FEATURED REVIEW

★ 7/10

Not that bad

Without any doubt this is not a scientific or educational program, it's infotainment. and that's okay. as always you have to extract useful and well researched data from data implemented for entertainment reasons. HANGAR 1 - allegedly derived from "the" MUFON archives - is far better than most of the other documentaries about the huge topic "UFOs", paranormal events and high strangeness for it shows some not so well known examples of unsolved and mostly very interesting events. MUFON in my humble opinion is, after all, far more credible than most of the other investigation organizations. that's why i seriously wondered why they agreed to be used as host for the series. the European section MUFON-CES would never act in such a self-destructive way, i guess.

Because... of course: shows like HANGAR 1 are first and foremost fun and entertainment. many people - like myself - who personally witnessed UFOs or other enigmatic phenomena and who dug deeper will know how to separate nonsense from facts but will have primarily fun watching the whole shebang. on the other hand, hardcore skeptacists and professional debunks will never give any credibility to the show and its topics. so it's always praying in your own church. watch it, keep an open mind and, most of all, stop believing (in UFO-buffs AND debunks!).

S1.E4 · Crashes and Cover Ups

Fri, Mar 21, 2014

Inside Hangar 1, MUFON archives contain dozens of reports of UFO crashes—yet few of these incidents ever reach the public. In 1976, a UFO crash along the Gulf of Mexico leads to a confrontation between the U.S. and Mexico, with a deadly aftermath. In the 1800s, a small farm town holds a public funeral for an extraterrestrial pilot of a crashed flying saucer. And in Kecksburg, Pennsylvania, one man's search for the truth behind a 1965 UFO crash may have led to his murder. Who is covering up evidence of UFO crashes, and how far will they go to keep you from knowing the truth?

Fri, Mar 28, 2014

In the United States, there are certain areas that seem to attract more UFO sightings than others. Missouri has been experiencing unusually high UFO activity for the last three years. One famous incident in the Hudson Valley in New York lasted several months. In addition, every nuclear missile base in the U.S. has experienced UFO visits. What is the common thread that makes these locations a magnet for potential activity? Hangar 1 files reveal the answers...and reveal whether you might be living in the middle of one these hotspots right now.

S1.E6 · Space Weapons

Fri, Apr 4, 2014

Hangar 1 files reveal that President Ronald Reagan's personal encounters with UFOs may have been the driving force behind the Strategic Defense Initiative, a controversial program that may have led to a top secret space weapons platform to protect us from attacks from space. Waves of UFO sightings across the world may, in fact, be evidence of a secret fleet of military UFOs that we've created. Has NASA and the U.S. government been secretly building this program to protect us against alien and asteroid attacks? A look into MUFON's files suggests that these space weapons may already be in place.

Fri, Apr 11, 2014

Commercial airline pilots and flight crew spend more time in the sky than anyone. It's no surprise, then, that many UFO sighting reports have been generated by pilots and airline personnel. UFOs have chased commercial flights and even collided with them. One UFO hovered in plain sight above Chicago's O'Hare Airport and was seen by dozens of witnesses. However, despite thousands of sightings, pilots are still discouraged from publicizing their experiences, and the few that do have faced professional ridicule and loss of their jobs. Hangar 1 files uncover many UFO incidents, and suggest that the next time you fly, keep your window shade open. You never know what you might see up in the skies.

Fri, Apr 18, 2014

Hangar 1 files suggest that when it comes to UFOs, there is a shadow government that operates beyond public and congressional scrutiny to protect and conceal information about the phenomenon. Stories of the Men in Black expose the extreme measures taken to protect these secrets from being revealed. If this shadow government does exist, what information do they have regarding the existence of UFOs? Hangar 1 files investigate the origins of this shadow government, and the case files that expose their actions.
