@MrHustleMCR @benjimaan22 @MickWest @CoremeDerwe This thread I created was to prove that UAPs are a topic that the government takes seriously and briefs across the highest levels of government. @AstroKatie Absolutely. I like to call it responsible curiosity. The last three years of news have been very interesting, but anybody who says they 100% know the answer is lying. Those in positions of power must not let stigma or bias from either direction get in the way of evidence & truth.

> One defense official described the report's distribution as having gone through "normal, non-public, information sharing channels." Other officials who'd seen and read the report either declined to elaborate or indicated the report was distributed on various secure systems. One defense official indicated it was distributed on the DoD's Secret Internet Protocol Router Network (SIPRNet). Two other intelligence officials said they received the information via NSANet (the NSA's official intranet). An additional source said the report was distributed via the CIA's Intelink system.

> According to those willing to discuss the document, the report's most disconcerting aspect was one of the potential explanations provided for what UAP could represent. Sources say a "list" of possible prosaic explanations for these mysterious airborne encounters was provided, however the report expressly stated that the potential for UAP to be "alien" or "non-human" technology was of legitimate consideration.

But as @LtTimMcMillan reported, the fact that these craft are of non-human in origin (whatever that could mean) is a POSSIBLE explanation under serious consideration is insane.

@MickWest @TheChilterns @RobAgs0817 @LtTimMcMillan This is the same type of briefing that Rubio and Warner walked out of. Considering Rubio and Warnerâ□□s comments I doubt the briefing was about misidentifications of briefings, nor would a Vice Chief waste their incredibly valuable time on such a topic.

Steve –

Recommend you take the brief I just received from our Director of Naval Intelligence, VADM Matt Kohler, on Unidentified Aerial Phenomena (UAP). SECNAV will get the same brief tomorrow a. 1000.

Matt's EA, CAPT (b) (6) is cc'd and can set it up (b) (6)).

@WitnessCitizen @blackvaultcom @ExoExplorer3 @LtTimMcMillan That FOIAâ□□d email isnâ□□t just words, though. Itâ□□s confirmation that the highest levels of our military have an active interest in the topic.

@blackvaultcom @ExoExplorer3 @LtTimMcMillan I donâ□□t think weâ□□ll ever get an on the record source re: an intel report, sadly. If we do, theyâ□□re either going to jail, or the USG suddenly has a change of heart on what to share. But I wouldnâ□□t write off anonymous sources. What about Deep Throat?

@blackvaultcom @ExoExplorer3 @LtTimMcMillan I agree, and hopefully more evidence will come out. McMillan has more cred than most or I wouldnâ□□t have taken it as seriously. However, that FOIAâ□□d email didnâ□□t raise your eyebrows? The fact that this topic has the attn of Vice @mintyhyperspace @ufo_classes From what Iâ□□ve seen, the question of legality comes from the question of a lack of oversight in the private sector while still being funded by tax dollars. Many are concerned that this tech has left government oversight entirely.

@de_varse @JonesSmythe I think your concerns may stem from not understanding the legislation.

These whistleblowers are only able to speak to the proper committees and personnel who should already have a need to know and be read-in. This doesnâ□□t just go straight to the public.

4/So, imagine my surprise when @GarryPNolan said in @rosscoulthartâ□□s most recent documentary on @7NewsSpotlight that whistleblowers WILL be eventually coming forward re: our govâ□□s coverup on the topic.

That may be something that forces everybody to reckon with a new reality.

2022-08-22T01:07:34+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1561520418283876352

3/Especially given our governmentâ□□s less than stellar history regarding the topic.

Itâ□□s my opinion that Congressional legislation is a direct result of our ICâ□□s data and analysis. Where thereâ□□s smoke, there is fire. Maybe Iâ□□ll be proven wrong. Hopefully time will tell.

2022-08-22T01:07:33+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1561520416694231040

2/It wasnâ□□t until Russia actually began the invasion that (nearly) everyone ceded that the IC was correct and accepted it as fact.

#ufotwitter, Itâ□□s going to take quite an event for most people to get behind a reality of UAP the same way, and that is absolutely valid.

2022-08-22T01:07:33+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1561520414882275328

1/This current UAP situation within our gov is reminding me a bit of when our IC stated with confidence that Putin would invade Ukraine.

Some were convinced. Some were not. There was take after take and analysis after analysis explaining why or why not that wouldnâ□□t happen.

@JasonColavito @trelayne If you believe him that he briefed Gallagher on W/D why wouldnâ□□t you believe heâ□□a able to provide this information? Clearly heâ□□s involved in congressional efforts.

Those two beliefs donâ□□t really go together.

2022-08-22T00:33:58+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1561511963191955456

@JasonColavito He is involved with efforts in congress. My guess would be these are the folks talking to Congress. Hence the legislation. Thatâ□□s where the whistleblowing will be taking place. Itâ□□ll the one legally safe place to do it.

2022-08-22T00:25:29+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1561509827909586944

https://twitter.com/_/status/1561499468830150656

@JasonColavito I personally donâ□□t know anything. Nolan says there are whistleblowers who will be coming out soon.

@JasonColavito You think the editors arenâ□□t well aware of Keanâ□□s involvement in the topic? She doesnâ□□t hide it. You donâ□□t run a front page story in the NYT for shits and giggles. Helene Cooper was on the 2017 byline as well. The NYT reporter on the Pentagon also have a conflict of interest?

2021-02-01T15:51:01+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1356268829265993729

@PurelyYonatan It's not about what I believe. My point is that to anyone remotely skeptical, what Bigelow says means absolutely nothing. Pretty big claims with nothing to back them up.

My wish is for this topic to go as mainstream as possible. Bigelow doesn't help when he does things like that.

@NARCAP1 @ExoExplorer3 I can't speak for others, but I've never given it much mind or attention. Any action in the coming years from the USG is going to come from within or from whatever Elizondo and Mellon are up to. Bigelow isn't even involved in the topic anymore.

@awakeningMan @buffcommacu @cosmicdahlia @devgru1980mi @TheUfoJoe TTSA has been pretty awful disinfo so far if that was their mission. Changed reporting policies within the DoD, UAPs now being spread through intel circles, the UAPTF and their (maybe) report. We are better positioned than ever before to break through to the public.

@awakeningMan @buffcommacu @cosmicdahlia @devgru1980mi @TheUfoJoe I think itâ□□s fair to question the origins of TTSA, and it has been basically confirmed as borne out of advisors from within the DoD, that wasnâ□□t a secret, that was a feature. @NARCAP1 Sorry too many Acronyms and not enough Coffee. I meant AAWSAP, not BAASS.

AAWSAP was the precursor to AATIP and was the bid Bigelow won from the USG that yielded the 38 DIRD reports.

@TheUFOTrail @SeaSage Wow, thanks for the detailed response. I certainly wonder whether there was the proper amount of oversight with BAASS. @RealCSharp True. Granted, we don't know what is going on behind the scenes. However, Elizondo does a great job explaining or acknowledging why he can't answer a certain question. With Bigelow, I'm left just wondering if he's choosing not to share something, or if he has nothing to share.

@BKatakis @Alien_Scientist @Debriefmedia @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 @blackvaultcom This exact fact IMO is the best way in towards getting congressional action. If there are black programs w/ out proper oversight as Wilson Docs hint, that is absolutely worth taking action over, and nicely walks around the taboo a bit.

A detail often forgotten. Inside @Debriefmedia's EXCELLENT op-ed, I don't see why this fact isn't more prevalent around here. How can there be the question of it being ours when the person in charge of SAPs testifies to the fact that it isn't?
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EsHrWFiUwAIwqOz.jpg

> Our sources indicate that military and intelligence community analysts are confident that neither Russia nor China has produced the extraordinary flying devices described in the most compelling encounters. And during a closed-door meeting in 2019, Brigadier General Richard Stapp, director of the Pentagon's Special Access Program Central Office (i.e., "black" program HQ), testified to the SSCI that the mysterious objects being encountered by the military were not related to secret U.S. technology. Similar sentiments that this doesn't jive with any type of classified U.S. technology have been shared with us by recently retired Air Force generals, former CIA executives, and "black" program veterans from the storied and shrouded Area 51.

@CosminVisan3 @zcichy This is my point. It doesn't matter if you think "the D party did it." That's not how The National Guard is deployed. They don't get to make that decision. This is approved specifically through the DoD. Opinions don't supersede facts.

John Michael Posobiec III (/pəˈsoʊbɪk/ pə-SOH-bik; born December 14, 1985)[1] is an American alt-right[2][3][4] political activist and conspiracy theorist[5] who is widely considered an Internet troll.[6][7][8][9] Posobiec is best known for his pro-Donald Trump comments on Twitter, as well as using white supremacist and antisemitic symbols and talking points, including the white genocide conspiracy theory.[10][11][12][13] He has promoted fake news, including the debunked Pizzagate conspiracy theory claiming high-ranking Democratic Party officials were involved in a child sex ring.[14] As of 2018, he was working as a correspondent for One America News Network, a far-right cable news television channel.[15]

@SherryDyerBlac1 This is more legislative boringness than tech. Long story short: The Senate Intelligence Committee got bill language approved that asks that the Task Force dedicated to UFO's within the Pentagon give the Senate a report summing up the situation of UFOs by no later than late June @SteelHammer88 @naoehogui @LijevoSamo Iâ□□m not saying shit. Twitter is saying that Trumpâ□□s tweets are inciting violence. Amazon, Google, and Apple are saying Parler is being used to organize violence. Not only are they private companies, but that kind of speech isnâ□□t protected by the 1st amendment.

@naoehogui @SBrowneITF I think this is the nexus of the issue. Without getting into people's specific opinions, many think that Trump DID incite violence. So if everyone agrees that inciting violence is a speech worth regulating, them it comes down to whether you agree Trump Q anon accts did so.

2/ Interestingly enough, Aerospace Corp isn't currently listed on his LinkedIn. To me, this at the least hints that the US Govt is very much spending money trying to unlock FTL travel. Seems pretty out there, but if you have off world craft? Maybe not.

1/ @UfoJoe11 tell me if I'm wrong, but s look @ Eric Davis' LinkedIn shows his focus has been on FTL/Warp Drive tech for years, on the record abt crash retrievals w no visible reprisals, & now he's w a federal funded research center. These are connections that you can't ignore.

Initiate and co-supervise theoretical research projects in collaboration with Prof. Gerald Cleaver (Director of the Early Universe, Cosmology & Strings Theory Group at CASPER) to develop general relativistic faster-than-light propulsion physics via Lorentzian traversable wormholes and warp drives.

Our first theory project is to characterize the spacetime type and its corresponding symmetry properties for selected traversable wormhole and warp drive spacetime metrics; use Wolfram Mathematica to calculate the Carminati and McLenaghan curvature invariants and produce their 3-dimensional plots; and then interpret the physical meaning of the plots.

Our second theory project is to apply the Gauss-Bonnet Theorem to selected warp drive spacetime metrics to determine whether they are a form of dynamical traversable wormhole. And then translate the limit on the topology of the warp drive's spacetime geometry to a limit on how much negative energy is required to create a warp drive spacetime metric.

Co-supervise two physics Ph.D. candidates, three graduate physics students, and two advanced undergraduate physics students. Write and submit papers for publication in the peer-reviewed physics journals and present the results of our research at university colloquia and American Physical Society conferences.

@uFo_dis_ci_ple @LueElizondo @blackvaultcom Any interview that wasn't 45 seconds long on a cable news channel I would say falls under that category IMO? I've seen so many it's hard to remember them all, but unless he couldn't answer something because of his security clearance, he's always seemed open to any Qs.

2021-01-04T00:05:31+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1345884025135661056

@UfoJoe11 @ddeanjohnson @Brendancowles @JazzShaw @LtTimMcMillan @g_knapp @JeremyCorbell And I'm saying this as a person who absolutely respects the hell out of Knapp. But any other word on Lazar from him loses credibility now, and any other reporter would agree.

2021-01-04T00:04:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1345883787222106112

@UfoJoe11 @ddeanjohnson @Brendancowles @JazzShaw @LtTimMcMillan @g_knapp @JeremyCorbell As a producer? Absolutely. Not knocking on him for working on it, but if you're behind a story and its veracity is still in question, when you start to profit from the propagation of said story, the conflict of interest gets tricky. A big no no for reporters.

@foiaboi @uFo_dis_ci_ple @blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 I think it's fair to bring up, and I too was frustrated by his views of Elizondo earlier on, but I don't think changing one's views = revising history. And the interview itself is IMO the best Elizondo interview I've seen.

@ddeanjohnson @blackvaultcom ??? Did it not reverse 100+ year campaign laws and allow corporations to use unlimited amounts of funds on elections? Thereâ□□s no doubt the case stemmed from a film criticizing Hillary, but the long term effect has resulted in vast increases of campaign spending.

But if Tucker covering it can lead to others covering it which in turn can lead to more regular coverage from all media, THEN that may lead to a general consensus that, "hey, this is serious."

@HarveyGMcDonald @prisoner646 @tommyIzito @AFSUnidentified 2. to get other networks and publications to do the same (which has been happening). We can't control what Tucker covers, so all we can do is take advantage of the increased attn. If anything the longer Tucker covers it, but no one else does, the worse it gets.

@MusicAndTruth @UFOS8N @Wadjela_1111 I think the only reason stuff is getting out again is because the Navy is now very unhappy with running into these things and is making some noise. @BrettTingley @julianbarnes @strategic_doubt @MC05A @Aviation_Intel Iâ□□ve been a champion of all of their work and shared it widely to get seen as much as possible. What I meant above was the MSMâ□□s coverage (NYT, WaPo, CNN, etc.) Warzone does some of the best work on this, but doesnâ□□t (yet?) have the impact or reach of those legacy media outlets.

@TheUFOTrail @LtTimMcMillan 4/ I think for many people official recognition from the DoD is big factor in having those curious begin to take the idea seriously. McMillanâ□□s article in Pop Mech is the one I still recommend to friends who are curious.

2020-12-09T00:55:21+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1336474480042860545

@TheUFOTrail @LtTimMcMillan 3/ had now suddenly been corroborated by the Navy, and clearly it bugs them enough to still be a topic of interest. That to me shows that this is at the very least an interesting story. That sent me down this whole path of researching this topic.

2020-12-09T00:54:53+00:00

@TheUFOTrail @LtTimMcMillan 2/ that NYT article and saw the Navy admitting that they were classified Unidentified AND that thereâ□□s a UAP program still running even though they said AATIP shut down. This made me go â□□wait, WHATâ□□? This insane Nimitz story (plus the Roosevelt sightings)

@TheUFOTrail @LtTimMcMillan 1/ Honestly I didnâ□□t give this topic the time of day until they did. Before then, I just assumed if UFOs were real, itâ□□d be news everywhere or the military would admit it. Like most people I assumed if there WAS enough evidence out there, it wouldnâ□□t be in question. Then I read

https://twitter.com/_/status/1336468854730498050

@yrraplliw And I do not think ill of Eshed. But Eshed is saying many things without any context of evidence or how he came to believe such things. Iâ□□d like reporters to continue to cover this topic and I want to point them in a direction they can actually corroborate.

2020-12-09T00:31:19+00:00

@yrraplliw McMillan was an ex cop, yes. And heâ□□s currently an investigative reporter. This isnâ□□t his first terrific article. His work has also been corroborated already by other outlets. Thatâ□□s the beauty of good reporting. Donâ□□t take his word for it. Confirm it yourself!

@TheUFOTrail AFAIK, they have nothing to do with @LtTimMcMillan's article. I'm basing this purely on a FOIA'd email within the article. if you haven't read it yet, I highly recommend you do so. @anony_mouse_ As soon as Trump signs the bill, that 180 day requirement would immediately start. I believe the UAPTF can ask for an extension, but at least we have some kind of solid date.

2020-12-09T00:23:09+00:00

@TheUFOTrail This is exactly why I thought @Debriefmedia's article was such a big deal. It proves an interest in UAPs at the highest levels, not just a POV within some outliers. No one should assume what the UAPs are, but clearly they've got the DoD's attn in a way that they hadn't before

> According to officials The Debrief spoke with, the photo appears to be the same as one referenced in our previous reporting, described as an “unidentified silver ‘cube-shaped’ object” encountered by military pilots as it hovered motionlessly over the ocean. It appears evident that the image was captured by the backseat weapons systems operator of what appears to be an F/A-18 fighter jet.

@AFSUnidentified From what I can tell the photo released is from the â□□Cubeâ□□ incident. Not known if more. The â□□Triangleâ□□ incident has a pic that apparently is what has the IC abuzz as it is apparently very compelling. That is what Mellon would like to be released.

@TheUFOTrail @MickWest @ChristopherKMe4 This is why I wish we could but also donâ□□t think weâ□□ll ever get access to the MASINT data. That tells much more of a story than peopleâ□□s perceptions, which are always unreliable. Confirmation of that corroborating data is what made NYT article so impressive IMO.

@MickWest @ChristopherKMe4 I donâ□□t think this argument is in good faith. You canâ□□t have data to study if itâ□□s just from one incident. Unless there are bodies or a mass sighting, no single incident will ever meet the incredibly high burden of proof. The FLIR videos you debunk are a great example.

@blakemecakes Smaller! Lol. Although Iâ□□d say the intelligence reports McMillan reported on and have since been confirmed by others shows itâ□□s not just some public facing debunker. More time is needed to really see how things pan out.

@AFSUnidentified According to Mellon. Fox just read a statement from him out loud on Rogan's podcast. Eeeesh. Not great news for how seriously the DoD is taking this. Perhaps this will change things? What an odd twist. Because of McMillan's article, I was finally convinced it's more robust, lol.

@gyyy6y Hey. I'm happy to discuss UAPs all day with you, but personal attacks are not welcome or needed. You don't know me, or what I do for a living. The reality is there IS a stigma, whether you or I like it or not. Not willing to put my career in jeopardy over a twitter account.

2020-12-04T01:58:08+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1334678341345923072

@gyyy6y it is my belief that in due time, the truth will always win. Whether that's 1 year, 10 years, or 100 years from now, the truth will eventually become apparent.

@gyyy6y IMO, if there's going to be any movement on this topic, it starts from within the government (in the US or maybe perhaps another) or if another mass sighting like the Phoenix Lights occurs.

2020-12-04T01:54:49+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1334677507048493058

@gyyy6y This entire tweet of yours is based on way too many assumptions of...everything for me to really respond with anything other than a shrug. Whatever UAPs are, they clearly aren't going out of their way to explain what they're doing here or what they want, if they "want" anything.

2020-12-04T01:46:21+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1334675378493771778

@MiddleOfMayhem Right. They were allegedly said to Elizondo.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Faej-TxVQAA4hJc.jpg

2019 – Several internet bloggers were notified by the new Public Affairs Officer, Mr. Sherwood, that I had no duties regarding AATIP and that AATIP did not involve the study of UAPs. As a result, the bloggers began to disseminate reporting, accusing me of being a fabricator. At this point, I initiated a telephone call with Mr. Sherwood directly, in which he indicated that he "was not happy with the way this was being handled internally with the Department," and that he "was aware I ran AATIP, but forces within the building were telling him not to admit it". He also indicated that he is trying to write a new statement because the Navy substantiated my claims of working with AATIP, and [redacted] had called him personally to express his disappointment about the false claims by the Department. (Attachment 14)

@MiddleOfMayhem From the IG complaint you highlight in your video: http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FaeeUlrUIAEl47R.jpg

2019 – Several internet bloggers were notified by the new Public Affairs Officer, Mr. Sherwood, that I had no duties regarding AATIP and that AATIP did not involve the study of UAPs. As a result, the bloggers began to disseminate reporting, accusing me of being a fabricator. At this point, I initiated a telephone call with Mr. Sherwood directly, in which he indicated that he "was not happy with the way this was being handled internally with the Department," and that he "was aware I ran AATIP, but forces within the building were telling him not to admit it". He also indicated that he is trying to write a new statement because the Navy substantiated my claims of working with AATIP, and [redacted] had called him personally to express his disappointment about the false claims by the Department. (Attachment 14)

@red_pill_junkie @LtTimMcMillan @foiaboi @doclacy @JohnELTenney 1/ You shouldn't have a "problem" with someone's opinion on what they think is important to the topic. This topic does't belong to just one person. You don't have to agree with them,, but shitting on someone's work because YOU don't find it a priority isn't helpful.

@mintyhyperspace 1/ Can I get a clarification? You, McMillan and a few others who know what's going on behind the scenes are upset that Bob said something that could have messed up something really big. What does the rest of #ufotwitter have to do with it? I'd say a vast majority of us @mikedamante I feel like this is all being overblown a bit. McMillan, and a few others who seem to know whatâ□□s going behind the scenes are pretty upset with what Bob did because it seemed to have potentially really messed something # up. Where does ALL of #ufotwitter come into this?

@kb420_ You can legally contest the election and still allow a potential president-elect to receive resources that are best for the country. The good of the country comes first, right? If he wins his legal fight, then fine. Still not a reason to deny Biden the ability to do his job.

@Acecentric @MusicAndTruth No reading between the lines needed, though.

The language requires any prior black programs that involved UAP or purported to be in possession of UAP to be immediately reported to the respective committees. Something that Congress has the legal upper hand in asking.

@NARCAP1 @itsredactedYT @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox Iâ□□d say jury is still out re: the last three years. We are certainly in the middle of riding a wave. Only time and our hard work will tell if history only repeats itself.

@NARCAP1 @itsredactedYT @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox Say your right. Discerning minds have been looking into this for a while. No one goes public with it. Why? Because this topic has such a stigma that well intentioned people are scared their careers will suffer as a result. And theyâ□□re right. More public awareness = less stigma.

@NARCAP1 @itsredactedYT @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox (5/5) @Deepneuron has hinted as such. So IMO the work @itsredactedYT and others are doing is the most important work that could be done. And hey, if the USG makes some kind of news that only helps the public take this more seriously, then thatâ□□s a bonus.

@uapufo It's all conjecture at this point, and i'm not even convinced it'll be anything from the UAPTF specifically, but a statement doesn't have to give specific details in order to address the phenomenon. Most people in the world still don't even see UAPs as a reality.

McMillan also mentions Space Force will be a small part of this much bigger announcement. I'm Unfortunately not, I was in the jacuzzi and it was gone by the time I got my phone. Definitely looked similar to your video however it was darker outside and I had noticed pulsating lights. Don't know how I didn't think to check this sooner, glad you got some footage.

@adminnathan @naoehogui @gloomytrader @LtTimMcMillan @realDonaldTrump @FoxNews @MickWest 1/2 I donâ□□t think any serious journalist would claim Russia IS the reason Trump won. @PostDisclosure @ChristopherKMe4 Itâ□□s odd because if Reid succeeded in making AATIP an SAP, would he have become aware then? Why was it refused? And then who WAS in charge of oversight for programs like this? Higher ranks at the OUSDI? The ONI?

@PredatoryPanic No one is denying that lockdowns donâ□□t cause harm. They do. Which is why itâ□□s insane to me that masks have somehow become political. Those who refuse to wear them are very much responsible to the people who suffer from lockdowns due to their negligence.

@UFOFanBoom1 Not arguing that Obama is completely innocent, but the last 4 years has been a major escalation and who built the cages is irrelevant to whatâ□□s happening in the present. Bidenâ□□s positions on this issue have been clear, so as long as we keep him to his word, it should be better.

@_Desmoden @BryanDBender @Berlinghoff_R @KikPlenty @UfoJoe11 Absolutely. And I don't think I was very clear either. I wasn't claiming Reid's statements were by themselves evidence. @adminnathan @foiaboi @SteveBassett @LtTimMcMillan (2/2) easier for scientists and politicians to publicly address and research it. If the public can accept the concept of UAPs as a potential reality, we can address this issue with the attention, seriousness and resources it deserves.

@UfoJoe11 @ChrisBartelSWR Bigelow sharing that video honestly discredited him. It is more than likely a bug. To get that convinced over it being something more w/ out any context or evidence to back it up puts his judgment in question to skeptics.

The Manhattan Project employed two hundred thousand people. It had eighty offices and dozens of production plants spread out all over the country, including a sixty-thousand-acre facility in rural Tennessee that pulled more power off the nation's electrical grid than New York City did on any given night. And no one knew the Manhattan Project was there. That is how powerful a black operation can be.

After the war ended, Congress—the legislators who had been so easily kept in the dark for two and a half years—was given stewardship of the bomb. It was now up to Congress to decide who would control its "unimaginable destructive power." With the passing of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, a terrifying and unprecedented new system of secret-keeping emerged. The presidential system was governed by presidential ex-

My feeling (and this is just a guess) is that we still are basically in the dark and have very very little answers. I just think w the onset of the commercial space sector and better technology, they have to say something.

@truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Agreed! If a government does try to attempt to disclose anything, I hope it will be for the right motivations. I think a majority will never be known unless our friends decide to let it be known.

@truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (7/7) If the rumors are to be believed, Mellon's efforts to create congressional hearings in 2022 will make that a reality. I don't think the answer will come from TTSA, but it seems as of now they may have a part in it happening.

2020-10-16T15:51:20+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1317131018843742209

@truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (6/n) Mellon's prior service to the US is INCREDIBLY impressive, and he has accomplished real legislation that hopefully will yield very real progress and news next year. My goal for this topic is for the world to view it as a very serious and real thing.

2020-10-16T15:51:00+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1317130934743805952

@truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (5/n) then honestly I wouldn't even pay them much mind since FLIR videos aren't enough to make a strong case (although the GIMBAL one at least shows something interesting). But nearly every piece of big news on the topic from the last three years has their footprint on it.

2020-10-16T15:50:38+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1317130841265369088

@truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (4/n) This is definitely an issue, and sadly an issue that looks like it will never be addressed, but I still have a hard time going from "this video was not described accurately" all the way to "everything TTSA does isn't credible." If this was all the org had ever done, @truthbearer20 @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (3/n) then I think whatever classified material the USG has must be IMPRESSIVELY persuasive and compelling. This thread above made me aware of the calculations that have been made that prove the description of the GOFAST is inaccurate.

@Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (2/2) Weâ□□ve seen only a part of a collection of data and evidence that is mostly classified. So there is a lot of @Oswald1160 @paulsanderson @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 (1/n) Elizondo said during his QnA today that the descriptions were based off of more than just the videos. They had access to multiple sources of data plus eyewitnesses. How that makes sense when the math from the FLIR video doesnâ□□t add up? It doesnâ□□t. But I want to remind you

https://twitter.com/_/status/1316837303499714560

@MickWest @Oswald1160 @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Then if thatâ□□s the case then youâ□□re right. The TTSA explanation of the video is wrong. If it is indeed the case as @LueElizondo is saying that DoD and intel told him differently, then this is a very concerning lack of basic math skills frm ppl who are supposed to protect us :worried_face:

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Sorry. Meant that if numbers provided on the POD are indeed what Mr. Westâ□□s video shows what they mean. https://twitter.com/_/status/1316829158740094976

@MickWest @Oswald1160 @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 The truth is, we donâ□□t know the story. At this point it doesnâ□□t seem like theyâ□□re going to clarify it for now. I agree it should be. It is certainly a knock against them. Considering the DoD seems pretty pissed about the videos getting out, Iâ□□m sure they wonâ□□t be saying anything.

2020-10-15T19:48:03+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1316828201818091520

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 As for their credibility, they have some of the most impressive people involved. An incorrect description of a video should be acknowledged and rectified, but it seems unreasonable to immediately say they are frauds.

2020-10-15T19:45:55+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1316827665295261696

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Well, considering they are a big force behind the SSCI getting classified briefings and the current legislation re the UAPTF, plus creating an international coalition on the subject, Iâ□□d say theyâ□□re pretty competent. They certainly have gotten more done than anyone else.

2020-10-15T19:43:07+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1316826959775592449

@MickWest @Oswald1160 @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Itâ□□s possible. They could be wrong re: this GO FAST explanation re: â□□low altitude and high-speed.â□□ My point is that even if they are wrong (purposefully or accidentally) I donâ□□t see how that changes the issue of UAPs. Recent legislation and news isnâ□□t even based on these videos.

2020-10-15T19:36:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1316825212738961408

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Even if this is all true, it doesnâ□□t really account for even a fraction of the actual issue that is at hand. Prosaic explanations on one of the FLIRA videos doesnâ□□t really address the other elephants in the room.

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 I canâ□□t prove 100% beyond a reasonable doubt that he isnâ□□t, but at this point you may as well be saying Climate Change isnâ□□t real because one scientist says that it isnâ□□t, as opposed to the scientific consensus.

@Oswald1160 @MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 This is a circular argument. Elizondo says the best of intelligence and DoD did NOT come to that conclusion. If @MickWest ends up being right, then they should all be fired, and Mr. West should work for the DoD.

@MickWest @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Both of our assertions have no evidence. Youâ□□re saying TTSA made these facts up. Iâ□□m saying they got them from the DoD. Elizondo just tweeted â□□We had the best at DoD and the Intelligence Community look at these vids, and I mean "the best".â□□. If thatâ□□s the case why make things up?

2020-10-15T19:00:30+00:00

@MHuntington7 First off, a very different conversation than one Iâ□ve had w/ many on here who claim anonymous sourcing isnâ□t a thing.

Secondly, yes of course those are the goals. In sensitive matters like nat sec, it can sometimes be the only way to share information. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FaEdGphVQAAMZQ3.jpg

But why does The Times shield the identity of some sources? We recognize that the use of anonymous sources is sometimes crucial to our journalistic mission. It can give readers genuine insight into the uses and abuses of power — in Washington, on Wall Street and beyond. In sensitive areas like national security reporting, it can be unavoidable. Sources sometimes risk their careers, their freedom and even their lives by talking to us.

What we consider before using anonymous sources:

- How do they know the information?
- What's their motivation for telling us?
- Have they proved reliable in the past?
- Can we corroborate the information they provide?

Because using anonymous sources puts great strain on our most valuable asset: our readers' trust, the reporter and at least one editor is required to know the identity of the source. A senior newsroom editor must also approve the use of the information the source provides.

With The Phenomenon released & hopefully more attn on UAPs, I want to give a shout out to all those researchers working their butts off to find cold hard evidence and background. The work you do is what ultimately legitimizes this subject and primes the topic for legitimacy.

@bpleasies @PostDisclosure Viewing the "MSM" as the enemy is pretty binary way to look at everything. It lacks the complexity of real life. There is no "boogeyman." The MSM is made up of people. Some of them are interested. The biggest changes in this topic the last 3 years are in part thanks to the MSM @SetPixels @IAmOroro @dizzylucy @BernieSanders But you are absolutely entitled to your own opinion. It's not like someone trying to convince you over twitter is going to work. The only question I wanted answered is why you are so pro Bernie, but then turn around and decide to ignore him.

@SetPixels @IAmOroro @dizzylucy @BernieSanders No, youâ□□re potentially a troll because every response of yours has been inflammatory, insulting, and has not responded to anything tweeted to you. At the very least, you argue in bad faith.

@Dama_Tarot @PostDisclosure The guy spent 7 years of his life on this movie. He has investors. They should absolutely reap the benefits of their hard work, faith, and research. This doc has already gotten word out, I hope it'll only grow.

@bobofango86 :man_shrugging: I'm in America, and I bought it on ITunes. it's the same price of any new movie. Amazon Prime, Vudu, Google Play, it's all the average price of a movie. You can argue movies in general cost too much, but it's not like this film is over charging or anything.

@PostDisclosure His main argument seems to be that there are way more cameras readily available these days, and yet no more clear pictures. This is why I wish another mass sighing like the Phoenix Lights would happen again.

@MickWest @tommyIzito @conorowens94 (1/2) Exactly. We donâ□□t know! IMO this is what the docs point was and I think is something we can all get behind. If enough people realize this is something worth investigating, we apply pressure to our congress w the UAPTF demanding transparency. Then MAYBE, weâ□□ll find out.

@AlienArmorGear @UfoJoe11 The fact that you call it a false narrative proves my entire point. There is indisputable evidence it is a problem. The only reason you think it isn't is because you watch Tucker Carlson. Plus, thats not the only reason people call him that. He has a years long track record.

@alexritman Hi Mr. Ritman. Any knowledge if @THR is going to review @PhenomenonMovie? I know you wrote an article about its new release date, and was curious for your publication's take on the film. Thanks!

2/2 incredibly well produced, and is well reviewed. It's #1 on iTunes under Documentaries. So, send some $$$ over to @1091pictures and get this film streaming. @jamescfox has legitimized this topic like no one else before.

1/2 @netflix @hulu. I think you need a palate cleanser after this election season. How about an incredibly well executed doc about a topic that transcends partisanship? @PhenomenonMovie is the documentary that deserves to be seen by your massive audience. It's a treat, @hulu @netflix You need a palate cleanser after election season. Perhaps something that transcends partisan politics? @jamescfox's @PhenomenonMovie is a hell of an accomplishment. You should probably give @1091pictures some $$$ and stream it. This is the future.

@AstrobiologyDay I have a feeling you're just spitballing and haven't read anything to suggest this? There are plenty of fanatically religious people in our government, Pence isn't unique in that aspect. I'd imagine whoever it was, they were somewhere in the DoD. Maybe high up in the OUSDI?

@blackvaultcom The fact of the matter is that every medical professional says that you are prob contagious within 14 days from being tested positive. So either he was tested positive a LOT earlier than admitted, or he shouldn't be out and about. I don't see why this is a controversial decision.

@GC36054719 @SaraCarterDC @BorisEP @realDonaldTrump @JennieSTaer Why are we talking about Biden? I donâ□□t give a crap about him. The fact of the matter is last night tens of millions of Americans were upset by seeing a failure to answer the most softball of questions. If you support Trump, you should be frustrated. This hurt him. Period.

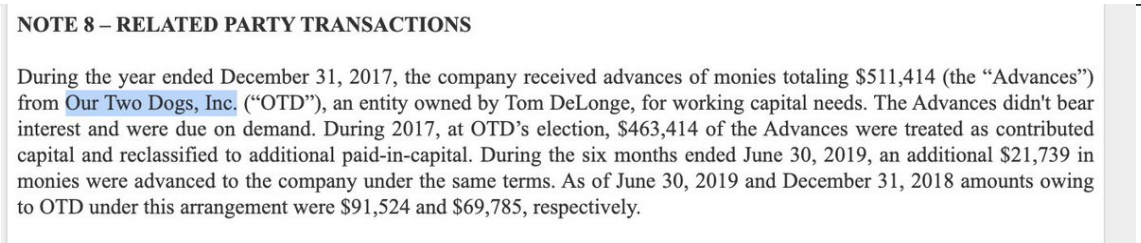
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ei2zWuPUwAAnkFe.jpg



NOTE 8 – RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

During the year ended December 31, 2017, the company received advances of monies totaling $511,414 (the "Advances") from Our Two Dogs, Inc. ("OTD"), an entity owned by Tom DeLonge, for working capital needs. The Advances didn't bear interest and were due on demand. During 2017, at OTD's election, $463,414 of the Advances were treated as contributed capital and reclassified to additional paid-in-capital. During the six months ended June 30, 2019, an additional $21,739 in monies were advanced to the company under the same terms. As of June 30, 2019 and December 31, 2018 amounts owing to OTD under this arrangement were $91,524 and $69,785, respectively.

@EssentialBusin7 @naoehogui I never said I donâ□□t like it. I donâ□□t think youâ□□re understanding me. My point is that it wasnâ□□t really covered because itâ□□s not really big news. This doesnâ□□t even involve the people behind the peace prize.

@chasekuertz @EssentialBusin7 @naoehogui @ZRLancaster @blackvaultcom 1/ Awards can matter. But being one of hundreds nominated isnâ□□t front page news. Anyone super pumped about these peace deals doesnâ□□t (understandably) know the intricate politics of the Middle East. Itâ□□s definitely big news, but there was never war between these countries

What we consider before using anonymous sources. How do the sources know the information? What's their motivation for telling us? Have they proved reliable in the past? Can we corroborate the information? Even with these questions satisfied, The Times uses anonymous sources as a last resort. The reporter and at least one editor know the identity of the source.

@ExogenesisHH @RogueUAPTF Yeah thatâ□□s a tough one. Iâ□□d still wait until the existence of UAPs is a little more readily accepted.

@ExogenesisHH @RogueUAPTF Meant visitation, not abductions. Sorry. Iâ□□d say they are in the same category to journalists though.

@ExogenesisHH @RogueUAPTF Yes agreed! My point is abductions are quite a higher tier up than just proving the existence of these craft. My guess is most MSM journalists wonâ□□t touch that topic with a 10 foot pole for now. But hopefully that will change.

@Jambutter @ryanstruyk I feel like you need learn yourself up on what Mitch McConnell has done since becoming Majority Leader. There is a mountainous stack of bills on his desk (over 200), dying a slow death. Bipartisanship requires a negotiation and a conversation. Not leaving bills to die on a desk.

@LyndaRVA_UAP @AFSUnidentified But Iâ□□d argue it IS important that people believe it or not. Itâ□□s not necessarily the experiencerâ□□s burden or job to make that happen. But the only way for us to discover whatâ□□s going on is to get the public to believe. And to do that, we need data + evidence

@LyndaRVA_UAP @AFSUnidentified @ycombinator Iâ□□m not including experiencers into my umbrella of conspiracy theories. Clearly a large group of people believe something has happened to them. If all of science spent resources towards studying it, I do wonder what would come up. Thereâ□□s data to collect.

2020-09-11T20:01:32+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1304510407709655040

@LyndaRVA_UAP @AFSUnidentified @ycombinator Absolutely. Iâ□□m not denying their experiences. But if they are a scientist, they know that if they want the public to take it as fact, unfortunately personal accounts alone arenâ□□t enough.

@LyndaRVA_UAP @AFSUnidentified Totally! Iâ□□m curious about every theory and hold them all as a possibility. The only difference is there are many who state it as fact without so much as any evidence. Just â□□feeling.â□□ Which is their prerogative. But it wonâ□□t hold up to public scrutiny.

2020-09-11T19:59:13+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1304509825624059904

@AFSUnidentified @LyndaRVA_UAP (2/2) That being said, I think both should exist. UAPs were once fringe. I almost feel like those who live in the fringe are kind of like the @ycombinator of ideas. Some will pass through into science as they are tested.

@AFSUnidentified @LyndaRVA_UAP (1/2) And I think that is exactly what will happen. As UAPs become a reality to the public, Iâ□□m sure there will be a splintering of groups as those who dig into more of the fringe will go one way while those sticking to documented evidence and data will go another.

@Birdie71647169 @blackvaultcom @JazzShaw @JoeBiden @aaronjmate I make no assumption. I backed up what I said w the SIC report. You haven't responded with anything other than your own opinion. Russia (along w Iran and China) actively meddling in our elections isn't up for argument. It's a fact backed up by evidence and reported by all sides.

@JazzShaw @AFSUnidentified I agree and think the government will never disclose if they feel they don't have to. 80 years of history would agree with that view lol. I wonder if recent events combined with better technology may just be making it inevitable sooner rather than later.

@JazzShaw Indeed I think they aren't going to say anything unless they absolutely have to. However, the SIC will receive a report, classified or not. If they feel that what is in that is something the American people need to know, there may be more released whether the DoD likes it or not.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1303423464817090560

@truthbearer20 @TenoriThrowaway @tommyIzito @ExogenesisHH @MickWest @joerogan What keeps bringing me back is that youâ□□d think the DoD would give a prosaic explanation if they had one. Hell, even if they didnâ□□t. To go on the record saying these are UAPs is baffling to me to this day.

@truthbearer20 @TenoriThrowaway @tommyIzito @ExogenesisHH @MickWest @joerogan And I should add all radar data is always classified. This isnâ□□t unique to this specific case.

2020-09-08T19:57:18+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1303422179678154752

@truthbearer20 @TenoriThrowaway @tommyIzito @ExogenesisHH @MickWest @joerogan Never said there were longer videos. I doubt there are. But the DoD said they investigated AND classified them as â□□Unidentifiedâ□□. That was in the official statement. The radar operators themselves said there were days of radar tracks, so are all of them are lying?

2020-09-08T19:32:58+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1303416057198125056

@truthbearer20 @TenoriThrowaway @tommyIzito @ExogenesisHH @MickWest @joerogan What gives me pause isn't anything said by "the UFO crowd." What IMO lends these videos credibility is the fact that the DoD themselves investigated them and came up with a "We dunno." They also claim to have corroborating radar data albeit classified.

@PostDisclosure Unless something major happens (A mass sighting etc.) Very few will talk about it or touch it w/ a 10 foot pole. Most probably arenâ□□t aware of the issue, and those that are have too much to lose to talk about it atm. This is why this report from the UAPTF is so important

Pretty hard to argue without some real compelling evidence that this isnâ□□t just from a hairdryer. It lines up perfectly. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FZ-JFmOUUAADD3v.jpg

Vallee discussed this hypothesis in the video, but, for reasons that are not clear, he dismissed it.

> Of course, we know, we've tried to look at that and say, What kind of symbol is it? Well, the first thing we thought about is, if you look at our hairdryer, you know, you turn the hairdryer towards you. And you look at the end of the hairdryer, it looks like this. Okay, so we thought maybe, you know, this, this woman, I mean, women use hairdryer more than we guys do. So maybe she burned herself with their hairdryer. Well, if you try to do that, you're going to get burned, alright. But it's not going to look like this. Okay, you will have a burn. And so, so it's not that. Although in some cases, the dimensions are pretty much the same as the ones on the grid in the front of your hairdryer. But it's not always the same pattern. As you could see the pattern changes. Then you look at, you know, ancient literature and symbol books of symbols, and so on. And there is a pattern that looks exactly like that. Three, concentric circles, and radio lines. And that's a pattern of Atlantis.

Content from External Source

As well as the dimensions matching, all of the various shapes are shaped of hairdryer grills:

@RedAlienTV @UFOS8N I legit don't know what you're trying to say, so I'm just gonna end this conversation. If you're saying that stating the FACT that a majority of child abuse comes from family is somehow criticizing family values, you are making a mental leap that is unfathomable.

@MickWest I know you posted about 9/11 conspiracy overlap in the UFO world, but after these last few days on Twitter, what I'm finding is the alarming overlap of Qanon with #ufotwitter. I'd say still a minority, but way more than I like seeing.

@a51s1 @UFOS8N This website you linked has less credibility than Bob Lazar. 100% hearsay from some stranger on the internet who can type whatever they want. Some blog isn't enough to convince anybody of the pretty wild accusations you are mentioning.

@RedAlienTV @UFOS8N I'm having a super hard time seeing how you got that from the article? It's a scientific fact that abusers are often family or someone close to the family. That isn't critiquing "strong family ties." It's discrediting Qanon, not Trump supporters. Qanon deserves to be discredited.

@truthbearer20 @Jayoung1969 From my understanding the revised policy of reporting UAPs in the Navy as well as the legislation from the SIC came directly from the briefings done or helped by those in TTSA (@ChristopherKMe4 esp.) @BryanDBender @MiddleOfMayhem @LtTimMcMillan Huh I always thought AAWSAP was the research/Bigelow side of things and AATIP operated as intelligence and a nexus point for reported sightings from all the military branches. @LueElizondo I donâ□□t know if you can be forthcoming, but this is all so confusing :loudly_crying_face:

@markoconnell_1 @TheUFOTrail I agree with everything you wrote here. AFAIK the last major thing he did was have a hand in releasing those Navy Videos (which is before he even joined TTSA), so I've definitely given him more benefit of the doubt than I may have otherwise since that was no small feat.

@SK1ILL_ @TheUFOTrail @LueElizondo That I can agree with. I just took the above tweet as someone who wasn't aware of the evidence that IS out there re: Elizondo's role. They certainly didn't mention any of it.

2020-08-24T21:11:41+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298005081908850689

@SK1ILL_ @TheUFOTrail @LueElizondo For sure. Which is why these tweets have thrown me so much. If theres a fair amount of evidence saying Elizondo is who he says he is, but we have a government spokesperson saying he isn't, it seems unreasonable to jump to one conclusion without taking into account the other.

2020-08-24T21:09:47+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298004600151138305

@SK1ILL_ @TheUFOTrail @LueElizondo Well i'm not sure. From what I'm getting from these tweets, he's insinuating Elizondo has just been lying about everything? That would honestly be more plausible than working as a director at the OUSDI and then deciding to go into UFO World.

2020-08-24T21:08:08+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298004186194309120

@TheUFOTrail @SK1ILL_ Here. 5 seconds of googling got me @LueElizondo's DOSPR request for the 3 navy videos right from the source. This alone proves he was a Director at the OUSDI. @TheUFOTrail @SK1ILL_ From what I can tell, the official word of the DoD supersedes all other evidence out there for you. That's fine and your opinion. However are you aware of @LtTimMcMillan's reporting? You'd be less confident in the word of Susan Gough after reading it.

@MickWest @PostDisclosure @ztrussell 2/2 and there's enough data out there re: UAPs that multiple organizations in our government are looking into it. The only people looking into 9/11 conspiracies are Qanon.

2020-08-24T00:17:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297689371060006912

@MickWest @PostDisclosure @ztrussell 1/2Sure. But I feel like putting these two groups in the same sentence is akin to saying people who are against the reality of climate change deserve just as much of a voice as those who claim it's real. An extreme example, yes, but AFAIK there is 0 evidence of 9/11 conspiracies.

2020-08-23T23:41:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297680410214768640

@TK_Trooper75 @UFOS8N @morrin81 @LueElizondo The DoD views unknowns as potential threats. This is why UFOs are getting any attention or funding at all in our government. IMO, I doubt they are a threat or we'd all be toast by now, but the goal should be collecting data and taking it seriously. Then we can know for sure.

What happened recently with PACT shows in the Insanity over the divide in congress. We couldnâ□□t even initially unite on veteran healthcare.

Gillibrand has been essentially leading the charge on this within Congress since her amendment last year. It also has bipartisan support.

@Jayoung1969 @PostDisclosure You literally have no idea what classified conversations are happening in the rooms other countriesâ□□ militaries or our own. You lose credibility when you speak w certainty of things that are impossible to be certain about.

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 Are you claiming that the Navy's statement on the videos or the UAPTF are all propaganda to placate the public from applying pressure?

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 :person_shrugging: We're having two different conversations here. I'm not saying how it will end. I'm just saying you can't ignore the news just because YOU think you know how it will end.

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy I won't bug you again, since it seems you don't want to actually have a discussion about this.

2020-08-23T20:47:26+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297636587405062144

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy Ok, sorry this has gotten tedious. I don't think Ddsclosure is imminent. You've been putting a lot of words and ideas in my mouth. The only case I ever made is that TTSA has had more of an influence on progress in this field than any other group in these last 3 years.

2020-08-23T20:37:55+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297634194680475648

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 So just to confirm, Navy reporting practices? Not progress. Pentagon admitting existence of UAPTF? Not progress Mainstream Media reporting of UAPs? Not Progress. Legislation from the SIC? Not progress.

2020-08-23T20:36:30+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297633836172419072

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 I'm sure TTSA has something to gain. Of course they do. They need money to survive, and just because they're making a profit, doesn't automatically deny the actions they have taken.

2020-08-23T20:35:39+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297633625815396352

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 But the needle HAS moved. It's not just perception, and to argue otherwise is to ignore the news. Change doesn't happen overnight. Change is usually gradual, and i'd argue more has happened in the last three years than the last 15 on this topic.

2020-08-23T20:34:02+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297633219051810816

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy So you're saying that the fact that congress has legislation about UAPs, the Pentagon has gone public about investigating UAPs, and the Navy has changed their policies about reporting UAPs is just a bunch of nothing?

2020-08-23T20:32:17+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297632778440196096

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy And what money are you talking about? I haven't paid TTSA a dime.

2020-08-23T20:31:55+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297632686559735808

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy This is where you lose me. The videos are a fabricated story? So the Navy is just lying? You can't say something like that and not elaborate, lol. Also the newbie comment is the point. The more who are in the fight for disclosure, the better.

2020-08-23T20:28:45+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297631887599362048

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy @LueElizondo @ChristopherKMe4 How is naive? I'm just stating things that have already happened. Just because we're not at full disclosure doesn't mean "nothingness". Why are you unable to acknowledge progress?

2020-08-23T20:26:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297631238736367616

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy You're not addressing anything i'm saying. These "over-publicized videos" led to the Navy changing the way reporting of UAPs are handled. It led to many in the public being introduced to this topic (me and so many others). "over-publicized" is the point: Mainstream media attn.

2020-08-23T20:22:14+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297630247244898304

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy Also, the Pentagon has acknowledged the existence of the UAPTF because of the landmark legislation from the SIC. That new legislation is largely thanks to the hard work of @LueElizondo and @ChristopherKMe4. You cant argue that congress is taking this more seriously than ever.

2020-08-23T20:20:50+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297629895795683330

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy 1/2 I'm not familiar with a branch of the military ever publicly acknowledging the existence of UAPs in the last 80 years. Correct me if i'm wrong, maybe I just don't know. That only happened because of TTSA's hard work in getting those videos released.

2020-08-23T20:18:50+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297629393922093057

@tommyIzito @AFSUnidentified But you're stating a political opinion as fact. And that opinion has notihing to do with why this bill hasn't passed yet. This is the average timeline for that kind of legislation.

2020-08-23T19:42:11+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297620166663000065

@tommyIzito @AFSUnidentified Stop trying to politicize this. Let's keep this focused on the topic at hand, and stick to facts. Which you're being loose with. The congress has an August recess every year. So no future legislation will be dealt with until September at the earliest.

2020-08-23T19:38:21+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297619203374030848

@UFOS8N @itsredactedYT @stuartdavis @tomdelonge @TTSAcademy @SkyHub10 Agreed! it's insane. I honestly think the report won't necessarily say anything that us into the topic wont already know. But very public and official release will hopefully make massive news globally, hopefully forcing more and more public pressure onto our leadership.

2020-08-23T19:28:59+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297616846896500736

@truthbearer20 @_jraza @TTSAcademy But they also need to calm down a bit. TTSA hasnâ□□t done very much yet, and what they HAVE done has been history making.

2020-08-23T19:27:27+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297616461570088981

@_jraza @TTSAcademy @truthbearer20 They make a good point though. I question anyone claiming an AI can 100% detect lying. If this was the case, why would juryâ□□s in the court of law still exist?

2020-08-23T19:20:23+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297614683327758337

2020-08-23T19:03:54+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297610535802822656

@MickWest @TheChilterns The government is and has been actively investigating UAPs. They haven't been investigating if 9/11 was a conspiracy within. They are two very different topics with VERY different levels of credibility. "Those nuts!" isn't a surprising reaction to most of us.

I think the more the merrier, though! It's tough to find professionals with contacts in DC willing to dive into this topic.

@SteerDaymond @UfoJoe11 an aerospace company in the private sector has control and free reign over technology that could change the world, and those who should know about it in the government don't. It's criminal negligence on an unfathomable scale.

@markoconnell_1 @keithkloor @blackvaultcom If it turns out to be nothing, I think this community has some reckoning ahead. But this intense dismissal during a pentagon sponsored task force seems akin to throwing someone in jail during an active investigation.

2020-08-23T03:58:29+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297382677562048512

@markoconnell_1 @keithkloor @blackvaultcom Sure. I think weâ□□re relatively on the same page re: that. Time will tell if that changes. IMO thereâ□□s enough evidence out there for it 2 be investigated as a nat sec issue, which it now is. Which is why I get bummed when I see articles like these.

2020-08-23T03:26:17+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297374575525679105

@markoconnell_1 @keithkloor You're very well versed in the subject. If you haven't read Leslie Kean's book "UFOs", I highly recommend! No nonsense, and may be good inspiration for some writing. Didn't think much of UFOs until NYT articles came out and her book convinced me something is happening.

2020-08-23T03:24:14+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297374058825134080

@markoconnell_1 @keithkloor 2/2 The best proof would be physical possession of something. If we have that, it's a well kept secret. As 4 Elizondo, look at the paper trail of how the Navy videos got released. His name is all over it. @blackvaultcom has a whole thing on it. Gough does not have a good record.

2020-08-23T03:21:30+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297373373031317505

@markoconnell_1 @keithkloor 1/2 Depends on what the burden of proof is for you. Her book cites many global cases of multiple high ranking military officers with corroborating radar data. Two actual cases of aircraft engaging. Certainly enough evidence to take it seriously and investigate.

@mjbanias I think itâ□□s fine to be skeptical about what it could be. But to spend so much energy claiming itâ□□s all nonsense when Congress is asking to investigate, the Pentagon IS investigating, and the DoD admits itâ□□s a regular problem, I just donâ□□t get it.

@19Nimbus @DarkstarIE @AFSUnidentified @Th_Unidentified I hear you, but when it comes to convincing others of the legitimacy of UAPs, military personnel are often surrounded by technology that can back up eyewitness claims. They also are held accountable. People put their careers on the line when they report something. Hard to lie.

@keithkloor @markoconnell_1 (2/2) and every article in the NYT goes through a pretty intense editorial process through multiple editors. So youâ□□re claiming these articles are baseless...baselessly.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1297332621546934272

@keithkloor @markoconnell_1 1/2 Im all for being skeptical, but this ignores a lot of evidence. Thereâ□□s evidence Lue Elizondo was indeed the head of AATIP. You should read Leslie Keaneâ□□s book before shitting on her credentials. The evidence presented in it may give you a different view.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1296948197718294529

@MickWest @PostDisclosure @ChristopherKMe4 Ok, so u think the DoD is flat out lying. That's understandable, since they don't have the best track record on transparency. I just think that if the Navy thought it was something benign like a jet, balloon, or a bird, why wouldn't they say so? All other options seem concerning.

2020-08-21T23:05:24+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1296946533842079744

@MickWest @PostDisclosure Wait, so i'm confused. Do you think the DoD's classification of the three videos being "unidentified" is from them not caring to have their own investigation? Or do you think that they did investigate, but their findings are wrong?

@r8rdad1 @MickWest Because opinions about things aren't objective reality. If an opinion can't be challenged without falling apart, it's not a very good opinion. I agree Mick West can go too far sometimes, but having people's views challenged is healthy and important for growth.

@PostDisclosure @MHuntington7 I think this is its greatest strength. People can always explain away witness testimony, no matter how convincing or how many. It's a lot harder to explain away radar data from our most advanced systems and multiple eyewitnesses of high ranking military.

@mileswimmin @lovablelout @politico it's not about STOPPING it. It's about minimizing it's damage. Nearly every other developed nation has handled it far better than us. Our botched response has led to tens of thousands dead who didn't need to be. That should be unacceptable.

@Dan_GoTribe @nickpopemod @nypost I hear you. And agree. Expecting a two year old to wear a mask means youâ□□ve never dealt with a 2 year old. I just took issue with a Nick saying â□□The tide is turning against masks.â□□ Not only is that just plain false, but w/ his platform itâ□□s a dangerous thing to say.

@Dan_GoTribe @nickpopemod @nypost I think I did and my question still stands. Which countries who have good mask usage have skyrocketing cases? It seems false and anti-maskers (even if he doesnâ□□t agree w them) will take this false statement to the bank since it was said by a respected journalist.

@nickpopemod @jkbjamos @nypost Sure. But as a journalist with a large audience, itâ□□s dangerous to say â□□pro-mask propaganda.â□□ It feeds this false narrative to people who refuse to wear masks when they should, and theyâ□□re dying bcuz of it. @MickWest Iâ□□m genuinely curious what you make of the technologically advanced movements of the UAPs in the 04 Nimitz incident and those off of the Roosevelt 2013-14 being corroborated by radar and sensor data? Wouldnâ□□t that mean, whatever they are, that they move in ways we canâ□□t explain?

@Electric_People So either they are from a foreign nation and weâ□□re fucked, theyâ□□re from us (awesome, thank god), or theyâ□□re not from here. If they exist then the question becomes wtf are they, how do they work, and where are they from.

@Electric_People You donâ□□t know me. And youâ□□re wrong. I thought nothing of UFOs until 2 weeks ago. Read the NYT article, and looked into it. Was then convinced with the evidence that exists that whatever they are, they clearly exist and keep breaching US airspace.

Iâ□□m curious of your opinion on the SICâ□□s legislation about making a task force. Do you think they are just misguided or were fed exaggerated intelligence?

2020-08-13T19:05:22+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293987025800970240

@MickWest @JLuvin @LtTimMcMillan @KeenwaAcai Indeed they are! So, if the Navy says they remain unidentified, then wouldn't that mean they took it seriously, looked into it, and couldn't find anything conclusive?

2020-08-13T18:59:54+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293985651067686914

@MickWest @JLuvin @LtTimMcMillan @KeenwaAcai I should say that within 180 days of the UAPTF passing, there is supposed to be an unclassified report with a portion that can be classified. So perhaps sometime next year we will have more information/data which is oh so sorely needed.

2020-08-13T18:58:19+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293985248800194560

@MickWest @JLuvin @LtTimMcMillan @KeenwaAcai Hi Mick, thx 4 responding! This is a fair point, and if true, means our military is apathetic to breaches of airspace. Which is also a problem. Harder to believe when taking into acct that after being briefed on UAPs, the SIC created a Task Force to investigate this very issue.

2020-08-13T18:49:07+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293982935238864896

@GUFONRadio @PostDisclosure The issue is that Radar data is always classified because it shows capabilities. However, the Navy itself is confirming "We don't know what it is, but it was there and our radar date corroborates it," why do we need to see the data for ourselves?

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293982380839976960

2020-08-13T18:39:47+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293980588676796416

@MickWest @JLuvin @LtTimMcMillan @KeenwaAcai When the Navy released the videos, they said they "remain characterized as 'unidentified.'" Wouldn't that imply there was an investigation? The lack of action by our military in investigating these recurring breaches of airspace is the exact point behind the UAPTF legislation.

2020-08-13T18:34:41+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293979304905203712

@SethShostak Doesn't the fact that the Senate Intelligence Committee was briefed on classified evidence, and decided to create bipartisan legislation to further investigate this issue as a matter of national security make you hesitate to dismiss it so quickly?
