@JamesEGrayMusic @MickWest Compared to many, I'm a newcomer, seriously interested since 2011. My approach now is to regard every pundit as if they are a stage magician or trial lawyer, and assume they are only showing you what they want you to see.

@JamesEGrayMusic @MickWest Leslie Kean's story is that Puthoff included the AATIP slide in his talk. Apparently he used the format for his entire presentation, as all other slides match the font, background etc. Puthoff would be a good person to ask just what "off world" means.

@MickWest IFOs tell us a lot. Most cases do not have smoking gun solutions where the the UFO is proven to be a plane or the alien is shown to be an ancient mummified child. We end up with a lot of hazy "unknowns," and that's the lifeblood of the show biz side of ufology.

Shelley tells: I made love with an alien

Shelley Winters

MOVIE star Shelley Winters has revealed how she made love with an alien from outer space.

The Oscar winner said the red-colored creature emerged from the ocean and put his webbed hands round her as she lay on a beach bed.

Shelley recalled: "I said, 'Hello, there'.

"I wanted to be friendly – I was a very sexy woman then.

"So I looked into his eyes and I am not sure what physically happened next, but I felt all tingly – a very special feeling."

Shelley, 68, told US television viewers that her encounter followed a wartime party in Malibu, California.

"He emerged like a frogman and I thought the Japanese might be invading, but he was too tall to be Japanese."

She kept quiet about the incident in case she was laughed out of work.

The alien wrote her a cryptic message in the sand then wandered back into the ocean.

"I've had no contact with him for 50 years," she mused.

"You'd think he would be able to write – or at least phone."

MUFON AUTOMOBILE LICENSE PLATES

By Walt Andrus

In the states of Texas, California and several others, special auto license plates may be obtained with any combination of six letters and numbers so as to personalize the identification. Starting in 1953 when Illinois first permitted amateur radio call letters on license plates, your director always had plates with his F.C.C. assigned call letters "W9KRC". Since moving to Texas in 1975 and receiving new amateur call letters -- W5VRN, I elected to take advantage of the personalized privileges in Texas and requested -- what else "MUFON", feeling that this was far more significant as a means of identification. Other MUFON members in Texas could request MUFON "1 through 9" if they so desired for their automobiles giving greater flexibility and range.

John F. Schuessler, Deputy Director, has the personalized license plates "UFO-NUT" which creates considerable conversation at the NASA Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center where he works. At the 1979 MUFON Symposium in Burlingame, Calif., your director noted a vehicle parked in front of the Airport Marina Hotel with California license plates "MUFON", but I was unable to identify the owner, (probably one of our State Section Directors). Marvin E. Taylor, Assistant State Director for Northern California combined the study of the phenomena with his initials and has "UFO-MET", however this has caused filling station operators to ask him "when he met a UFO?" Victor Johnston, formerly living near Oklahoma City, had the Oklahoma license plates "UFO", but now has conventional plates after moving to Mineral Wells, Texas. Our Japanese visitors always take pictures of my license plates as a momento of their visit to MUFON. Yu "Masaru" Mori, MUFON Sectional Director for Northern Japan, was our first visitor to take photographs back to Japan. Personally, I am proud to be identified with MUFON -- how about you?

@MC05A Here's two examples of government avoidance of creating UFO documents: Col. John Alexander called his 1980s UFO study the "Advanced Theoretical Physics Working Group," and Hal Puthoff followed the model with deceptive aerospace language, concealing the purpose of AAWSAP/AATIP.

2021-03-16T14:56:27+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1371837775075541003

@MC05A The policy of avoiding UFO FOIAs goes back at least 40 years. CIA historian Gerald Haines "found almost no documentation on Agency involvement with UFOs in the 1980s." Why? The government was aware of citizens filing FOIA requests, so they avoided generating any UFO documents. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ewm_GM6WUAM093M.png @foiaboi @MickWest @LueElizondo As a UFO fan, you would say that, Mike. Anyway, the substance of the real cover-up is that there are reports of UFOs in the skies and the US military says nothing, since that can neither control or explain them.

@MickWest The UFO cover-up myth exploited the very real military obsession of secrecy and the paranoia of UFO buffs, by saying the evidence had been hidden, stolen, or destroyed by the government. Donald Keyhoe picked up on it in 1949, then Frank Scully, later Gray Barker, and now Lue.

The NYT 2017 story on AATIP named Sen. Harry Reid as the sponsor, "former senators... Ted Stevens... and Daniel K. Inouye... also supported the program." Retired sen. John Glenn, too. Reid's colleagues had previously supported the USG's remote viewing project with Hal Puthoff.

Sinister Forces: A Grimoire of American Political Witchcraft Book 3 by Peter Levenda (2011)

"...after the Republican Ronald Reagan was elected President in 1980... CIA's Robert Gates as well as Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci both opposed the remote viewing programs..."

Although Gates and Carlucci did their best to destroy the remote viewing program, the psychics had champions in the persons of Senator Robert Byrd (D) of West Virginia, Senator Daniel Inouye (D) of Hawaii, Senator and former astronaut John Glenn (D) of Ohio, and two Republican senators, William Cohen of Maine and Ted Stevens of Alaska. (It should also be mentioned that one of the most vocal supporters of the SRI and military psi-war programs was former astronaut Edgar Mitchell, who had been on hand to

The senators managed to protect the remote viewing program for quite a while, but the psychics still wound up as moving targets, working now for INSCOM, now for the DIA, fighting for funding all over Capitol Hill. Puthoff managed to win a ten-year contract from an unidentified government agency that saved the SRI program, but he had tired of the politics—both internal and external—at SRI and retired from the Institute in 1985. Major General Stubblebine was forced to retire from the Army—and thus as protector of the remote viewing apparatus—in 1984. Oddly enough, Stubblebine would wind up in New York, having divorced his first wife, living with a psychiatrist who specialized in alien abduction cases. Many of the remote viewers and support personnel became UFO “believers”—if that is the correct term—including PITTSBURGH, Kan. (AP) — The police dispatcher had a rash of telephone calls from excited persons saying a "flying saucer" was hovering over Mt. Olive cemetery in southeast Pittsburg. A police officer rushed to the scene only to find some young fellows were flying kites which had been daubed with iridescent paint which made them very easily spotted in the sky.

research so cringeworthy that no self-respecting officials would dare put their name on it.

There's precedent for the latter: The results of the raft of theoretical studies that were commissioned by the Pentagon's AATIP program between 2009 and 2012 were ultimately compiled in a 300-page doorstopper of a report by Bigelow Aerospace. Some were classified; many were not, but even the unclassified reports were never made public, because Mellon and others felt they would be embarrassing and only undercut their long-term efforts.

No Evidence Seen Of Space Men Yet, Says Air Force

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Air Force said today it has no evidence beings from some other world have visited this planet, but added it would be unreasonable to deny such a thing could happen.

"The Air Force has absolutely no evidence of visitors from space," a prepared statement said.

The Air Force released its statement in response to a question from the magazine SEE as to whether visitors from outer space had landed on the earth from flying saucers. The magazine said two recent books contained such statement.

The Air Force reply, in part: "As limited as man is in his knowledge and understanding of the Universe and its many forces, it would be foolhardy indeed to deny the possibility that higher forms of life existed elsewhere.

"It would be similarly unreasonable to deny that intelligent beings

@devgru1980mi Try to stay positive! The UFO topic is undergoing a level of public awareness not seen since 1967. What can be done differently this time is for individuals to support private research, not leave it to the whims if the government and politicians.

@MickWest It would be a good experiment for everyone interested in UFOs to try and capture conventional aircraft in flight (both day & night). Harder than most would guess, and good results from a phone camera are rare. Good practice, and while outside, you might even spot a UFO.

Hyde Street. Saturday 26 September 1981.

Kit came to pick me up at Dulles. In Thailand recently he befriended a paramilitary guy, a mercenary. Over a long train journey, eating rice and drinking beer, the man told him about a job he'd done in the Midwest at the instigation of high level Pentagon people. The mission was to infiltrate a nuclear installation. They took several quiet helicopters, disguised them as flying saucers, and were able to get very close to the missile silos.

@red_pill_junkie @bradjohansson21 Lue's 2018 presentation in Italy to CUN demonstrated his lack of knowledge about the topic, but he's had time to learn. He's recently been asked about topics such as Dr. James McDonald and the Kecksburg case. Who, what? Chances are MJ-12 doesn't mean much more to him. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E3oOx4PWUAc3Hii.jpg

UFO photographs Dr. J. Allen Hynek described as authentic caused a media frenzy. Blue Book, the Invisible College, the Condon UFO Study, and CIA photo analysts were involved in the investigation. @SicCoP1 It's as if they dusted off an old script for a remake with a twist. In the 1960s we had Congress asking for a UFO investigation, but that resulted in the Condon Study & closure of PBB. Today we've got them opening/expanding the UAPTF instead. I'm looking for answers elsewhere.

On the lack of #UFO crash retrievals:

Some flying saucers are from Mars and turn into gelatin. When touched, they disintegrate.

So said George Adamski, in the Escondido CA Times-Advocate, Jan. 2, 1954.

SAYS IT VISTED PALOMAR GARDEN EARLIER

Fying Saucer from Wolf Star 359 Adamski Says of Fiery Object

By ELOISE DU VEL PERKINS

The object that flashed across Escondido's sky at 10:45 a.m. Thursday appeared an hour and a half earlier over Palomar Gardens, at the junction of Star Route 76 and the Highway to the Stars on the south slope of Palomar mountain, according to George Adamski, co-author of the book "Flying Saucers Have Landed."

"It was a whitish tan flying saucer," he said.

"The space ship was flying at an altitude of about 10,000 feet when it passed over the spot where I was standing. It was about 300 to 400 feet in diameter and was a flattened-out oval.

"It wasn't a Venusian ship," he said, with seeming authority.

Adamski, in his book, gave a detailed description of a gigantic cigar - shaped silvery ship from Venus which he had observed on the edge of the desert. At the time he tells of seeing that ship (on Nov. 20, 1952), Adamski said he talked to one of its passengers, using gestures and telepathy.

Possibly From Mars

"The saucer I saw Thursday may have come from Mars, Saturn or even from Wolf Star 359," he continued.

Adamski said that what the people of Escondido thought was the explosion of the object overhead here Thursday was probably the space ship launching one of its remote control atmosphere testers.

He said that the space ships are equipped with such testers, which are from 20 inches to 12 feet in diameter. They are operated by remote control, but sometimes the mother ship loses control over them. In this event, the testers are blown up to keep them from falling into earthling hands, Adamski said.

After a tester is blown up, it settles to earth in a form of gelatin. When one tries to pick up the substance, it disintegrates, he claims.

Disappearing Gelatin

Adamski said that space ships are equipped with a huge screen, similar to television screens. No images appear on the screens, however, but only a constant movement of colored lights which are understood by the ships' operators.

"You can't see a meteorite in the daytime," he concluded.

Adamski's version of the incident, which took place about 10:45 a.m. Thursday, was at variance with conclusions reached by civil aeronautics authority officials who expressed belief it was caused by a meteorite. Amateur astronomers said it was a rare example of a daytime meteorite and may have been no larger than a man's fist. It may have been traveling as high as five to 20 miles, they said. The object was sighted over Indio shortly before passing over Escondido.

@blackvaultcom @LueElizondo @MiddleOfMayhem Much of the confusion comes from the name AATIP being used when describing the activities of AAWSAP. The Bigelow-AAWSAP thing was quiet, but real. Lue's AATIP was so informal and semi-secret, it's indistinguishable from a club with imaginary friends.

Throughout the early 1950s, brilliant UFOs were seen streaking across northeastern skies. The descriptions were all similar, and guesses ranged from fiery planes crashing to flying saucers. Some of them were a military test project by the US government.

@SicCoP1 @GalileoProject1 Daniel, there's several problems involved. One is that Avi Loeb doesn't have an interest or respect for the UFO topic and historical case research. It looks like he's embracing the current UAP popularity, exploiting it to get public support for his @GalileoProject1.

@bradjohansson21 Could @ChrisKMellon be conflating the story of Paul Bennewitz with the suicide of Dr. James E. McDonald? His sad death was not related to his UFO research. Clip from Firestrorm by Ann Druffel, 2003. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FKrodCcVQAApjn4.jpg

The letter laid out her problem: McDonald was seriously neglecting her. As a consequence of his frequent absences from home, she had become involved with a younger man who was active in the anti-war movement and whom she saw frequently at the Peace and Freedom Center. He fulfilled her need for companionship and also claimed to share her Marxist philosophy. He assured her he was not of Stalinist/Communist persuasion, which she abhorred.

Betsy's letter asked for a divorce. McDonald found her decision "all too painfully understandable."[53] He tried to convey his sorrow, but this didn't help. The emotional cord he'd formed with her snapped, and he sank into full depression.

Even in the throes of clinical depression, however, McDonald's mind worked fully. He began immediately to plan suicide, and over the next four days carefully worked out a strategy that he was confident would leave his family financially sound. All details were recounted in long letters to Betsy,

Russia and the USA in a fight to capture a flying saucer and its technology. That's the plot for a sensational 1950s movie that was never made (as planned). Not science fiction, based on documented UFO material from government files: "Project Saucer."

Orville Wright Says:

Flying Saucers "War Propaganda"

By LEW ROCK JR.

Herald Staff Writer

Orville Wright thinks the flying saucer craze is "propaganda started by the government to support the current state department campaign to get us in another war."

The co-inventor of the airplane compared the saucer stories with the false rumors published in England in 1913 about German dirigibles flying over the British Isles.

"It is more propaganda for war, to stir up the people and excite them to believe a foreign power has designs on this nation," the 75-year-old scientist said.

Mr. Wright criticized wide publicity given the saucer stories.

He believes there is no scientific basis for the existence of the phenomenon reportedly seen by hundreds of persons across the nation.

"You can get people to say anything," he commented. "The American people have reached a pretty low level to be taken in by sheer propaganda."

During the interview in his Broadway laboratory today, Mr. Wright recalled his visit to England in 1913 and a discussion with Lord Northcliffe, powerful British newspaper publisher.

"Lord Northcliffe admitted when I twitted him about the dirigible reports that he knew them to be false," Mr. Wright said. "He told me the dispatches were published to influence the British government into recognizing the approach of war."

YOUR editors were reminded of Charles Fort and his "Lo" the other day. Seen from our twenty-second story window, in the west, was a strong light, high in the air, which remained for perhaps ten minutes, then faded. A mirage, you may say, but your editor got a great kick out of announcing the arrival of the Martians to his fellow editors on the staff of Radio News, Popular Photography, and Popular Aviation.

Seriously though, there are many things in legend and even in history which have no explanation, unless we use some of those contained in the pages of AMAZING STORIES. Perhaps someday we will find definite proof of an interplanetary visitor, such as Robert Moore Williams pictures for us in his story in this issue.

APRO - the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization was founded in 1952 by Coral & Jim Lorenzen, the first #UFO group led by a woman, the first to attempt a scientific approach. Sadly, APRO ended after Jim passed in 1986, Coral in April 1988. (Battle Creek Enquirer, Dec. 13, 1953.) http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FSGN0oCX0AMzFwb.png

Group Studying Flying Saucers

Information on Astral Objects Sought by Society.

STURGEON BAY, Wis.—(U.P.)—Did you ever see a flying saucer?

If so, Mrs. Coral Lorenzen of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., would like to hear about it, provided the object can't be explained away as a natural phenomenon.

Non-Profit Group

The 28-year-old housewife and mother heads the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization, a non-profit group that gathers, studies and evaluates data on flying saucers.

Mrs. Lorenzen abhors crackpots and others who think every light in the sky that doesn't come from a heavenly body is a space ship hurtling from Mars bent on destruction. She and members of her far-flung organization are intent upon discovering what apparently inexplicable objects really are and why there has been a rash of flying saucer reports in recent years.

Reports of saucer sightings are forwarded by members of APRO to the organization's main chapter here. Chapters are spread around the country and as far away as Australia.

"We try," said Mrs. Lorenzen, "to fit any sighting into one of the following categories before labeling it as a bona fide aerial phenomena—unidentified balloons, conventional aircraft, reflections, meteors or atmospheric phenomena."

Aerial Phenomena Research Organization

Founded in 1952

APRO had its beginning back in 1947 while Mrs. Lorenzen was in Arizona. She saw a strange light come from over the Mexican border and travel to the far horizon. It couldn't have been a meteor, she said, for it moved in the wrong direction. A few weeks later came the sighting of nine silvery objects over Mt. Rainier in Washington state. That really started the saucer "craze."

Mrs. Lorenzen said "none of the solutions offered at that time fitted the facts." When reports became fairly common she decided a group was needed to get details of all sightings of the strange objects. For that, a world-wide organization was needed, and she began contacting interested persons. So, in January, 1952, APRO was founded.

Sample Report

A sample of the reports—and there are numerous ones—is this one:

In July, 1947, a British woman was aboard a ship in the Straits of Madagascar. Late one night a bright light appeared, traveling fast. It descended, slowed down, and pulled up near the ship. The woman, a companion and crew members saw a cigar-shaped object with a steel band around its middle about 20 feet off the water. It was about four times the length of the ship. Fierce flames shot out from its rear. After a few seconds, the whole shape disappeared, trailing flames.

This, like other reports, was made by a sober-minded person, not likely to conjure up fantastis space ships, according to Mrs. Lorenzen.

1. The following information was obtained by a Special Agent of this District Office and is submitted for your information:

2. A/1C CLYDE E. WHEELER, AF-21238827, 6501st Support Squadron, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, was interviewed 31 July 1952, and advised that M Sgt LOYAL R. BUNCE, AF-6832919, 575th Field Maintenance Squadron, Box 19, Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, Michigan, told him approximately 10 June 1952, that he (BUNCE) knew about the flying saucers at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. At this time (approximately 10 June 1952), BUNCE explained in detail that he knew the people at Wright-Patterson AFB had found some flying saucers and also some bodies inside the saucers. The saucers and bodies were taken to Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, date unknown. At Wright-Patterson AFB, BUNCE explained officials at the Radiation Laboratory dissassembled the flying saucers, which supposedly came from Venus and the bodies inside the saucers were taken to the Aero Medical Laboratory, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, for further study. The discussion of saucers came about as a result of BUNCE's interest in a project that A/1C WHEELER was working on and also as a result of BUNCE's knowledge of WHEELER having been at Wright Air Development Center, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, sometime in January 1952.

@hoveringobject Yes, it was November 16, 1981.

It was rerun at least once, March of 1982, I think.

Montgomery, AL, had a UFO/paranormal show on WACV Talk Radio in the late 1980s, "In Touch," hosted by Chris Stevens. (Clipping is from The Montgomery Advertiser, Oct. 16, 1989.)

Does anyone have any information on the show or where to find recordings of it?

@NewsTalk931 http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FTm75dgWQAAvdhm.jpg

Radio Show Puts Listeners 'In Touch'

While most radio personalities are concerned about spinning platters, Chris Stevens is concerned with spinning saucers.

Why others worry about program ratings, the Montgomery talk-show host worries about measuring the paranormal.

But his show isn't like the others

"In Touch," which has been on a rotating schedule at WACV Talk Radio since January, focuses on calls about everything from UFOs to poltergeists.

"There are a lot of things going on that don't appear in the regular media," he said, adding that part of this is because people are leery about relating strange experiences.

"That's one of the good things about this show," he says. "It lets people talk about what they've seen without fear of being laughed at or ridiculed.

"Here, they can discuss it with people who won't assume they're either stupid or on drugs."

The talk show host doesn't stop with just talk.

"I go out and investigate a lot of them," he said.

He says he's received about 100 calls concerning paranormal activities since the show started.

Some turned out to be nothing.

"A family called and said in one room, they kept hearing water dripping where there was no water," he says. "I went there and determined there was a leaking pipe behind the walls"

But other reports have been more convincing.

For instance, there is the house in East Montgomery where the occupants have heard phantom footsteps, seen apparitions and watched furniture being flung against walls by some unexplained force.

Then there is Betty Cash, an Alabama woman who pulled her car to the side of the road so that she, a friend and her grandson could watch a glowing object hovering near the highway.

Mrs. Cash, who has been a guest on "In Touch" several times, said the heat was so intense it blistered the paint on her car and melted the dash.

The Lincoln native obtained a doctor's statement after the encounter that reports she received severe radiation burns.

The 38-year-old talk-show host says people would be surprised how often UFOs are sighted, but adds that although some of these could be interplanatary crafts, he believes most are probably secret military aircrafts.

How does someone become a moderator of the paranormal?

Mr. Stevens, who spent years as a musician, says he has had an interest in unexplained phonomena ever since he was 8 and saw a UFO near Clearwater, Fla.

"It was nothing spectacular," he said. "It was just a round pattern of lights in which the lights were moving in a counterclockwise motion.

"I didn't see it up close. I just saw it hover over some trees for a while and then move away."

The incident created an interest in the unexplained that has snowballed.

"I started cutting out the stories I saw," he said. "Then I started putting them in files"

His interest eventually led him to "In Touch," a program he says is finding a growing audience.

"It's definitely picking up," he said. "I think when people first learned about it they said, 'Oh no,' because they thought it would just be sensationalism.

"But it's gotten so when people call now, some have trouble getting through."

The bearded host stops talking about the increase in listeners and excitedly begins to talk about his next project — tracking down a story about a

Stars and drones become unknowns
if you don't know
they're stars and drones.
Unknown does not mean,
whatever was seen
was an alien invasion,
we just lack information.

To criticize Taylor's progress in identifying objects flying in the air,
that seems fair.

A far out passage from "Beyond Earth: Man's Contact With UFOs" by Ralph Blum, 1974.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FWOQUfTWIAAZ8ne.png

One aspect of the Phenomenon that until now has received comparatively little attention—the psychic connection—is being explored at a number of universities. I talked recently with Dr. Harold Puthoff at Stanford Research Institute (SRI) who told me that they are receiving hundreds of letters a month from people claiming to have psychic abilities they want tested, and that many of the letters mention UFO experiences. SRI has been conducting tests with Uri Geller, who has apparently been able to bend a steel bar three-quarters of an inch in diameter without touching it—a feat that would normally require some fifty thousand pounds of force! If, as Geller maintains, his "powers" date from a direct UFO contact, he could be part of the linkage between science and the Phenomenon that we are missing. As one astrophysicist said, "If Geller is for real, his presence on this earth calls into question the entire structure of science as we know it." The same has been said of UFOs. Perhaps Charlie Hickson and Uri Geller are toes of the same dinosaur.

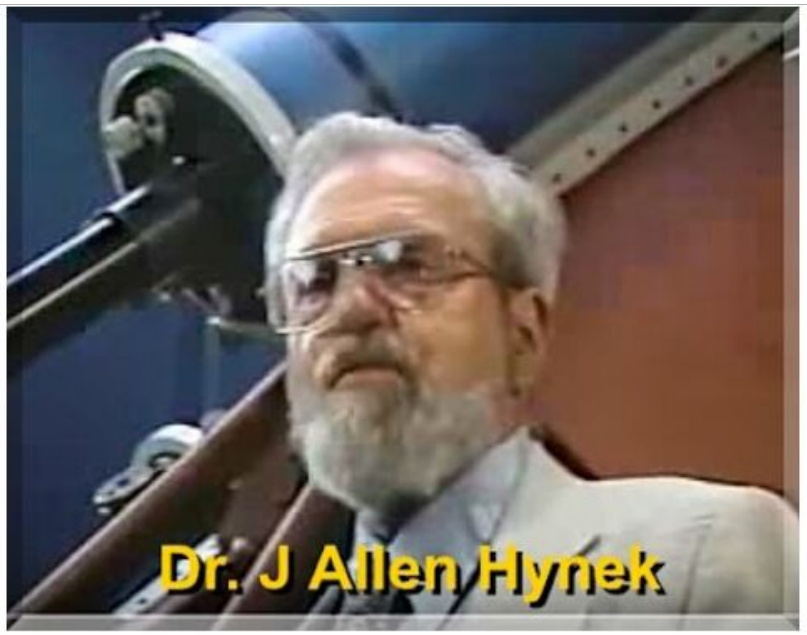
@LiberationTimes @LueElizondo Here's a point of view on the fate of ufology from someone a bit more experienced. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Fb-NxFnXEAEd4yt.jpg



"Ufology today is in the state I would say chemistry was when chemistry was alchemy, a mixture of superstition, wild ideas, unproved claims, and yet out of that whole mess, finally the very first class science of chemistry evolved. And I think the same thing is going to happen eventually with Ufology, but right now, it is a mess.

There's a fantastic amount of wishful thinking, of desire, of pseudoscience, of pseudo-religion, of cultism, but eventually, I think that will all finally sink to the bottom, and we'll have out of the whole thing a clear liquid of something we that can really see, and I hope, understand."

Fifth Graders Get Dope; Flying Saucers Are Real

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 30. (AP)—Fifth grade school children the world over—if they learned their lessons last week—now know there are such things as flying saucers.

ing saucers most certainly are among this nation's experimental aircraft, and

"Our correspondent had one idea in mind and that thought was to calm any hysterical fears some children might have built up from hearing too much talk about mys-

#RoswellSlides What makes for good #UFO evidence?
#beWitness http://pbs.twimg.com/media/CAZKmG1WgAAsWYp.jpg

Referred to collectively as the MJ-12 Documents, they highlight some of the problems associated with "documents-as-proof" that are frequently encountered in UFO-related research: lack of provenance for the document(s) in question, among researchers regarding the genuineness of a document.

Tracing a document back to a UFO investigator with an agenda and no farther does not constitute adequate provenance. We must know who the ultimate originator of the document in question was in order to properly research and verify its context and background. Without its provenance thus established, a document should immediately become suspect as being fraudulent, especially if the original of the document is unavailable.

To make matters worse, UFO researchers cannot agree on the importance that should be attached to apparent discrepancies when they are found in such documents. ...advocates of the document will attempt to downplay the discrepancies as minor matters signifying nothing, in order to save its hoped-for document-as-proof status. The point here is that without standing and general agreement regarding its import, a document as proof of anything is worthless.

So I arbitrarily set the blur size down to 60x60, or the half setting. Great results! Got a boomerang-shaped blur model kernel that resulted in top line almost completely cleared up, obviously all CAPS printed letters, not script, reading MUMMIFIED BODY OF TWO YEAR OLD BOY, clearer when I smoothed it to the 80 range. Could also read a likely "San Francisco, California" at the bottom.

Well, that was too easy, I said. Too bad I didn't do this earlier.

Tom Carey's statement regarding the #RoswellSlides.

Not what anyone was expecting.

http://devoid.blogs.heraldtribune.com/15296/au-prof-the-kids-are-alright/

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/CFtWLbiWIAEcylC.jpg

Tom Carey Friday, May 22, 2015 at 12:49 pm

An unfortunate fact of life is that untrue statements that go unchallenged will tend to be accepted "facts" over time. I must, therefore, correct the record pertaining to several comments reported in Billy Cox's "hit-piece" directed at me in his May 15th missile, "AU Prof: the kids are all right."

More specifically: AU professor John Weiskopf's recollection of last November's UFO colloquium at American University, with respect to my participation, is incorrect on three points.

(1) I never felt that I was the "odd man out." Everyone, from the other panelists, John Weiskopf, his honor students to the conference attendees, could not have been nicer. When asked why he chose me to be a panelist, Weiskopf told me that he had read and loved my (with co-author, Don Schmitt) book WITNESS TO ROSWELL and had assigned it as required reading for his honors class. So, it was natural that I would be invited to discuss the most famous UFO case of all time;

(2) I do not recall any students from Weiskopf's honors class as being anything other than gracious to me. If any had been "less than kind" to me or had told me "face to face" that they did not like my book, I would certainly remember these from all the other students. It did not happen. There was one or two very reticent students who were very unsure of themselves about they were saying about the facts of the Roswell case, which suggested to me that they might not have actually read the book. But nothing ungracious was offered or received.

(3) So, why did I include my two-minute statement regarding the "Roswell Slides" at the conclusion of my presentation at the AU conference? After breakfast the morning of the event, I was going over my proposed presentation with Prof. Weiskopf. I don't recall if he had asked me about the slides, or if I brought up the fact that I was free to talk about them publicly for the first time (they had been the topic of discussion on several internet blogs for over a year). It doesn't matter, but I was not about to say anything about it, if the organizer of the conference did not agree to it. He did in fact agree to it, telling me that he thought it was a good idea, that adding some "breaking news" to the conference's agenda might foster media interest in the overall event. If not for Prof. Weiskopf's seal of approval, I would not have said a word about it.

Thanks again to the Honors students who were so gracious and respectful to me and my wife and for their thoughtful and kind Christmas card received.

Referred to collectively as the MJ-12 Documents, they highlight some of the problems associated with "documents-as-proof" that are frequently encountered in UFO-related research: lack of provenance for the document(s) in question, among researchers regarding the genuineness of a document.

Tracing a document back to a UFO investigator with an agenda and no farther does not constitute adequate provenance. We must know who the ultimate originator of the document in question was in order to properly research and verify its context and background. Without its provenance thus established, a document should immediately become suspect as being fraudulent, especially if the original of the document is unavailable.

To make matters worse, UFO researchers cannot agree on the importance that should be attached to apparent discrepancies when they are found in such documents. ...advocates of the document will attempt to downplay the discrepancies as minor matters signifying nothing, in order to save its hoped-for document-as-proof status. The point here is that without standing and general agreement regarding its import, a document as proof of anything is worthless.

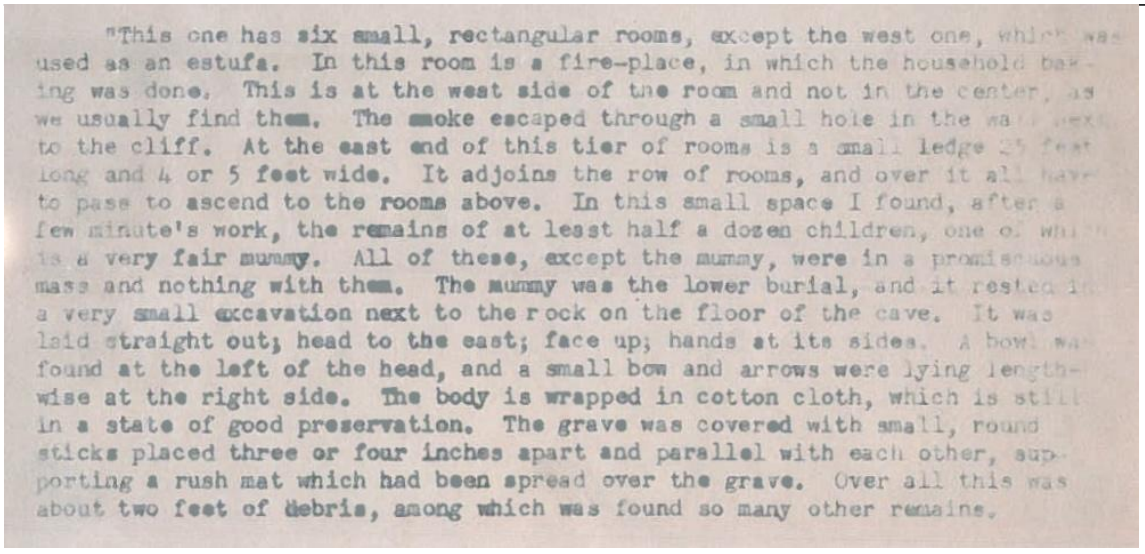
http://wetherillfamily.com/moca_palmer.pdf http://pbs.twimg.com/media/CG1szPJUgAA9CbP.jpg



"This one has six small, rectangular rooms, except the west one, which was used as an estufa. In this room is a fire-place, in which the household baking was done. This is at the west side of the room and not in the center, as we usually find them. The smoke escaped through a small hole in the wall next to the cliff. At the east end of this tier of rooms is a small ledge 25 feet long and 4 or 5 feet wide. It adjoins the row of rooms, and over it all have to pass to ascend to the rooms above. In this small space I found, after a few minute's work, the remains of at least half a dozen children, one of which is a very fair mummy. All of these, except the mummy, were in a promiscuous mass and nothing with them. The mummy was the lower burial, and it rested in a very small excavation next to the rock on the floor of the cave. It was laid straight out; head to the east; face up; hands at its sides. A bowl was found at the left of the head, and a small bow and arrows were lying lengthwise at the right side. The body is wrapped in cotton cloth, which is still in a state of good preservation. The grave was covered with small, round sticks placed three or four inches apart and parallel with each other, supporting a rush mat which had been spread over the grave. Over all this was about two feet of debris, among which was found so many other remains.

David Rudiak: A press release from the National Park Service on the #RoswellSlides mummy: http://kevinrandle.blogspot.com/2015/05/the-roswell-slides-and-mummys-placard.html?showComment=1433463583115#c4123844764647952891

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/CGskA1KUYAA9w2A.jpg

"Human remains were a common display item at many National Park Service museums across the Intermountain West. Unfortunately, these remains were often treated as curiosities and many were eventually removed from public display as a gesture of respect for the deceased.

"Because these are Native American human remains, the National Park Service has the legal and ethical obligation to comply with the native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) (Public Law 101-601; 205 U.S.C 30003-3013). Per the agency's responsibilities under NAGRPA, this individual was included in a Notice of Inventory Completion published in the Federal Register on April 1, 2015. National Park Service guidelines state very clearly that access to photographs, drawings, renderings, and casts of NAGPRA items should be restricted and the use of NPS photographs or other documentation of NAGPRA items in publications or on the internet is prohibited.

"Frank McNitt's publication Richard Wetherill-Anasazi: Pioneer Explorer of Southwestern Ruins briefly discusses the S.L. Palmer expedition to Montezuma Castle, including the discovery of this individual. It is important to consider, however, that attitudes toward the treatment of pre contact Native American human remains have changed drastically since the Palmer expedition. With this in mind, the National Park Service now treats human remains recovered from archeological sites with the same respect afforded to all individuals, regardless of when or how they were discovered."

So I arbitrarily set the blur size down to 60x60, or the half setting. Great results! Got a boomerang-shaped blur model kernel that resulted in top line almost completely cleared up, obviously all CAPS printed letters, not script, reading MUMMIFIED BODY OF TWO YEAR OLD BOY, clearer when I smoothed it to the 80 range. Could also read a likely "San Francisco, California" at the bottom.

Well, that was too easy, I said. Too bad I didn't do this earlier.

@UFORN No, but the prior attitude was that the placard was real, just that the museum was too dumb to recognize an alien body.

PERUVIAN DESERT

Intricate patterns on the desert cover an area of 40 square miles. They are clearly visible and meaningful only from the air.

By James W. Moseley

Of all the strange and ancient ruins to be found in this fascinating world of ours, none is more intriguing than those recently discovered on the desert near Nasca, Peru, S. A. Although these lines and figures are believed to be at least 1,000 years old, they have come to light only since commercial airliners, flying south from Lima, began passing over the area regularly.

Mysterious pathways, forming shapes of different animals and ornaments, now are known to cover an area of at least 40 square miles in this region, which was once the center of a highly evolved agricultural civilization. These odd pathways lie near long straight-edged fields. Numerous straight road-like traces of different widths run in all directions. Together these lines form a dense and complicated pattern, outlined in light color against a darker background.

These important prehistoric remains — unknown to the white man and forgotten by the Indian — have lain hidden for so long partly because of their astonishing dimensions. Only very small fractions of them were ever seen at one time. But from an airplane it is possible to spot the absolutely straight lines and borders of elongated surfaces which form a marvelous network which looks as if it were traced on a gigantic drawing board.

For hundreds of years travellers have crossed over parts of these great patterns. But as they do not stand out on the ground no importance was given to them. Everywhere in this region one finds low, straight elevations. Few persons would recognize them as the borders of the conspicuous, delineated surfaces seen from the air. Some of the narrower ornamental

This mummy is nine inches wide and twenty-nine inches long. The height, or thickness, probably isn't important but in case you should wonder about it the measurement is five and one-half inches. The mummy is that of a child, stretched out full-length on its back. All is in good condition except one leg which is missing below the knee.

Curt-

I received the documents directly from FOIA officer Chares Wilson this afternoon. I had been emailing requests on this to curators of both the Mesa Verde Museum and Montezuma Castle for weeks. They informed me that I FOIA had already been filed and that they would notify me. And I noticed on your blurry lines blog that you do not credit me for having found the Mesa Verde Notes that confirmed the mummy was there.

Recently Mesa Verde National Park has received inquiries based on internet reports concerning the ancient remains of a human child which used to be on display in the Chapin Mesa Archeological Museum. Out of respect for this child and his/her family, it was taken off public display many years ago. Although it was common practice in the past to display human remains in museums, we now try to treat them with the same respect we give to our own family members who have passed away.

San Diegoans See (?) Visitor

LOS ANGELES —(U.P.)— The Los Angeles Daily News said in a story from San Diego, Calif., Monday that many persons there believed a "space ship from another planet" had tried to contact earth during last week's showering of meteors from the Giacobini-Zinner comet.

At San Diego, authorities said they received no reports of such a phenomenon and were frankly skeptical of it. Police said they had received no calls at the time.

The Daily News said at least a dozen persons testified that on the night of Oct. 9 a "large and weird object," with something that looked like wings had appeared over the city.

"It was shaped like a bullet and it left a thin vapor trail behind it," the News quoted William L. Nabers, San Diego County Hospital attendant, as saying.

THE "DISC" INVESTIGATION

The "flying disc" hoax in Twin Falls at least gave us an insight into that old "cloak and dagger" secrecy which the U. S. army on occasion employs to the extent of making itself ridiculous.

Once army intelligence got wind of the discovery in Twin Falls, it threw its censorship machinery into high gear. The police were ordered to keep the "saucer" under lock and key, films of pictures already taken were commandeered, and to all questions regarding the "disc," the officers maintained a sphinx-like silence.

Naturally this army secrecy aroused speculation far and wide. The press wires buzzed with inquiries. Newspapers called from great ... for information. One newspaper dis- ... own plane to Twin Falls.

The #UFO flap of April 1948 ruffled the Air Force - one of their colonels was among the many witnesses. Without investigation, a review by J. Allen Hynek hastily caused the case to be logged in Blue Book files as "solved" instead of unidentified.

Saucers are roomier than you'd think. Due to ET tech, tiny engines, so lots of legroom. You're right about cargo space, though, only enough for an exam table. As for food and toilet, remember these are just scout ships - all the serious business is conducted on the mother ship.

Since the Nimitz video was published online back in 2007, anytime after that it could have been downloaded by someone and filed away. In this way, even a published newspaper article can be "classified."

@MudcatOakCliff Routinely. That's the point, and sometimes it's just to shoo away questioners. The good news is that the FOIA response described other related Nimitz case material, so new requests can focus on that.

The #UFO bit about "grave damage to the National Security of the United States" has been overhyped in the press. That's standard language to deny releasing any kind of classified data, used since at least 1990.

Why? Lue Elizondo from a 2018 interview, about classified secrets:

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EOgSt5jWoAAKM53.jpg

Elizondo: The reason why information is classified is because there is an original classification authority, an organization that has the right to classify something. And these organizations do a pretty good job of classifying things to protect missions and operations, ongoing operations. And people. Right? So you classify things because of sources and methods. And in the end to protect the integrity of the operation and protect, maybe its American lives or other people that were working with at the time. And so there are a whole bunch of reasons. For example, maybe you hear the video beforehand, the callsign of one pilot to another right? Or you hear the AOR (area of responsibility) that they're flying in, right, or the type of mission that they're on, or things like that, you know, certain capabilities, certain locations, certain operations that we're not prepared to have that conversation yet @rogerglassel just sent me the @MUFON Journal from May 2018, new to me. @ChaseKloetzke interviewed Elizondo, who said zero about the MUFON contract, but mentioned private contractors and NDAs. Elizondo also said "...MUFON... absolutely should be leveraged.â□□

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/ET9s52iXYAE24zR.png

MUFON's place in all this

First and foremost, Chase wanted to know how AATIP may have used the data and statistics mined from historical UFO reports. Lue explained, "There was enough historical information out there that the general populous could consume. Where we found our niche was the very nuanced information, classified and unclassified, that was derived from DOD assets, equities, equipment, and personnel that we could access and nobody else could. So, we were talking to pilots, radar operators, air-traffic controllers, and those types of individuals, who were part of the greater DOD apparatus or architecture, if you will."

Chase pushed: "Did AATIP, at any point, have concerns with UFO reports coming in from other agencies like SETI?" The personnel at AATIP needed to insulate themselves from any potential mission creep and analytical overlay, much like a self-imposed sequestration. Lue told Chase that they didn't want to let "that data somehow effect the data analytics that we were doing in-house."

More importantly, were they interested in the hundreds of eyewitness accounts that continue to be reported to places like MUFON or Peter Davenport's site, the National UFO Reporting Center? Lue suggested, "Let me answer by saying there should be an interest. Whether there is or there is not, that is a question you have to bring up to the government. The DOD should absolutely be interested and be conducting outreach, in my personal opinion. I think anything that involves national security needs to have national security involvement by the government. If not just for situational awareness alone." He added that, like the civilian air corps, "MUFON, or other organizations, is that civilian workforce. These are patriots; these are Americans that have their heart and their minds all in the right place. And MUFON, like any other respectable organization, if it has the infrastructure, and it has the integrity to protect information, absolutely should be leveraged."

Education Weekly Tells Pupils There Really Are Flying Saucers

By the Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Fifth grade school children the world over—if they learned their lessons last week—now know there are such things as flying saucers.

They know because their "newspaper" told them so.

Their newspaper is My Weekly Reader, published by the American Education Press of Columbus, one of the oldest educational publishing houses in the United States. It is required reading in many schools.

The newspaper goes to schools in every State and 55 foreign countries. Just how many, the company won't say.

My Weekly Reader for the September 18-22 week, carried an article by "Tom Trott," a frankly fictitious character, on flying saucers.

"Tom Trott" told his youthful readers:

"This week, we are at an airport on the Atlantic Coast. The most exciting thing we have seen is 'flying saucers.'

Expected to Help Country.

"For several years, people in many parts of our country have claimed to have seen flying saucers. The Government proved that some of these people were imagining things. However, I am now allowed to tell you that some flying saucers are real. They belong to our Air Force. They will some day be a big help to our country."

("Tom Trott" and other writers to the contrary, the Air Force has said and repeated: "We have investigated all reports of flying saucers and find nothing to substantiate any of them.")

Why, then, did the publishing house—which has a 50-year tradition of responsibility to the youngsters it serves—publish such a story?

Says Miss Eleanor M. Johnson, managing editor of elementary school publications:

"The staff is convinced that flying saucers most certainly are among this nation's experimental aircraft, and

"Our correspondent had one idea in mind and that thought was to calm any hysterical fears some children might have built up from hearing too much talk about mysterious flying objects from other planets or deadly flying weapons of our enemies."

Hysteria Letters Cited.

The American Education Press has received a number of letters from youngsters indicating a "widespread hysteria" among youngsters about "tiny, big-headed men from Venus" riding to earth in outlandish contraptions, Miss Johnson explained.

"We are in sympathy with 'Mr. Trott's' motive to overcome a deluge of humbuggery afloat in our land which is calculated to exploit superstition and ignorance," Miss Johnson added.

Here are some other things "Trott's" article told the fifth graders about flying saucers:

"Flying saucers are made in several sizes. The smallest ones are six inches thick. The big ones are about as far across as the width of four or five city lots.

"Some of the saucers are raised in the middle like a pie. Others turn up around the edge like a saucer. They leave no trail of light or smoke. They make no sound. They are harmless.

"These strange flying things are made of material which dissolves after being in the air for a while. For this reason, the saucers disappear soon after they hit the ground. You probably will never find one. But if you do, you will find these words on it in black letters:

"Military secret of the United States of America Air Forces.

"Any one damaging or revealing description or whereabouts of this missile is subject to prosecution by the United States Government."

Miss Johnson says her staff's belief in flying saucers is based, in part, on a number of "similar reports on the so-called saucers printed in various periodicals over the last six months."

@LtTimMcMillan @BigelowSpace @PopMech @MC05A @LtTimMcMillan What do you think, is there any evidence that beyond Bigelow, Kelleher, and Puthoff, that the BAASS team was aware they were working for #AATIP or #AASAP or the US government in general?

@g_knapp The Bigelow layoffs are certainly worth a mention on your show. As is this story about a UFO conspiracy that was not just a theory: the #AATIP Bigelow-MUFON cover-up. Never heard of it? That's due to the NDA gags on all the players.

@devgru1980mi @MC05A Which is it, then? #AATIP was:

A) UFO research used as cover for weapons development.

B) UFO research for weapons development.

@ufologyresearch This release seems part of some housecleaning effort. It reinforces the earlier statement that the videos were not properly declassified back in 2017. Nothing newsworthy, yet somehow it is.

@UfoJoe11 As explained by Sen. Reid, he didn't think it would fly, but Lacatski said he could get the UFO studies funded by cloaking it in scientific language. AAWSAP was sold to Congress and the DIA as a aerospace weapons project. Documented in the contract and https://media.lasvegasnow.com/nxsglobal/lasvegasnow/document_dev/2018/07/25/Reid_letter_2009_1532565293943_49621615_ver1.0.pdf

@UfoJoe11 @g_knapp The"supposedly" part was drawn from your sources @g_knapp and Harry Reid. The latter part comes both from the early press, "reams of paperwork" and Pentagon statements the BAASS studies "were of limited value to DIA." @UfoJoe11 @blackvaultcom Supposedly, Dr. Lacatski crafted the program to study UFOs, but concealed it as aerospace weapons research, and it was funded on that deception. Bigelow played along in producing the scientific papers (DIRDs), but also ran wild on UFO stuff the DIA probably couldn't use.

@DavidSm87467782 UAP and UAO actually predate UFO as terminology. The Phenomena part is too vague, and the Aerial part just means it has to be seen in the sky, not even flying. Worse, the Navy uses UAP to include unidentified drones. Using the UAP term is a step backwards.

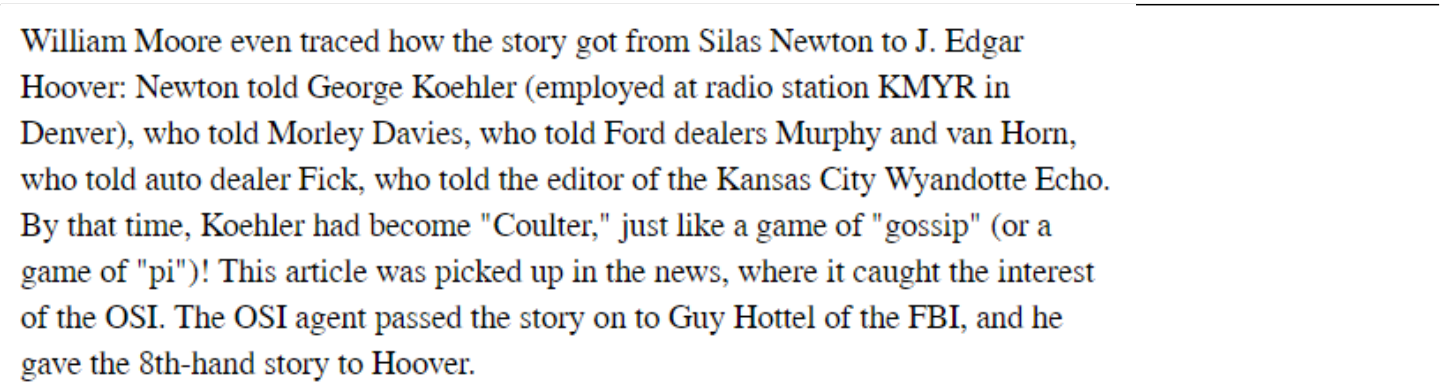
@truthbearer20 @UfoJoe11 This SNIE second-hand smoke reminds me of another "smoking gun" UFO crash document, the Guy Hottel memo. http://www.nmsr.org/hottel.htm

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ec_TRG8WkAE90-R.png



William Moore even traced how the story got from Silas Newton to J. Edgar Hoover: Newton told George Koehler (employed at radio station KMYR in Denver), who told Morley Davies, who told Ford dealers Murphy and van Horn, who told auto dealer Fick, who told the editor of the Kansas City Wyandotte Echo. By that time, Koehler had become "Coulter," just like a game of "gossip" (or a game of "pi")! This article was picked up in the news, where it caught the interest of the OSI. The OSI agent passed the story on to Guy Hottel of the FBI, and he gave the 8th-hand story to Hoover.
