargates which already exist, but that we may even be close to creating them ourselves.

213

00:29:55,000 --> 00:29:59,000

214

00:30:03,000 --> 00:30:14,000

Here, in a small lab at this public university, physicist Jim Woodward conducts experiments that he believes will one day change the way we travel through space.

215

00:30:15,000 --> 00:30:23,000

I was primarily interested in trying to figure out how to make stuff go fast and to do that you need to master the problem of propulsion.

216

00:30:26,000 --> 00:30:39,000

To master the problem of propulsion to achieve speeds that are a significant fraction of the speed of light, you have to be able to manipulate inertia and so that's how I got interested in gravity and inertia.

217

00:30:40,000 --> 00:30:45,000

What I found is that it may indeed be possible to get around space time quickly.

218

00:30:51,000 --> 00:31:06,000

Dr. Woodward's work seeks to prove a controversial theory known as Mach's Principle, which says that there is a direct relationship between the motion of mass here on Earth and that of distant matter that exists throughout the universe.

219

00:31:07,000 --> 00:31:14,000

Woodward theorizes that if this proves true, it could be the key to unlocking stargate travel.

220

00:31:16,000 --> 00:31:22,000

The idea was first introduced in 1883 by Austrian physicist Ernst Mach.

221

00:31:23,000 --> 00:31:39,000

Mach's principle at the simplest level is the assertion that when you push on an object, the reason why it pushes back on you is because of the gravitational action of the most distant matter in the universe acting through the object.

222

00:31:40,000 --> 00:31:48,000

And so the matter out there, far, far away, is the stuff that determines the inertial properties of objects locally.

223

00:31:49,000 --> 00:32:04,000

Mach's principle basically says that all the stars, all the planets, all the galaxies out there do in fact have an effect on us here.

224

00:32:05,000 --> 00:32:10,000

And the reason they do is because of the way they warp space time.

225

00:32:11,000 --> 00:32:20,000

So even though you may not see it, the world around you is determined by what's going on, potentially light years away from you.

226

00:32:22,000 --> 00:32:35,000

Dr. Woodward's initial interest in Mach's principle was not to create wormholes, but to revolutionize space travel by creating propulsion without expelling matter from the craft.

227

00:32:36,000 --> 00:32:41,000

Our standard way of thinking of propulsion is we send stuff out the back of something.

228

00:32:42,000 --> 00:32:50,000

So you have a rocket, it sends hot gases out the back, you have a jet engine, it sucks air in from the front and shoots it out the back.

229

00:32:51,000 --> 00:32:57,000

So almost all of our propulsion systems are that basic principle, throw something out the back, you move forward.

230

00:32:58,000 --> 00:33:02,000

The Mach principle, almost think about it maybe as a surf wave.

231

00:33:03,000 --> 00:33:09,000

Right, you're riding along on the wave and that's moving you forward, you don't actually have to send anything out back.

232

00:33:11,000 --> 00:33:17,000

And this sort of effect, the idea is essentially to create a wave in space that you move forward on.

233

00:33:18,000 --> 00:33:26,000

But Dr. Woodward discovered that Mach's principle could have implications beyond just propulsion.

234

00:33:27,000 --> 00:33:39,000

He believes it holds the key to actually creating traversable wormholes, giving us the ability to travel to the most remote corners of the universe.

235

00:33:40,000 --> 00:33:54,000

The experiment suggests that if scientists could somehow separate or decouple ordinary mass from the influence of this distant matter, huge amounts of negative energy could potentially be exposed.

236

00:33:55,000 --> 00:34:06,000

In principle, you should be able to engineer devices that will enable you to screen matter from the influence of gravity of distant matter in the universe.

237

00:34:06,000 --> 00:34:09,000

And if you can do that, you can make stargates.

238

00:34:13,000 --> 00:34:22,000

While the existence of Mach's principle is still debated in the scientific community, Dr. Woodward believes his experiments prove its validity.

239

00:34:23,000 --> 00:34:40,000

By running electricity through a stack of lead-cerconium titanate crystals, known as PZTs, Woodward accelerates and temporarily changes the rest mass of the device he calls the Mach Effect Thruster.

240

00:34:41,000 --> 00:34:55,000

If Mach's principle holds true, when the mass of the Mach Thruster fluctuates, it will interact with the distant matter in the universe, resulting in a small amount of measurable thrust.

241

00:34:56,000 --> 00:35:03,000

All of this is happening through gravitational connection between this local device and the rest of the matter in the universe.

242

00:35:04,000 --> 00:35:14,000

We have the Mach Effect Thruster here, mounted in the Faraday cage, and it's located on the end of the beam like so.

243

00:35:15,000 --> 00:35:26,000

The reason why you put the thrust balance in a vacuum chamber is because you're trying to detect exceedingly small thrusts on the order of a micronutin.

244

00:35:27,000 --> 00:35:33,000

This display is of data taken over a period of one day.

245

00:35:34,000 --> 00:35:40,000

The red trace is thrust. The dark blue trace is the power being delivered to the device.

246

00:35:41,000 --> 00:35:44,000

This is the clearest evidence for the Mach Effect.

247

00:35:45,000 --> 00:35:53,000

This large thrust transient, when the center frequency is turned on, followed by a thrust transient when it is turned off.

248

00:35:54,000 --> 00:35:58,000

None of that thrust should be there if there aren't any Mach Effects.

249

00:36:03,000 --> 00:36:08,000

Could Dr. Woodward's experiments really be proof that Mach's principle is true?

250

00:36:09,000 --> 00:36:13,000

And wormhole travel is a real scientific possibility.

251

00:36:14,000 --> 00:36:20,000

If so, might we be able to create actual stargates in the near future?

252

00:36:21,000 --> 00:36:32,000

If you're willing to devote significant resources to trying to do this, I would think that you should be able to build prototype very crude stargates within a decade or two.

253

00:36:36,000 --> 00:36:49,000

Once we have this concept and in theory could develop the technology to move through wormholes, it's only natural that we would think that ancient extraterrestrials and the like, alien societies would have also thought of this thousands of years ago.

254

00:36:50,000 --> 00:36:55,000

255

00:36:56,000 --> 00:37:03,000

Does modern research into wormholes really suggest that stargates have a basis in scientific reality?

256

00:37:04,000 --> 00:37:11,000

And might more advanced alien beings have used this knowledge to travel to Earth in the distant past?

257

00:37:12,000 --> 00:37:27,000

Some ancient astronaut theorists say the strongest proof that extraterrestrials arrived here through stargates may lie in a 3200-year-old Egyptian temple and a mysterious hieroglyph carved on its wall.

258

00:37:28,000 --> 00:37:37,000

The ancient city was a major center of religious pilgrimage where Osiris, the god of the underworld, was revered to the gods of the ancient city.

259

00:37:38,000 --> 00:37:44,000

The ancient city was the center of religious pilgrimage where Osiris, the god of the underworld, was revered.

260

00:37:45,000 --> 00:37:54,000

The Osiris was the god that was said to have brought wisdom and knowledge to those who preceded the denigrant.

261

00:37:55,000 --> 00:38:00,000

The ancient city was a major center of religious pilgrimage where Osiris, the god of the underworld, was revered.

262

00:38:00,000 --> 00:38:08,000

The city was said to have brought wisdom and knowledge to those who preceded the dynastic Egyptians.

263

00:38:11,000 --> 00:38:15,000

Amidos was a place that people came to communicate with Osiris.

264

00:38:17,000 --> 00:38:22,000

It was considered the place where the god Osiris had been buried.

265

00:38:23,000 --> 00:38:29,000

Osiris had been the originator of the pharaonic civilization. He was the first pharaoh, if you like.

266

00:38:30,000 --> 00:38:39,000

The myth is that Osiris was cut in several pieces by his evil brother and the head was found and kept at Amidos.

267

00:38:43,000 --> 00:38:48,000

Amidos was said to have been the burial place of Osiris.

268

00:38:50,000 --> 00:38:54,000

But this is where he was supposed to physically stand guard between this world and the next.

269

00:38:55,000 --> 00:39:07,000

Construction on the largest of the temples at Amidos was started in the 13th century BC by the pharaoh Sadi and is dedicated to Osiris.

270

00:39:10,000 --> 00:39:20,000

Depicted on the wall of the temple's Osiris chapel is a mysterious hieroglyph that some researchers believe represents the vessel that held the head of the powerful god.

271

00:39:21,000 --> 00:39:35,000

The relic of Amidos is this bell shaped object and on top of it is usually two plumes.

272

00:39:36,000 --> 00:39:44,000

When we look at the hieroglyphs of the head of Osiris, what we see is something that appears to be very technological or mechanical.

273

00:39:45,000 --> 00:39:49,000

It looks like some kind of an ancient antenna type of a device.

274

00:39:55,000 --> 00:40:01,000

Might this depiction of Osiris really represent an ancient technological device?

275

00:40:02,000 --> 00:40:08,000

One so important that the Egyptians memorialized it here on the walls of this sacred temple.

276

00:40:09,000 --> 00:40:12,000

And if so, what was its purpose?

277

00:40:14,000 --> 00:40:28,000

Some ancient astronaut theorists believe more clues can be found on the opposite wall of the chapel where pharaoh Sadi is shown transforming into this Osiris device while traveling on a solar barge.

278

00:40:30,000 --> 00:40:38,000

The solar barge was a vehicle that was able to make that journey from this world to the next.

279

00:40:39,000 --> 00:40:43,000

So in other words, in many ways it was actually a boat of the stars.

280

00:40:44,000 --> 00:40:51,000

But the shape of the solar barge bears a curious similarity to the Einstein-Rosenbridge.

281

00:40:52,000 --> 00:41:03,000

So the solar barge could be a primitive depiction of people watching a luminous stargate appearing and then it being used as a teleportation device.

282

00:41:09,000 --> 00:41:18,000

On the depiction of the solar barge, the head of Pharaoh Sadi appears to be emerging from that portal.

283

00:41:19,000 --> 00:41:28,000

Perhaps Sadi was a time traveler utilizing just such technology given to him by the ancient gods.

284

00:41:29,000 --> 00:41:39,000

It suggests that Sadi utilized this ancient technology to turn himself into a star being so that he could travel the stargates and wormholes for eternity.

285

00:41:41,000 --> 00:41:51,000

Maybe gods like Osiris were actually extraterrestrials using this stargate technology to come to Earth and teach mankind.

286

00:41:52,000 --> 00:42:01,000

Could these hieroglyphs really be depicting a device that allowed Pharaoh Sadi to travel across time and space?

287

00:42:02,000 --> 00:42:12,000

Is it possible that the Egyptians and other ancient cultures around the world really encountered extraterrestrials who came to Earth through stargates?

288

00:42:13,000 --> 00:42:29,000

Just because our scientists of today haven't quite figured out yet doesn't mean that some other civilization, thousands, maybe even hundreds of thousands of years older, hasn't figured out either.

289

00:42:30,000 --> 00:42:35,000

Remember, the universe is infinite, which means that there are infinite possibilities.

290

00:42:36,000 --> 00:42:55,000

We may have known in the past what was going on and about these portals and wormholes, and that is why stories like Astral Travel and stargates and interdimensional voyages are something that we've been hearing about for thousands of years.

291

00:42:56,000 --> 00:43:04,000

And we're just now rediscovering for ourselves this knowledge given to us by the extraterrestrials.

292

00:43:05,000 --> 00:43:16,000

It's possible that this is the next step in human evolution. It will represent a new beginning for humankind, and perhaps this was always the plan from the ancient times.

293

00:43:16,000 --> 00:43:25,000

We were created by these ancient gods who came here in stargates and wormholes, and they intended for us to one day join them in the stars.

294

00:43:27,000 --> 00:43:33,000

Could Earth really be home to stargates that link us to distant points throughout the universe?

295

00:43:34,000 --> 00:43:43,000

Pathways that extraterrestrials have used for thousands of years, and that we are only beginning to rediscover.

296

00:43:43,000 --> 00:43:54,000

And if we ever do unlock the key to stargate travel, will we discover that we've been connected to alien civilizations all along?
