11. After several more meetings it became clear that what we wanted (a no-nonsense, science focused journey) wasn't going to be appealing to anyone who could fund us do what we wanted to do. So we decided to put the pursuit of the rest of the film on pause.

2022-09-09T21:27:15+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1568350344530337793

10. Over the next few weeks (Spring 2021), Sean, the crew and myself continued to explore production means and had various meetings about how the film could continue. We still wanted to film that journey.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1568350342252732418

8. My memory is a bit hazy now, but as I recall it, Jeremy left the planning stages of the project first; we all were spending a lot of our free time working together and really trying to make this work. Jeremy used his own car for the pilot and put a lot of time into it.

2022-09-09T21:27:14+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1568350341153935362

7. And I hold no bad blood toward the producers we spoke with. To get something that recouped investment, it would need to be a synthesis of science a and entertainment.

Ultimately, that's something none of us wanted, so things fell apart.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1568350339904032770

6. When a couple things became clear:

The budget of this journey would be far greater than anticipated;

To be attractive to larger audiences, we would need to shift some focus away from science to pop culture;

This makes sense from an investment standpoint..

SKYFORT

"How lucky I am to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard."
-A. A. Milne

In 2021, Skyfort was founded with the intent to raise awareness and bring dignity to the topic of Unidentified Aerial Phenomena in the halls of academia and government, encouraging an open and public discourse.

A year later, we see worldwide publications, top network news anchors, well-known science educators and thought leaders picking up the torch. To a great extent, the stigma surrounding the general study of the phenomenon has been defeated.

Congressional leaders from both sides of the aisle speak boldly and openly on the subject, bravely representing their constituents and demanding answers to questions that have been ignored for decades. Because of this extraordinary shift, we chose to dissolve Skyfort, LLC, in April of 2022.

Skyfort's founders never had an objective to monetize, generate a brand, or maintain relevance; we were goal-oriented, to unite and empower talented individuals to change the conversation. We saw an opportunity to help folks in need, all the while with a destination in mind. We believe the point has been reached that the topic of UAP has the momentum it needs to endure as an accepted, serious and dignified area of valid and important study.

With the announcement of the first scheduled open congressional hearing on UAP in over fifty years, this mysterious subject is now squarely in the people's hands for the first time in modern history.

We hope that we inspired and educated people to treat UAP as something more than myth, entertainment, or monetized bandwagoning. We hope that others who may follow in our footsteps share the idea that truth, knowledge, and science should be free to all, without a paywall, firewall, or hoarding.

To those who continue to work tirelessly for a better understanding of our world, you have our sincere thanks. We are all standing on the precipice of an extraordinary future. Without you, this would not have been possible.

"Great is the art of beginning, but greater is the art of ending."
-Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Sincerely,

The Skyfort Founders

The psychotronic component of UAP may stretch back beyond 100 years.

Here is a 1920s sighting where a witness may have interpreted events in a way she could understand them.

"They were smaller than I and resembled animated flowers with faces...kids don't fear flowers."
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FGN4y55XMAUvB3Q.jpg

(7) 1924 Holy Name Convent School Dade City, Florida USA Day

Mrs. Evelyn Wendt, beauty salon operator recalls as a young schoolgirl 50 years earlier, playing in the yard of the Holy Name Convent School when 'the first thing I remember is that this egg-shaped thing was on the ground, and this bright light was shining in my eyes.' The light went out, a 'hatch' opened and little robot people emerged. 'They were smaller than I and resembled animated flowers with faces where the bud would be. Remember, I was just a bitty thing then, and kids don't fear flowers.'

They carried a weapon-like device to the school's science building. "I wanted to help them, but someone said 'stop.' I replied they were so small, I was going to assist. They let me try but I couldn't even budge the machine. I was told they were going to stop the work that was being done in the science building and they said if the work continued, they would destroy the place." Asked what the 'work' was, she said she didn't know. 'All I know is later I heard the place was a shambles.'

She said 'there seemed to be a man with the little people...everything looked real, even though I wasn't so sure. The conversation wasn't real talking,' but she understood mentally what was being said. As they were leaving, "they asked if I wanted to go. I said, 'no,' but I could have gone." She adds, 'they promised to come back for me in thirty five years, but that was up a long time ago and nothing happened that I know of.' Then, the lead-appearing 'saucer' flew straight up, hovered a minute and disappeared.

@KartoonBlue @SETIInstitute The paraphrased statement was attributed to SETI Senior Astronomer, Seth Shostak.

Given his prominent public outreach often on behalf of SETI, and given that this is reprinted on SETI's website, I think it's fair to point this out as an attitude shift.

@markoconnell_1 The best bombshell in the world will be misunderstood and laughed at by many because of the way the field still chooses to elevate certain figures that present themselves poorly.

Ufology needs an FCC.

@markoconnell_1 Interesting point Mark..

imo the goals of #ufotwitter and what's necessary to get us to widespread acceptance of UAP are different things.

hardcore enthusiasts want smoking guns, but we should be:

1. talking about/calling out the way the field presents itself to newcomers.

@MiddleOfMayhem @AnonJ0hn @blackvaultcom @ddeanjohnson last line is interesting. DOD informed the FAA in 2017 that flight data from that radar station was critical infrastructure and exempt from disclosure?

The military craft description is interesting because witness (and video) describe craft as silent, and omnidirectional light.

Is this boilerplate or something different?

This flight happened ~1500 feet from the witnesses' house in a semi-residential/semi-rural area. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EnTHo9kXUAU4QGu.jpg

The requested radar data contains information regarding a military flight. Data regarding such flights are subject to withholding under FOIA exemption 3 of this FOIA. Exemption 3 permits the withholding of records specifically exempted from disclosure by another Federal statute. In this instance, 10 USC § 130e states, in part, that the Department of Defense (DOD) may exempt critical infrastructure security information where such disclosure would reveal vulnerabilities that, if exploited, would likely result in the significant disruption, destruction, or damage of or to DOD operations, property or facilities. In a letter dated June 2, 2017, the DOD informed the FAA that DOD flight data constitutes DOD Critical Infrastructure Information (DCRIT) and is therefore exempt from disclosure by this statute.

2020-11-20T06:00:11+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329665827679989767

@EngagingThe ..maybe 'lack of perception oversight' might create this weird situation where witnesses who've seen an actual craft don't feel comfortable taking to the people most focused on the topic, ufologists.

to no fault of most of them, but it's a collective regulation problem

---

2020-11-20T05:58:28+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329665392462209025

@EngagingThe maybe that's bad example.

maybe the better question is just...

who is ultimately responsible for the image of ufology as a whole? who is holding leaders of the field accountable when they share CGI? does it matter?

2020-11-20T05:57:18+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329665098122719232

@EngagingThe if the field had an "FCC" it could be interesting.

for example, TTSA guests no longer go on Tucker until he fixes the intro graphics.

Maybe this is authoritarian to some, but i wonder how many hundreds (thousands) of viewers see that and feel weird about sharing their story.

2020-11-20T05:50:19+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329663341242044417

@EngagingThe totally.

and tbf the entire distinction between journo vs ufologist is tribal and not helpful. so i apologize.

i was fired up after talking to a couple witnesses.

the better conclusion is probably "the perception of ufology" should be a focus to fix.

2020-11-20T05:45:52+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329662222876991488

@EngagingThe tbh even if a leading ufologist gives a 6 hour interview with a producer, the content the average, mainstream witness sees is not that.

2020-11-20T05:44:13+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329661807863197698

@EngagingThe a huge thing i am not characterizing properly is the framing problem that can be laid squarely at leading TV producers who take ufologists and cut up their comments.

it's a reasonable counter argument to say that the leading ufologists are mispresented and it's not their fault.

2020-11-20T05:43:11+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329661547543715840
@EngagingThe totally fair

all i meant to convey is i was surprised that there are still Fravor-level witnesses out there.

they will talk but some are weary of ways the major ufological figures carry themselves on social, or TV/film, or the things they're allowing their image to be used in.

@TheUndeadGaucho @TenoriThrowaway @TheUndeadGaucho spot on with this video.

@PostDisclosure One example.

Wit I spoke to today. Military CE.

But when he tries to research craft type and share with girlfriend/friends he comes across mostly mainstream TV with the same 5 experts talking about it. He then feels uncomfortable sharing with them.

Why would he ever go public?

2020-11-20T03:31:04+00:00

@TenoriThrowaway Does hype from the UFO community ahead of New York Times releases and other "pending news" derail journalists working on it?

Didn't Blumenthal say as much to @TheProjectUnity?

this seems to line up with some witnesses preferring journo to pure ufology too. :thinking_face:

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329626887484747784
@TenoriThrowaway I would also argue witnesses 2000 to present day are totally overlooked.

There are thousands of these people, and they get downvoted on Reddit to 0 because they "didn't take enough pictures" or aren't David Fravor.

:neutral_face:

2020-11-20T03:22:51+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329626233425027073

@futruaultra Either approach is interesting.

Ufologists argue those mentioned in the docs can lie. And we shouldn't take their word.

Journos argue we have to record statements and take them for what they are.

All I'm saying is witnesses seem uncomfortable with pure ufology.

2020-11-20T03:21:02+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329625772982734849

@futruaultra I think the other term is journalists.

Take the Wilson notes for example.

Do we want to reach out to everyone mentioned and get comment? (journo)

Or do we want to apply a leading cover-up hypothesis and work backwards from that while analyzing? (ufologist)

2020-11-20T03:16:35+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329624654428909569

@futruaultra Well that's part of it, right? If people defending ufology won't hold those people accountable, it's the field's problem, and the problem of those who defend the field.

I take issue with any ufologist scaring away witnesses.

2020-11-20T03:15:33+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329624393857855488

I suggested they go to trained journos instead of career ufologists, Jazz (who I always viewed as a journalist), came to the defense of ufology.

Maybe I'm wrong, maybe a lot of these witnesses (who have had CEs) are wrong.

Maybe ufology is best suited to take wit testimony 1st.

2020-11-20T03:12:42+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329623676673789953

This is in reference to a debate @JazzShaw and I are (kind of?) having.

It was in reference to this tweet, where I suggested witnesses I spoke to were concerned about reaching out to ufologists directly with their testimony.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329622820259819522

Poll time. Fill in the blank.

Ufology _____ affect(s) the stigma surrounding the UAP topic.

Official definition of ufology is the investigation of unidentified flying objects by people who believe that they may be of extraordinary origins.

2020-11-20T03:04:39+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329621651412164609

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe But seriously, poll UFO viewers. UFO readers. UFO Reddit users.

Ask them if ufology in its current state, with current leading media players:

A. Significantly contributes to stigma
B. Somewhat contributes to stigma
C. Doesn't contribute to stigma

2020-11-20T03:03:12+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329621287824723969

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe You're getting butt hurt over a criticism meant toward the large, systemic players in ufology.

Has nothing to do with journalists like you who cover.

When witnesses tell me this, I'm going to share it. I'm not going to keep it to myself for fear of offending people.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329621012862918661

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe Who said you weren't credible?

Did I say that?

Is this how you have arguments? Lol, it's an absurd style.

I am merely sharing a theme one can easily pick up from any witness. A criticism of ufology for contributing to the stigma.

I always considered you a journalist.

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe All I am doing is sharing a reason I am surprised to learn about witness silence, but it makes sense.

Share with journalists, not career ufologists trying to monetize psychologically traumatizing experiences.

That is a ll.

2020-11-20T00:52:21+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329588355613544450
@JazzShaw @EngagingThe I was trained in journalism and follow journalistic principals.

Share with journalists. That is all.

You're just absurd, man. I care about these witnesses and they say this is a reason they don't speak out.

I share it, and you go ballistic.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329587128779612165
@JazzShaw @EngagingThe What don't you get about this?

I'm sharing a theme I've noticed among silent witnesses.

To act like ufology has no blame in the stigma surrounding it is absurd. It is partially to blame.

2020-11-20T00:45:02+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329586517254266880
@JazzShaw @EngagingThe I appreciate the feedback because you've solidified I'm going to make any witness films/content majority non-profit to actually contribute to causes like witness therapy, etc.

These are real people who matter, and that's only reason I shared what I learned.

2020-11-20T00:42:20+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329585834522255360
@JazzShaw @EngagingThe Am I guilty of exploitation? Sure. Turning testimony into entertainment.

Others in ufology are too.

@JazzShaw I am simply sharing what I have picked up from witnesses that has surprised me. It has caused me to reconsider an approach that turns witness experience into product.

2020-11-20T00:40:48+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329585449518641155
@JazzShaw @EngagingThe 2. Some fear their well thought out testimony will be exploited into an entertainment product.

If they want to get the word out but avoid this, a traditional journo might be a better option.

2020-11-20T00:38:56+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329584980259971072

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe A few reasons have come up in conversations with silent witnesses.

1. Some feel UFO community doesn't care about the witness's well being or psyche themselves, only if they took enough photos or evidence to "move the topic forward." R/UFOs is a great example.

2020-11-20T00:37:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329584638348701699

@JazzShaw @EngagingThe Except to many witnesses who this negatively affects, they just want someone to talk to about this, and also help others learn about it.

I shared what I did because a prevailing theme I am noticing is a lack of desire to share with conventional ufology.

2020-11-19T23:38:43+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329569827778945024

@buffcommacu I have a lot of contact with everyday witnesses. It's great.

Currently collaborating with someone great as well.

As for why bigger names don't reach out, it's probably because the only reason I'm doing this work is to counter their own dramatized approach to subject.

2020-11-19T23:35:15+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329568955267211267

@taucircumambul1 I'm fully aware of disinfo, it happens today.

But all I am saying is a theme I am noticing among silent witnesses is the fear that existing niche UFO media will make them into a caricature.

2020-11-19T23:22:13+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329565674235162627

@buffcommacu the fact that this has to be debated just makes me want to release content/witness testimony under a non profit and donate the proceeds to UAP witness therapy/closure efforts.

It seems clear the business of UAPs might be holding us back.

2020-11-19T22:49:42+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329557490539827200

@GeezaNews Jazz seems to disagree, and that's fine.

But I agree, it's weird enough as is.

I don't want potentially good witness testimony or other whistleblowers to have to be funneled through UFO Twitter first.

It can scare them away or kill the story.

2020-11-19T22:48:23+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329557157872885768
@JazzShaw @dulhunty No one said anything about shitting on those who came before.

But as the hypothetical scenario describes, does a story have a higher chance of dying if it goes through a ufologist first?

Do others even want to come out if they have to go this route?

2020-11-19T22:46:29+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329556681060184064
@JazzShaw @dulhunty Income stream?

I have Patrons because they support our approach. I have very limited ad money because of YT ads.

Not doing this for a career, nor am I trying to make money lol.

Streaming offering probably loses money. But if it gets this info out in a non cheesy way I'll do it

---

2020-11-19T22:42:55+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329555784372543490
@JazzShaw @dulhunty You didn't really respond to my hypothetical scenario.

Does a story have a higher chance of dying if it gets put out in leaked or limited fashion by a ufologist versus MSM?

Does it have a higher chance of dying if it's presented in a TV special or speculative YT video?

2020-11-19T22:41:31+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329555431539269632
@GeezaNews I myself would probably suffer for lack of content/sources if this happened. I'm not MSM.

But I don't care...we want topic to move forward, right!

(Many) more should be comfortable talking.

And can be in the future. This is just a theme I have noticed talking to witnesses.

2020-11-19T22:39:16+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329554864947548160
@dulhunty @JazzShaw figuring out a way to do this^ is probably better than staying in the bubble.

I think you'd be surprised to know many more might be open to UFOs than you think if it's not presented with crazy music, special limited time book deals and speculation.

2020-11-19T22:34:52+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329553758444019716
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem Further, I used to edit/feed info into MSM finance outlets for yrs.

So I'm familiar with the space..

I don't consider myself big-time, any attempt to enter streaming is entirely to try to counter the very content there that silent witnesses and myself say perpetuate stigma..

2020-11-19T22:32:36+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329553185640505346
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem I'm just a YTer who talks to ppl who have had experiences.

I am stating what I was surprised to hear has been a theme among silent witnesses.

They don't agree w/ approach of how ufology sometimes presents itself + some big UFO TV/films.

I'm not MSM so I don't benefit from this

2020-11-19T22:25:52+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329551492064436235
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem How am I big time?

I'm simply stating a common theme among some silent witnesses is they feel a stigma because of the prevailing approach of UFO community.

2020-11-19T22:24:17+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329551094738022400
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem According to witnesses that want to go public, but don't yet because of stigma, they are (hurting the process).

I'd bet two seperate surveys of mainstream science viewers and traditional UFO viewers would show this.

2020-11-19T22:20:13+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329550070740611074

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem I still maintain I'd rather have any future UFO Snowdens go through an outlet first and then ufologist.

Don't you think the story can go further if it doesn't get muddled, or stigmatized by conspiracy along the way?

2020-11-19T22:16:52+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329549227312246784

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem I want to go to streaming because YouTube is severely hampering exposure for any UAP content.

Part of that (on YT's part) is ufologists' tendancies to not act like journalists. Why would they promote the topic to general sci viewers?

2020-11-19T22:13:14+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329548315814457344

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem As I mention in my next tweet, I have reservations over if some stories follow the proper path if they go through ufologists first.

Not all, right? But maybe some get messed up?

This point is valid.

2020-11-19T22:08:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1329547040171433989

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem Isn't that better than if File A is fed to ufologist(s) who might have preexisting biases and no credentials (or desire) to access said sources in the file?

Will any journalists ever touch File A once it's been released through a UFO blog, anonymously, or via a TV special?

2020-11-19T22:05:17+00:00

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem Hypothetical scenario.

"Explosive UFO File A."

If this is given to a journalist who will sit on it, spend the time working through sources, use their credentials to check out sources...

(cont)

2020-11-19T22:01:04+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329545252550610944
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem @RyanSprague51 @MicahHanks Further I'm (maybe poorly) relaying a sentiment I was surprised to hear from avg. ppl, but makes sense.

After hearing it repeatedly from those who don't follow UFOTwitter, I agree..

Get it out of the bubble, some witnesses don't come forward because of wackiness of the bubble.

2020-11-19T21:57:38+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329544388503097347
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem @RyanSprague51 @MicahHanks I'm not trying to call for a blacklist of ufologists from sources, I'm trying to say that it might be best to go to traditional journos first.

If they pass it up, then go to the UFOTwitter crowd.

I want future UFO Snowden to be reported thru MSM first, not leaked on a blog..

2020-11-19T21:55:25+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329543831444992001
@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem I'm not calling for it as much as I'm saying:

1. it's the sentiment I hear readers and viewers i talk to seem to want, moreso than i expected

2. it's probably going to happen anyway

3. any news coming from a career ufologist with no credentials seems to cheapen the information

2020-11-19T21:53:29+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329543341583847425
@JazzShaw And that might be myself included, so be it.

When/if disclosure happens, outlets are not going to hire fringe ufologists to be their UFO features reporters...

Journos who focus on related matters are going to take this subject under their own sphere.

2020-11-19T21:50:12+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329542517679853568
@JazzShaw I'm extremely familiar with ufological history, and yes, many figures go unrecognized when they should. Brad Sparks is one, for example.

But the sentiment from many ordinary people is they want to hear this news from people who don't have a career or book to sell.

2020-11-19T21:43:08+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329540740754640899
@GeezaNews Let me say this:

If there ever is a 'UAP Snowden,' I deeply hope they present this information to a journalist who might have never even touched UFOs before.

Or one who is journo first, UAP second.

Once the stigma is removed, the public's focus will shift to these creators.

2020-11-19T21:41:52+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1329540421219979265
@ElectroDeeJ I have more faith in the average viewer and reader tbh.

The issue is more with the habits of how mainstream UAP content is created and the standards that are set (but don't actually need to be followed).

If you're sitting on UAP info, please consider sharing it with someone trained in journalism.

Pick a natsec or policy jouro over a self proclaimed ufologist.

If widespread acceptance of phenomenon ever happens, they will be the ones reporting this.

Upon dozens of convos had with trained + untrained witnesses over past few weeks, have learned 2 things.

1 Many feel stigma because of how leading UFO "figures" present subject to this day.

2 Some find them too focused on ego or "who's in the club" rather than true journalism.

I mean producing, writing and editing visual content. The first thing anyone should see about the UAP topic on Netflix needs to be from this group.

It's why I'm pausing YT to put together a project for streaming platforms.

I'm losing patience that the mainstream's introduction into UAPs is sometimes garbage (less than it used to be, but still bad).

We know of stories about encounters and even hand-to-hand fights with pilots of craft landing from other planets. They were shot at, but without success.

A saucer out down a tree on the Amazon River shore and disappeared in the turbid stream. It was never rebovered. Another saucer glided over the earth like an injured bird and almost crashed before the eyes of witnesses. But "having spit out" several pieces of metal, it levelled out its course and flew off. Delivered to the police, the metal proved to be ordinary tin.

PLANT

An abandoned silvery disc was found in the deep rock-coal seams in Norwegian coal mines on Spitzbergen. It was pierced and marked by micrometeor impacts and bore all traces of having performed a long space voyage. It was sent for analysis to the Pentagon and disappeared there.

Nothing but a saucer put out of commission a high-voltage power transmission line in 1965 and thus plunged several large American cities into darkness for six hours.

But the most thrilling masterpiece of this sort was probably the "Interview with a Man from Venus" published at the close of 1967 by the West German Stern magazine. This materialized blue-eyed "superman", a version of Nietzsche's "blond beast", proved to be a secret service agent of the Pentagon. He was 190 cm tall, spoke excellent English (it was English indeed!) and could breathe freely in our atmosphere without any devices. His modest fibre suitcase contained an unusual silvery suit, flexible like silk and so hard that a diamond drill broke off it.

The man from Venus said that he could walk freely in such a suit over the surface of the hottest stars, ignoring all powerful gravitational fields.

Maybe these "facts" will do?

How Can They Be Studied?

It is easier to ask this question, than to answer it. These flying saucers -- they are like Our Lady: they appear to those who believe in them. And they persistently fail to show themselves to air observation posts, meteorologists and astronomers, i.e. precisely to those who can give us accurate information and trustworthy descriptions of a flying object.

Experiments that do not repeat themselves, or the chance appearance of a phenomenon always either handicap the possibility of investigation considerably or exclude it altogether.

SUBJECT: Unidentified Flying Objects

REF :

1. The Embassy has been visited by a local amateur astronomer who is rather well known in Montevideo for his long-range weather forecasts which are frequently referred to in the local press. The astronomer, Ismael REYES Febles, is director of a private observatory which he calls Antares Observatory. Reyes showed an Embassy Officer twenty color slides of the November 12 eclipse of the sun in each of which a saucerlike object was visible in the foreground in various positions throughout the cycle of the slides taken during the two-hour duration of the eclipse. Reyes said he has not shown the slides to anyone else yet and wishes to offer them to a suitable scientific agency of the United States Government. Although he mentions no price, his manner indicates that he expects remuneration other than scientific fame. The Embassy Officer who spoke to Reyes told him that there was no one in the Country fcam qualified to make even a preliminary assessment of the slides but that he would bring the matter to the attention of the Scientific Attache in Buenos Aires. Reyes accepted this suggestion and said he would keep his slides secret for a reasonable period of time until he hears from the Embassy.

2. The Embassy has checked with the scientific community in Uruguay in an attempt to establish Reyes' reputation with his colleagues. The Chairman of the Astronomy Department at the University of the Republic and other reputable local scientists have reported that Reyes has no university training and is completely without standing in the scientific community. Local [redacted]ists are generally sceptical of his work and his motives.

3. Despite the unfavorable report the Embassy has received on Reyes, the Embassy Officer who viewed the slides believes that either Reyes has indeed photographed an interesting aerial phenomenon which cannot be @Flyingh43892139 tbf some of this could have been related to the sources of those reports, but when you read the entire document, it becomes troubling how much of the UFO content is gone.

Friedman talked about this document a lot as an example of what he thought was overclassification.

@NARCAP1 @SicCoP1 @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox I would say a lot of others are doing a great job at this too.

James Fox, Steven Greenstreet, Tim McMillan, John Greenwald, and some others I'm missing are doing a good job at meeting audiences and readers halfway.

I can't stress that enough re: meeting them halfway.

@NARCAP1 @SicCoP1 @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox It's almost like we have to claw back the UAP topic from the depths of fiction, misinformation and disinformation.

I am trying to do that.

But we have to meet audiences halfway. Present information visually, interestingly, in addition to documents.

@NARCAP1 @SicCoP1 @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox I think the public would be interested in what you say is the real story if presented right.

The problem for all science-focused groups like yours, SCU, SkyHub, is you have to compete against (1) promoters who tell audiences what sells or (2) literal science fiction content.

Branch Evaluation, Plan & Recommendation

Allegation Number: RIV-2010-A-0101

Concern: 1.
		*RX Code or Functional Area:	Security
Responsible Branch:	PSB 1	*Discipline:	Security
*OI Investigation Priority:		OI Case Number:	4-20XX-0XX
*OI Priority Basis:

Concern: (A concern is one or two sentences.)

Sometime between 1986 and 1989, an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) violated the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station and was not reported to the NRC as required.

Concern Background, Supporting Information, & Comments:

The CI described an event that occurred during his employment as a security officer at Cooper Nuclear Station. He was employed there from 1986 through 1989 and did not remember specifically when during that time the event occurred.

While posted at the intake structure one night, he observed an "unidentified flying object" fly down the Missouri River about 150 feet in the air and hover in front of the intake. He observed it for a few moments and then contacted a fellow security officer who also observed it (he could not recall the individual's name exactly but his first name was (b)(and his last name was either (b)(7)(C)). After they together observed the UFO, it turned and went back up the river and did not come back that shift. He and the other officer shared their observation with their peers who did not believe them.

The next evening he again was posted at the intake and observed the UFO return again. This time he didn't call anyone until the UFO had traversed into the protected area and hovered above the protected area just north of the Reactor Building. He said it was roughly triangular in shape with a circle of rotating lights on the bottom. He could not hear any propulsion noise from the UFO. He believes that it was roughly 1/3 the size of the Reactor Building. Once the UFO hovered in the protected area, he called the security break room and most of the officers on shift observed the UFO. These individuals included (b)(7)(C) and (b)(7)(C) (both of whom were security officers), all of whom still work at the plant today. After hovering there for a few minutes, the UFO exited the protected are and returned back up the river to the north as it had the previous night. The CI said that he never saw the UFO at the plant again after that evening.

The CI believes that this incident should have been reported as a violation of the protected area space but was not reported.

Declassified NRC documents show a former security officer claims a black triangle UFO violated the stationâ□□s protected area in the late-80s.

It had a circle of rotating lights and was silent.

After a few minutes, it turned, and went back up the river.

In 1995, declassified transcripts show Argentine pilots saw an "impossible" object, shaped like a bright orange saucer fly alongside a Boeing 727.

It then stopped, and went 90 degrees upward â seven different trained observers saw this case.

@NARCAP1 @SicCoP1 @TheProjectUnity @SomewhereSkies @jamescfox I respect the cynicism, @NARCAP1, but I try to remain optimistic.

With that said, some on here might not be familiar with the broken dreams of ufologists in the 70s, 80s and 90s who thought disclosure was right around the corner.

Still, I think we're further today than before.

@Skhellter Overreaction, perhaps.

But the fact that many ppl interested in UAP are ok with "mad men and compulsive liars" as you put it, is disappointing.

Does biology or psychology suffer from these issues?

@NeedleBodkin @GulfofSilence Eh...if the only opinion I am known for is criticizing UFO media for misleading people, I'm ok with that.

Old school media was never afraid to call out misinfo... (even unintentional) and in a field like UFOs, it's a big topic within the field we have to address.

@MrHustleMCR @PostDisclosure Some ufologists will remain cynical and that's their right to.

Where I take issue with this is when the cynicism is a persona to remain edgy.

Let's reserve judgement for the machinations happening in Washington when we're able to see the results of recent momentum.

@MrHustleMCR @PostDisclosure I try not to be cynical.

There has been a sea change at higher levels that specific aspects of this have to be taken seriously.

Last I checked PBB never expressly stated bio effects and materials were a core component of UAP that warrants study like the new legislation has.

@AmeiMission agreed to disagree i guess...

IMO we got fiction for 60 yrs, i'd prefer more effort put on real journalism.

for example, whoever made ^this film could've easily put their efforts toward interviewing real witnesses and the topic moves forward.

@JakeDean45 totally.

Anyone serious about UAP should feel the same way about UAP fiction.

Is it stodgy? Maybe, haha. But it's a necessary sacrifice to get the topic to a better place.

Aren't there backups in place?

@Captain60850040 @PostDisclosure Fair point.

If MSM outlets published "DOD confirms: we live in a simulation," it would freak ppl out.

But I'd imagine religious leaders would be quick to explain that lines up with their interpretation all along.

1. if by 2024, there are top 5 shows on every streaming platform about serious UAP cases, supported by SkyHub or VAULT footage, we're closer.

2. if by 2024 the UAPTF has declassified findings, we're closer.

however what country nationalizes it seems to be an issue, if you went the public good route.

more reasonably you'd want a global governing body to regulate its ability to serve as a public good.

@ufoartwork @TheProjectUnity @PostDisclosure I'm open to CE1s through CE4s for this series depending on the evidence available, historical (declassified) context of the area, willingness to talk of the witness, and feasibility of shooting on location.

@Derek2slo4Twter thank you, we'll be back on YT once we wrap. And I'm not sure where the series will be streaming, but we'll film it using gear approved for any platform.

most likely Prime and iTunes initially, then maybe the others if we can make something good enough. will be a fun challenge @_Kodos_ Thank you, and as far as I knew, the only creator who did something weekly, without pause were the South Park guys.

@JackDor56212808 YT with our Patreon support pays fine â I didn't start this to make money but to move discussion of the UAP topic forward.

I'm hoping this series can do that in a unique way, then we'll be back.

3. Translations of UFO like Ovni, and Eastern European dialects don't seem to have similar issues of tagging UFO content as borderline.

I don't know why this is, it may just be because the UFO content in English was particularly hard to sort so YT focused on the US.

2020-11-02T18:02:29+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1323324615100403714
Two more things:

2. If another creator links to your video and channel in their description (likely because they mentioned you), you will get a 24-48 hour boost in recommendations to their subscriber base on their home page and suggested videos.

2020-11-02T17:58:22+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1323323582634708997
Further, all UFO creators on YT, consider using broader terms to tag your videos like unidentified, unexplained.

UAP is also fine.

But adding in 'UFO' tags, I'm very confident, classifies your stuff as borderline content where it's buried.

So I'm here to tell all YouTubers out there: if you feel chained to a production schedule or think the algo will only help you if you publish all the time, don't.

It's bad for mental health, and your career as a creator.

@ADeChicio @ofbeasting The one cost worth strongly considering is a narrator with a resume of past documentary content.

That may be our one big expense.

I can do the score myself most likely.

2020-11-02T02:56:48+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1323096696050634753

@ADeChicio @ofbeasting Now, you also have to rent other gear like lenses, gimbal, lighting (if using), etc. Which isn't too bad.

The other expenses are travel to go on location.

So for us, I think I can keep the budget affordable since I can do pretty much everything myself right up to release.

2020-11-02T02:55:33+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1323096377644167168

@ADeChicio @ofbeasting thankfully, with today's technology, it's a lot cheaper to do production level work.

for example, the cheapest Netflix approved camera is $3500, or $100 per week to rent. Ideally for filming you need two of them, so for a few weeks of cumulative filming, it's really not too bad

Extraterrestrials Contact Human Beings: An Original Approach To Set The Authenticity of Alleged Close Encounters of The Fifth Kind

Julio Acosta-Navarro, Celso Bispo, Márcia Klimiuc, Fernanda Oliveira, Everaldo Ferreira, Marisa Chueiri, Catarina Matteuzzi, Ivana Ribeiro, Moacyr Sampaio, José Maldonado

Abstract*- In the past, the negative about the possibility of extraterrestrial intelligences coming into contact with the humankind was due to several factors, but at present, there is evidence from several fields challenging this mainstream. We hypothesized that authentic Close Encounters of Fifth Kind (CE5thK) could probably be happening. We designed and applied an original approach with qualitative and quantitative variables constituting a rule of 12 criterions for defining a high probability, low probability or inconclusive evidence in order to set the authenticity of 72 cases of alleged CE5thK. A high probability was considered as authentic. We found 47 cases to be low probability, none case to be inconclusive evidence and 25 cases to be high probability to be an authentic phenomenon. Using an original approach, we found evidence to support that advanced contact from ETI with human beings probably is happening on the Earth at present. Additionally in these authentic CE5thK cases, there are important and revolutionary information with amazing potential for our society in several fields of knowledge.

unrecognized natural phenomenon. Approximately 1.5% to 2% are outright hoaxes, often accompanied by spurious photographs. Although hoaxes constitute such a small percentage of all UFO reports, they have created a disproportionate amount of trouble. Hoaxes are in fact, responsible for almost entirely disgracing the serious study of UFOs [2]. The remaining 3% to 8.5% of all UFOs sightings are those that appear to be aircraft of nonhuman origin.

In the past, the negative about of possibility of extraterrestrial intelligences (ETI) coming into contact with the humankind was due to several factors. At first, the presence of logical problems unsolved such as the Fermi Paradox, that is, the apparent contradiction between high estimates of the probability of the existence of ETI and the lack of evidence for, or contact with, such civilizations [3]. Second, the official reports from governmental agencies as the Condom Report [4], concluding that there was no evidence that UFOs were extraterrestrial spacecraft and that @gammaraybeam In fact it's worth asking why "moon base whistleblowers" even has a stigma.

It's like, certain topics rub people entirely the wrong way.

Is there any hard proof? That's declassified? No.

But the same could be said for dark matter. And if you talk about that you sound smart.

@gammaraybeam Oh i see.

The honest answer is probably the stigma over "moon base whistleblowers."

The better action would be to directly address Wolfe himself and possibly investigate why he would ever make those claims.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1321393213723258880
(4) Perhaps the better question: can we take Wolfe's words for what they are considering there's no evidence and the testimony has a factual error in it?

I don't know.

But no one should be banned for asking this question.

(2) Wolfe claims he saw photos of the structures in "mid 1965" while helping out with the Lunar Orbiter program.

Shape oscillation of a levitated drop in an acoustic field

Abstract

A 'star drop' refers to the patterns created when a drop, flattened by some force, is excited into shape mode oscillations. These patterns are perhaps best understood as the two dimensional analog to the more common three dimensional shape mode oscillations. In this fluid dynamics video an ultrasonic standing wave was used to levitate a liquid drop. The drop was then flattened into a disk by increasing the field strength. This flattened drop was then excited to create star drop patterns by exciting the drop at its resonance frequency. Different oscillatory modes were induced by varying the drop radius, fluid properties, and frequency at which the field strength was modulated.

1 Background

When a drop is held within an acoustic field, there is a force balance between the pressure exerted by the field, which tends to flatten the drop, and the surface tension of the drop, which tends to form the drop into a sphere. Under stationary conditions this will result in an oblate shaped drop residing within the field. However, if the field strength is periodically modulated, an instability in the drop can occur. This will result in the formation of a wave which extends radially around the drop, orthogonal to the direction of the applied field. Visually, the result appears as a star shape, with several elliptical lobes extending from the center of the drop.

The number of peaks in the produced wave can be controlled by exciting the drop at various harmonics of the drop's resonance frequency.

$$f_n = \frac{1}{2\pi}\sqrt{\frac{n(n-1)(n+2)\gamma}{\rho R^3}}, \tag{1}$$ where ρ is the liquid density, γ is the surface tension, R is the drop radius, and n is the harmonic of the oscillation.[1]

Various methods can be used to oscillate a liquid drop and form these star drops.[2] These methods include vibration of a non-wetting substrate, pulsating airflow, and modulating the field strength of a supporting magnetic or acoustic field.

2 Method

To produce the presented visualization, an ultrasonic standing wave field was created between an ultrasonic transducer and a reflector. At the nodes of this acoustic field it is possible to insert a liquid drop and levitate it.[3] The strength of the acoustic field is highly sensitive to the amplitude and frequency of the ultrasonic wave. To provide an initial perturbation to the drop the strength of the acoustic field was modulated through the use of frequency modulation. By matching the resonance frequency, f_n, the presented star patterns were formed.[4]

An ultrasonic field can be used to levitate a liquid drop, and by changing the field strength, the dropâ□□s shape can be influenced.

The number of points on the drop happen to match the harmonic.

LA SEMANA DE LOS "OVNIS"

"Una de las naves estaba flotando en el aire, inmóvil, a unos diecisiete metros de altura", dice el joven Maxi Iglesias.

"LOS HE VISTO TRES VECES"

Crónica y fotografías de nuestros enviados especiales, Angel Gómez Escorial y Alvaro García-Pelayo

«LOS he visto tres veces. La última ha sido hace un par de días. Mi novia estaba conmigo la última vez.» Maximiliano Iglesias Sánchez, de veintiún años, chófer de camión, dice haber vivido una extraordinaria aventura.

—Volvía yo de ver a mi novia. Ella vive en el pueblo de Pinedas. Serían las dos de la madrugada del jueves día 21. A unos cuatro kilómetros de Horcajo, en dirección a Béjar, y un kilómetro antes de Valdehijaderos, vi en la carretera una luz muy potente que me deslumbró. Yo iba en el pronto, la luz cegadora se cambió en otra más suave. Pude ver entonces el contorno de aquello. La luz salía de aquel chisme, como si fuera transparente. Era un tono anaranjado claro. Entonces noté que arriba había otra suspendida en el aire, como a unos quince metros de altura. No hacía ningún ruido y estaba inmóvil. De la nave carme, pero sufrí un ataque de miedo y me marché. Regresé a Lagunilla y me acosté. No conté nada.

—Al día siguiente yo tenía que hacer un viaje con materiales a Pinedas. Decidí no quedarme. Tenía miedo. Mi novia me notó algo. Yo no quería contárselo. Finalmente, se lo dije, y ella se negó a que saliera esa noche del pueblo. Pero me fui. A las once y media del viernes, en el mismo lugar, volví a ver las naves. Eran tres. Una, sobre la carretera, y dos, posadas a la derecha del camino, en un sembrado. Tenían esa luz difuminada. Nuevamente me quedé sin luces y el motor se me paró. Había unas cuatro figuras que buscaban algo ignored.

Years after Blue Book ended, intel still felt it important enough not just to monitor UFOs...

But close encounters of the third kind (occupant cases) too.

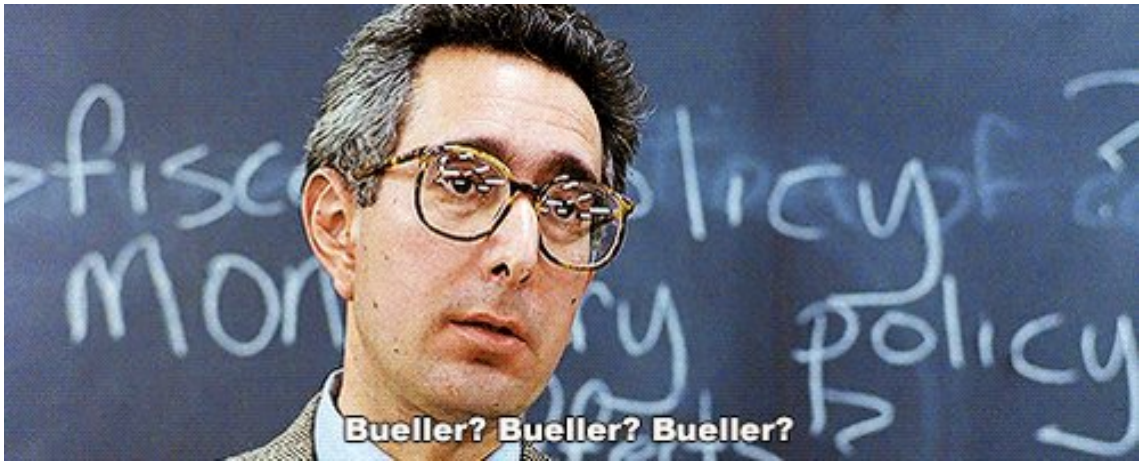

Just maddening that witnesses back then were laughed at...while US govt quietly took it seriously.

Mr. Center's employment at Battelle can be confirmed through the American Men of Science. It was learned from Mr. Center's wife that he died of cancer on July 15, 1991. She told us that he had been keenly interested in the subject of flying saucers, but she knew nothing about any such work while he was at Battelle. His daughter Cathy was contacted and remembers our informant well but does not remember the conversation. She thought she would have remembered it because of her own interest in the subject, but said it is possible that it has been forgotten. She confirmed her father's interest in the subject of flying saucers and, like us, doubts that our informant would make up a story about the conversation.

For those who might think that they can contact Battelle to request verification of this story will not find it there. First of all, too many years have passed and anyone who might know the truth will have long since retired. Secondly, since the information would have clearly been highly classified, the records would have gone back to the Government. Thirdly, Battelle's business practices do not permit it to discuss a client's work. An unidentified Battelle staff member wrote a letter about this company that was published in the September 1993 issue of Just Cause (Citizens Against UFO Secrecy, P.O. Box 218, Coventry, CT 06238) which states this ethic better than we can. "The research Battelle undertakes is done with integrity and an ethical regard for the confidentiality of its clients, both governmental and industrial (commercial). Battelle will not discuss with others the work it does for its clients. Because of this ethical approach to its work, including due regard to matters of national security, Battelle will not respond to inquiries about Blue Book or any of its other work...This should not be seen as proof of cooperation in any sort of imagined cover up. It is part of the ethical tradition that has been part of the Battelle business philosophy since its founding in 1929."

We have heard other reports of Battelle project work on alien artifacts during this time period that is a under inventigation by others.

Ballistics Tests

In 1982 Kevin Meggs was attending Wright State University, taking a course in Statics and Dynamics. One night he was working at the library on a class project with an older classmate. During a moment of much needed relaxation, he and the classmate started talking about various matters and ended up discussing the UFO phenomenon. During this conversation, the classmate, who had worked at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base for many years, stated that as a young engineer, he and his fellow workers were asked to test an unusual piece of material, the origin of which was left unstated. This occurred in the late 1940s or early 1950s, he couldn't remember exactly when.

The material was very thin and foil like. The particular piece they were given was about three feet square. It wouldn't crease or bend. Among other tests, they fired projectiles at the material. The material simply absorbed the projectiles and the energy it carried, dropping the projectile to the floor of the test chamber. The material wasn't penetrated. After the tests were completed, officials retrieved the square of material and gathered up all the reports and notebooks. They engineers were told that the tests were classified and that they were never to talk about the work they did.

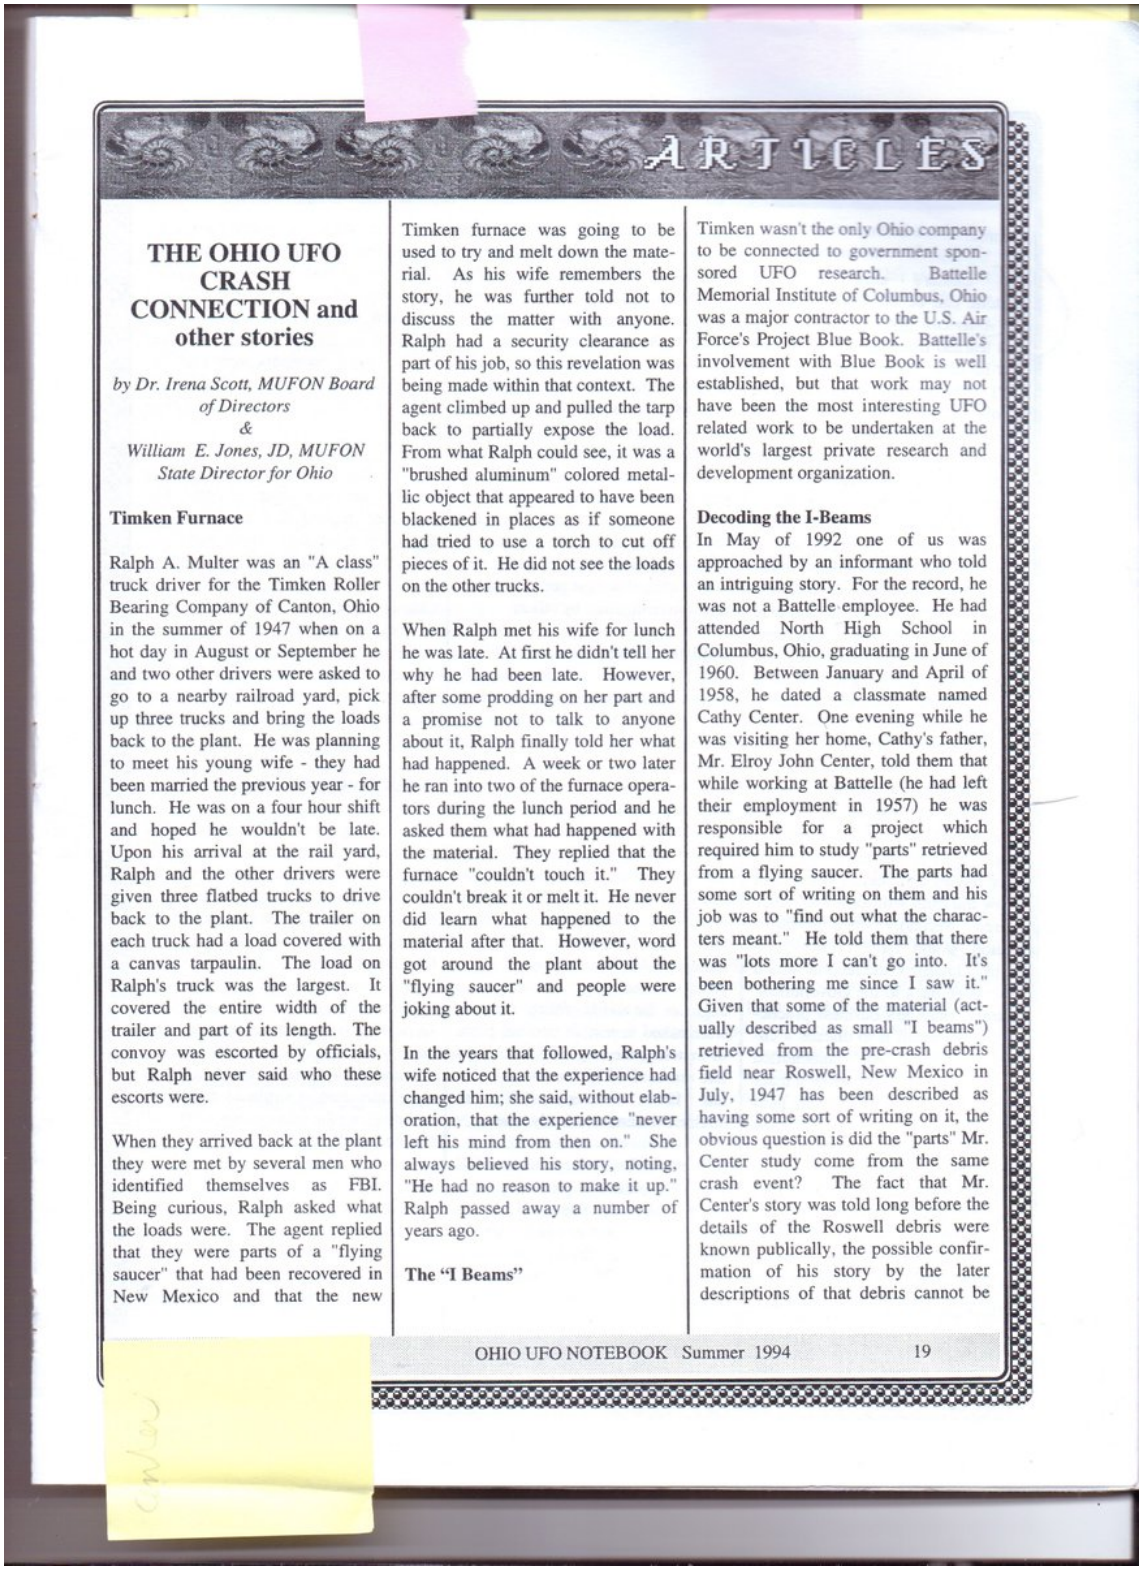

During this converstion, Mr. Meggs asked about the Hanger 18 story. The classmate replied that he had heard there was a building which contained items from a retrieved flying saucer. He said the building contained a test chamber where the temperature could be varied. He knew little about the building or what went on inside, but he thought it had a three digit number. Reports such as this are being uncovered with increasing regularity by the MORA staff.

Wright Patterson Bodies

Jim Donohoe, an independent UFO investigator living in Madison County, was a teenager in 1953 and it was not uncommon for his uncle, who was a highly placed civil servant at Wright Field, to drop by Jim's home in South Charleston, Ohio to chat. For some reason Jim's aunt did not want her husband talking about his work when he was at home, so on occasion Jim became an outlet for his uncle when it came to his work at the Field. Jim was quite interested in airplanes and things technical, so the relationship work well for them both.

Jim's uncle had joined the Army Air Force in 1937 and ferried aircraft across the Pacific as part of his duties. On one occasion during the war he was at a base that was heavily bombed by the Japanese and, when the bombing

THE OHIO UFO CRASH CONNECTION and other stories

by Dr. Irena Scott, MUFON Board of Directors
William E. Jones, JD, MUFON State Director for Ohio

Timken Furnace

Ralph A. Multer was an "A class" truck driver for the Timken Roller Bearing Company of Canton, Ohio in the summer of 1947 when on a hot day in August or September he and two other drivers were asked to go to a nearby railroad yard, pick up three trucks and bring the loads back to the plant. He was planning to meet his young wife - they had been married the previous year - for lunch. He was on a four hour shift and hoped he wouldn't be late. Upon his arrival at the rail yard, Ralph and the other drivers were given three flatbed trucks to drive back to the plant. The trailer on each truck had a load covered with a canvas tarpaulin. The load on Ralph's truck was the largest. It covered the entire width of the trailer and part of its length. The convoy was escorted by officials, but Ralph never said who these escorts were.

When they arrived back at the plant they were met by several men who identified themselves as FBI. Being curious, Ralph asked what the loads were. The agent replied that they were parts of a "flying saucer" that had been recovered in New Mexico and that the new Timken furnace was going to be used to try and melt down the material. As his wife remembers the story, he was further told not to discuss the matter with anyone. Ralph had a security clearance as part of his job, so this revelation was being made within that context. The agent climbed up and pulled the tarp back to partially expose the load. From what Ralph could see, it was a "brushed aluminum" colored metallic object that appeared to have been blackened in places as if someone had tried to use a torch to cut off pieces of it. He did not see the loads on the other trucks.

When Ralph met his wife for lunch he was late. At first he didn't tell her why he had been late. However, after some prodding on her part and a promise not to talk to anyone about it, Ralph finally told her what had happened. A week or two later he ran into two of the furnace operators during the lunch period and he asked them what had happened with the material. They replied that the furnace "couldn't touch it." They couldn't break it or melt it. He never did learn what happened to the material after that. However, word got around the plant about the "flying saucer" and people were joking about it.

In the years that followed, Ralph's wife noticed that the experience had changed him; she said, without elaboration, that the experience "never left his mind from then on." She always believed his story, noting, "He had no reason to make it up." Ralph passed away a number of years ago.

The "I Beams"

Timken wasn't the only Ohio company to be connected to government sponsored UFO research. Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio was a major contractor to the U.S. Air Force's Project Blue Book. Battelle's involvement with Blue Book is well established, but that work may not have been the most interesting UFO related work to be undertaken at the world's largest private research and development organization.

Decoding the I-Beams

In May of 1992 one of us was approached by an informant who told an intriguing story. For the record, he was not a Battelle employee. He had attended North High School in Columbus, Ohio, graduating in June of 1960. Between January and April of 1958, he dated a classmate named Cathy Center. One evening while he was visiting her home, Cathy's father, Mr. Elroy John Center, told them that while working at Battelle (he had left their employment in 1957) he was responsible for a project which required him to study "parts" retrieved from a flying saucer. The parts had some sort of writing on them and his job was to "find out what the characters meant." He told them that there was "lots more I can't go into. It's been bothering me since I saw it." Given that some of the material (actually described as small "I beams") retrieved from the pre-crash debris field near Roswell, New Mexico in July, 1947 has been described as having some sort of writing on it, the obvious question is did the "parts" Mr. Center study come from the same crash event? The fact that Mr. Center's story was told long before the details of the Roswell debris were known publically, the possible confirmation of his story by the later descriptions of that debris cannot be @_californio Best case scenario (hey it's a dream) a bipartisan group of leaders like Barack Obama, George W. Bush, foreign leaders, etc., to come together and disclose:

1. what they know
2. what the next steps need to be
3. why the UFO issues ties to other key issues facing humanity

2020-10-19T20:46:55+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318292566081634304
@Deepneuron @PostDisclosure This is why continual public awareness is important because the sooner people realize this issue may be tied to issues currently viewed as more important (foreign wars, defense spending, climate change), the better we'll be.

Solving UFO disclosure could fix multiple issues

2020-10-19T20:45:44+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318292271662587904
@Deepneuron @PostDisclosure Like that Exxon 1980s climate change forecast, but worse.

Imagine an internal document projecting what UFO disclosure would do to their business.

Not to mention defense contractors that benefit from US needing military control in oil producing reasons.

2020-10-19T20:43:32+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318291715338489858
Doing OK on #1 right now.

#2 requires much more thought.

But there has to be a way to structure "disclosure" in a way that alleviates national security concerns but still allows for an exploration of the technology and its civilian uses.

2020-10-19T20:42:24+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318291433099563010
Since some of you have asked...the two reasons we started this channel are:

1. Reduce the stigma around the UFO topic by presenting it fairly and reasonably.

2. Galvanize public action to demand military disclosure of UFO technology for civilian (energy) use.

2020-10-19T20:38:24+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318290425535467520
@Deepneuron @PostDisclosure However, arguable if #2 happens.

And as for #1, can't we give some of the tech to energy companies to work on, even if it requires SAP, to create new tech to replace fossil fuels?

2020-10-19T20:37:49+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1318290276373336065
@Deepneuron @PostDisclosure Could see it being framed as:

1. Cover-up tries to prevent foreign militaries and rogue states from getting off world tech.

2. Cover-up prevents mass panic and economic collapse due to religious implications.

@benjimaan22 @ufobelievers @DavidMarceau @Deepneuron I see two explanations:

1. The move was intentional as a result of UFO hoax channels gaining millions of views between 2010-17.

2. It was unintentional and UFOs got accidentally wrapped up in a broader effort to stop recommending what someone there deemed 'conspiracy' content.

@benjimaan22 @ufobelievers @DavidMarceau @Deepneuron My theory is UFOs 1-2 years ago got tagged as borderline content in English and are now throttled.

I.e., the topic is put alongside other controversial topics and locked in a virtual box that only people subscribed are recommended.

terrestrial craft which can approach the speed of UFOs is the American Aurora, based in Nevada. When I questioned him further about this, he hemmed and hawed and backtracked, saying his information was solely from speculative articles in the popular press.

THREAD 3--THE SECRET UFO STUDY

Both Avramenko and Colonel Sokolov told us that military studies of UFOs are still underway in Russia. With their help, we located the civilian official who coordinates the current MOD UFO effort. He spoke to us on the condition that we not reveal his name, and I am keeping that promise even though this man's name has been mentioned in articles about Russian ufology published in other countries. We met with him several times while in Moscow and he confirmed that the Russian military is still studying UFOs in hopes of incorporating the information into weapons programs. The existence of this study was further confirmed when we obtained several dozen pages of still-classified documents and managed to get those out of the country.

Of all the material we brought back from Russia, nothing was more impressive or potentially significant than these explosive pages. According to the documents and our witness, official Russian interest in UFOs is focused in the MOD study, code named Thread 3.

These documents make it clear that the Russian military is very serious about UFOs, that it monitors UFO developments and issues on a worldwide basis, that it is intent on figuring out how UFOs work and how such technology can be exploited. The Russians are fully aware that a large percentage of UFO sightings are actually misidentifications of explainable phenomena but they recognize that many sightings are not easily explainable, and may very well be, quote, "flying objects of strangers from other planets or newcomers from parallel worlds."

The bottom line purpose of Thread 3, as described on one page of the documents is "to conduct widerange investigations in order to find out new principles of non-traditional propelling agents and accompanying fields" consistent with descriptions from UFO eyewitnesses.

The documents outline a fairly specific timetable for this study, to be concluded in 1995. Also included is a detailed history of UFO studies in the USSR. This history notes that the study of UFOs was severely hindered beginning in 1953 when Radio Moscow launched an officially sanctioned condemnation of such research by dismissing the UFO topic as "an invention of American imperialists, a stupid tale for stirring up war, for intimidating the taxpayers and the Congress in order to confirm an excessively high (defense) budget." In the early 50's, and many times during the next decades, the Russian government would express the opinion that the U.S. military was perpetuating the UFO story in order to jack up the American defense budget, a strategy which does not seem all that farfetched considering what we now know about Pentagon subterfuge.

Among the other highlights from the Thread 3 documents:

1) A detailed account of the Roswell crash and the creation of MJ-12. Some of the Russian information appears to have come from books or articles published in the American press. At one point in this section, the documents even quote UFO author Leonard Stringfield. But some information seems to have come from their own sources. According to the Thread 3 documents, a secret project code name Malice was created in December 1947 to act as a link between MJ 12 and Project Sign, the official military study of UFOs. It is not clear in the documents whether the Russians believe there really was, or is, and MJ 12, or whether they are merely parroting information gleaned from public sources here in the U.S.

2) The documents cite a second UFO crash near the Texas-Mexico border in November 1950. Materials collected from the crash site were transported to Sandia in New Mexico. In order to avoid public panic and to allow time for a technological study of the situation, U.S. officials clamped a lid of secrecy on the UFO matter.

3) One section of Thread 3 refers to contactees, (and it won't make Western contactees very happy). In the opinion of the writer, the people who are chosen for contact by the 'UFOnauts" are selected for their 'low intellect and illiteracy' because such persons are unable "to present in a clear, convincing form the meaning of this contact.' In other words, the aliens choose to contact people who are too dumb to convince anyone else that such contact really happened.

4) Thread 3 contains a fairly detailed history of the U.S. government efforts to maintain a UFO coverup. It lists several specific examples in which UFO incidents were hushed up. It lists the titles and dates of official orders concerning UFO secrecy. It notes that U.S. intelligence agencies went to great lengths to find out what Russian agencies might know about UFOs.

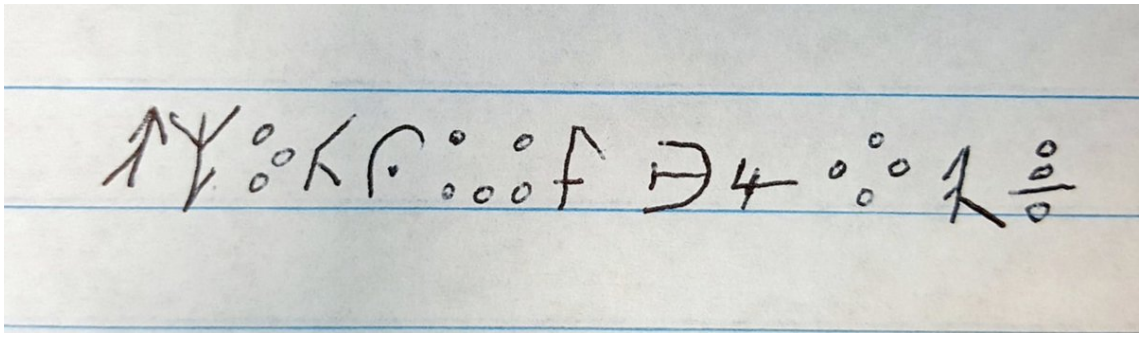

5) Thread 3 contains detailed references to encounters with UFOs in the air and in space, involving Russians and Americans. "The descriptions of all cases of collisions between aircraft and UFOs could make a collection of many volumes,' the report states.

COSMONAUTS AND ASTRONAUTS

As for cosmonaut encounters, they may have begun with the first Russian in space, Yuri Gagarin. Gagarin is quoted in Thread 3 as saying that "UFOs are real, fly at incredible speeds, and that he would be willing to say more if given permission to do so." Some Russian ufologists are convinced that Gagarin died while chasing a UFO in a MIG 15. Eyewitnesses say they watched the aerial encounter but no official conclusions were mentioned.

THREAD 3--THE SECRET UFO STUDY

Both Avramenko and Colonel Sokolov told us that military studies of UFOs are still underway in Russia. With their help, we located the civilian official who coordinates the current MOD UFO effort. He spoke to us on the condition that we not reveal his name, and I am keeping that promise even though this man's name has been mentioned in articles about Russian ufology published in other countries. We met with him several times while in Moscow and he confirmed that the Russian military is still studying UFOs in hopes of incorporating the information into weapons programs. The existence of this study was further confirmed when we obtained several dozen pages of still-classified documents and managed to get those out of the country.

Of all the material we brought back from Russia, nothing was more impressive or potentially significant than these explosive pages. According to the documents and our witness, official Russian interest in UFOs is focused in the MOD study, code named Thread 3.

These documents make it clear that the Russian military is very serious about UFOs, that it monitors UFO developments and issues on a worldwide basis, that it is intent on figuring out how UFOs work and how such technology can be exploited. The Russians are fully aware that a large percentage of UFO sightings are actually misidentifications of explainable phenomena but they recognize that many sightings are not easily explainable, and may very well be, quote, "flying objects of strangers from other planets or newcomers from parallel worlds."

The bottom line purpose of Thread 3, as described on one page of the documents is "to conduct widerange investigations in order to find out new principles of non-traditional propelling agents and accompanying fields" consistent with descriptions from UFO eyewitnesses.

The documents outline a fairly specific timetable for this study, to be concluded in 1995. Also included is a detailed history of UFO studies in the USSR. This history notes that the study of UFOs was severely hindered beginning in 1953 when Radio Moscow launched an officially sanctioned condemnation of such research by dismissing the UFO topic as "an invention of American imperialists, a stupid tale for stirring up war, for intimidating the taxpayers and the Congress in order to confirm an excessively high (defense) budget." In the early 50's, and many times during the next decades, the Russian government would express the opinion that the U.S. military was perpetuating the UFO story in order to jack up the American defense budget, a strategy which does not seem all that farfetched considering what we now know about Pentagon subterfuge.

Filmmakers need to go to school off @jamescfox here, because what he did was subtle, but absolutely gives more credibility to cases.

Don't overlay cheesy music or overdramatize sighting recreations. The sighting does that itself!

It's the little things about @PhenomenonMovie that are really good.

Such as this scene with the 1955 B-25 disc sighting.

There is an orchestral track when the witness describes it, but the music fades out during the re-enactment, leaving just you (the viewer) and the disc.

Does hiding it also cripple industry's ability to find alternatives to fossil fuels? Also yes.

So there are reasons we'd want that tech public.

If I were to tell you that Democracy itself was at stake if this secret is not kept would you keep it? If Millions of lives were saved and it freed even more people from dictatorial rule would you keep it? That's what gravitational field propulsion means to the United States Gov

How did freeing people from dictators go in the east?

Because if the United States spreads democracy to Russia and China than those enslaved by communism or tutorial rule if you prefer will be freed from that ideology.

Did Davis give him vocal confirmation of the meeting via NIDS? Was there corroborating documents in NIDS archives?

@ProfX96172616 @devgru1980mi @blackvaultcom @Deepneuron @LtTimMcMillan @KikPlenty @OmniTalkRadio It may depend on how one defines disclosure.

But.... I've always imagined it as when every newspaper outlet covers it like sports, or politics.

Just a regular, consistent topic.

And that happens once the field starts agreeing on facts, and presents information more clearly.

I'm stating balanced journalism is the only way to advance UFOs into mainstream.

@tlathtoani @randolphmorley @UfoJoe11 @PostDisclosure @TheProjectUnity @ddeanjohnson Right. I'm not saying both the notes and Lazar cannot be true. All I meant by this is I was under the impression we were using Davis's high character as a reason to back the notes.

@UfoJoe11 Of course, but doesn't the legitimacy of the notes at least somewhat hinge on Davis's credibility?

Which I believe he is credible, especially given what Lue said.

To accept Lazar's story, are we just going with the conclusion that Davis is drastically wrong about this?

Eric Davis: "As if Lazar's verifiably false claims deserve a public stage. It was impossible for Lazar to do Ph.D. level work at LANL because he only had a high school education with a C average grade, thus he had no education or training to be a scientist. He did not take high school physics. His job was radiation health monitor which did not require security clearances so he did not get access to Area-51 since his workstation was at the off-site logistics support facility which is unclassified. He's also a convicted felon in the state of Nevada.

"In civil society having been charged with and convicted of a felony crime in a court of law by one's peers directly impugns one's credibility, truthfulness, and obedience to the law. These three items go to the heart of why some people fail to earn security clearances. Lazar never had security clearances to begin with because his EG&G job at the unclassified, physically disconnected Area-51 logistics support facility didn't require security clearances."

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EjwRwYYWoAEQeF2.jpg

> Eric Davis: “Nobody can put a particle accelerator in their home unless the house or their entire property is dozens of square miles in size.
> “Element 115 first got synthesized by the Russians in 2003 and was internationally labeled and recognized as element 115 named Muscovium in Dec. 2015. Muscovium’s four isotopes have a half life ranging from 37 milliseconds to 650 milliseconds. So it is impossible for Lazar to have any Muscovite isotope in his house nor the gigantic particle accelerators that produced it via the collisions of other large atoms.
>
> “Also, a Roadrunner (who ran programs at Area-51 for Los Alamos) told me that he knew Lazar’s female supervisor at Area-51 and had her pull up his personnel file. Lazar worked as a radiation health monitor in the unsecured logistics contractor facility outside of Area-51, so he was never inside that site, and he never held security clearances because he didn’t need them to work in an unclassified area. Lazar made up his entire cockamamie story about the UFO that he saw in a building inside Area-51. He was never exposed to any classified information, facilities, or programs in his work area.”

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EjwRwZwWAAAyMVj.png

> Joe Murgia: “Well, you might want to see the documentary first before making such a judgment, Eric. Unless maybe you’ve seen a rough cut of the film? George Knapp has spoken about how some witnesses he tried to speak to about Lazar were harassed and in some cases, threatened. That in itself tells me Bob had something to say that certain people didn’t want corroborated.
> “This (transcript of an excerpt from C2C) alone makes me want to see a doc about Bob. Back when ‘C2C was a must listen. Now that’s only when GK hosts.”

@JackDor56212808 @wow36932525 Well, I think it depends on how backed into a corner Iran, Russia, China or NK feel.

And a few of these reports suggest the right Super EMP from Russian subs could eliminate US retaliatory strike capability, which seems unbelievable considering assets in Europe/NATO.

@JackDor56212808 @wow36932525 And the issue here too is anonymity. An EMP launched from a freighter in the Gulf would have no signature.

If it's from a polar orbiting satellite then we may have a better idea.

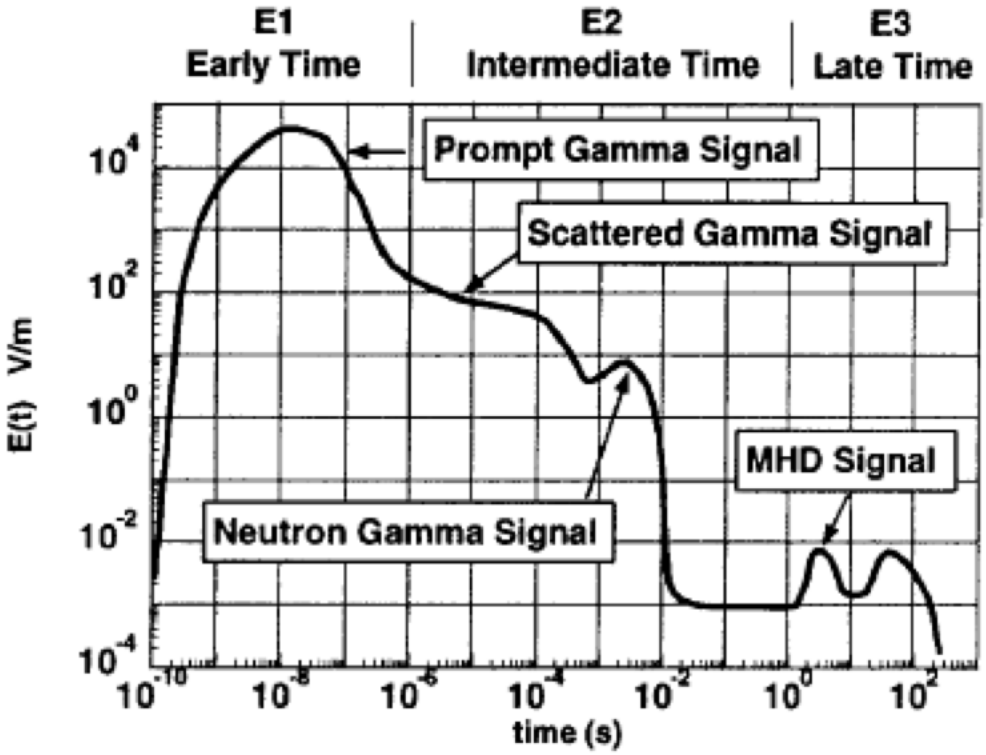

One issue these reports worry about is the lack of deterrence due to anonymity.

@foiaboi I have seen mixed research on immediate transportation failure. The bulk of the docs seem to suggest the biggest issues planes would have is loss of radar/flight awareness. Autos also likely wouldn't short out.

But power loss, and most importantly water loss are the issues.

@foiaboi What's interesting I've found is an EMP weapon actually has two additional phases, E1 and E2 seen here. In E3 it has most in common with solar flares.

E1 and E2 affect power lines and telecoms more than E3. E3 is mostly transformers.

@wow36932525 What's wild about super EMPs is the US doesn't have the ability to defend against it, we stopped hardening assets for this in the Cold War. One of those long tail risks (not unlike a pandemic)

@randolphmorley The concerning stuff is what's been recently determined by DHS/intel. The US fell behind after the Cold War, but there was a stress test of the US power grid by unknown actors a few years ago.

I found some absurdly terrifying declassified documents that honestly I don't know why we don't talk about more.

It doesn't have to do with UFOs, but if this happens, disclosure will be the least of our worries.

@Spacecowboy781 @ChristopherKMe4 Ridicule has come from more than just a few.

It's been endemic for almost a century, and is still a stigmatized subject.

Several new projects that buck this trend, but the UFO subject still faces a ton of issues with how it presents itself.

Long Prairie, Minnesota
23 October 1965

WEIRD SIGHTING OF SIX-INCH-TALL CREATURES IN MINNESOTA: At about 7:15 on October 23rd, a 19-year-old radio announcer from Long Prairie, Minnesota, was driving along a country road near his home town when he saw an upright, rocket-shaped object straddling the road. It was 30 to 40 feet high and about 10 feet in diameter, and seemed to be resting on legs or fins.

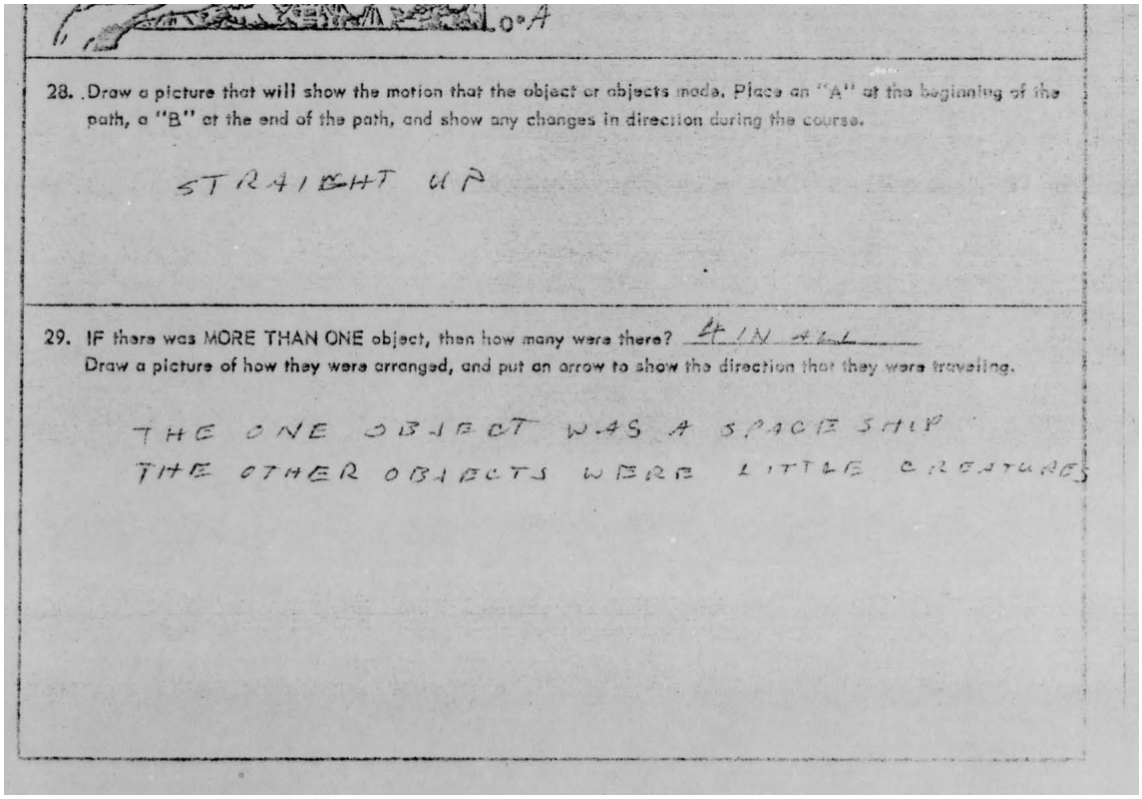

The announcer, named James Townsend, stated: "My car engine, lights, and radio went out as I slammed on the breaks. I stopped about 20 feet in front of it. My first thought was to knock it over with the car so I could have some evidence, but the engine was dead. Then I got out with the idea of trying to push it over by hand. When I got to the front of my car, three creatures came out from behind the rocket. They looked like individual tin cans on tripods, and were about six inches tall. They didn't have eyes, but I knew they were looking at me. I stopped. I didn't have any desire to get closer. There was no sound - just dead silence.

"It seemed like ages that we looked at each other. Then they went up into the rocket, which had a bright colorless light glowing out of the bottom. There was a loud hum. The craft went up and disappeared from view. As soon as the light on the bottom of the rocket went out, after the thing was in the air, my car radio and lights went on, and my engine started without my having to touch the starter."

Townsend was terrified, and drove back to Long Prairie at 90 miles an hour. He reported the sighting to the local sheriff, who returned to the spot with him but found no physical evidence of the landing, except for three strips of an oil-like substance on the road. Each strip was about a yard long and four inches apart. The sheriff told the press that Townsend is known to be a reliable and level-headed man, and he believes that he told the truth.

Three youths who had been hunting coons in the same area reported seeing a strange light in the sky at the same time Townsend said the object took off. (St. Paul Pioneer Press, 10/25/65; Minneapolis Starr, 10/25/65.)

Branch Evaluation, Plan & Recommendation

Allegation Number: RIV-2010-A-0101

Concern: 1.
		*RX Code or Functional Area:	Security
Responsible Branch:	PSB 1	*Discipline:	Security
*OI Investigation Priority:		OI Case Number:	4-20XX-0XX
*OI Priority Basis:

Concern: (A concern is one or two sentences.)

Sometime between 1986 and 1989, an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) violated the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station and was not reported to the NRC as required.

Concern Background, Supporting Information, & Comments:

The CI described an event that occurred during his employment as a security officer at Cooper Nuclear Station. He was employed there from 1986 through 1989 and did not remember specifically when during that time the event occurred.

While posted at the intake structure one night, he observed an "unidentified flying object" fly down the Missouri River about 150 feet in the air and hover in front of the intake. He observed it for a few moments and then contacted a fellow security officer who also observed it (he could not recall the individual's name exactly but his first name was (b) and his last name was either (b)(7)(C). After they together observed the UFO, it turned and went back up the river and did not come back that shift. He and the other officer shared their observation with their peers who did not believe them.

The next evening he again was posted at the intake and observed the UFO return again. This time he didn't call anyone until the UFO had traversed into the protected area and hovered above the protected area just north of the Reactor Building. He said it was roughly triangular in shape with a circle of rotating lights on the bottom. He could not hear any propulsion noise from the UFO. He believes that it was roughly 1/3 the size of the Reactor Building. Once the UFO hovered in the protected area, he called the security break room and most of the officers on shift observed the UFO. These individuals included (b)(7)(C) and (b)(7)(C) (both of whom were security officers), all of whom still work at the plant today. After hovering there for a few minutes, the UFO exited the protected are and returned back up the river to the north as it had the previous night. The CI said that he never saw the UFO at the plant again after that evening.

The CI believes that this incident should have been reported as a violation of the protected area space but was not reported.

6/23/10 UPDATE: The SRI at Cooper conducted a search of the corrective action program between 1/1/1986 – 12/31/1989 using the words: "ufo", "flying", "unidentified", "protected area", and "hover". The search yielded no entries associated with this concern.

Regulatory Requirement: (fill in below)

No security violation. Possible reportability issue 10 CFR 73, Appendix G, I.(a)(3)(b).

*Safety Significance:		HIGH		Normal	X	N/A

Basis: Describe the concern's safety significance (current, on going issue; level of individual(s) involved; etc.).

Past event that has no impact of current safety or security of the station.

Check each question as applicable to this concern.

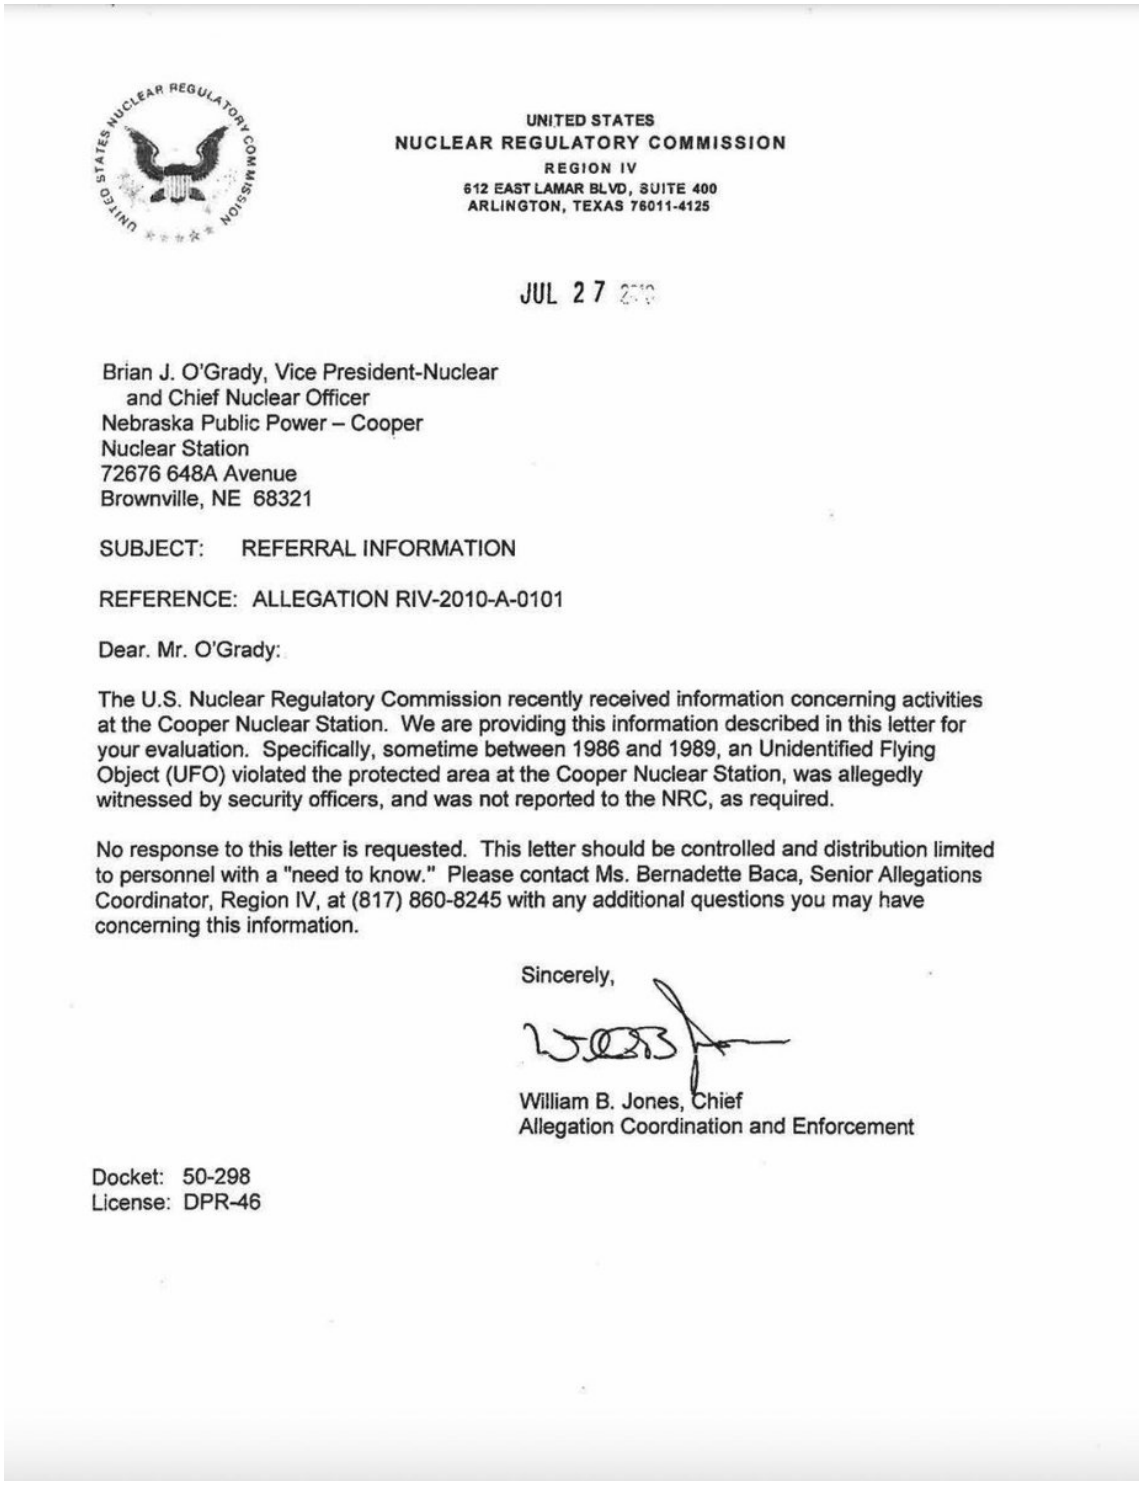

X	Is it a declaration, statement, or assertion of impropriety or inadequacy? Is there a potential deficiency?
X	Is the impropriety or inadequacy associated with NRC regulated activities or policy (e.g. SCWE)?
X	Is the validity of the issue unknown?

If all of the above statements are checked, the issue is an allegation.

UNITED STATES
NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION REGION IV
612 EAST LAMAR BLVD, SUITE 400
ARLINGTON, TEXAS 76011-4125

JUL 27 2010

Brian J. O'Grady, Vice President-Nuclear and Chief Nuclear Officer
Nebraska Public Power – Cooper
Nuclear Station
72676 648A Avenue
Brownville, NE 68321

SUBJECT: REFERRAL INFORMATION

REFERENCE: ALLEGATION RIV-2010-A-0101

Dear. Mr. O'Grady:

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission recently received information concerning activities at the Cooper Nuclear Station. We are providing this information described in this letter for your evaluation. Specifically, sometime between 1986 and 1989, an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) violated the protected area at the Cooper Nuclear Station, was allegedly witnessed by security officers, and was not reported to the NRC, as required.

No response to this letter is requested. This letter should be controlled and distribution limited to personnel with a "need to know." Please contact Ms. Bernadette Baca, Senior Allegations Coordinator, Region IV, at (817) 860-8245 with any additional questions you may have concerning this information.

Sincerely,

William B. Jones, Chief
Allegation Coordination and Enforcement

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION, Plaintiff, -against- JOHN DAVID MCAFEE and JIMMY GALE WATSON, JR., Defendants.	COMPLAINT 20 Civ. 8281 ECF CASE JURY TRIAL REQUESTED

Plaintiff Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission"), for its Complaint against Defendants John David McAfee ("McAfee") and Jimmy Gale Watson, Jr. ("Watson") (collectively, "Defendants"), alleges as follows:

SUMMARY

1. McAfee is a businessman and computer programmer with hundreds of thousands of Twitter followers. From at least November 2017 through February 2018, McAfee leveraged his fame

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EjI3apiWAAk8reI.png

26. McAfee's extravagant posts (such as tweeting predictions about BTC price increases and promising to "eat my dk on national television" if such predictions did not pan out) and interviews about his BTC predictions generated an enormous amount of publicity, especially among the digital asset community. From June 2017—just before McAfee's first BTC price prediction—to December 2017, McAfee went from roughly 62,000 followers to more than 500,000 on Twitter. His $1,000,000 BTC price prediction garnered more than 12,000 "Likes" and 8,000 "Retweets."

November 15, 1995

TO: Paramount Pictures

FROM: Dr. F.J. Mansmann

Dear Mr. Collier,

Responding to your Fed Ex letter of November 14, 1995 regarding the validity of the January 1989 MUFON Journal story by Dr. Robert Jacobs, it is all true as presented. And yes, I have also responded to other researchers in the past, but only after Dr. Jacobs released the details of these sightings negating my secrecy bond.

By the time of this missile launch; I was a trained officer in Aerial Observation and a Combat Radar Navigator in World War II, a Director of Operations for the Ground Observer Corps during the Korean and Cold War conflicts, a trained Aerial Reconnaissance Officer (Ferret) and photo interpreter for clandestine operations for three years during the Berlin Airlifts and did the same work in three tours of Vietnam. As a civilian, I had 20 years experience working with newsreels and commercial and major motion picture studios.

The Image Orthicon camera system we used in capturing this Unidentified Flying Object on film had the capacity to photograph the "nuts and bolts" of the missile launch and its super sonic flight. Dr. Jacobs has all the details on the camera including the information on why we needed to be 70 miles away just to be in focus.

In retrospect, I now regret not being able to evaluate the film for more than 3 showings. The only people in attendance of the viewing were: the Director of the Office of the Chief Scientist and his assistant, two Government Agents, Lieutenant Jacobs and myself. The two Government Agents confiscated the film and placed it in a brief case and departed after I had checked their authorization to leave with the film. I was instructed later by the office of the Chief Scientist, the Judge Advocate Generals office and my Commanding Officer to consider the incident top secret.

I am writing to confirm Dr. Jacobs account as he had described it in the January 1989 MUFON Journal. Since the information has already been made public, I have no opposition to using my name and rank in your report.

Respectfully,

F.J. Mansmann Sc.D.

@JeremyUnidenti1 @mesolithicguy @ExploreSCU (4) It probably has to do with the cover-up.

UFOs have been stigmatized for so long people begin to not trust any established institution about them, and it even stretches to not trusting scientific, but more boring, approaches to the topic.

2020-10-04T20:12:21+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1312848051397107712

@JeremyUnidenti1 @mesolithicguy (3) For example, why isn't @ExploreSCU the most well known UFO research group?

They're the most grounded, right?

Why is their reader/viewership 1/100th the size of sensational researchers who play it fast and loose with facts?

The attention is backwards.

2020-10-04T20:10:45+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1312847650191028229

@JeremyUnidenti1 @mesolithicguy (2) Then imagine if attention from people interested in biology started gravitating toward them because they were flashy, and began ignoring peer reviewed research or more grounded takes because they were less exciting.

That's what has happened, and is happening in ufology.

2020-10-04T20:09:41+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1312847378458779655

@JeremyUnidenti1 @mesolithicguy (1) Imagine if some of the most well-known biologists all of a sudden started sharing flashy, hard to prove theories about how humans are really [insert speculation here].

2020-10-04T20:07:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1312846847111725061

@mesolithicguy 4. Failure by many within the UFO community to understand how prevalent disinformation has been, and how it is likely on going today.

5. A lack of attention to detail when sourcing events/theories/sightings, and understanding how to grade the legitimacy of those sources.

2020-10-04T20:04:44+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1312846132696043522
@mesolithicguy Ufology has many problems.

1. Failing to hold content creators to the high standards readers/viewers in science communities have.

2. Some 'experts' not knowing a difference between what they believe versus what can be journalistically proven.

3. And of course, disinformation.

@sj3wufofish It's a fair point to consider just waiting. Disinformation is designed to make you run in circles, which is what it's done with anyone looking into MJ12.

The Wilson notes are so fascinating because if confirmed, particularly by Wilson, it may spark true disclosure.

@Silasp2001 Perry's hedge in his comment is interesting.

It could be nothing. And simple honesty.

Or it could be a hint. All in all the goal is just to keep crossing off sources and move to other things. So for me that would be getting anyone else mentioned on the record and NIDS archive Honest to god, I am 50/50 at this point.

I think each side makes a compelling argument which is why I think we gotta keep getting sources to talk or hunt NIDS archives for corroborating info. #ufotwitter @randolphmorley @MusicAndTruth The thing is, Mitchell spoke on his own about Wilson too. He seemingly believed his search for the program happened.

If all Mitchell saw was a document, though, I'm not sure how that gets us any closer to the truth unfortunately.

@randolphmorley @MusicAndTruth I think there is a third alternative here besides:

1. It's real
2. It's fake

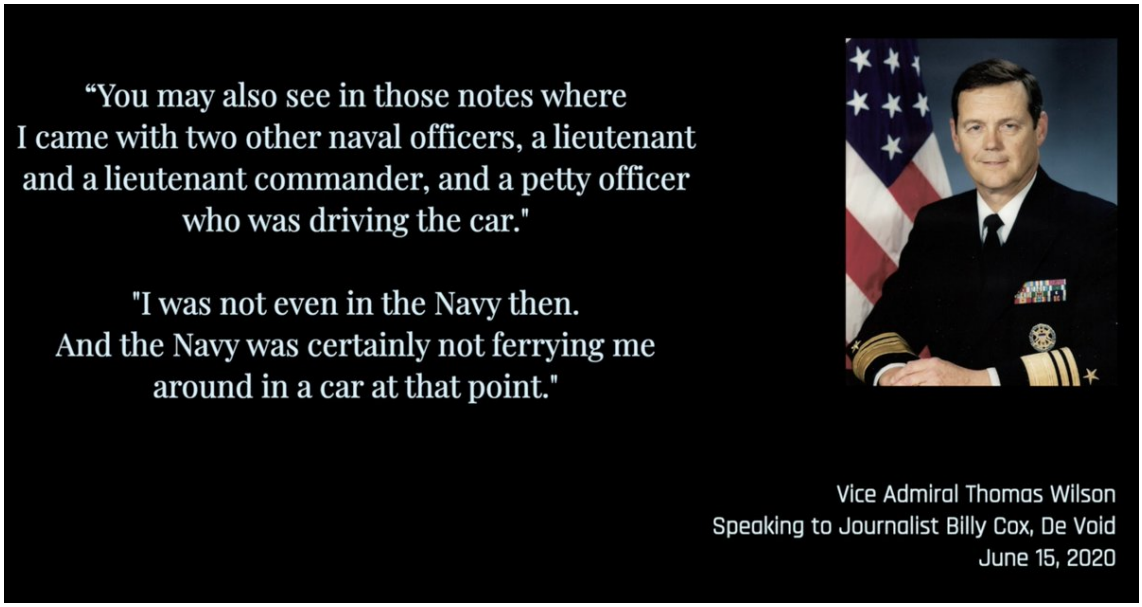

3. It's fake but a similar program exists and this was disinformation.

What happened next is up for debate.

Did Wilson brush it off and not go looking? Or did he really find it interesting and go looking? Wilson says he didn't, the others say he did @LtTimMcMillan @Berlinghoff_R @TheProjectUnity @UfoJoe11 @blackvaultcom Yep. Good point.. Also, Tim, what do you make of Mellon telling you he looked for the program too?

Was this because he had already heard rumors of Wilson looking for it from Greer, etc? Or was it just Mellon's general curiosity?

2020-10-03T19:30:02+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1312475012171923456
@TheProjectUnity (3) but knowing what we do about the MJ12 clusterfuck, Doty, Bennewitz, Tim Cooper, Salina, and SONM-101, etc.

We have to always keep it open that disinfo was the source of the notes.

And Eric/Puthoff simply can't clarify that because to do so they may be breaking an oath.

2020-10-03T19:29:00+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1312474754197016576
@TheProjectUnity (2) alternative theory: this was disinfo targeted at NIDS.

2020-10-03T19:27:47+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1312474446318374912
@TheProjectUnity I'm probably honestly 50/50 on them...so playing devil's advocate to the scenario they are real, the fake scenario would go like this:

Who wrote them: someone targeting Mitchell for disinfo

Why: they knew he was looking into UFOs because he/Greer/Miller met w/ Wilson.

2020-10-03T19:23:13+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1312473297703952385

@TheProjectUnity Consider how the 1980s Acquarius stuff was made. If I recall correctly, Doty later said he/AFOSI included some real info in the hoaxed documents to properly confuse Bennewitz.

Just saying there's a huge range of possibilities here.

@pugh_jonathan I agree. A few weird timelines...

1. Wilson was already retired by time of meeting in 2002. He says he wouldn't have been escorted by officers.

2. Perry was retired for four months before document claims Wilson "ran into" him. Perry had moved to San Francisco.

@sj3wufofish the caveats are interesting. But ultimately we may just be reading in to them too much.

I think probably the most important thing about this is it calls into question if Wilson really could've run into Kaminski and Perry after their retirement. Especially Perry.

If real, these notes would confirm a UFO reverse engineering program is real and outside of govt oversight.

Now we have the HIGHEST ranking DOD official from that time (who is mentioned in notes) on record.

Former Secretary of Defense William Perry has commented on the alleged Wilson notes.

Perry is mentioned on p7 as having met with the VADM about an unacknowledged special access program reverse engineering UFOs.

He read them and told us this.

@UFOS8N @WeAreN0T_Alone What sucks is bad YT channels is one reason the algorithm is so fucked when it comes to content now.

It was all tagged as borderline content two years ago and now nothing can get through. It doesnâ□□t know how to distinguish between rational analysis and crap.

2020-09-30T22:57:29+00:00

@WeAreN0T_Alone @UFOS8N And I donâ□□t consider #ufotwitter mainstream. Iâ□□m talking the audiences of bigger personalities. You can guess who.

Theyâ□□ll eat up hoaxes and disinformation all day. And because itâ□□s more â□□excitingâ□□ than factual info theyâ□□ll overlook actual journalists.

2020-09-30T22:56:18+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1311439757965250560

@WeAreN0T_Alone @UFOS8N An issue is mainstream people interested in UFOs DO NOT hold content creators to the same standards science-focused viewers do.

If they did weâ□□d be at a different spot.

Itâ□□s not good when a channel like itâ□□s redacted, simply following basic journalistic standards, is an anomaly @WeAreN0T_Alone @UFOS8N Further thereâ□□s a ton of junk in books too. Itâ□□s the entire field that has suffered from misleading garbage.

Just look at what gets upvoted more often in r/UFOs and other mainstream subreddits. I can submit accurate, credible takes on minutia all day, but it gets less traction

Yes, some of the creators have sucked. Especially the hoax channels that are now not taken seriously.

But YT is a platform, it is what you make of it. Thereâ□□s just as much bad content on Amazon, Netflix of? Are the Russians thinking the same thing about the United States?

DAVID O'LEARY

PROJECT BLUE BOOK

"So that provided another outlet for us that would make the show feel more Three-Dimensional within 1950s America, that there would be an interest from our enemies, from other global superpowers about what was really going on here and would allow us to always kind of cloak it in. And this was true of the UFOs at the time. Even now with the Nimitz and the TicTacs it's like, are we seeing top secret drone technology from China or Russia that we don't understand? Or are we seeing something otherworldly?

"So that became the thought process, taking a little bit of liberty with the facts, and thinking about it through the lens of Blue Book and looking into the nature of this phenomenon. So no matter what the answer would be there, whether it be Russian or otherwise, I think the Russians would have a deep interest in that. And that became the genesis of building up the Susie character; who would she target and how would you try to infiltrate the Hynek home and all that? I thought that would be an interesting element to explore, to become friends with Hynek's wife. So amidst this sort of family drama, there's all these different things dancing in synergy with one another."

SOYM: When the show was first announced, people interested in UFOs were really excited and were thinking that maybe they'll get a little bit more information about some of these well known cases. As you mentioned some liberties had to be taken in the name of entertainment, did you get much blowback from that?

DO: "Yeah (laughs). We definitely did and you know, that was really hard for me at first. I'm by no means a UFO historian, but I am somebody who tries to sift through what's real and what's not real to kind of understand what's really going on with regards to the phenomena. It hurt, but I understood I knew that that there was going to be some expectations There's a certain level of purists who are going to criticize the show and not enjoy it because it does take these dramatic liberties. That was what we what we tried to always be clear with our audience. This is not a documentary. This is a show rooted in historical fact that takes plenty of liberties. And we always tried to draw a clear line in the sand with that. I always tried to hope that they would meet us on our own terms and realize, we're trying to create this entertaining television series that's like a UFO conspiracy show in the 1950s, rooted in real life cases, that hopefully evokes and promotes research and questioning and doing your own digging.

"Once we landed with History Channel, I pitched that we should do a 'to learn more about the real-life case that inspired this week's episode tune in after the show' kind of thing. So after the credits, there would be sort of like a two minute, little documentary piece - hosted by UFO historian Richard Dolan - that would give you the real life facts about the case in question. I also live-tweeted the show every episode for the 20 episodes that we ran and I would always try to fill that with information about the books we looked at, articles on the subject, we took the information from one case and put it somewhere else; things like that and just try to have people understand that the ingredients we were taking were largely real, but we threw them in a blender to tell a compelling narrative."

SOYM: Yeah, we remember being particularly amused by seeing Skinwalker Ranch (S2: 07) being translocated from the desert scrubland of Utah into a forest.

DO: "Part of that honestly came down to the fact that we shoot in Vancouver, and having to do what we could with what we had with locations and things like that. "There is a great website that I think is called Skinwalkerranch.org that kind of lists out every different type of phenomena that is witnessed there. And if you comb through that, you'll see we tried to take a bunch of those things like tremors, orbs of light, the dark creature, all those different things and had a little fun with it, too. You never know how long you will be on the air - obviously, as we've now learned - and we didn't want to get to a certain point with a cool case, where we thought 'do we wait?' or do we kind of cheat history a little bit and let our guys go there? And at the end of the day, we just felt like we were always trying to kind of cover as much ground as we could."

SOYM: The relationship between Hynek and Quinn in the show, the success of that was mainly down to Aidan Gillen and Michael Malarkey, who based on Edward Ruppelt, we assume?

DO: "Yes, but also a composite of a few different directors of Project Blue Book, but Edward Ruppelt for sure. In the initial script, I called everybody by their real names, 'Quinn' was Ruppelt, and eventually we realized that if we're going to take dramatic liberties outside of the Hynek's, and outside of calling it Project Blue Book, we don't want to confuse people that, and so that we understand we're dealing in a bit of historical fiction essentially. But you hit it absolutely on the head, the chemistry between Aidan and Michael, their friendship - both onscreen and offscreen - is what

PROJECT BLUE BOOK: WHO'S WHO (pics©HistoryChannel)

DR. J ALLEN HYNEK

AIDAN GILLEN
(Game Of Thrones; The Wire; Peaky Blinders; Bohemian Rhapsody)

Dr Hynek is appointed to Project Blue Book by General Harding to debunk the reports of flying saucers that are flooding in to the U.S. Air Force offices. As time progresses though he becomes less sceptical.

CAPTAIN MICHAEL QUINN

MICHAEL MALARKEY
(The Vampire Diaries; The Oath)

Captain Quinn is assigned to wqork alongside Dr Hynek on Project Blue Book. A decorated USAF pilot he has an experience of his own in the skies ove Washington. His whereabouts are currently unknown.

MIMI HYNEK

LAURA MENNELL
(Haven; The Man In The High Castle; Van Helsing; Watchmen)

Portrayed mainly as the 'stay-at-home' wife during season one, Mimi's story expands greatly in season two as she joins a UFO group and even assists her husband on the odd case or two.

GENERAL HARDING

NEAL MCDONOUGH
(DC's Legends Of Tomorrow; Van Helsing; Suits; Arrow; Captain America)

General Harding is tasked with making sure Hynek and Quinn doing their job and keep the truth about flyign saucers from the US public. Has a major role in the secret 'black' projects of the US government.

SUSIE MILLER

KSENIA SOLO
(TURN: Washington's Spies; Lost Girl; Orphan Black; Black Swan)

Russian femme-fatale who infiltrates the Hynek household by befriending Mimi and eventually gets close and personal with Capt. Quinn. Her assignment is to discover what the US government knows about UFOs.

GENERAL VALENTINE

MICHAEL HARNEY
(Deadwood; Orange Is The New Black; Weeds; Space Command)

High-ranking US General worked alongside Genral Harding in the founding of Project Blue Book. Takes a somewhat tougher line than Harding in trying to keep government secrets hidden.

@EclecticMethod I appreciate that. In a sea of questionable UFO noise we're trying to add good information to the public knowledge well.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1311374876285046785
@AFSUnidentified What I am saying is it is possible to write a fully accurate, compelling show on the history of UFO investigation in the US.

But it requires the writers to know more about the history than these writers do. And not misrepresent things like the Pentacle Memo, etc.

2020-09-30T18:37:36+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1311374654225997824
@AFSUnidentified I'm mixed on this.

On one hand it does glorify UFO investigation even if it's exaggerated fiction.

On the other hand it's fiction that uses tropes to discuss events like Roswell, Shag Harbour, etc. When the truth is just as impactful, but requires more knowledge to write well.

@NARCAP1 @apicasefiles @UFO_Researchers @SomewhereSkies @RodrigoLVieira1 @humanoidlord I think i've handled what few eyewitness cases I've reported well, including Ybarra. If you have any that want to go public but genuinely dislike UFO media, hit me up.

One issue is viewers start wanting every private detail about the witness's life, including address, etc.

Hint: this was a Boeing 727.

Second hint: this happened south of the equator.

Third hint: hardly anyone talks about this encounter but it's one of the most compelling I've come across, and there are official, declassified records.

@SomewhereSkies Something all UAP researchers can agree on: the pervasive seepage of the defense industry into our democracy is absurd.

If we rerouted just 1/10th of the annual defense budget, it could build something like 3,000 new schools per state last I checked.

@ufobelievers I would add, though, that the actual declassified USSR file has not surfaced. I looked for this a ton and contacted some Russian journalists too.

It was cited in a newspaper article of fair reputability, so it seems reasonable this was a report. But I've never found the PDF.

Specifically, the intelligence portion of the evaluation makes sense.

How can you use an experimental technique to determine DoD behavior in the field if it's wrong half of the time?

But if it's right half of the time, does that not warrant more study?

Here is the final evaluation of RV done for the CIA by a contractor. Conclusions in the images.

Statistically significant effect observed, but the two reviewers were split on if it really represented a paranormal phenomenon.

https://www.cia.gov/library/readingroom/docs/CIA-RDP96-00791R000200180006-4.pdf

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EiSu1PpXgAA-xBu.png

- The experimental research conducted as part of the current program does not unambiguously support the interpretation of the results in terms of a paranormal phenomenon.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EiSuzz1XsAMKuzK.png

- A statistically significant effect has been observed in the recent laboratory experiments of remote viewing.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EiSuy0QX0AEoZFn.png

- Remote viewing, as exemplified by the efforts in the current program, has not been shown to have value in intelligence operations.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EiSu1PpXgAA-xBu.png

- Adequate experimental and theoretical evidence for the existence of remote viewing as a parapsychological phenomenon has not been provided by the research component of current program. A significant change in focus and methods would be necessary to justify additional laboratory research within the current program.

Here is McMoneagle's session. Take it for what you will.

But if we're going to be open minded about UFOs, it's silly to be close minded about RV when a statistically significant effect was determined in the closing report of the CIA in 1995.

2020-09-19T16:47:06+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1307360577921200129
Also: I realize there is a debate over the effectiveness of remote viewing.

And one viewer is just that, one viewer.

But what's lesser known is another, Joseph McMoneagle, also claimed to corroborate a subterranean "base" beneath Mt. Hayes, AK.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1307359874259525632
(14) Could all this just be cherry picking the data? It's possible.

But when we have legitimately unsolved missing persons cases where investigators don't understand what happened, and footprints stop, it's time to get past the stigma of talking about RV or even abductions.

2020-09-19T16:42:02+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1307359304824115200

@LyndaRVA_UAP @canammissing The CIA viewer who claimed this in these files was Mel Riley, so I'm not sure if Swann said that because of Riley's session, or if he also attempted to view it.

Obviously corroboration would be nice.

McMoneagle also viewed Hayes though. Session audio.

In 1986, JAL 1628 air crew saw two unidentified objects that emitted heat into the cabin, and were flanked by a disc-shaped craft. The sightings began 150mi N of the mountain and ended near Talkeetna, 150mi SW of Mount Hayes. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EiSrum6WsAI4FJS.jpg

(9) Thereâ□□s also Tom Fitzgerald, who went missing near Paxson, the closest town to the southern face of Mount Hayes. Police records show he was with a hunting party â□□ they went to sleep, and the following morning, Tom wasnâ□□t at the campsite. His gear was left behind.

(8) His ATV was found several days later, abandoned next to a creek. There was no sign of an animal attack, fight or even struggle â□□ his supplies remained there. Searchers found no footprints leaving the ATV, or in the surrounding woods.

(6) After about a quarter mile, he walked to an abandoned airstrip, and there his footprints stopped.

Search and rescue dogs lost his scent. Reporters later wrote it was â□□as if he had been plucked...and lifted straight into the air.â□□

(5) Police discovered his truck two days later embedded in a snowbank just 15 miles from his house. His keys, driverâ□□s license and $300 in cash were in the car.

Tracks outside show he walked into the woods dragging his right foot, as if it were injured.

Rick got his money, company records show, but on his way home, something strange happened.

There are issues with the remote viewing file. It's possible the viewer was influenced by the monitor and didn't really see anything.

It was later showed that DIA/Army RV sessions were exposed to some poor controls.

MT. HAYES..... there appeared to be two types of entities associated with this site. The two entities located outside of the structure were accomplishing some sort of routine task.... unable to make contact with them or gain information of any sort. Inside the structure were two entities.... one sitting at some sort of circular console with a round screen-like object. The other was busy doing something in the background. The entity at the console appeared to be human in form, but lacked definitive facial features. He seemed friendly enough and invited me to observe his actions at the console.

Did you know a hotspot of strange disappearances centers on an area known as the Alaska Triangle?

And in 1987, a CIA remote viewer claimed to observe a subterranean facility with "entities" beneath the Triangle?

llows from the greater complexity of the oton's structure than that of the electron .g. remarks by B.L. Cohen in Reference 4, p. . Moreover, the iron nucleus is still more mplex than the aluminum nucleus.

o For the proposed experiment, it is likely at the desired effect can be obtained for mperatures much higher than those at which nventional nuclear orientation processes are rformed, due to the wide difference in thermal d virtual state lifetimes for inclusions and trix.

The magnetic fields and frequencies of the cillating fields can be selected as those often ed in dynamic nuclear orientation. For ample, with a fixed magnetic field of 660 oe e can employ a pulsed oscillating field at 3000 z. Pulses of the oscillating field are to last r 2 microseconds with a duty cycle of from 2 to milliseconds. The optimum quantity of iron to embedded in aluminum must be determined by periment; combination of the two metals is ded by the difference in their melting points. nce iron has a higher melting point than alumi- m, iron inclusions can be added to molten uminum which is then stirred to obtain a uni- rm distribution in the specimen.

If, for example, the ratio of iron nuclei to uminum nuclei in one gram of a specimen should about 1 in 10, then (provided the above esti- tes are realistic) of the order of a joule of avitational energy can be removed per duty cle. At the earth's surface, there are 6.3 x 10^4 joules per gram mass of gravitational energy, will be too thin to supply structural strength to the vehicle and will be attached in panels to the underlying structure. Because of the circular cross section, the propulsive force in the atmosphere will be applied in a symmetrical manner relative to this cross section. For example, if a spherical shape is used, a slotted rim rotating about the center of the craft, parallel to the planet's surface, can be used to lift the vehicle. A central jet engine with exhaust openings about the sides of the vehicle can supply horizontal thrust for maneuverability. Figure 2 illustrates a possible configuration.

@JohnELTenney @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem Some of the stuff Amazon recommends has been debunked or is just misleading. Like episodes on the Blue Planet Project or that series on Russia's UFO Files hosted by Roger Moore, which was later shown to use hoaxed footage. However it was top in my recommended feed @JohnELTenney @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem Others may have different experiences though â I'm more speaking from personal experience â it took me a while to find the better sources for information and how to find it.

With that said I think Hellier was an anomaly in terms of quality Amazon Prime content.

@JohnELTenney @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem True, online most is accessible via http://archive.org. I just mean more there's a learning curve for anyone interested.

And aggregators don't really help them out.

It's hard to go down a rabbit hole on Wikipedia or Google for this topic compared to, say, fantasy sports.

2020-09-17T16:51:49+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1306636990046187520
@JohnELTenney @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem I also think it's not always the community's fault, but the aggregators.

Google doesn't do us any favors when it doesn't suggest related cases when something is searched.

@JohnELTenney @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem Yeah I think part of that is how buried some information is. As someone born in 1990 I can say I got zero exposure to Keel growing up.

@AFSUnidentified @JeffSchogol And I donâ□□t mean to pick on this article. Itâ□□s a much bigger problem rampant on Facebook and on other outlets like Rolling Stone, Vice, etc.

Less on the journalists and on the editor.

@AFSUnidentified @JeffSchogol The entire #ufotwitter community needs to hold stuff like this accountable or else, Iâ□□m not really sure what weâ□□re working toward.

Plenty of people thought we were closer to disclosure in 1970 only to see it stigmatized for 50 years...

@AFSUnidentified @JeffSchogol Some people might say, oh itâ□□s only the thumbnail, relax...

But the quality of UAP coverage has to be total. Top to bottom. The majority of impressions on any article or video donâ□□t consume it, they only see the image+title.

@BellvillePiet Thatâ□□s sort of my thought now. Someone just testing a movie prop? Or just having fun with a custom balloon?

The inconsistent movement and the movement along the z axis around 9:00 seems to suggest someone lengthened the slack if there was a fishing line.

The 1950 North Atlantic unknown.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1305199154390597633

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem And you know whatâ□□s even weirder?

That the third mate, who reported the furthest distance, recalled distinct edges (kite shape).

While the closer witness (captain, 1k ft), said it was smooth oval.

Youâ□□d think the edges would be less perceptible further away @JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem You know I wish I wouldâ□□ve talked about the reported difference in distance.

Thatâ□□s pretty weird. Almost suggests the captain had an even more profoundly different experience.

Closer:check_mark_button:
Metallic egg :check_mark_button:
Slower speed :check_mark_button:
Longer duration :check_mark_button:

https://twitter.com/_/status/1305197637306642435

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem Youâ□□re totally right: visibility was 14 miles. But how could the two mates, especially the third mate, who described it as a diamond kite shape, see it well enough to describe?

Worth noting there were binoculars on the ship

2020-09-13T17:30:49+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1305197255314542592

@JazzShaw @MiddleOfMayhem Hereâ□□s the file, I actually shouldâ□□ve included another discrepancy, the captain said it got within 1,000 feet. The other two said 10-12 miles.

So an absolutely huge difference there.

@drumshticknow Thanks! Definitely not shy. Word of mouth has carried us a lot so far.

We're not getting any help from YT recommendations or search, so that's a hurdle still.

@PostDisclosure @LueElizondo I'd love comment from @LueElizondo, @ChristopherKMe4 or @tomdelonge if there are differing opinions within TTSA on whether or not they're a threat. Or even if a blanket statement can be applied to the entire phenomenon.

Seems reasonable to think there are different opinions.

2020-09-11T23:46:51+00:00

A little preview of one (of three) UFO reenactments from a very peculiar case Blue Book ruled UNIDENTIFIED.

Police Tape-Record Eerie Noises Made by Glowing UFO

Oregon police watched and listened in awe as a brilliant orange, whining UFO hovered over the Portland area.

And on an incredible police tape recording of the police officers' conversations that morning, the huge craft's eerie noises are audible in the background.

"The UFO shook everybody up," said Sgt. Rusty Yokum of the St. Helens, Oreg., Police Department.

"It was an intense ball of light that made strange noises. We recorded them.

"We observed it hovering like a helicopter for about 90 minutes."

Before dawn March 17, Yokum first saw the UFO while on patrol.

"I thought it was an aircraft landing light — but it was brighter than a normal landing light would be."

The light disappeared — then Yokum was told on the radio that state police officer Tom McCartney could still see it in another spot. He drove there, and along with two other St. Helens officers they watched the blinding orange craft hover over a river.

Sgt. Yokum said his department called Portland International Airport, which confirmed the UFO had been sighted on radar. But within five minutes, he added, airport authorities mysteriously called back and denied it.

As the startled officers described the blinding UFO over their police radios, a tape recorder in one of their patrol cars captured the drama.

On the tape, police witnesses reported:

"It's revving up its engines . . . can you hear it? Sounds like a power plant diesel motor with a screeching noise."

"It's shutting down . . . seems like he's cutting it down."

"A quieter noise now, but still loud."

"Glowing like crazy."

In the background, the sound of the UFO can be heard — and UFO experts had the sound analyzed by acoustical experts.

"The people who analyzed the tape for us say they have not heard any sound like that in nature, and it's certainly not a helicopter," said Dr. J. Allen Hynek, former astronomer at Northwestern University and now director of the Center for UFO Studies.

"It's a total puzzle."

As the officers watched shortly after daybreak the UFO was surrounded by a thick fog that had rolled over the river.

"Then it sounded as if it went up and away," recalled McCartney. "And within 30 seconds the fog separated and there was blue sky shining through. It was eerie."

— JOE MULLINS

I'm Glad

I'm glad the great Creator
Arranged for there to be
A bit of work left over
For the likes of you and me.

I'm sure He could have finished things —
For instance — made the bread,
But no — He chose to give us little Grains of wheat, instead.

I'm sure He could have planted houses
With no strain nor fuss;
Instead, He planted trees and left
The building up to us.

I think He wanted us to share
That joy and sheer elation
That builders and creators know
Who see their own creation.

@FettuccineSplit Genuine question: can balloons appear forged and weathered metallic? Maybe an alloy shell?

Also.. if you watch the video you can see I did ask him about the wind. He said it didnâ□□t direct the object.

And he does seem to be a relatively solid observer.

"Some HD photos inside UAPs show occupants," says @LueElizondo.

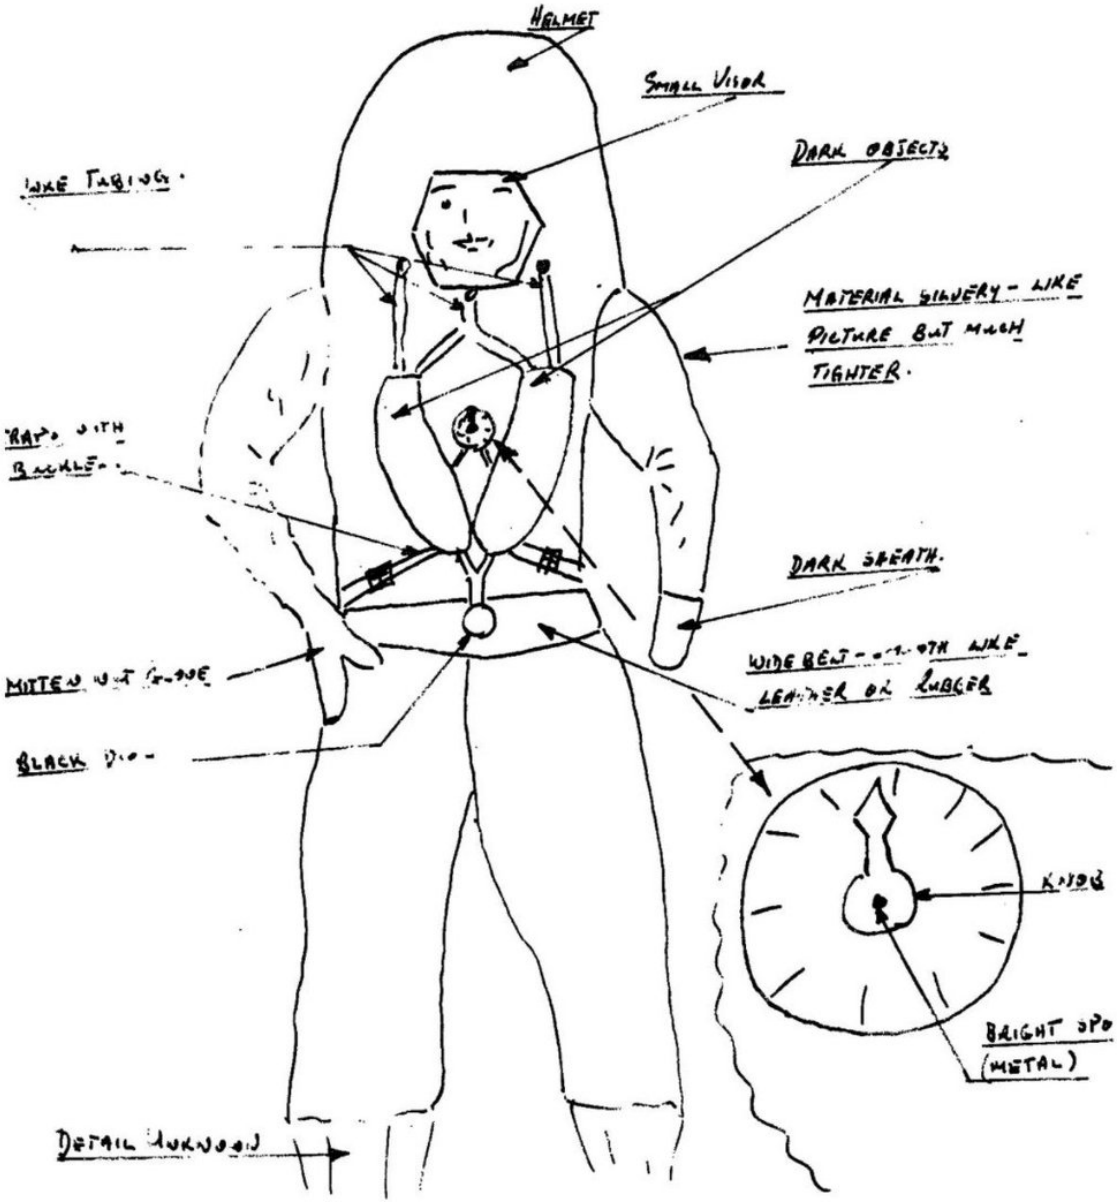

Occupants have been noted in declass files going back to 1950s.

Not surprising there'd be newer accounts of this in HD, and also not surprising they'd be behind a classification wall.

@murnut @tomdelonge The (possible) second sighting where he felt an urge to go look at it is interesting too. But that's one with some stigma any time you suggest telepathic or sixth sense relationship to UAP (though we do have other cases of this).

https://twitter.com/_/status/1302268825782673408

@murnut @tomdelonge It's also meaningful imo that he first attempted to explain it rationally, then gradually moved away from this.

I've spoken to Rick three times now and believe he's a rational observer. You can hear this in how he methodically describes the sighting.

@murnut @tomdelonge I think the key things for me are the four observations he noticed.

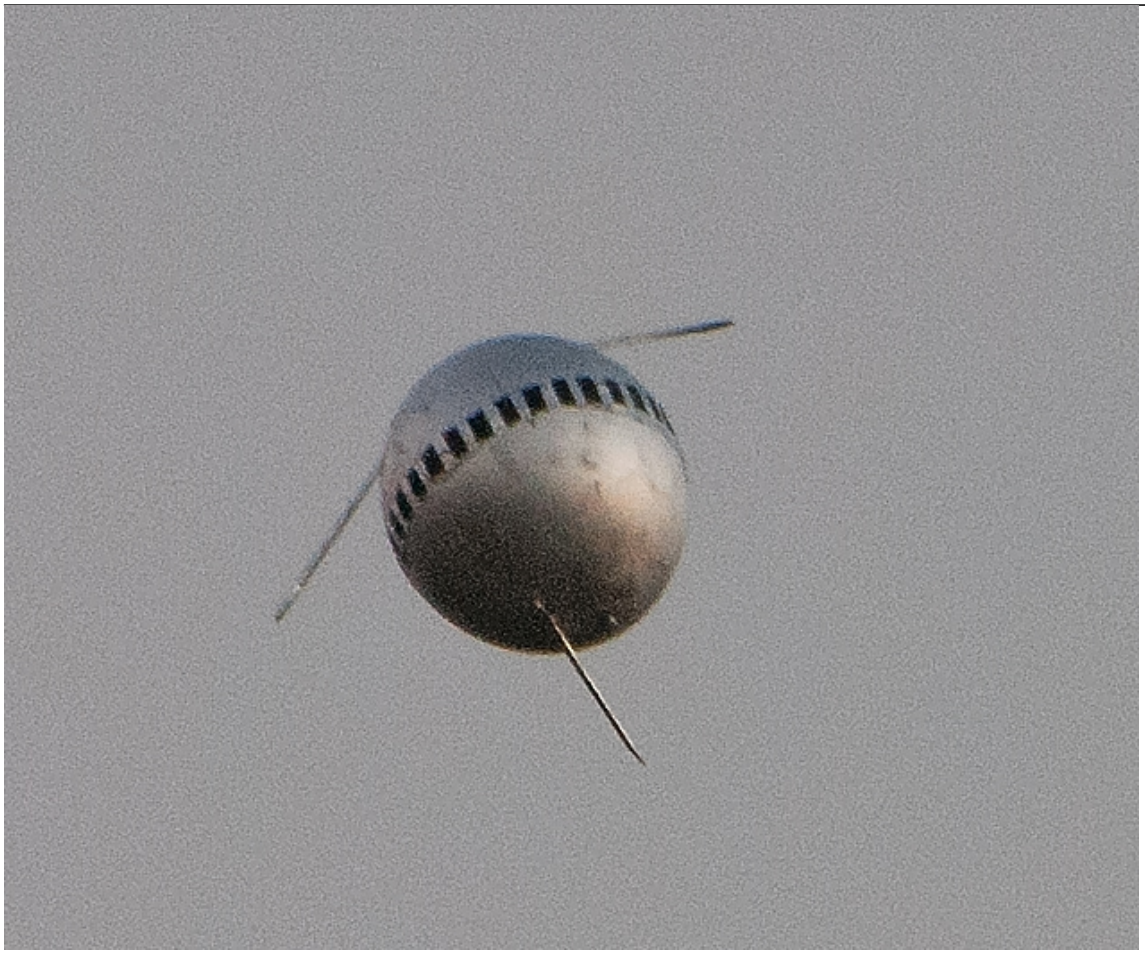

Stop/start movement
Failure to move with the wind
Metallic appearance
Seemingly independent moving appendages

But the thing is, they are not airborne nor are they capable of flight. Theyâ□□re ground based inflatable satellite antenna for quick remote deploy.

The biggest problem: cheesy, overdramatized presentation of the UFO topic.

The wrong presentation can literally stigmatize a sighting or an entire aspect of the phenomenon.

We have to take a methodical approach and talk about it like scientists, not conspiracy theorists. https://twitter.com/VeilroadDude/status/1299845162852519936

There need to be more studies on it because weâ□□re not quite there to give it that stamp of approval, even if the SRI data is interesting

2020-08-29T00:33:53+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1299505517669294080

@ExoAcademian @UfoJoe11 The problem is some of the early studies were flawed, and the monitors in the Army/DIA sessions did influence viewers. Since thatâ□□s the underpinnings of the early RV work it has made it difficult to generate more mainstream interest.

2020-08-29T00:31:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1299504831762137088

@ExoAcademian @UfoJoe11 Now, if itâ□□s only right a fraction of the time, is that good enough for signals intelligence? No. And thatâ□□s another reason it seems to have been shut down in 1995.

But Iâ□□ve heard of viewers state they still privately work with law enforcement on cold cases, for example @ExoAcademian @UfoJoe11 Right. Does it work 100% of the time? No, even Ingo Swann admitted that.

But even if itâ□□s good 30% of the time, thatâ□□s meaningful. Because theyâ□□re not analyzing binar situations, not coin flips.

If I can view contents of a safe 30% of the time, thatâ□□s meaningful.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1299503725522886656
@UfoJoe11 Now, did they setup the experiments wrong sometimes? Yes. Were monitors inadvertently influencing the viewers in some sessions? Yes. But even when that is ignored, there were meaningful findings in the program

@ne1up I think to make it truly factual and entertaining just requires more work. What Iâ□□m trying to do with our episodes are show the real stuff thatâ□□s crazy. But itâ□□s harder to pick that out maybe.

@humanoidlord @HistoryBlueBook I agree. I think content can be 100% factual with the understanding it would be more niche, like A24â□□s stuff.

I do think History could do this if they wanted. Thereâ□□s gotta be a way to keep it all fact and still entertaining for masses @ne1up Why do you think that is? Is it considered needed to capture mainstream attention?

To me, keeping story entirely 100% factual makes the phenomenon pop out MORE because of how impactful it is.

But then again I do not serve a mainstream audience. Maybe there is a way to fix this @davideoleary could probably add more about these creative decisions, but generally, any time weâ□□re getting primetime content BASED on real Blue Book files, thatâ□□s better than something non-UFO based imo.

Maybe they can reduce the fictionalization if the series is saved for S3.

I have read hundreds of humanoid/UFO occupant cases.

You know what a common contactee theme is?

Treat the planet better, treat others better.

I've NEVER come across a paranormal case where the witness was told to enslave others or raze forests to the ground.

@PostDisclosure It's definitely stigmatized, which is unfortunate.

It's a pretty easy argument to make that in the middle of a pandemic when job opportunities are basically non existent, it's something that should 100% be considered.

It would flow down to other businesses too.

@Personanother1 Both are saying the same information, but one has been covered in a way that causes us to doubt the information.

Pedophilia is the same way.

The stuff the Globe uncovered is genuinely absurd and it is crazy the Finders don't get the same attention, for example.

@Personanother1 The entire idea of "loaded terms" is interesting to me.

For example, sharing an image of a witness with text overlay: "I had sex with an alien" appears tabloid-ish.

Whereas presenting that topic "do UAP encounters have a sexual component?" are acceptable.

2020-08-25T20:23:01+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298355219340890112

@TheProjectUnity You know, there's also something else this has made m realize that I think @MiddleOfMayhem alluded to.

UFO journalists can cover other things.

What good is the UFO topic if the world is burning around us, or sex trafficking is rampant.

2020-08-25T20:20:16+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298354528790679552
@Personanother1 I am more apologizing for how I levied my criticisms. There's a way to have a discourse and a way not to have it.

In ufology we're a small enough field that I have to be better about trying to treat others with respect so we can grow it. Not so we divide it.

2020-08-25T20:14:43+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1298353133685481472
@TheProjectUnity I judged your opinion on a subject by a single tweet, which was wrong. Character limits do not define someone's view on something. I appreciate your discourse.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1298351696477925376
I would simply wish that thought leaders in ufology consider the weight of their words.

And if covering other topics, be aware that things like pedophilia is sometimes taken less seriously because of how it's presented, as a wild conspiracy (when it's not)

2020-08-25T20:08:18+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1298351515711700997
With that said, there is a way to handle my criticisms and a way not to. And I chose the wrong way.

I am not the though police, and anyone can cover what they choose.

2020-08-25T20:08:07+00:00

2. UFOs suffer from a severe stigma and are often thrown in a basket with all other conspiracies.

I am passionate that this stops happening, and I don't think we will bring mainstream scientists or viewers on board with this association.

@truthbearer20 @uelbus @ufoofinterest @hoveringobject @humanoidlord @UfoWatchdog @tomdelonge @TTSAcademy I realize mainstream audiences might not want the minutiae, but I think that's EXACTLY the problem with mainstream presentation of the UFO topic.

@truthbearer20 @uelbus @ufoofinterest @hoveringobject @humanoidlord @UfoWatchdog @tomdelonge @TTSAcademy I take issue with the use of a short 25 second clip, and using it to get more followers for TTSA.

There is minutiae to this sighting, a witness story, and, as you've mentioned, some counterpoints to consider debunking it.

Absurd to present with no context to a large audience.

@ExoAcademian The issue seems to be the government doesn't always have anyone to market itself.

In cases like this that's necessary.

The more nefarious explanation would be there was a hope claims would be lower if awareness of RECA was lower, but I hope that was never the case.

@UFOS8N @stuartdavis @tomdelonge @TTSAcademy My point is this has to be a large, crowd effort. Not to diminish momentum, but everyone has a part to play in researching, joining open source groups like @SkyHub10, etc.

95% of the UFO community can NOT sit around and wait to be told something. We can achieve this together.

Because there should not be one entity, which has shareholders, attempting to own any of this data.

â□□Ran into Bill Perry...suggested the same thing...they told me of a special projects record group not belonging to usual SAP.â□□ http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EgH77vBWAAEzf4_.jpg

- Suggestion came from Ward (Gen. M. Ward) to go through the records groups files (like an index system) in OUSDAT (Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Technology)
- Ran into Bill Perry in May '97 – talked about this quietly – he suggested the same thing
- They told me of a special projects record group not belonging to usual SAP – a special subset of the unacknowledged/carve-outs/waived programs – not belonging to usual SAP divisions as organized in '94 by Perry himself – set apart from rest but buried/covered by conventional SAPs

EWD: Who was USDAT?

TW: Uh, was Paul Kaminski – talked to both Paul and Mike Kostelnik (a Brig. General)

EWD: Michael Kostelnik?

TW: In Paul's office (OUSDAT) – dir. of special programs in OUSDAT (Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) as organized (re-organized) by Perry in '94

- Mike is also director of SAPCO (Special Access Programs Coordination Office)
- Mike is member and executive secretary to SAPOC (Special Access Programs Oversight Committee) in capacity as SAPCO director
- Mike is a member of the Senior Review Group

(TW was Deputy Director DIA/Assistant Joint Chief of Staff J-2 at time; boss was Director DIA Gen. Patrick Hughes)

TW: So found the unusual record group – read the index abstracts.

EWD: Budget info?

TW: No budget info – that is kept in separate records for audit purposes.

- A security budget record is copied into a folder for "the program"
- Talked to Mike who said it was like 2-3 times the program budget, but there were times when it went as high as 6-7 times core budget, thought it was absurdly high, said Perry wanted investigation on that but was told to drop it.

EWD: Who told him that?

TW: He didn't want to answer my question on that – said I could find out something from Judy Daly[1].

- Suggestion came from Ward (Gen. M. Ward) to go through the records groups files (like an index system) in OUSDAT (Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Technology)
- Ran into Bill Perry in May '97 – talked about this quietly – he suggested the same thing
- They told me of a special projects record group not belonging to usual SAP – a special subset of the unacknowledged/carve-outs/waived programs – not belonging to usual SAP divisions as organized in '94 by Perry himself – set apart from rest but buried/covered by conventional SAPs

EWD: Who was USDAT?

TW: Uh, was Paul Kaminski – talked to both Paul and Mike Kostelnik (a Brig. General)

EWD: Michael Kostelnik?

TW: In Paul's office (OUSDAT) – dir. of special programs in OUSDAT (Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) as organized (re-organized) by Perry in '94

- Mike is also director of SAPCO (Special Access Programs Coordination Office)
- Mike is member and executive secretary to SAPOC (Special Access Programs Oversight Committee) in capacity as SAPCO director
- Mike is a member of the Senior Review Group

(TW was Deputy Director DIA/Assistant Joint Chief of Staff J-2 at time; boss was Director DIA Gen. Patrick Hughes)

TW: So found the unusual record group – read the index abstracts.

EWD: Budget info?

I found him and have an open question to him, but he and his daughter stopped responding when I started talking about confirming classified information.

@Berserk97981716 @UfoJoe11 The better question is: will it be open source? Will everyone have access to its data?

These are fair concerns given the history of TTSA and their confusing narrative over the provenance of the three videos.

Locations of the Flight 1628 and subsequent incidents

The first sighting occurred from point A to B, where Flight 1628 was escorted by two objects.[1] A third object would have paced the cargo plane as it approached Eielson AFB, mirroring the evasive maneuvers initiated by its pilots. It would have disappeared near Mt Denali, as they approached Talkeetna for a landing in Anchorage. Two and a half months later, Flight AS-53 recorded an unidentified object near McGrath, and a military plane observed an object between Elmendorf and Eielson air force bases.

I know remote viewing is hard to swallow for some, but I think we should keep an open mind.

There is a risk of influence by Atwater's accidental bias on what McMoneagle saw, since he had already discussed the bases with Puthoff.

But McMoneagle was the best viewer they had.

Atwater decided to see if he could corroborate the locations of four alleged "bases" where UFO activity seemed to circulate around.

Mt. Hayes, Alaska
Mt. Perdido, Spain
Mt. Ziel, Australia
Mt. Inyangani, Zimbabwe

In 1973, CIA analyst Pat Price gave a folder of â□□UFO basesâ□□ he claimed to remote view to Hal Puthoff.

Puthoff then gave this to Skip Atwater, who was head of several iterations of the Army RV project before it got the blanket term Stargate.

@UFOS8N @MickWest ^that page gives a good idea of how different classification levels have differing types of information. Any "Disclosure" will be a watered down, very broad, simplified version of whatever UAPTF finds. The meaningful juice, including origin, will almost certainly remain TS.

@UFOS8N @MickWest Mick, however, does from what I gather.

The more Vallee I read the more I realize we need to be careful going too far down the ET Going too far makes it impossible to remain objective.

@UFOS8N When I actually view @MickWest in isolation, I have no issues.

It's important to have skeptics to always challenge prevailing beliefs about UFOs.

But it does seem like his follower base doesn't want to have any healthy discussion on places like r/skeptic, for example.

TIL a 1948 top secret USAF Europe document states Swedish air intelligence told them some investigators believed flying saucers had origins "outside the Earth."

TOP SECRET

USAFE 14 TT 1524 TOP SECRET 4 Nov 1948

From OI OB

For some time we have been concerned by the recurring reports on flying saucers. They periodically continue to cop up; during the last week, one was observed hovering over Neubiberg Air Base for about thirty minutes. They have been reported by so many sources and from such a variety of places that we are convinced that they cannot be disregarded and must be explained on some basis which is perhaps slightly beyond the scope of our present intelligence thinking.

When officers of this Directorate recently visited the Swedish Air Intelligence Service. This question was put to the Swedes. Their answer was that some reliable and fully technically qualified people have reached the conclusion that "these phenomena are obviously the result of a high technical skill which cannot be credited to any presently known culture on earth." They are therefore assuming that these objects originate from some previously unknown or unidentified technology, possibly outside the earth.

One of these objects was observed by a Swedish technical expert near his home on the edge of a lake. The object crashed or landed in the lake and he carefully noted its azimuth from his point of observation. Swedish intelligence was sufficiently confident in his observation that a naval salvage team was sent to the lake. Operations were underway during the visit of USAFE officers. Divers had discovered a previously uncharted crater on the floor of the lake. No further information is available, but we have been promised knowledge of the results. In their opinion, the observation was reliable, and they believe that the depression on the floor of the lake, which did not appear on current hydrographic charts, was in fact caused by a flying saucer.

Although accepting this theory of the origin of these objects poses a whole new group of questions and puts much of our thinking in a changed light, we are inclined not to discredit entirely this somewhat spectacular theory, meantime keeping an open mind on the subject. What are your reactions?

Deep state is trending.

The real "deep state" exists in the grey area between Pentagon and private defense co's, in special access programs.

Who may (or may not) be analyzing phenomena like this.

And may (or may not) be spending billions of taxpayer $$ doing it.

@DenofGeekUS I would also add Yuri never said anything about Perseus in the 80s. The Perseus comments, and later PERS, were from Vladimir Chikov, Anatoly Yatskov and Pavel Sudoplatov, all KGB.

Chikov and Yatskov said he existed, then later went said it was a hoax. Pavel always said hoax.

@DenofGeekUS what's interesting is the Perseus backstory is real..

In 91, ex-KGB said codename â□□PERSEUSâ□□ was a spy who was never caught, and reached the highest levels of U.S. government.

They later claimed it was just a hoax.

@murnut @TheProjectUnity So my aim with this is just to share advice I've learned since none of us are getting much help from the algos, but maybe that will change :slightly_smiling_face:

https://twitter.com/_/status/1296889527194267648

@murnut @TheProjectUnity Because I think we can all agree UFO viewership is severely limited by the algorithm for two reasons.

1. It was a tweak made a few years ago to reduce exposure to controversial content.

2. Other hoax channels made YT realize they don't want to recommend UFO content.

2020-08-21T19:17:42+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1296889231076450306

@murnut @TheProjectUnity The money is little to nothing unless you're pulling millions of views. My average weekly video makes $20.

my point in brining this up isn't about money, it's about making sure the YT platform doesn't actively work against you and limit your potential to reach viewers.

People underestimate the potential of a civilian science initiative. Imagine 10,000 cameras pointed toward the sky each night, all linked into an AI enabled system. It reports which objects captured have anomalous speed, direction change, radiation, etc.

Why are we waiting on someone to tell us what disclosure is?

@LtTimMcMillan @TheUFOTrail @Nonamebureaucr1 @mjbanias @nytimes After looking at all of this, I do disagree with Iran's take.

They're basing their conclusion on the nuke connection, but that's been happening in the US for 70 years.

Bad reason to claim the objects are American. But the contents of the file should still be discussed imo @LtTimMcMillan @TheUFOTrail @Nonamebureaucr1 @mjbanias @nytimes This is no different than an American journalist quoting Elizondo or a Pentagon source claiming the objects aren't manmade, right?

People will be skeptical of Iran's interpretation.

But I disagree with limiting awareness of the docs by using the P word

Record seems balanced https://muckrack.com/babak-taghvaee/articles

The 2004 encounter was based on a doc he translated where Iran claimed the objects were US made.

So isn't he just citing it?

By that definition wouldn't anyone covering US mil a propagandist?

This comes from John Schuessler's "A Catalog of UFO-Related Human Physiological Effects."

But all other sources go back to this, and no file is provided.

@Bhima_Jenkins 2500 hours at $10 an hour is $25,000, so obviously too expensive.

But 2500 hours, say if I spend 10 hours a week on it, would still take me five years to do :face_with_open_mouth:

@Bhima_Jenkins no worries, yeah, it does take some time. I may end up seeing if I should pay some people to do it for me. because I'm thinking the more documented ones might take 15 minutes per case.

The easier ones maybe 3 minutes per case.

So say an average of 7 min, that's 2500 hours.

Mystery Men Flash Government Credentials

UFO Witnesses 'Silenced'

By JOHN A. KEEL

NEW YORK (NANA) Mysterious men dressed in Air Force uniforms or bearing impressive credentials from government agencies have been "silencing" UFO witnesses, according to Col. George P. Freeman, Pentagon spokesman for Project Bluebook.

"We have checked a number of these cases," Freeman said in an interview this week, "and these men are not connected with the Air Force in any way."

HE CITED one recent case in which the police officers and other witnesses at the UFO sightings in Wanaque, N. J. were allegedly collected together by a man wearing an Air Force uniform. They were told that they "hadn't seen anything" and that they shouldn't discuss the incident.

"We checked with the local AFB," Freeman declared, "and discovered that no one connected with the Air Force had visited Wanaque on the date in question. Whoever it was, he wasn't from the Air Force."

Another mystery man, this one bearing credentials from the North American Air Defense (NORAD), turned up at the home of Rex Heflin, a man who had taken a series of UFO pictures in California in 1965, and demanded the originals. Later, NORAD denied having anything to do with the incident.

REP. JAMES B. UTT
. . . Hears from NORAD

MAJ. GEN. M. M. Magee, NORAD's chief of staff, later told Rep. James B. Utt, R-Calif., that, "for your information NORAD does not have the responsibility for the evaluation of UFOs and therefore would not knowingly be in the business of collecting UFO pictures for evaluation. In addition, the office of primary interest for UFO matters is the Department of the Air Force."

Heflin's photos have never been returned and the Air Force has never been able to determine the identity of the mystery man who took them.

Similar mystery men, according to other sources, have turned up and confronted UFO witnesses in the states of Washington, Texas, Connecticut, and on Long Island, N. Y.

IN FEBRUARY, 1960, Joe Perry, a restaurant owner in Grand Blanc, Mich., took a series of UFO pictures and was soon visited by two men posing as FBI agents. They seized a photo of a dome-shaped object with a green tail.

More recently, a man claiming to represent "a government agency so secret that he couldn't give its name" appeared in a school in Norwalk, Conn., and grilled two 12-year old boys for two hours about the disc-shaped object which they said had pursued them at ground level in April, 1966.

"We haven't been able to find out anything about these men," Freeman admitted. "By posing as Air Force officers and government agents they are committing a federal offense. We would sure like to catch one."

WHEN ASKED if any efforts have been made to track down the elusive imposters, Freeman replied: "Unfortunately, the trail is always too cold by the time we hear about these cases. But we're still trying."

Freeman also commented on the numerous reports of sightings of low-flying unmarked planes over areas where UFOs had recently been seen. "That's a federal offense, too," he said. "All Air Force planes are clearly marked. We don't know anything about these unmarked planes. We'd like to catch one of them too."

Many witnesses swore that they saw several Air Force helicopters maneuvering over Wanaque reservoir following a UFO sighting last October. Freeman said that a careful check had been made and that no formation of helicopters had been in that area at that time. "Besides," he continued, "most Air Force bases have only one or two helicopters for rescue work. I just don't know where a whole formation of them could have come from."

@WarrenRPrice Should tests have been made secret to avoid USSR knowledge? Definitely.

But is NatSec justification for not tracking the long term effects on soldier health? Imo no. DOD was worried about including non-cleared scientists in operation so they didn't.

@WarrenRPrice It has some in common with UFO issue too.

National security is the reasoning given for classification of both issues, but there's no mechanism to hold the DOD accountable if that definition doesn't actually apply.

It's a catch all that can really be applied to anything.

The DOD's ad hoc committee concluded: "The fact that all participants in the nuclear weapons program were not issued film badges and the failure to maintain central control of radiation dosimetry records have resulted in a loss of dosimetry data. Corroborative information to establish the participation of some individuals will be difficult to obtain, and it [is] unlikely that [information for] all individuals who participated will ever be obtained." viously been reviewed by the National Research Council (NRC, 1989). However, not all participants wore film badges, especially in the early period of testing, and exposures of most veterans could only be inferred from badges worn by other members of their cohorts or by making assumptions regarding exposure on the basis of radiation readings from the area and the veterans' locations and times of activities.

Exposures during atmospheric nuclear-weapons tests varied substantially from one veteran to another and depended on many factors. Furthermore, the reconstruction of doses to veterans for the purpose of compensation up to 50 years after the exposures occurred can be complex, tedious, and labor-intensive.

Why?

One reason: the soldiers weren't given enough dosimeters to track their individual exposure. :person_facepalming:

Abstract

A postal questionnaire case-control study examined miscarriage in wives and congenital conditions in offspring of the 2007 membership of the British Nuclear Test Veterans Association, a group of ex-servicemen who were stationed at atmospheric nuclear weapon test sites between1952-67. Results were compared with a veteran-selected control group and also with national data. Based on 605 veteran children and 749 grandchildren compared with 311 control children and 408 control grandchildren there were significant excess levels of miscarriages, stillbirths, infant mortality and congenital illnesses in the veterans' children relative both to control children and expected numbers. 105 miscarriages in veteran's wives compared with 18 in controls OR=2.75 (1.56, 4.91; p=00016). There were 16 stillbirths; 3 in controls (OR=2.70 (0.73, 11.72; p=0.13). Perinatal mortality OR was 4.3 (1.22, 17.9; p=.01) on 25 deaths in veteran children. 57 veteran children had congenital conditions vs. 3 control children (OR=9.77 (2.92, 39.3); p=0.000003) these rates being also about 8 times those expected on the basis of UK EUROCAT data for 1980-2000. For grandchildren, similar levels of congenital illness were reported with 46 veteran grandchildren compared with 3 controls OR=8.35 (2.48, 33.8) p=0.000025. There was significantly more cancer in the veteran grandchildren than controls.

Whilst caution must be exercised due to structural problems inherent in this study we conclude that the veterans' offspring qualitatively exhibit a prevalence of congenital conditions significantly greater than that of controls and also that of the general population in England. The effect remains highly statistically significant even assuming a high selection bias in the responses and credibility is strengthened by the high rates of miscarriage reported by the veterans compared with controls, a result which could hardly have been due selection effects.

Introduction

The UK conducted Nuclear atmospheric weapons tests at Christmas Island (now Kiribati) and Malden Island in the Pacific and in Australia between 1952 and 1958; there were clean-up operations until 1967. The question of the health consequences of these exposures has been a matter of some debate and is currently part of legal cases before the Royal Courts of Justice [1,2] for which one of us (CB) was and is involved as an expert. The veterans themselves have been the subject of a series of epidemiological studies. In 1983, the Ministry of Defence (MoD) commissioned the UK National Radiological Protection Board (NRPB) in response to claims that the veterans were suffering radiation-related ill health. Some 21,000 personnel were located in MoD records as having taken part in the tests between 1952 and 1958 and these were matched with service controls by the MoD. Results showed a significant excess risk of leukaemia and also multiple myeloma [3]. A follow up [4] analysed cancer incidence to 1998 and showed a significant small excess risk from liver cancer incidence (RR controls suffered higher levels of fallout exposures than Southern Hemisphere controls [8].

The nuclear tests themselves were carried out at remote locations in Australia and in the Pacific. The megaton tests on Christmas Island in the Pacific involved thermonuclear devices air-dropped and detonated at altitude and others suspended by balloon [9]. All such tests produced fallout and rainout of radioactive material including Uranium, the main component. [10,11].

There are no contemporary measurements available of internal exposures to personnel stationed at or near the sites, nor of Uranium contamination. The extent and level of such contamination is a question of debate, especially since measurements were either not made at the time, or are still classified as secret by the UK government [1,2,11]. A Freedom of Information request for measurement data was made by one of us (CB) in 2009 but the documents were refused on the basis that the information might be of utility to a foreign power. Redacted secret data was supplied after a ruling made after application to the judge in case [2], the late HH Hugh Stubbs, and this indicated that the fallout contained very large fractions by mass of Uranium isotopes [11]. The sites and nearby areas have suffered residual

But that doesn't cover cardiovascular issues or offspring health problems, despite both having clear linkages in the literature as far back as the 50s.

Administrative and Legal Impediments to Relief

Further, here is a memo that shows DOD/Army awareness of a CDC study on the increased risk of leukemia and a Nevada test. They say more studies should be done. But what happened?
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EfevumgXoAIdseR.png

2. Only an increased incidence of myloid leukemia was observed in the Japanese; lymphoid leukemia thus far has not been associated with radiation exposure. Dr. Caldwell's findings appear to indicate that exposure is associated with both lymphoid and myeloid leukemia.

3. Dr. Caldwell is assuming that persons who claim they were present at NTS for the Smokey test received radiation exposure. No effort has been made or planned to determine whether the study population were exposed.

4. It cannot be ruled out that by looking for leukemias, Dr. Caldwell has found most cases of leukemia that occurred in this population. If that were the case, the incidence of myeloid leukemia of three in this population is about the number one could expect from natural causes.

Present Status

1. DOD, Army, is in the process of constructing a roster of military personnel that participated in the Smokey test, presumably to be used for a follow up of this population.

2. Discussions between General Council of DOD and ERDA are in progress; for exchange of exposure information viz a viz the Privacy Act.

3. ERDA is studying the feasibility of conducting an epidemiological studies of military and civilian personnel exposed at NTS.

Conclusion

There is a serious discrepancy between the observed incidence and type of leukemia in large populations that have been studied and the population studied by Dr. Caldwell. Further studies of these groups have to be done to determine the validity of his finding.

Exposure of Military Personnel from Nuclear Weapon Test at Nevada Test Site

Background

Eighty atmospheric nuclear weapon development tests were conducted at the Nevada Test Site during the period 1951-1958. Many tests were utilized by military units and civil defense organizations to conduct troop maneuvers and other training exercises. The participating military units were stationed at camp Desert Rock. It is estimated that more than one hundred thousand military personnel were present at NTS in the course of these tests.

Shot "Smokey" involved a major troop exercise conducted on August 31, 1957. It involved simulated combat operations and studies of human behavior under nuclear warfare conditions. The weapon had a yield of 44KT. It is believed that approximately 2500 personnel were involved.

Findings

Approximately 6 months ago several news reports claimed that there were indications of an increased incidence of leukemia among personnel that had participated in the Smokey event. These claims were based on findings by Dr. G. Caldwell of the Center for Disease Control, HEW, Atlanta.

Dr. Caldwell, a physician interested in epidemiological aspects of leukemia, observed that one or two leukemia cases that were included in his study had occurred in persons present during the Smokey event. Subsequently, and through the help of news media, he collected a list of approximately 1000 persons claiming to have been present at this event. According to Dr. Caldwell there may be as many as ten cases of leukemia in this group.

Evaluation

1. The natural incidence of leukemia in the U. S. is about 50-100 per 1,000,000 per year. The absolute radiation risk, mainly based on experiences in the exposed Japanese populations is 1-2 cases per year per rad per million for exposed adults. The incidence as reported by Dr. Caldwell of 10 per 1000 (even if occurred in a 10-year period) would extrapolate radiation exposures at NTS of 500 rads or higher. At such doses clinical symptoms of radiation sickness and a significant number of deaths can be expected. This is not supported by reports on the Smokey test.

the security classification of matters pertaining to the results of nuclear testing, much of the medical information has not been immediately available to agencies not directly concerned. Steps are being taken to relieve this situation to the degree consistent with the national security.

Reference our previous correspondence, the following additional information has been received from the Department of the Army. The pertinent portions of that memorandum are quoted for your consideration:

"2. Exposure of individuals to nuclear radiation during atomic weapons test series has been very carefully controlled. Criteria for maximum permissible exposure have been established by the Department of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission acting in close coordination. These permissible exposures are based upon the civilian peacetime industrial standards of 0.3 roentgens per week with a maximum of 3.9 roentgens during any thirteen week period. This latter dosage may be received in one or more exposures. A minimum number of personnel at the Nevada Test Site have exceeded this dosage figure but none of these individuals has received an amount of radiation which was considered harmful or which was sufficient to produce symptoms, physical findings, or laboratory findings consistent with radiation injury.

"3. Records available in the Office of The Adjutant General, Department of the Army, indicate that , was assigned to Company B 167th Infantry, Fort Jackson, South Carolina, which unit participated in tactical exercises at Camp Desert Rock at the Nevada Test Site during the period of 14 April 1952, through 24 April 1952. During that period, atomic devices number two and three of the Tumbler Snapper series were fired. These were air bursts, resulting in little contamination from radiation. There was no residual radioactivity on the ground resulting from the shots in this series prior to the third shot on 22 April 1952. The intensity of radiation at ground zero from the third shot was ninety milliroentgens (.090 roentgens) per hour one hour after detonation as determined by monitors from both the Atomic Energy Commission and Camp Desert Rock. Following this reading, the troops maneuvered through the area, examined equipment, and withdrew. At this distance, prompt radiation was not detectable by sensitive instruments, and there was no damage from heat or blast. There was no troop participation on shot two.

"4. The residual radioactivity in this area was due to neutron-induced activity in the soil. The two isotopes primarily responsible for this radiation have half lives of three hours and thirty-five hours, respectively. Computation of dose based upon these data for an individual

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

HEALTH AND MEDICAL

SEP 16 1957

Dear Mr. Ashley:

Your letter of 22 August 1957 addressed to the Secretary of Defense concerning the effects of nuclear testing on members of the Armed Forces has been referred to me for reply inasmuch as this office is following this topic.

As you may or may not know, the military medical services are currently maintaining a record of exposure to ionizing radiation (DD Form 1141) on personnel who are employed by or are members of the Armed Services. At the time of initiation of this form, it is to be completed to the maximum extent possible for all personnel who have been exposed to ionizing radiation within the past 10 years and are now in assignments where further exposure is probable. These forms are part of the individual health record for military personnel and will be available for review by authorized persons as are all other items in the individual medical histories.

Your suggestion for an inquiry into the medical histories of service personnel who have participated in or been present at the time of nuclear testing is in agreement with the views of this office. The administrative details and the scope of such a survey are currently being considered to determine the most efficient and economical method of obtaining the statistics required in the most reliable form.

An extensive and continuous study of the ionizing radiation received by the Japanese at Hiroshima and Nagasaki is being made under the auspices of the National Academy of Science - National Research Council. Also, the Atomic Energy Commission has conducted continuous studies on the natives of the Marshall Islands exposed on 1 March 1954, to radioactive fallout. To date, no evidence of permanent physiological damage has been demonstrated. The 21st Semi-Annual Report of the Atomic Energy Commission indicates the records of the various exposures and the results of the follow-up studies within this group.

To develop a thorough and comprehensive review of the effects of ionizing radiation will entail considerable time and expense and must be a cooperative effort of the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Academy of Science - National Research Council, the Veterans Administration, the Department of Defense, and other Federal agencies concerned. Because of

For example, here is a 2003 report from the DOD's DTRA that found radiation exposure was severely underestimated. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Efeuvm2WoAY57FW.jpg

2. Upper bounds of doses from external exposure to gamma radiation are often underestimated because of questionable assumptions about a person's locations and durations of exposure.

3. Upper bounds of doses from external exposure to neutrons are always underestimated by a factor of about 3–5, but few participants received much neutron exposure.

4. Skin and eye doses from exposure to beta particles do not always seem to be credible upper bounds, and skin doses from radioactive particles on the skin do not seem to have been taken into account.

5. Methods used to estimate doses due to inhaled radioactive materials involve many assumptions that are subject to error because of a lack of data to monitor exposures. Nonetheless, in some exposure scenarios, estimates of inhalation dose appear to be credible upper bounds. In other cases, the estimates are too low but credible upper bounds would still be small doses. However, there were scenarios involving some maneuver troops and close-in observers at the Nevada Test Site in which upper bounds of inhalation dose were underestimated by large factors, and the doses in these cases often could be important. Large underestimates of inhalation dose were due mainly to neglecting the effects of the blast wave produced in a detonation, which could have caused resuspension of large amounts of radionuclides that had accumulated on the ground from previous tests.

On Aug. 4, 2020, Deputy Secretary of Defense David L. Norquist approved the establishment of an Unidentified Aerial Phenomena (UAP) Task Force (UAPTF). The Department of the Navy, under the cognizance of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security, will lead the UAPTF.

The Department of Defense established the UAPTF to improve its understanding of, and gain insight into, the nature and origins of UAPs. The mission of the task force is to detect, analyze and catalog UAPs that could potentially pose a threat to U.S. national security.

As DOD has stated previously, the safety of our personnel and the security of our operations are of paramount concern. The Department of Defense and the military departments take any incursions by unauthorized aircraft into our training ranges or designated airspace very seriously and examine each report. This includes examinations of incursions that are initially reported as UAP when the observer cannot immediately identify what he or she is observing.

@MadScientistPod @joaktree33 @Berlinghoff_R And to your point @MadScientistPod some pushing the ET hypothesis are doing it to sell books, sweatshirts, livestreams, classes, etc.

It's not as effective as a sales pitch to say "I don't know." Lol.

2020-08-12T18:26:03+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293614741097676801

@MadScientistPod @joaktree33 @Berlinghoff_R For example some comments on my Vallean-UFO video were legitimately borderline violent that this was challenging their extraterrestrial belief.

They've been pushed the ET hypothesis by so many it becomes a fact.

2020-08-12T18:23:44+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1293614158408187913

@MadScientistPod @joaktree33 @Berlinghoff_R Yeah, with a phenomenon that has no easy answers, the figures promoting the easy answer do get followers.

Some people just want an answer.

The danger in this is it pulls people legitimately interested in UFOs into a bucket and they no longer consider science, or other theories.

2020-08-12T18:11:13+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293611010344062980
@tomdelonge Is there a circular change in direction at the end?

2020-08-12T18:03:05+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293608962974273536
@MadScientistPod True. And honestly it leads to more lazy thinking by people who are legitimately interested in the science of UFOs.

That type of thinking is hard to rewire once you've been exposed to 20 different bad sources for 20 years.

2020-08-12T18:01:06+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293608464216973312
@MadScientistPod And definitely, the con-men in this field are absurd and taking advantage of people's interest.

2020-08-12T17:59:41+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293608106673479680
@MadScientistPod That's fair.

(In Vallee voice) if god-like experiences 2,000 years ago are the same phenomenon as UFOs today, there may be a tendency for some observers to build religious beliefs around these.

With that said, I am honestly not sure if any "starseeds" claim to have seen a UFO.

2020-08-12T17:49:19+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293605497606746113
@MadScientistPod (4) the answer probably is yes, and that's an issue imo.

2020-08-12T17:49:05+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293605438727086081
@MadScientistPod (3) I suppose the question becomes: is there anything wrong with treating it like a religion?

I think to each their own...unless it gets in the way of scientific analysis of the phenomenon, right?

Are serious researchers stigmatized because some within UFO field think this way?

2020-08-12T17:47:27+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293605027823718401

@MadScientistPod (2) I made a poll a month or so ago asking what one question people would ask a UFO occupant.

The no. 1 answer was "who am I?" Not "who are you," or "how did you get here," or even "why are you here."

2020-08-12T17:44:35+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1293604307548479489
@MadScientistPod Ill might be a stretch.

The starseed mindset seems to have more in common with a religion than anything.

Imo within 100 years a portion of the UFO community will splinter into a religion.

It's already kind of happening with some in the CE5 community.

returned to the Nimitz, with insufficient fuel to attempt to pursue the Tic-Tac. On their way back, they received a call from the Princeton that the Tic-Tac UAV was waiting precisely at their CAP point. Senior Chief Day noted that this was surprising because those coordinates were predetermined and secret. Given that the CAP point was approximately $R = 60$ mi away, the probability of selecting the CAP point out of all the locations within the 60 mile radius, to within a one mile resolution (slightly more than the resolution of the radar system), is

$$P(x|I) = \frac{1}{\pi R^2} = \frac{1}{11310} = 0.0088\%, \quad (16)$$

discounting the altitude. Given the improbability of this being a coincidence, it appears that the Tic-Tac UAV intentionally went to their CAP point, although it is neither clear how the UAV determined the CAP point coordinates nor why it would perform such a maneuver. However, it

@imajicaman @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem @tomdelonge Yeah, as far back as 1897 people claimed debris of unknown material were falling off these â□□airships.â□□

A simpler theory could just be that these thingsâ□□ stealth capabilities extend to affecting human consciousness.

@NickMadrid16 @MiddleOfMayhem @LtTimMcMillan @tomdelonge I agree that the propulsion mechanism will drive research interest...

But do we really want humans to have this capability?

For military use Iâ□□d argue no, but to power clean energy and carbon/methane capture tech? Imo definitely. So probably worth the risk.

@Nsam59077799 @Flyingh43892139 @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem @tomdelonge 1700s/1800s sightings were seen by different observers too...Vallee would probably suggest something along the lines of it manifesting physically based on collective consciousness.

So a camera would still capture it as it is, debris would still be real.

Going off this theory.

@NickMadrid16 @MiddleOfMayhem @LtTimMcMillan @tomdelonge Considering this concept more, though bizarre, may help psychologists, phenomenologists and other behavioral scientists design a better way to study this.

@NickMadrid16 @MiddleOfMayhem @LtTimMcMillan @tomdelonge Nick, I used to think this. But I tend to agree with Vallee now that the ET hypothesis ignores too many witness accounts.

It throws out every Blue Book "psychological factor" case, and also throws out anomalous sightings pre 1900.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1292165637792571392

@SSGHambuns @LtTimMcMillan @MiddleOfMayhem @tomdelonge If anything, presenting it how I did REDUCES the tendency for ufology to become a religion.

Being close minded to ET hypothesis is what will lead to that.

Considering Valleeâ□□s thoughts may get us closer to actual designing a way to study this.

@junglist1973 @tomdelonge @Sams_Antics Yep. The term control system is almost not the best words. â□□Regulatorâ□□ is another synonym for thermostat.

@tomdelonge What youâ□□re saying Tom may align with what other US intel sources have recently claimed.

If Valleeâ□□s control system/thermostat hypothesis is correct, that would be the most disturbing explanation imo.

affect the human brain.

16. It would seem that this effect can occur when close to a UAP, either outdoors or indoors. This causes the brain to interact in an unusual way with the imagination 'library', causing reports of visual activity which are not in fact a true representation of the facts. It is of particular interest that a perusal of a limited number of old UAP reports (pre- 20th century), while often similar or even identical to madern reports, does not produce evidence of 'space-craft' aliens (grey or green), 'portholes' or 'searchlight' beams!

I'm not going full table pounding on this hypothesis, just stating that Tic Tac sightings in the 50s don't disprove the control system idea.

If this phenomenon is able to influence human perception, our perception alone may not be able to determine an origin.

I like the MA rating system for UAP, per the appendix of Dr. Kit Green's research paid for by the Pentagon.

"MA5. A maneuver that results in a permanent injury or death of the witness."

Will biological effects of encounters be a key part of the conversation in the coming years?
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FApDH2eWEAIm4Jx.jpg

MA RATING Describes behavior of a UFO. It is analogous to the Nocturnal Light, Daylight Disk and Radar Visual Hynek classifications.
MA1	A UFO has been observed which travels in a discontinuous trajectory. i.e. vertical drops, maneuvers or loops.
MA2	MA1 plus any physical effects caused by the UFO.
MA3	MA1 plus any entities observed on board. i.e. the airship cases of the late nineteenth century.
MA4	Maneuvers accompanied by a sense of reality transformation for the observer.
MA5	A maneuver that results in a permanent injury or death of the witness.

@BrianRoemmele Interesting. Here's some media coverage from this.

BR claimed the inventor was just interested in flying saucers and the company didn't have an R&D interest.

Don't know if I believe that... :thinking_face:

BR's spaceship is still standing on cloud nine

By Nigel Hawkes, science editor

BRITISH RAIL apologises for the late running of its service to Mars, delayed by technical difficulties. But if the flying saucer patented in 1973 did get out of the sidings it would put Eurostar in the shade.

The "space vehicle", powered by thermonuclear fusion, promised economic, high-speed travel to distant parts of the solar system. Anyone planning a star service trip would, however, have risked being permanently late for work. David Wardell, editor of Inventor's World magazine, who discovered the design at the Patent Office in Newport, South Wales, said that passengers would have been exposed to lethal amounts of radiation. "It seems extraordinary that the British Railways Board should have patented a spaceship, but this patent was developed and amended over a number of years so they must have thought there was something in it," he said.

Charles Osmond Frederick, who worked for British Rail in Derby, developed the "lifting platform" design in 1970. The full specification, filed in March 1972 and published a year later, calls the invention a space vehicle.

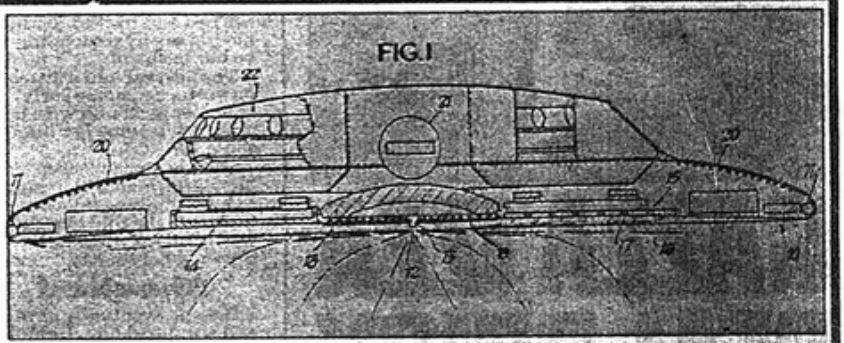

The passenger compartment was on the upper deck, isolated from the engine by a radiation shield. The craft would have been propelled by small thermonuclear explosions at a rate of 1,000 a second, providing the smooth ride BR customers have come to expect.

British Rail had a down-to-earth explanation for its patent, however. It was all Mr Frederick's idea, and any employees who invented things had to patent them in the company's name so that they did not benefit personally from work done in the firm's time, a spokesman said. "BR never had any interest in space travel."

STEAM ME UP, SCOTTY: A plan of the British Rail flying saucer

Honest, folks, this is how BR planned their trains of the future

THE FLYING saucer standing at Platform Five has been cancelled ... as all the passengers would be FRIED.

Batty railway boffins hoped the nuclear-powered craft would transport passengers across the universe.

But their space-age dreams hit the buffers when experts realised everyone on board would be killed by radiation within minutes of take-off, it was revealed yesterday.

Laser

Plans for the potty project were lodged at the Patent Office in 1970 — a year after Neil Armstrong landed on the moon.

Inventor Charles Osmond Frederick put forward his first idea for a Lifting Platform.

But by the time the project was officially patented in 1973, it had been dubbed a Space Vehicle. Frederick boasted that the craft would be cheap to run and reach phenomenal speeds. It would have been launched by a huge nuclear reaction sparked by laser beams.

But nuclear fusion proved far more complicated than was first thought and the plan had to be abandoned.

Details of the project were unearthed by David Wardell, of Inventors World Magazine, as he sifted through documents at the Patent Office in Newport, Gwent. He said: "It seems extraordinary that the British Railways Board should have patented a spaceship.

"The plans were developed and amended over a number of years so they must have thought there was something in it. You don't go to all the expense of issuing a patent for a prank.

"We know now that anybody who flew in this spaceship would have been killed.

"They'd have been exposed to very nasty nuclear irradiation."

But he added: "There could, of course, be a flying saucer sitting in a BR siding somewhere."

SOME OUT OF THIS WORLD EXCUSES

HERE are 10 excuses British Rail could have used when the spaceship was delayed:

1. Little green guard phoned in sick
2. Passenger tripped over a time warp
3. Flying saucer ran out of polystyrene cups
4. Leaves on the landing pad
5. The tea's a bit cloudy
6. Points failure at Pluto

July 29, 2020

Thank you, Chairman Cicilline, Ranking Member Sensenbrenner, and members of the Subcommittee. I'm Jeff Bezos. I founded Amazon 26 years ago with the long-term mission of making it Earth's most customer-centric company.

My mom, Jackie, had me when she was a 17-year-old high school student in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Being pregnant in high school was not popular in Albuquerque in 1964. It was difficult for her. When they tried to kick her out of school, my grandfather went to bat for her. After some negotiation, the principal said, "OK, she can stay and finish high school, but she can't do any extracurricular activities, and she can't have a locker." My grandfather took the deal, and my mother finished high school, though she wasn't allowed to walk across the stage with her classmates to get her diploma. Determined to keep up with her education, she enrolled in night school, picking classes led by professors who would let her bring an infant to class. She would show up with two duffel bags—one full of textbooks, and one packed with diapers, bottles, and anything that would keep me interested and quiet for a few minutes.

My dad's name is Miguel. He adopted me when I was four years old. He was 16 when he came to the United States from Cuba as part of Operation Pedro Pan, shortly after Castro took over.

Chairmen Cicilline and Nadler, Ranking Members Sensenbrenner and Jordan and Members of the Subcommittee, thank you for the opportunity to offer testimony.

Before I begin, I want to recognize the life and legacy of John Lewis. I join you in mourning a hero and someone I knew personally. Getting to host Congressman Lewis at Apple was one of the great honors of my life, and his example inspires and guides me. Every American owes him a debt, and I feel fortunate to hail from a state and a country that benefitted profoundly from his leadership.

My name is Tim Cook. I have been Apple's chief executive officer since 2011 and a proud employee since 1998.

Apple is a uniquely American company whose success is only possible in this country. Motivated by the mission to put things into the world that enrich people's lives, and believing deeply that the way we do that is by making the best not the most, Apple has produced many revolutionary products, not least of which is the iPhone.

We do this, in part, by making ourselves and our customers a promise—a promise that we will

At its heart, a discussion about competition is a discussion about opportunity. This has never been more important, as the global pandemic poses dual challenges to our health and our economy.

Testimony of Mark Zuckerberg Facebook, Inc.

I. Introduction

Chairman Cicilline, Ranking Member Sensenbrenner, and members of the Subcommittee, thank you for the opportunity to be here today. I'd also like to thank your staff for their professionalism and courtesy in working with our team over the course of your investigation.

Facebook is part of an industry that has changed the world. We face intense competition globally and we only succeed when we build things people find valuable. I'm proud that we stand for American values like giving every person a voice and expanding access to opportunity. As a platform for ideas we'll always be at the center of important debates about society and technology, which is why I've called for new rules for the internet.

II. Facebook's value and the role of competition

Every day, millions of Americans use our services to stay in touch with friends and family and talk about issues that matter to them. People use our apps to share videos, photos, livestreams, posts and private messages; to join communities, set up fundraisers for good causes, and even register to give blood. These services create a lot of value in people's lives, and our business model means we can offer them for free.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EeG4a6FXoAM3DHv.png

As astrophysics consultant, I have performed one task for APRO. I analyzed a supposed "star map" that had been received by radio in some mysterious way. I showed that the "map" was not a map of the region of sky claimed. This was published in the APRO bulletin.

On another occasion, I became suspicious of a sighting reported in the APRO bulletin and showed that the sighting was almost certainly Venus. I wrote to Coral and she published my finding.

2. For the past several years, I have been a member of Alan Hynek's "invisible college" - qualified scientists who feel that the UFO phenomenon deserves attention. Hynek himself is the former Air Force consultant on UFO's. He was a great scoffer, but in recent years he has come to take UFO's very seriously. I have performed no tasks for Alan.

3. My views on UFO's are:

   A. The UFO-report phenomenon exists, is widespread, and is of great interest to a large segment of the American people.

   B. I see no a priori reason why some of the UFO reports could not be due to sightings of visitors from other worlds or other dimensions.

   C. I see no overwhelming indication that any UFO report is due to "extraterrestrials".

   D. I confess to occasionally feeling, about UFO's, like the small boy who on Christmas morning found only a pile of horse manure under the tree. Undeterred, he cheerfully dug away, reasoning that there had to be a pony somewhere!

   E. I feel that the Condon investigation did not adequately deal with the UFO phenomenon, and that further government investigation is warranted.

4. In previous "impartial" investigations it has been deemed essential to have, as a leader, a person who has had no significant previous interest or experience in UFO's. The result, in my view, has been

MEMORANDUM

TO: S/Associate Administrator for Space Science

FROM: SAD/Deputy Director, Astrophysics Programs

SUBJECT: My Previous Experience in the Study of UFO's

Some weeks ago I was invited to attend, with you, a meeting in Herb Rowe's office to discuss a letter that Dr. Frosch had received from Dr. Frank Press on UFO's. I did not solicit that invitation. Immediately after the meeting, I informed you verbally that I had an interest of long standing in UFO's, and that I was consultant in astrophysics to a leading "amateur" UFO organization. I explained these facts also to my immediate supervisor, Bland Norris.

Yesterday I received a call from Phil Klass of Aviation Week. He asked if I were in charge of UFO's for NASA, and I said that I had not been selected for the task, but that I might well be. He asked if I had any previous association with UFO's, and I detailed it. Klass is the author of "UFO's Explained".

I would like to make explicitly clear to you what my involvement with UFO's has been, and what my views on the subject are:

1. I have been a member of the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization (APRO) for more than ten years, and their consultant on astrophysics for perhaps eight years. APRO is run by Coral and Jim Lorenzen, in Tucson, Arizona. Membership in APRO does not involve acceptance of any particular views on the nature of UFO's, but Coral and Jim most emphatically believe that visitors from other worlds are involved!

@PostDisclosure Further, what does Disclosure even mean?

It's highly likely a lot of this info is gathered up in a waived special access program that legally requires you to lie/have a cover story if asked.

Disclosure is a meme term. What matters is broad participation from more experts.

DoD issued further guidance on categorizing SAPs in DoD Instruction 5205.11, "Management, Administration, and Oversight of DoD Special Access Programs (SAPs)," July 1, 1997. The instruction implements DoD Directive O-5205.7, "Special Access Program (SAP) Policy," January 13, 1997, and disseminated policy, assigned responsibilities, and prescribed procedures for implementation and use in the management, administration, and oversight of all DoD SAPs. The instruction defines the three categories of DoD SAPs as follows:

Acknowledged SAP. An acknowledged SAP is a program of which the general public may know the existence and purpose, but for which its details, technologies, materials, and techniques remain classified, as dictated by its vulnerability to exploitation and the risk of compromise.

Unacknowledged SAP. An unacknowledged SAP is a program known only to a limited number of individuals; its purpose is protected as special access; and its details, technologies, materials, and techniques remain or are classified, as dictated by its vulnerability to exploitation and the risk of compromise.

Waived SAP. A waived SAP is an unacknowledged SAP to which an extremely limited number of individuals have access as required by statutory authority of Title 10, United States Code, Section 119e. The unacknowledged SAP protections also apply to waived SAPs.

@buffcommacu @foiaboi @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 In fact I think he loses confidence of skeptics when they see some of the stuff he wrote about consciousness, which isn't fair imo.

@buffcommacu @foiaboi @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 I don't think he's crazy..

But establishing his stature within NIDS at the time of the meeting is important to accurately talk about this and prevent people from claiming he was the guy in the corner.

@buffcommacu @foiaboi @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 This whole discussion is worth having because I've seen some people say: 'but Mitchell was just that crazy UFO guy in the corner'

And then we have others suggesting the opposite.

I guess establishing his importance in the meetings is significant to this story.

@buffcommacu @foiaboi @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 I am simply saying that nowhere in the NIDS site does it say that Mitchell is anywhere near the top aside from being one of many on an advisory board.

@buffcommacu @foiaboi @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 I mean, geez, I assumed I'd get some credit at understanding a listing of an advisory board is never indicative of stature within an organization.

Aside from Puthoff being chair.

I used to study board composition and insider trading in a past job.

@buffcommacu @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 Unless you know the inner workings of NIDS mid 2000s, there is absolutely no way to say with certainty that if Mitchell had access to the notes, that others did or didn't. Their advisory board is huge.

@buffcommacu @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY @KeithBasterfie1 You're onto something.

For some reason, everyone's discussion of provenance has only gone as far back as Mitchell's friend acquiring it from his archive and passing it on.

It seems pretty damn important to go back to Mitchell-NIDS, and not rely only on his statements or Greer's

https://twitter.com/_/status/1288215712528556032
@buffcommacu @devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY ^this is a good idea. You never know if the topic was briefly mentioned in some minutes. Unless someone has already looked there, but I are, I haven't seen anyone mention looking at meeting minutes.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1288215158989426690
@devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY Chris, you can't know that for sure. You know the history of disinformation here in ufology. It runs extremely deep.

If you are sitting on evidence that proves the legitimacy of the meeting like flight records or audio, then that should be released.

2020-07-28T20:48:31+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1288214778817785858
@devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY Further, I have had a hard time finding this out: do you know if those specific OUSDAT records (index system) of SAP budgets are freely available for anyone to go through (do they ever get declassified)?

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EeCoS_3XsAAWIfI.png

- Suggestion came from Ward (Gen. M. Ward) to go through the records groups files (like an index system) in OUSDAT (Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Technology)
- Ran into Bill Perry in May '97 – talked about this quietly – he suggested the same thing
- They told me of a special projects record group not belonging to usual SAP – a special subset of the unacknowledged/carve-outs/waived programs – not belonging to usual SAP divisions as organized in '94 by Perry himself – set apart from rest but buried/covered by conventional SAPs

@devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY Bob, you may have answered this on that large Zoom call already, but just to ask again: what percentage confidence do you have in these documents as being a real record of what was discussed?

Did you say you saw evidence of a meeting on paper, right, but not its contents?

2020-07-28T20:42:51+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1288213352922124288

@devgru1980mi @BobMcGwier_N4HY Right, so under the theory they are real, the thinking is there might be multiple copies of these and they were distributed thru-out NIDS.

Under disinfo theory then it's harder to understand, because the Davis-Mitchell-NIDS connection doesn't prove that's where Mitchell got them

https://twitter.com/_/status/1288202506850508802

I also think you can consider disinformation as a possibility targeted at Mitchell. The provenance of them coming out of his archive is pretty clear, but what about before that? Why did he get them?

@UFOResearchers @BlaireJulia @MC05A @lesliekean @ralphblu Purely speculative, but I've wondered if that '95 report downplayed it so it could continue clandestinely somewhere else.

But this line of thinking is a slippery slop because it can basically lead to a really conspiracy-driven rabbit hole.

Interesting to think about at least.

@BlaireJulia @UFOResearchers @MC05A @lesliekean @ralphblu that had nothing to do with SG or their RV sessions.

I'd have to dig up the full report and find out exactly how they did this, but their 1995 review was very clear in the shortcomings of the DIA prog., but also explained some bright spots for future research.

@BlaireJulia @UFOResearchers @MC05A @lesliekean @ralphblu This is a good point, for sure. I've read a lot of the old SG documents and there are definite questions over monitor interference with the viewer.

However there were less complex experiments done at SRI that did show some statistically significant results (cont)

@UFOResearchers @BlaireJulia @MC05A @lesliekean @ralphblu But it needs to be viewed from a standpoint of extreme skepticism and go backwards from that. Because Iâ□□m sure Vallee filtered out a ton of crap to focus on his best cases, but his filtering was still probably too subjective for some researchersâ□□ liking.

@UFOResearchers @BlaireJulia @MC05A @lesliekean @ralphblu Part of the issue is witness data being too messy for a study. Thereâ□□s a way to change this tho which is why weâ□□re trying to do with Sighting. One big thing to avoid is asking witness too many numerical questions (how far, how big) and ask them more qualitative questions.

RE: SPECIAL SECURITY ADVISORY. EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY. FOR ALL SOUTH BASE OPERATIONS AND SPECIAL SECTORS.

A SHUTDOWN HAS HERE BY BEEN ORDERED FOR ALL SOUTH BASE OPERATIONS AND SPECIAL SECTOR PROGRAMS. SPECIAL CONDITION PROCEDURES FOR SEQUENCE "BLUE FIRE" ARE NOW IN EFFECT. ALL ENLISTED PERSONNEL AND CIVILIAN PERSONNEL ARE TO BE BRIEFED ON A "BLUE FIRE" SCENARIO, ON A "NEED TO KNOW" BASIS ONLY. ALL SPECIAL SERVICE DIVISIONS, SPECIAL SCIENCES DIVISIONS AND EXECUTIVE SECURITY TEAMS WILL BE UNDER LOCKDOWN CONDITIONS OR ON RESTRICTED ROAM L.R.R.P. PROCEDURES.

ON 31 JULY 1991 AT 2000 HRS. A CIVILIAN ORGANIZED EVENT IS TO BE HELD IN THE TOWN OF RACHEL, NEVADA. THE INDIVIDUALS WHO HAVE ORGANIZED THE EVENT ARE FAMILIAR TO SECURITY TEAM PERSONNEL THAT HAVE HAD PRIOR CONTACT WITH PRIMARIES AND / OR THEIR SUPPORTERS. PRIMARY SUBJECTS ARE IDENTIFIED AS FOLLOWS:

1. NORIO HAYAKAWA / FOUNDER OF CIVILIAN INTELLIGENCE NETWORK [redacted] * GARDENA, CA.

2. GARY CLARK / AKA; SCHULTZ / FOUNDER OF SECRET SAUCER BASE EXPEDITIONS [redacted]. * SANTA MONICA, CA.

* note — both of our home addresses were correctly shown here i.e., before I blacked them out!

BOTH OF THE SUBJECTS OPERATE THEIR ORGANIZATIONS FROM A POST OFFICE BOX IN THE CITY OF GARDENA CALIFORNIA. (PLEASE SEE PRIOR SPECIAL ADVISORY NOTIFICATIONS.)

BOTH SUBJECTS AND THEIR SUPPORT PERSONNEL WILL BE IN ADVISORY PERIMETER WITHIN A 48 HR. TIME PERIOD OF THIS NOTICE. ALL AREA PERSONNEL ARE TO REMAIN ON ADVISORY ALERT UNTIL 5 AUGUST 0500 HRS. AND PROCEED WITH CAUTION IF APPROACHED BY ANYONE BELIEVED TO BE AFFILIATED WITH THESE GROUPS. THESE SUBJECTS MAY ALSO BE ACCOMPANIED BY INDIVIDUALS FROM THE NIPPON TELEVISION NETWORK OR THE TOKYO BROADCASTING SERVICE OF JAPAN, IN ADDITION TO VARIOUS PRINT MEDIA PERSONNEL FROM VARIOUS ASSIGNMENTS BOTH NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL. ALL BASE COMMANDERS AND SECURITY TEAM PERSONNEL ARE TO INSTRUCT SUBORDINATES CONCERNED TO REPORT ANY HARASSMENT EITHER TO THEMSELVES OR ANY OTHER BASE PERSONNEL THAT THEY MAY BECOME AWARE OF. FAILURE TO DO SO IN A TIMELY MANNER WILL RESULT IN IMMEDIATE DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES WITH NO EXCEPTIONS.

THIS EVENT IS TO BE HELD AT "THE LITTLE ALE-INN" FORMERLY, KNOWN AS,"RACHELS BAR AND GRILL". MR. AND MRS. TRAVIS HAVE GRANTED PERMISSION TO THESE INDIVIDUALS FOR THE USE OF THE FACILITIES ON THE EVENING OF 31 JULY 1991.

ALL BASE SPECIAL OPERATIONS IN SECTORS CONCERNED ARE TO BE RESCHEDULED TO AN ASSIGNMENT DATE AFTER 0500 HRS. ON 5 AUGUST.

@UfoJoe11 @UFOResearchers All I can say is not everyone enjoys reading long articles.

That's why we went for video first.

I enjoyed how you broke everything down, this was a very interesting couple paragraphs.

> Will Miller and I stayed in touch after his appearance on Hathorne's show in Tampa and he had become a subscriber to my free UFO/paranormal newsletter I was writing and editing at the time called, "Open Mind News." We immediately developed a friendship over email and in 2007, while I was vacationing in the Tampa Bay area, Will invited me over for dinner.
> My memory is foggy (a foreshadowing of events detailed later in this article) and during my time with Miller, I may have referenced the briefing with the Admiral. But I did not ask for details or confirmation. My friend, who I had brought along, was not into UFOs at all and our discussion with Miller was mostly centered around every day life. A huge, missed opportunity by me, to say the least. Plus, at the time, I really had no idea how important he was to the disclosure effort. That realization would come over a decade later.
> I do remember asking him if he had any issues with Dr. Greer. If he did, I was hoping to hear something like, "Well, Steve has a tendency to exaggerate stories like the one about briefing that Joint Chiefs guy in the Pentagon. That never happened." Then, at least I would know not to waste any more time or energy thinking about it. But in the end, he had nothing negative to say about the former emergency room doctor from North Carolina. I left his house with zero evidence to confirm the briefing took place but my gut was still telling me it happened.

Dear Eric,

I must apologize to you and Hal for not getting back with you sooner. The "fog of war", current business activity, and losing your new e-mail address all contributed to the delay, which I regret.

First, I must ask if you and/or Hal would be interested in meeting Mr. Bob Beckwith in Tallahassee, FL the evening of May 30th. Bob has been invited to meet with the head of the Florida Academy of Sciences and the Director of the High Magnetic Field Laboratory for a roundtable discussion of his (Mr. Beckwith's) Force Model of the Universe, and his planned experiments in LTT (levitation, teleportation, and time travel), among other subjects. I believe that the meeting date is now firm, but that will be determined in a conference call Thursday 25 April.

Next, let me respond to a few of your and Hal's previous questions:

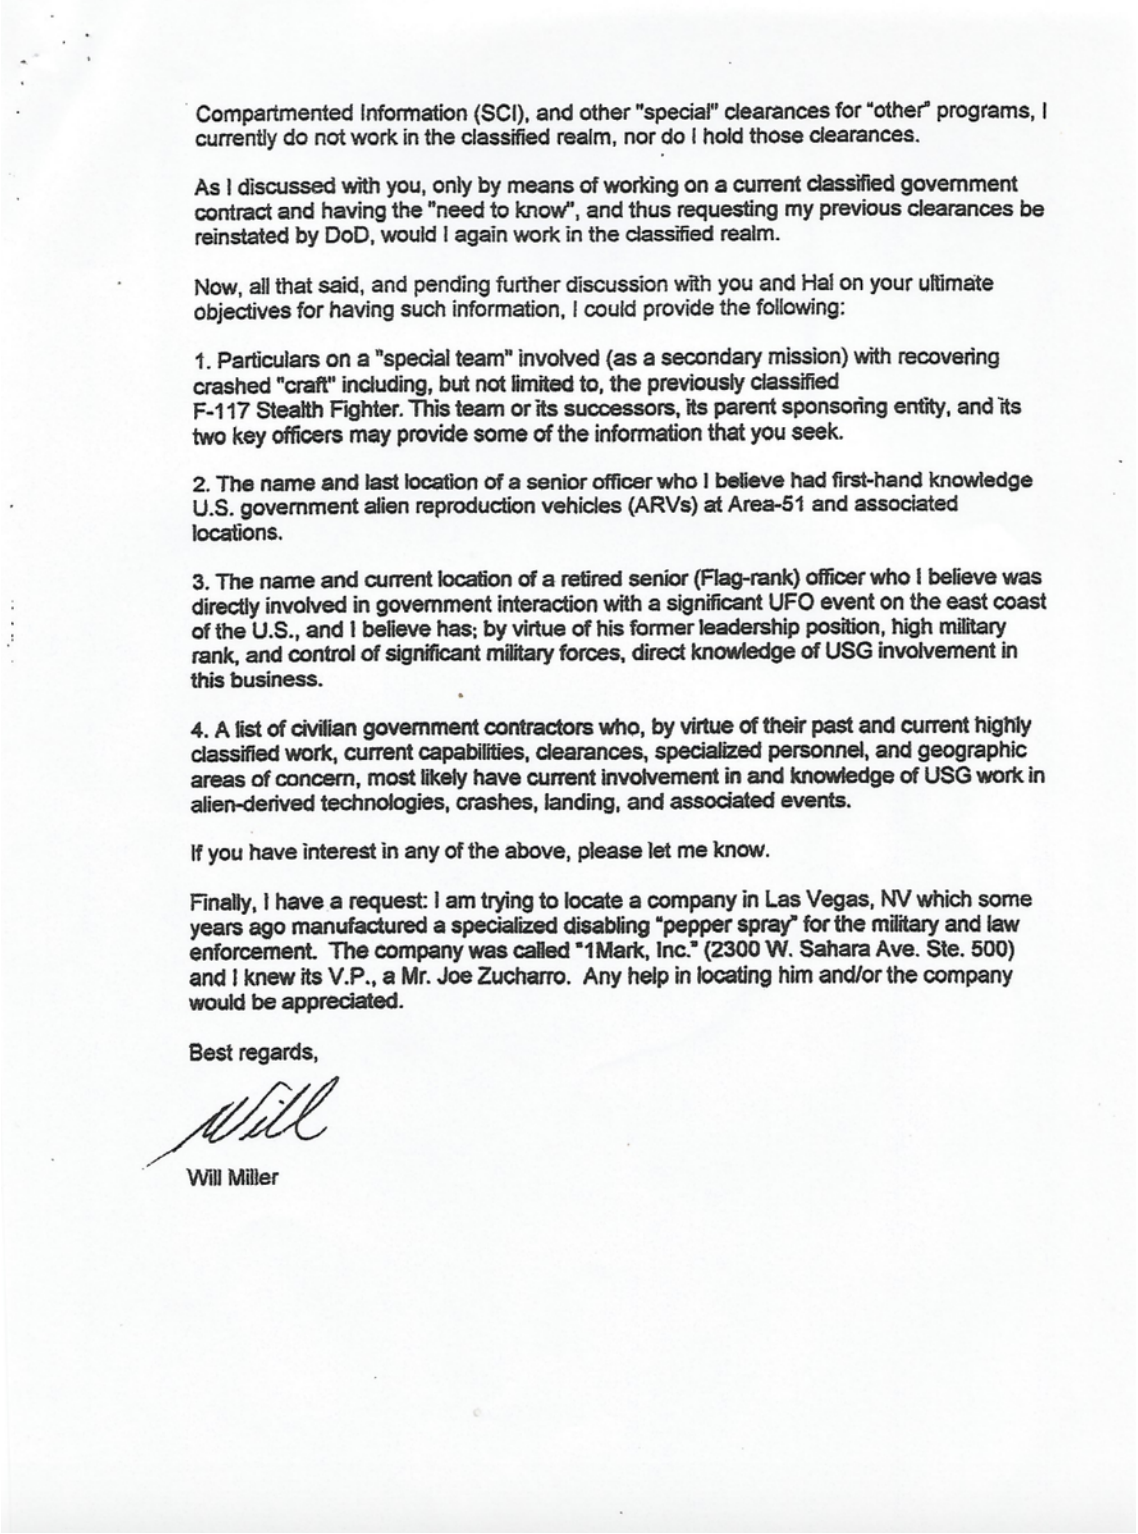

I would be willing to assist you and Hal with your ongoing research into UFO crash retrievals and the entities within the government (or outside of it) that are involved in that business, with the following caveats.

First, there must be absolutely NO mention or association of my name with your work or investigation. I have absolutely nothing to gain from such association at this time, and possibly much to lose.

Second, I would charge you only for the actual time I spend in putting together materials, references, or contact lists for you to pursue. I would expect that time to be minimal, since that initial information would not take long to put together (probably less than 8 hours). My standard rate for such work is $180 per straight-time hour.

Third, nothing I would provide you would be classified from a national security perspective. Although I have held a Top Secret (TS) clearance with access to Special http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ed8gvu-WsAEj8_T.png

Compartmented Information (SCI), and other "special" clearances for "other" programs, I currently do not work in the classified realm, nor do I hold those clearances.

As I discussed with you, only by means of working on a current classified government contract and having the "need to know", and thus requesting my previous clearances be reinstated by DoD, would I again work in the classified realm.

Now, all that said, and pending further discussion with you and Hal on your ultimate objectives for having such information, I could provide the following:

1. Particulars on a "special team" involved (as a secondary mission) with recovering crashed "craft" including, but not limited to, the previously classified F-117 Stealth Fighter. This team or its successors, its parent sponsoring entity, and its two key officers may provide some of the information that you seek.

2. The name and last location of a senior officer who I believe had first-hand knowledge U.S. government alien reproduction vehicles (ARVs) at Area-51 and associated locations.

3. The name and current location of a retired senior (Flag-rank) officer who I believe was directly involved in government interaction with a significant UFO event on the east coast of the U.S., and I believe has; by virtue of his former leadership position, high military rank, and control of significant military forces, direct knowledge of USG involvement in this business.

4. A list of civilian government contractors who, by virtue of their past and current highly classified work, current capabilities, clearances, specialized personnel, and geographic areas of concern, most likely have current involvement in and knowledge of USG work in alien-derived technologies, crashes, landing, and associated events.

If you have interest in any of the above, please let me know.

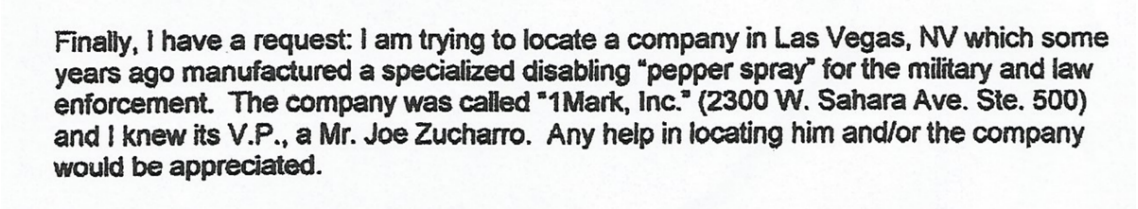

Finally, I have a request: I am trying to locate a company in Las Vegas, NV which some years ago manufactured a specialized disabling "pepper spray" for the military and law enforcement. The company was called "1Mark, Inc." (2300 W. Sahara Ave. Ste. 500) and I knew its V.P., a Mr. Joe Zucharro. Any help in locating him and/or the company would be appreciated.

Best regards,

Will

REMEMBER THE 'SAUCERS?'

Two More See 'Monster Bird'

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—A retired Air Force colonel and a 12-year-old boy last night backed up the report by two Belvidere, Ill., residents of spotting a "monster bird."

It was either the same mysterious bird of gigantic size they saw or one just like it, they said.

Col. W. F. Siegmund, former commandant of the Army air base at Kearns, Utah, said he observed the creature at about 11:30 a. m. last Sunday while horseback riding four miles north of Alton, Ill.

James Traves, 12, said he saw the bird flying over his home in suburban Glendale, Mo., about three months ago. Both Siegmund and the boy said they were apprehensive of telling anyone about it until they read the United Press dispatch from Belvidere.

THE BELVIDERE report quoted Robert Price and Veryl Babb as saying the bird was "bigger than an airplane" and flapped its wings.

Siegmund, now sales manager for the Western Cartridge Co. at Alton, said he didn't see any flapping of wings but he was sure it was a huge fowl and not a type of aircraft.

Siegmund was riding with a companion, Col. Ralph Jackson, head of Western Military Academy, at the time. Jackson, however, was talking to a farmer and didn't see it, Siegmund said, "and I didn't mention it to him because it looked too incredible."

"At first I thought there was something wrong with my eyesight," Siegmund said. "But it was definitely a bird, and not a glider or jet plane."

He described the creature as about the size of a small pursuit plane and said it was flying northeast at an altitude of between 4,000 and 5,000 feet.

"TWO ARMY planes had just flown over in the same direction, and I thought at first it was a pursuit craft following them," Siegmund related. "But from movements of the object and its size, I figured it could only be a bird of tremendous size."

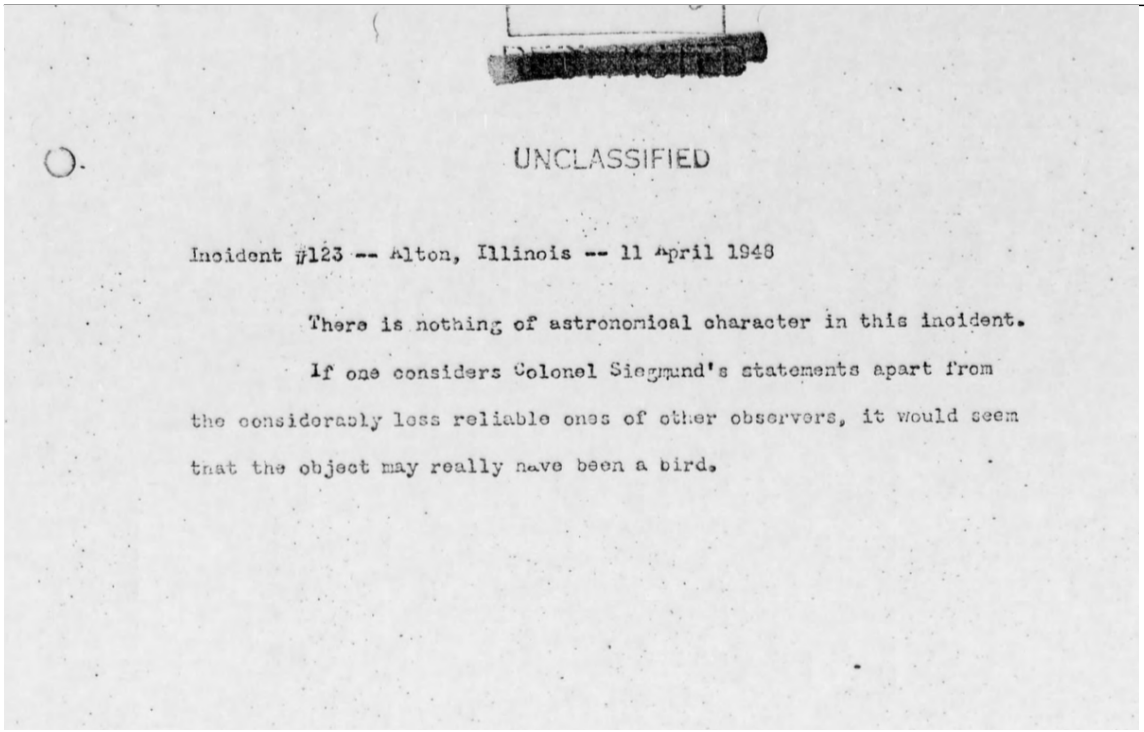

The Traves boy said he spotted the bird in the air one evening at sunset and ran yelling into his house to tell his mother. He said it was gray-green in color and about the size of an airplane.

USAF Project Sign thought the colonel was reliable. He previously ran an Army Air Base in Utah. They concluded: "it would seem that the object may really have been a bird."

UNCLASSIFIED

Incident #123 -- Alton, Illinois -- 11 April 1948

There is nothing of astronomical character in this incident.

If one considers Colonel Siegmund's statements apart from the considerably less reliable ones of other observers, it would seem that the object may really have been a bird.

Want a break from UFOs?

Did you know: in 1948 a US Army colonel claimed to see a bird "as big as a pursuit fighter" â□□ 3x the largest living bird.

This occurred in Alton, IL, the same area where Native American legend clams enormous "thunderbirds" lived.

@MadScientistPod @UfoJoe11 I tend to agree with this. Blumenthal and Kean wanting @TheProjectUnity to take his video down ahead of time seems to suggest they just wanted the scoop.

I'm not sure how restricting information on #ufotwitter would help their reporting process, unless it scares away sources.

@UfoJoe11 @TheProjectUnity @OmniTalkRadio Also thought it was strange they wanted @TheProjectUnity video about the notes down before their article.

Maybe it's a harder sell to the NYT if it's not a scoop or Blumenthal just wanted the scoop over anyone else.

Either way Unity got a good interview out of it, but still odd

Mr Brian Parks

[redacted]

Dear Mr Parks

This is in response to your 22 September 1991 Freedom of Information Act request for a copy of 35 MM film footage.

Identification Number: USAF 23775
Project Number: 7307
Title: Blue Room, Wright Patterson AFB OH, 1955.

A thorough search was conducted by the DOD Motion Media Records Center, Norton Air Force Base CA. Their records reveal the requested film was destroyed on 9 September 1965.

If you interpret this "no records" response as an adverse action, you may appeal it to the Secretary of the Air Force within 60 calendar days from the date of this letter. Include in the appeal your reasons for reconsideration, and attach a copy of this letter. Address your letter as follows:

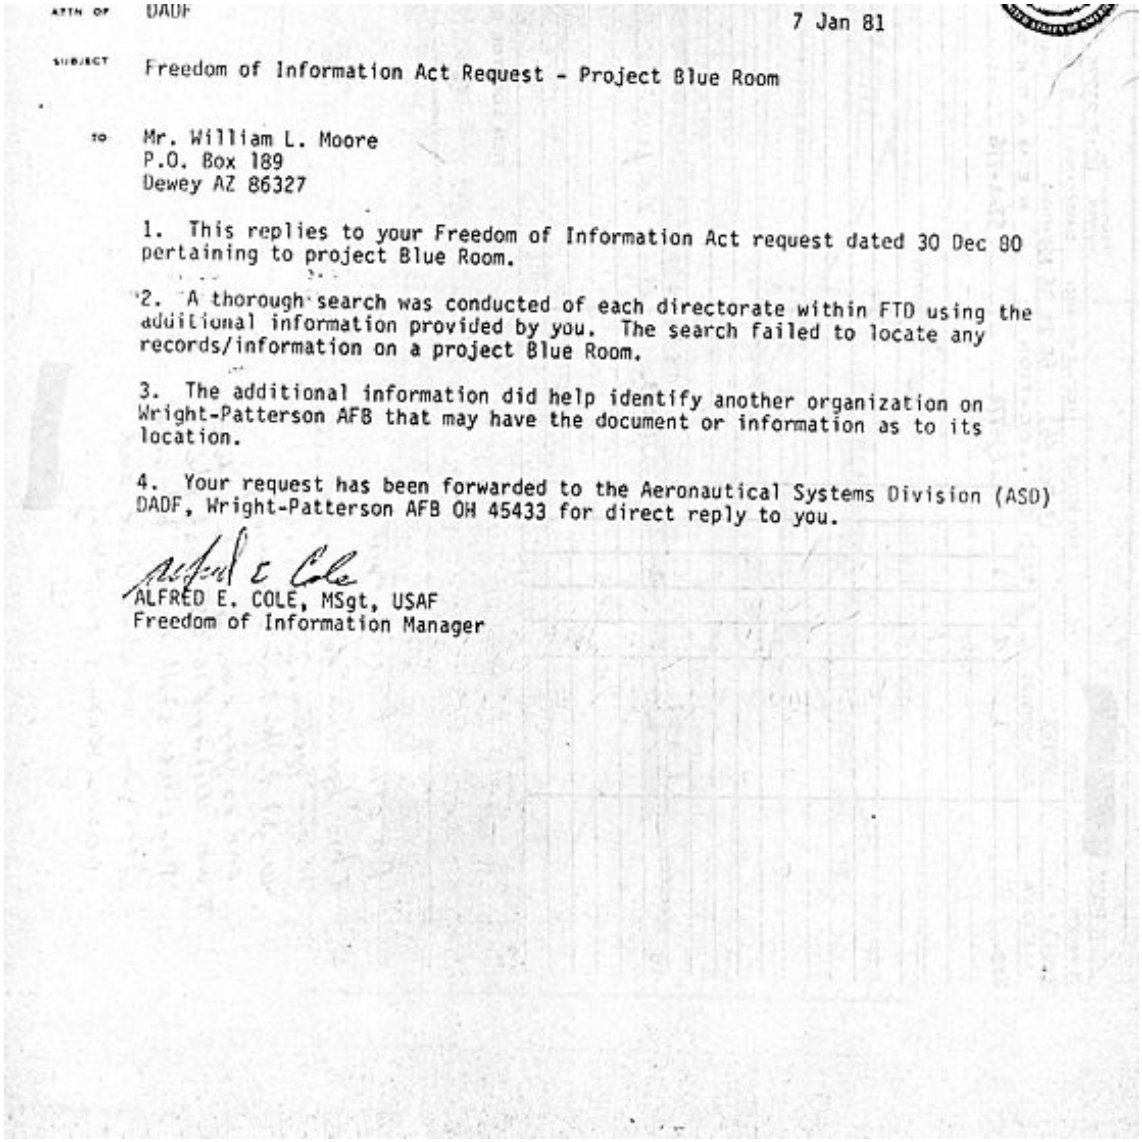

Secretary of the Air Force
THRU: HQ MAC/SCIPM[FOIA]
Scott AFB IL 62225-5001

Sincerely

EDDIE L. ANDERSON, Colonel, USAF
Director of Information Management

SUBJECT Freedom of Information Act Request - Project Blue Room

TO Mr. William L. Moore
P.O. Box 189
Dewey AZ 86327

1. This replies to your Freedom of Information Act request dated 30 Dec 80 pertaining to project Blue Room.

2. A thorough search was conducted of each directorate within FTD using the additional information provided by you. The search failed to locate any records/information on a project Blue Room.

3. The additional information did help identify another organization on Wright-Patterson AFB that may have the document or information as to its location.

4. Your request has been forwarded to the Aeronautical Systems Division (ASD) DADF, Wright-Patterson AFB OH 45433 for direct reply to you.

Alfred E Cole

We should all see the longer FLIR1 UFO video.

Footage showing teleportation-like behavior would be psychologically significant for viewers and meaningful for video experts to analyze.

@SmokeyOl Ufology is so unique in part because it's been subject to disinformation.

Makes it quite unlike other topics (though taking the same approach to it that a 'Nature' editor would is the best approach)

Correction: July 24, 2020

An earlier version of this article inaccurately rendered remarks attributed to Harry Reid, the retired Senate majority leader from Nevada. Mr. Reid said he believed that crashes of objects of unknown origin may have occurred and that retrieved materials should be studied; he did not say that crashes had occurred and that retrieved materials had been studied secretly for decades.

A version of this article appears in print on July 24, 2020, Section A, Page 17 of the New York edition with the headline: U.F.O. Unit At Pentagon Will Publish Its Findings. Order Reprints | Today's Paper | Subscribe @ExogenesisHH @TheProjectUnity @nytimes Like a lot of stuff in this field, the way the information is presented turns off anyone skeptical. There is a better, more reasonable way to get people on board with these theories and it just requires you to not sound like youâ□□re presenting claims like this as absolute fact.

2020-07-24T01:39:35+00:00

Why wouldn't they? Wouldn't they want to be aware of foreign tech advances?

Naturally, if there was UFO material it would make sense to have been swept up by these programs like Moon Dust and w/e it became.

@UfoJoe11 I would imagine if the NYT continues on this subject, their status alone could bring more people out of the woodwork to talk about CR.

That's what I always assumed, was them adding something to the story because, well, they're the Times and can get access most of us can't.

@UfoJoe11 They do mention private companies briefly. That does seem like a strong hint theyâ□□ve either dug into some or gotten commentary off the record on specific contractors. Kean knows how this works â□□ the breaking story will involve private industry.

Maybe there are legal concerns?

@SixteenthLight @MiddleOfMayhem I never said they were flares.

A lens flare is an artifact created by a camera that captures a bright object.

Light being, UFO, UAP, or Jesus. It's irrelevant. What can be measured is the artifact measured by the camera.

We don't seem to be speaking the same language here.

@TheProjectUnity This is great and well deserved. And you're right that I guess we have to play the game a little bit to get more eyes on stuff.

You deserve credit as an originator in this saga, and their interviews will give you that.

So from that standpoint it was a smart move, fair point @SixteenthLight @MiddleOfMayhem :expressionless_face: you are missing my point. Like, literally, the question is if the refraction pattern in the lens flare is legitimate or not.

If you're not going to address this there's no reason to keep saying Go OuTSIdE. It's an irrelevant point.

ignored.

Mr. Center's employment at Battelle can be confirmed through the American Men of Science. It was learned from Mr. Center's wife that he died of cancer on July 15, 1991. She told us that he had been keenly interested in the subject of flying saucers, but she knew nothing about any such work while he was at Battelle. His daughter Cathy was contacted and remembers our informant well but does not remember the conversation. She thought she would have remembered it because of her own interest in the subject, but said it is possible that it has been forgotten. She confirmed her father's interest in the subject of flying saucers and, like us, doubts that our informant would make up a story about the conversation.

For those who might think that they can contact Battelle to request verification of this story will not find it there. First of all, too many years have passed and anyone who might know the truth will have long since retired. Secondly, since the information would have clearly been highly classified, the records would have gone back to the Government. Thirdly, Battelle's business practices do not permit it to discuss a client's work. An unidentified Battelle staff member wrote a letter about this company that was published in the September 1993 issue of Just Cause (Citizens Against UFO Secrecy, P.O. Box 218, Coventry, CT 06238) which states this ethic better than we can. "The research Battelle undertakes is done with integrity and an ethical regard for the confidentiality of its clients, both governmental and industrial (commercial). Battelle will not discuss with others the work it does for its clients. Because of this ethical approach to its work, including due regard to matters of national security, Battelle will not respond to inquiries about Blue Book or any of its other work...This should not be seen as proof of cooperation in any sort of imagined cover up. It is part of the ethical tradition that has been part of the Battelle business philosophy since its founding in 1929."

We have heard other reports of Battelle project work on alien artifacts during this time period that is a under inventigation by others.

Ballistics Tests

In 1982 Kevin Meggs was attending Wright State University, taking a course in Statics and Dynamics. One night he was working at the library on a class project with an older classmate. During a moment of much needed relaxation, he and the classmate started talking about various matters and ended up discussing the UFO phenomenon. During this conversation, the classmate, who had worked at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base for many years, stated that as a young engineer, he and his fellow workers were asked to test an unusual piece of material, the origin of which was left unstated. This occurred in the late 1940s or early 1950s, he couldn't remember exactly when.

The material was very thin and foil like. The particular piece they were given was about three feet square. It wouldn't crease or bend. Among other tests, they fired projectiles at the material. The material simply absorbed the projectiles and the energy it carried, dropping the projectile to the floor of the test chamber. The material wasn't penetrated. After the tests were completed, officials retrieved the square of material and gathered up all the reports and notebooks. They engineers were told that the tests were classified and that they were never to talk about the work they did.

During this converstion, Mr. Meggs asked about the Hanger 18 story. The classmate replied that he had heard there was a building which contained items from a retrieved flying saucer. He said the building contained a test chamber where the temperature could be varied. He knew little about the building or what went on inside, but he thought it had a three digit number. Reports such as this are being uncovered with increasing regularity by the MORA staff.

Wright Patterson Bodies

Jim Donohoe, an independent UFO investigator living in Madison County, was a teenager in 1953 and it was not uncommon for his uncle, who was a highly placed civil servant at Wright Field, to drop by Jim's home in South Charleston, Ohio to chat. For some reason Jim's aunt did not want her husband talking about his work when he was at home, so on occasion Jim became an outlet for his uncle when it came to his work at the Field. Jim was quite interested in airplanes and things technical, so the relationship work well for them both.

Jim's uncle had joined the Army Air Force in 1937 and ferried aircraft across the Pacific as part of his duties. On one occasion during the war he was at a base that was heavily bombed by the Japanese and, when the bombing

by Dr. Irena Scott, MUFON Board of Directors
&
William E. Jones, JD, MUFON State Director for Ohio

Timken Furnace

Ralph A. Multer was an "A class" truck driver for the Timken Roller Bearing Company of Canton, Ohio in the summer of 1947 when on a hot day in August or September he and two other drivers were asked to go to a nearby railroad yard, pick up three trucks and bring the loads back to the plant. He was planning to meet his young wife - they had been married the previous year - for lunch. He was on a four hour shift and hoped he wouldn't be late. Upon his arrival at the rail yard, Ralph and the other drivers were given three flatbed trucks to drive back to the plant. The trailer on each truck had a load covered with a canvas tarpaulin. The load on Ralph's truck was the largest. It covered the entire width of the trailer and part of its length. The convoy was escorted by officials, but Ralph never said who these escorts were.

When they arrived back at the plant they were met by several men who identified themselves as FBI. Being curious, Ralph asked what the loads were. The agent replied that they were parts of a "flying saucer" that had been recovered in New Mexico and that the new Timken furnace was going to be used to try and melt down the material. As his wife remembers the story, he was further told not to discuss the matter with anyone. Ralph had a security clearance as part of his job, so this revelation was being made within that context. The agent climbed up and pulled the tarp back to partially expose the load. From what Ralph could see, it was a "brushed aluminum" colored metallic object that appeared to have been blackened in places as if someone had tried to use a torch to cut off pieces of it. He did not see the loads on the other trucks.

When Ralph met his wife for lunch he was late. At first he didn't tell her why he had been late. However, after some prodding on her part and a promise not to talk to anyone about it, Ralph finally told her what had happened. A week or two later he ran into two of the furnace operators during the lunch period and he asked them what had happened with the material. They replied that the furnace "couldn't touch it." They couldn't break it or melt it. He never did learn what happened to the material after that. However, word got around the plant about the "flying saucer" and people were joking about it.

In the years that followed, Ralph's wife noticed that the experience had changed him; she said, without elaboration, that the experience "never left his mind from then on." She always believed his story, noting, "He had no reason to make it up." Ralph passed away a number of years ago.

The "I Beams"

Timken wasn't the only Ohio company to be connected to government sponsored UFO research. Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio was a major contractor to the U.S. Air Force's Project Blue Book. Battelle's involvement with Blue Book is well established, but that work may not have been the most interesting UFO related work to be undertaken at the world's largest private research and development organization.

Decoding the I-Beams

In May of 1992 one of us was approached by an informant who told an intriguing story. For the record, he was not a Battelle employee. He had attended North High School in Columbus, Ohio, graduating in June of 1960. Between January and April of 1958, he dated a classmate named Cathy Center. One evening while he was visiting her home, Cathy's father, Mr. Elroy John Center, told them that while working at Battelle (he had left their employment in 1957) he was responsible for a project which required him to study "parts" retrieved from a flying saucer. The parts had some sort of writing on them and his job was to "find out what the characters meant." He told them that there was "lots more I can't go into. It's been bothering me since I saw it." Given that some of the material (actually described as small "I beams") retrieved from the pre-crash debris field near Roswell, New Mexico in July, 1947 has been described as having some sort of writing on it, the obvious question is did the "parts" Mr. Center study come from the same crash event? The fact that Mr. Center's story was told long before the details of the Roswell debris were known publically, the possible confirmation of his story by the later descriptions of that debris cannot be @markoconnell_1 The thing is, Moon Dust goals did suggest UFOs were an objective way back in the early 60s.

My thinking is if any addition to this narrative ever comes out, it could just be that we recovered material with anomalous properties or something.

@Bhima_Jenkins Thank you..thatâ□□s always my takeaway. Disinfo exists in other fields like politics, but have we ever seen it so prolific as in ufology? And if there was nothing to it, why do it?

Thereâ□□s also the element of monitoring UFO groups that occurs.

Majdan Gorny, Poland.

Witness claims to see a spherical UAP come from east, and fly beneath a wind turbine, while seemingly shutting it off.

Afaik modern video analysis has not been done.

I mean just look at this bio (from 2007 MUFON paper)

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EdEqEKMXkAAEFKc.png

Brad Sparks is the leading expert on the CIA Robertson Panel and the history of the CIA investigation of UFO's, having interviewed every living CIA official involved with the Panel and having secured the release of the CIA's UFO files over the years since 1972. He was the first researcher to discover that the Director of the CIA had been briefed on UFO's, the first to obtain the release of the CIA Director's UFO briefing memos, and the first to obtain the release of the complete, uncensored and declassified CIA Robertson Panel report and Minutes, as well as many other important CIA documents, some of which have never been released again to the public (because the CIA "lost" the documents). Brad discovered that the Air Force took known IFO cases falsely disguised as sensational unexplained UFO cases then planted them on the CIA and the Robertson Panel in a successful effort to sabotage the Panel and the CIA's UFO investigation. The AF's special file of 63 best UFO Unknowns was deliberately suppressed from the CIA.

Brad also discovered that the CIA had concluded at that point that UFO's were extraterrestrial (until the AF deception), and this was confirmed by the CIA director and deputy director of its Office of Scientific Intelligence. Brad carried out a systematic investigation of the CIA's UFO activities, which included interviewing some 100 CIA Directors, Deputy Directors, Assistant Directors, and various intelligence officials of the CIA, NSA, DIA, Air Force and Naval Intelligence and other agencies, since 1975. He has reviewed 100,000's of pages of declassified CIA, NSA, AF, Army, Navy and other agency documents on UFO's and agency background histories in the course of his research. He is presently reconstructing the full history of U.S. Intelligence Community involvement with UFO's. Brad has uncovered the fact that the AF made a milestone policy decision on July 28, 1952, to discount and/or reject anecdotal UFO reports and to henceforth stress instrumented and technical UFO detections and sightings, and he believes this is the watershed event in all of governmental history in UFO studies.

Brad was cofounder of Citizens Against UFO Secrecy (CAUS) and principal consultant in the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) lawsuits managed by CAUS against the CIA and NSA. Brad served as the assistant research director of the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization (APRO), founded by the late Coral and Jim Lorenzen, for APRO's last decade until 1988.

@MadScientistPod @_Desmoden @UfoJoe11 Maybe there is a UFO ctrl group...maybe legit documents had bogus disinfo in there for deniability?

So even if a credible, human source is saying something, if it links to MJ12, no way NYT will take the reputational risk and go live.

This is how disinfo is supposed to work.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1283203235046739972
@MadScientistPod @_Desmoden @UfoJoe11 What might stop them is if sources discuss things like that, as Joe alludes to, and NYT editors go: 'hey wait, these guys are talking about proven disinfo campaigns? How in the heck can we go live with a story like this unless we can prove MJ12 exists?'

They can't.

@MadScientistPod @_Desmoden @UfoJoe11 If the NYT reports on the SNIE as Joe suggests is possible, then there is no way in hell they ever go live with it unless they literally can prove MJ12 was real.

Which would counter decades of evidence all links to it were disinfo.

The document is riddled with bogus linkages.

@zcichy 2b) Why are we even discussing the 144 number when the key 18 incidents demonstrated what really look like (some of) the five observables?

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E9m8avxWEAIppF-.jpg

And a Handful of UAP Appear to Demonstrate Advanced Technology

In 18 incidents, described in 21 reports, observers reported unusual UAP movement patterns or flight characteristics.

Some UAP appeared to remain stationary in winds aloft, move against the wind, maneuver abruptly, or move at considerable speed, without discernable means of propulsion. In a small number of cases, military aircraft systems processed radio frequency (RF) energy associated with UAP sightings.

The UAPTF holds a small amount of data that appear to show UAP demonstrating acceleration or a degree of signature management. Additional rigorous analysis are necessary by multiple teams or groups of technical experts to determine the nature and validity of these data. We are conducting further analysis to determine if breakthrough technologies were demonstrated.

2021-08-25T04:07:29+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1430381288511442946

@zcichy 2) This answers your question, no?

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E9m8MF3XIAAd4Hb.jpg

- 144 reports originated from USG sources. Of these, 80 reports involved observation with multiple sensors.
    - Most reports described UAP as objects that interrupted pre-planned training or other military activity.

UAP Collection Challenges

Sociocultural stigmas and sensor limitations remain obstacles to collecting data on UAP. Although some technical challenges—such as how to appropriately filter out radar clutter to ensure safety of flight for military and civilian aircraft—are longstanding in the aviation community, while others are unique to the UAP problem set.

- Narratives from aviators in the operational community and analysts from the military and IC describe disparagement associated with observing UAP, reporting it, or attempting to discuss it with colleagues. Although the effects of these stigmas have lessened as senior members of the scientific, policy, military, and intelligence communities engage on the topic seriously in public, reputational risk may keep many observers silent, complicating scientific pursuit of the topic.
- The sensors mounted on U.S. military platforms are typically designed to fulfill specific missions. As a result, those sensors are not generally suited for identifying UAP.
- Sensor vantage points and the numbers of sensors concurrently observing an object play substantial roles in distinguishing UAP from known objects and determining whether a UAP demonstrates breakthrough aerospace capabilities. Optical sensors have the benefit of providing some insight into relative size, shape, and structure. Radiofrequency sensors provide more accurate velocity and range information.

Jeff,

Thanks for reaching out….

Megan is correct, from a Public Affairs perspective, all media inquiries on UAPs go to DOD Public Affairs,
Sue Gough (cc'd)…. keeping me in the loop, as we coordinate closely.

To date, we have not authorized any media interviews on the subject.

Make no comment. The nuances of all this are such that any deviations from the statements that DOD makes result in multiple news stories… and additional FOIA requests at various levels.

If we need to, we'll coordinate with you on specific responses, depending on the questions asked!

Also, generally speaking, we let the normal FOIA process work as it is supposed to… but we have been requesting that FOIA offices coordinate with us on UAP-focused FOIA responses before they hit "reply" so that new terms/language/etc. aren't introduced that complicate the overall messaging efforts.

Additionally, there is now a Security Classification Guidance document (at the SECRET) level, that addresses the UAP issue and what may/may not be discussed publicly. Happy to get that to you if you see the need.

Any questions, feel free to call me!

Joe

@BlaireJulia Itâ□□s a fair point which is why I question if their database project will really ever take off.

The company they acquired to build theirs was pretty weak imo and I am honestly thinking itâ□□s going to be a letdown. I also question how open the data will really be.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1282509967501795336

@BlaireJulia Iâ□□d bet there are a fair amount of ancient texts that havenâ□□t truly been systematically scanned for anomalies in the context of UAP.

Right now we just rely on human scholars who can only do so much.

If the question is: should we try to learn more or not, I choose more info.

2020-07-13T02:58:10+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1282509596700160000

@BlaireJulia Well I agree with you. Thereâ□□s no way they can discriminate which ones are truly anomalous and not a fiction, so really they should all come with asterisks.

Theyâ□□re probably using machine learning to just find the antiquity cases and not actually grade how reliable they are.

2020-07-13T02:49:22+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1282507384611643393

@BlaireJulia I am building something I think will be better than VAULT but for that reason I am going to probably limit it to sightings 1850 to present...

Idk itâ□□s a tough challenge because how do you know if a Native legend, say from 1500, is referring to a UAP or not?

2020-07-13T02:47:41+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1282506959908986882

@BlaireJulia Their word choice is weird and over the top but itâ□□s just more data for their VAULT system.

If I were doing this i would probably try to have a way to filter out sightings from ancient texts since we have far less context..

And since many had religious connotation

2020-07-13T02:43:53+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1282506004723314688

@BlaireJulia Theyâ□□re building a tool to plot sightings on a map.

Naturally to stretch back the time frame of those sightings they use historical texts. Thatâ□□s all.

Instead of reading the texts by hand they are using some ML component to scan for anomalous encounters using key words.

One way to detect UFOs is to hunt for magnetic disturbances with monitoring stations.

@UfoJoe11 I believe NYT could easily do a story on crash retrievals.

Take the history I outlined in my video this morning, and add in a few on the record sources about the 1127th, intel sharing within NORAD or post 1980s activity and if AATIP found anything.

@mentiramentira When reading these files, origin is almost never speculated.

Disclosure docs would have this analysis, how we came to know this, and if comms have happened.

Everything declassified is more how the lower tier military interacted with them. We will get higher level eventually.

@mentiramentira of course we'd need some smoking gun documents that are currently missing, but you get my point.

Anything new will likely use some of this old stuff too. I think the higher classified SAPs were probably doing the 10,000 foot view analyses and intelligence reports.

@mentiramentira thank you, Puthoff and others have talked about a "Core Story" in the past.

Basically a TLDR of UFOs and military work.

I sometimes think true Disclosure will be this, and may use a lot of already declassified stuff.

Some evidence for something Stanton Friedman always said....

Govt UFO docs CAN misspell common words rather easily.

Here is a Royal Canadian Air Force message about an unidentified object crash in '62 where the words "cylinderical" and "particals" are.. badly misspelled.

@Mabzors @UfoJoe11 @blackvaultcom I worked with @EngagingThe on a recent video abt Disclosure.

@Mabzors @UfoJoe11 @blackvaultcom I disagree with that approach, yes.

I also disagree with conflating the notes with the SNIE.

I just brought it up because the goal of disinfo is to drive people apart, so itâ□□s important to still have discourse even when people disagree

@smiley22432 @LtTimMcMillan @UfoJoe11 @BobMcGwier_N4HY With the history of disinformation, everyone always needs to keep it in the back of their minds that until we have a @smiley22432 @LtTimMcMillan @UfoJoe11 @BobMcGwier_N4HY You can't say the meeting 100% happened, you can say Mitchell believed it 100% happened and it makes more sense this document did come from him.

@LtTimMcMillan @UfoJoe11 @BobMcGwier_N4HY The questions need to be now:

How was this alleged meeting transcribed/taped?
Can we prove the meeting actually took place with other means?

The latest realization noted by Joe and Omni is just that Mitchell also mentioned it off hand in an interview some years back. More backing up the likelihood they did come from his archive.

2020-07-09T17:40:53+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1281282189523632129
@BlaireJulia I do think an important distinction needs to be made between (a) just using the term 'MJ12' as a descriptor of a UFO info control group, and (b)actually supporting the hoaxed documents.

That's how disinfo is supposed to work. So I don't immediately write it off because they..

2020-07-09T17:38:10+00:00

2020-07-09T16:54:02+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1281270396650692608

@BlaireJulia Because, yes, accepting this came from Mitchell and he was told about it, the question still remains, did it happen.

It's not as if Mitchell was an entirely impartial guy. He had his beliefs and I do not know enough about his archives to know how much they led him in one dir.

2020-07-09T16:52:38+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1281270046157873152

@BlaireJulia I'm not enough of an expert in Navy protocols to understand if this makes sense or not. But you're right it is worth asking these questions.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1281269652501520384

@BlaireJulia @OmniTalkRadio @UfoJoe11 It's interesting you say that because I was thinking about flight records. I have no idea on the legality of obtaining that information but can spend some time on it.

I assume someone else has done this, though, right? maybe not.

@BlaireJulia @OmniTalkRadio @UfoJoe11 I respect your opinion, for sure.

@alejandrotrojas @buffcommacu @OmniTalkRadio At this point if one is arguing on this being disinformation, then I suppose it would have to argue that Mitchell himself was the target of disinfo, right?

Or that the notes he obtained were a fiction or exaggeration?

I think the focus should turn to Mitchell is all I'm saying.

@alejandrotrojas @buffcommacu @OmniTalkRadio It doesn't verify the notes, of course.

But it does establish more legitimacy to the provenance of them coming from the Mitchell archives, right?

Intriguing find by @OmniTalkRadio and @UfoJoe11.

Edgar Mitchell referred to the Davis/Wilson meeting in obscure interview in 2010.

This is a subtle mention, makes no sense for this to be disinfo as he barely expanded on it. Also establishes more provenance.

EM: It was in 1997, when I was becoming more interested in UFO events Dr. Stephen Greer, who's with the Disclosure Project, got in touch with me.

He recruited me and another naval commander, Will Miller, who also lives here in Florida, to come to a conference in Washington DC. There, we spoke and explained our stories and said that we believed this was real. The three of us, with both Naval officers, were able to get to the Pentagon and get a meeting with the Chairman of the Intelligence Committee of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. We told our respective stories of what we knew about UFOs and the cover-up. "This is what we know. Will you confirm anything for us?" And the Admiral said, "I don't know about this, but I should know, and I will find out and get back to you." Well, he never got back to me personally. But he did get back to Dr. Greer, and essentially said, "Yes. What you're saying is true. I know where the black budget money is dispersed from within the Pentagon."

Greer told Commander Miller, who called me and said, "Yes, Greer heard from the admiral, and he's confirmed that there was an office in the Pentagon funding all of this." Subsequently, another contact of mine, who must also remain nameless because he's on classified programs, encountered the Admiral in Las Vegas, where he had been looking for and trying to get into the so-called "strategic access program" around the UFO incident and had been denied.

@Bhima_Jenkins @GrantCameron This is true. Itâ□□s really difficult to talk about a UFO control group because thereâ□□s so much disinformation related to MJ12.

What I think when I see this is just to look at places like SRI more closely, not ignore their archives. Maybe they have a relevant document, etc

Dr Walker What do you mean?

Azadehdel I mean ordinary people who have dedicated their lives to studying UFO?

Dr Walker No.

Azadehdel Are you a member of that group?

Dr Walker I cannot answer that. How good is your sixth sense? How much do you know about ESP?

Azadehdel I know to some degree about ESP and EVP. But, what has that got to do with it?

> Some of the incidents involved fighter squadrons aboard the aircraft carrier Theodore Roosevelt. One of the former F/A-18 Super Hornet pilots, Lt. Ryan Graves, last year described a close encounter off Virginia Beach with what looked like a flying sphere encasing a cube, as recounted by a fellow pilot and later reported to the squadron safety officer.

"More UAP are described as objects (74%) than point sources of lights.

Circular disc is the most reported shape (42%)."

-D. F. Weinstein of GEIPAN/CNES and NARCAP, written in 2012.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E9m1WH5WEAAAPyn.jpg

Conclusions

This preliminary study of 600 UAP cases reported by civilian and military pilots has shown a number of key points.

- The distribution of cases comes from the whole Earth (Continental and maritime zones);
- There are slightly more nocturnal cases (54%) than daylight cases;
- Witnesses were two or more in 69% (more than two thirds) of the cases;
- Pilots have officially reported their sightings in 197 cases (33% of the 600 cases);
- Commercial pilots have reported their sightings officially in 35% among 233 cases;
- Most of the sightings occurred during cruise phase of flight (85%);
- Visual sightings are confirmed by radar detection in 27% of the cases;
- More UAP are described as « objects » (74%) than point sources of lights. Circular (disc) is the most reported shape (42%);
- UAP perform maneuvers in more than half of the cases (56%) and their behaviours seem to reflect an interaction with the aircraft in almost 50% (299) of the 600 cases;
- In 48% (almost half) of the 600 cases, UAP have had or could have had an impact on flight safety, including 31 cases in which pilots had to make an evasive action to avoid a collision with UAP;
- Electro-magnetic effects were reported in 14% of the 600 cases, radio and compass systems were the most affected;
- Private aircrafts are more affected by the E-M effects allegedly caused by UAP;
- Weapon systems were momentarily ineffective when targeting UAP;

Mr. Miles B. Gall
Box 9575
Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio

Attention Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt

Dear Mr. Gall:

This letter concerns a preliminary recommendation to ATIC on future methods of handling the problem of unidentified flying objects. This recommendation is based on our experience to date in analyzing several thousands of reports on this subject. We regard the recommendations as preliminary because our analysis is not yet complete, and we are not able to document it where we feel it should be supported by facts from the analysis.

We are making this recommendation prematurely because of a Cl[a]- sponsored meeting of a scientific panel, meeting in Washington, D. C., January 14, 15, and 16, 1953, to consider the problem of "flying saucers". The cl[a]-sponsored meeting is being held subsequent to a meeting of CIA, ATIC, and our representatives strongly recommended that a scientific panel not be set up until the results of our analysis of the sighting reports collected by ATIC were available. Since a meeting of the panel is now definitely scheduled we feel that agreement between Project Stork and ATIC should be reached as to what can and what cannot be discussed at the meeting in Washington on January 14-16 concerning our preliminary recommendation to ATIC.

Experience to date on our study of unidentified flying objects shows that there is a distinct lack of reliable data with which to work. Even the best-documented reports are frequently lacking in critical information that makes it impossible to arrive at a positive identification, i.e. even in a well-documented report there is always an element of doubt about the data, either because the observer had no sense of getting the required data, or was not prepared to utilize the data at the disposal. Therefore, we recommend that a controlled experiment be set up by which reliable physical data can be obtained. A tentative preliminary plan by which the experiment could be designed and carried out is discussed in the following paragraphs.

Based on experience do far, it is expected that certain conclusions will be reached as a result of our analysis which would indicate the need for an effort to obtain reliable data from competent observers using the necessary equipment. Until reliable data are available, no positive answers to the problem will be possible.

January 9, 1953

E. Gall

We expect that our analysis will show that certain areas in the United States have had an abnormally high number of reported incidents of unidentified flying objects. Assuming that, from our analysis, several definite areas productive of reports can be selected, we recommend that one or two of these areas be set up as experimental areas. This area, or areas, should have observations posts with complete visual equipment, with radar and photographic coverage, plus all other instruments necessary or helpful in obtaining positive and reliable data on everything in the air over the area. A very complete record of the weather should also be kept during the time of the experiment. Coverage should be so complete that any object in the air could be tracked, and information as to its altitude, velocity, size, shape, color, time of day, etc. could be procured. All balloon releases or known balloon paths, aircraft flights, and flights of rockets in the test area should be known to those in charge of the experiment. Any different type of aerial activity should be secretly and purposefully scheduled in the area.

We recognize that this proposed experiment would amount to a large-scale military maneuver, or operation, and that it would require extensive preparation and fine coordination, plus maximum security. Although it would be a major operation, and expensive, there are many extra benefits to be derived besides data on unidentified aerial objects.

The question of just what would be accomplished by the proposed experiment occurs. Just how could the problem of these unidentified objects be solved? From this test area, during the time of the experiment, it can be assumed that there would be a steady flow of reports from ordinary civilian observers, in addition to those by military or other official observers. It might be possible by such a controlled experiment to prove the identity of all objects reported, or to determine positively that there were objects present of unknown identity. Any human under a set-up such as this could almost certainly be exposed, perhaps not publicly, but at least to the military.

In addition, by having resulting data from the controlled experiment, reports for the last five years could be re-evaluated, in the light of similar but positive information. This should make possible reasonably certain conclusions concerning the problem of "flying saucers".

Results of an experiment such as described could assist the Air Force to determine how much attention to pay to future situations that, as in the past summer, therefore thousands of sightings reported. In the future, then, the Air Force should be able to make positive statements, reassuring to the public, and to the effect that everything is well under control.

Very truly yours,

E. C. Cross.

SUBJECT: AMC Opinion Concerning "Flying Discs"

TO: Commanding General
Army Air Forces
Washington 25, D. C.
ATTENTION: Brig. General George Schulgen
AC/AS-2

1. As requested by AC/AS-2 there is presented below the considered opinion of this Command concerning the so-called "Flying Discs". This opinion is based on interrogation report data furnished by AC/AS-2 and preliminary studies by personnel of T-2 and Aircraft Laboratory, Engineering Division T-3. This opinion was arrived at in a conference between personnel from the Air Institute of Technology, Intelligence T-2, Office, Chief of Engineering Division, and the Aircraft, Power Plant and Propeller Laboratories of Engineering Division T-3.

2. It is the opinion that:

a. The phenomenon reported is something real and not visionary or fictitious.

b. There are objects probably approximating the shape of a disc, of such appreciable size as to appear to be as large as man-made aircraft.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EcNFdF2WAAIjXpl.jpg

c. There is a possibility that some of the incidents may be caused by natural phenomena, such as meteors.

d. The reported operating characteristics such as extreme rates of climb, maneuverability (particularly in roll), and action which must be considered evasive when sighted or contacted by friendly aircraft and radar, lend belief to the possibility that some of the objects are controlled either manually, automatically or remotely.

e. The apparent common description of the objects is as follows:-

(1) Metallic or light reflecting surface.

Basic Ltr fr CG, AMC, WF to CG, AAF, Wash. D. C. subj "AMC Opinion Concerning "Flying Discs".

(2) Absence of trail, except in a few instances when the object apparently was operating under high performance conditions.

(3) Circular or elliptical in shape, flat on bottom and domed on top.

(4) Several reports of well kept formation flights varying from three to nine objects.

(5) Normally no associated sound, except in three instances a substantial rumbling roar was noted.

(6) Level flight speeds normally above 300 knots are estimated.

f. It is possible within the present U. S. knowledge — provided extensive detailed development is undertaken — to construct a piloted aircraft which has the general description of the object in subparagraph (e) above which would be capable of an approximate range of 7000 miles at subsonic speeds.

g. Any developments in this country along the lines indicated would be extremely expensive, time consuming and at the considerable expense of current projects and therefore, if directed, should be set up independently of existing projects.

h. Due consideration must be given the following:-

(1) The possibility that these objects are of domestic origin - the product of some high security project not known to AC/AS-2 or this Command.

(2) The lack of physical evidence in the shape of crash recovered exhibits which would undeniably prove the existence of these objects.

@humanoidlord @PaulJamesDean @ddeanjohnson @blackvaultcom How possible do you think it is that:

(a) MJ12 was a real group at one point in history.

(b) but everything released on it is either hoaxed or disinfo?

Just to be clear guys: are your positions' that both 61 MJ12 SNIE and Wilson notes aren't legit?

There has prob been confusion among newcomers/anyone not closely following these docs because Joe tends to usually mention them together

Good followup @KeithBasterfie1

@UfoJoe11 would be best served by treating the Wilson notes and the 61 MJ12/SNIE doc as completely separate/stop conflating them

It takes away from what @BobMcGwier_N4HY & others have to say about the notes 1955 Ohio.

Witness tells USAF a saucer shot beam of light at him before landing, saying they were from another planet, adding quote:

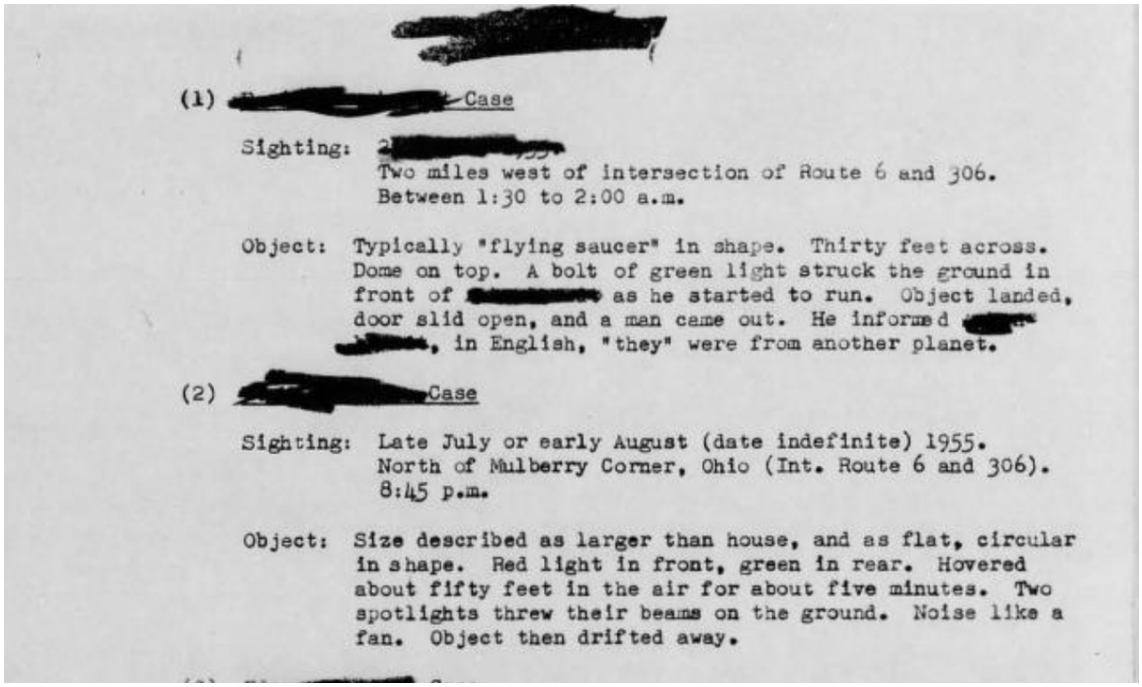

"Tell your leader, if there is another war â□□ we'll take over."

Blue Book ruled this a natural phenomena exaggerated by imagination #ufotwitter http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EcMwyv5XYAAAO-o.png

C. CONCLUSIONS:

9. [redacted] Case: Mr. [redacted], an impressionable young man with an over-active imagination did observe some natural or explainable phenomena, but let his imagination run riot to build up a story of a "flying saucer" landing and its occupants talking to him to such an extent that he now believes or alleges to believe this fantastic story himself. Considered an "eccentric" or "psychological manifestation" UFO report.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EcMwyv5XYAAAO-o.png

(1) [redacted] Case

Sighting: [redacted]
Two miles west of intersection of Route 6 and 306.
Between 1:30 to 2:00 a.m.

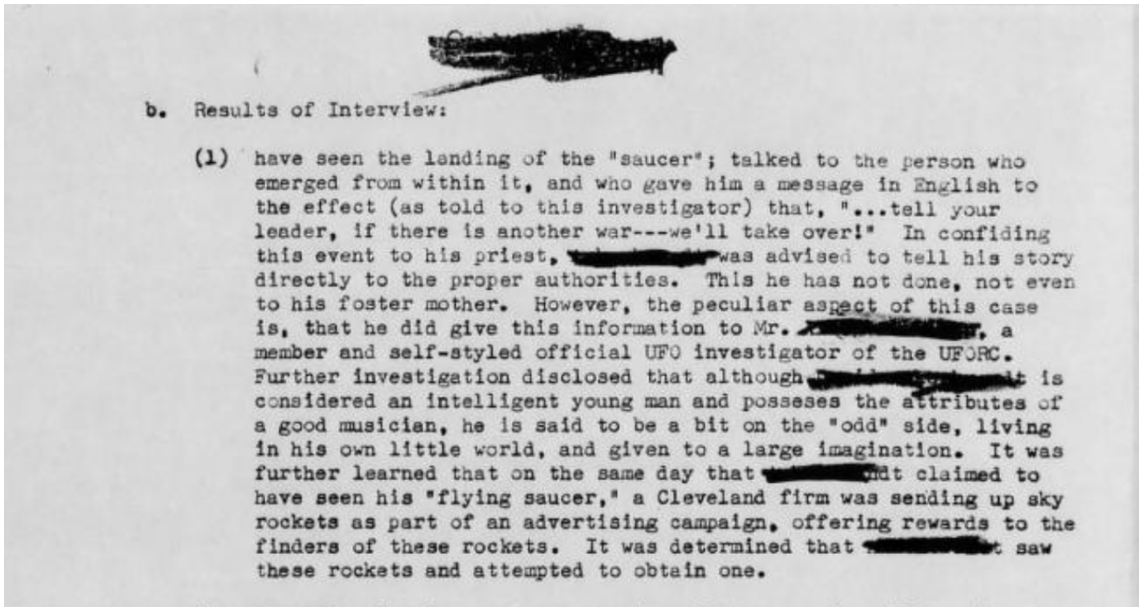

Object: Typically "flying saucer" in shape. Thirty feet across. Dome on top. A bolt of green light struck the ground in front of [redacted] as he started to run. Object landed, door slid open, and a man came out. He informed [redacted], in English, "they" were from another planet.

(2) [redacted] Case

Sighting: Late July or early August (date indefinite) 1955.
North of Mulberry Corner, Ohio (Int. Route 6 and 306).
8:45 p.m.

Object: Size described as larger than house, and as flat, circular in shape. Red light in front, green in rear. Hovered about fifty feet in the air for about five minutes. Two spotlights threw their beams on the ground. Noise like a fan. Object then drifted away.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EcMwx15XYAE9MVR.png

b. Results of Interview:

(1) [redacted] have seen the landing of the "saucer"; talked to the person who emerged from within it, and who gave him a message in English to the effect (as told to this investigator) that, "...tell your leader, if there is another war---we'll take over!" In confiding this event to his priest, [redacted] was advised to tell his story directly to the proper authorities. This he has not done, not even to his foster mother. However, the peculiar aspect of this case is, that he did give this information to Mr. [redacted], a member and self-styled official UFO investigator of the UFORC. Further investigation disclosed that although [redacted] is considered an intelligent young man and posseses the attributes of a good musician, he is said to be a bit on the "odd" side, living in his own little world, and given to a large imagination. It was further learned that on the same day that [redacted] claimed to have seen his "flying saucer," a Cleveland firm was sending up sky rockets as part of an advertising campaign, offering rewards to the finders of these rockets. It was determined that [redacted] saw these rockets and attempted to obtain one.

Specific interest is in filming the HULC exoskeleton for an upcoming episode, to be titled, 'Heroes, Kings and Aliens'. The episode will examine classical mythologies, to include, 'superhuman strength and endurance', and current efforts to replicate superhuman abilities through the use of technology. OCPA-LA is coordinating with NATICK. ASSESSMENT: 'Ancient Aliens', in its third season, is a popular documentary-style series. Sometimes I come across documents I can't share on YouTube because of their draconian algorithm.

Here's one: in 1974, a top secret US war game fired tactical nuclear weapons into Iran to "save" it from a Soviet invasion.

Soviet "game plan." Blue Team concluded Red Team decision not to respond with nuclear weapons was consistent with historical Russian backdown in face of unequivocal firmness. Blue Team evaluated renewed Soviet conventional advance as confirmation of Moscow's determination to control Middle East oil and achieve superpower primacy as well as modest probe to test continued US resolve without risk of strategic -- and possibly further tactical -- nuclear exchange. Accordingly, Blue determined to maintain pressure on Red and preserve Iran by continued reliance on tactical nuclear weapons. Course of action selected directed use of 118 weapons against Soviet troops/LOCs in Iran; 72 air delivered, 30 artillery, 12 PERSHINGs and 4 ADMs. Of these, all but one ADM were expended. [redacted] deployed TACAIR to control and suppress Soviet airborne landing near Teheran; and, replenished expended US/Iranian resources. Simultaneous political actions informed Moscow of American determination/intentions and elicited NATO/world support for United States. Contingency planning considered USSR tactical nuclear response and provided for [redacted] OSD 3.3(b)(4),(5),(6)

b. Red Team was dismayed by apparent failure of conventional attack to seize Teheran and extent of the US nuclear response. The Team believed situation left USSR no face saving out or satisfactory option in battle area. Consequently, Red Team resolve to achieve original objectives hardened. Nuclear retaliation planned to indicate to the United States that Washington's brinkmanship had brought USSR to limit of its options/restraint. Soviet strikes would be large but non-strategic and would place

Maybe the most famous of the early UFO photos.

McMinnville, Oregon 1950.

USN optical physicist Bruce Maccabee concluded this showed a "real, physical" object above the farm, and the underside brightness suggested it was some distance from camera, not a smaller obj close to it. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Eb8z_WsXgAcjqBj.jpg

https://twitter.com/_/status/1278446393082945536
If they cover crash retrievals, they won't mention MJ12.

And if they do, and assert it was a real group, then it would have to 1. get direct corroboration from a government official MJ12 was real or 2. find a document in the archives dozens of researchers missed. Not happening.

ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, Little Rock, AR - May 1, 1983

British unit to hunt mystery beast

The Associated Press

EXETER, England – Police have called in the Royal Marines to help trap and kill a mystery beast that has devoured up to 80 lambs in six weeks on the lonely moors of western England.

Farmers on armed night patrols, huntsmen and police using a helicopter have failed to catch the creature, believed to be a wild dog, wildcat or puma.

The beast roaming Exmoor in the west England county of Devon crushes its victim's skull before eating, a police spokesman said Friday.

The spokesman said commandos from the Royal Marine training center at Lympstone, 6 miles southwest of here, will use sophisticated night-vision and infra-red equipment to hunt the creature.

"Operation Beastie," as the hunt has been dubbed, begins Monday night, the spokesman said.

If anyone you know doubts the legitimacy of #WorldUFODay tomorrow, show them these tapes.

Here we have a trained radar operator losing his shit because cylindrical UFOs are seemingly teleporting around the sky in ways he can't explain.

@UFOS8N The easiest way to do this is to do keyword specific, domain specific searches.

For example:

"terahertz metamaterials" site:http://dtic.mil put that whole phrase into Google and it will pull up any paper with that phrase. Likewise, you can combine phrases.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1278387051960971266

@UFOS8N I think the next step would be to try to go through the DTIC archives and try to find these papers and see if they make any veiled mentions to "exotic" technology or meta materials. Or just anything that seems UFO related.

Because as of of the witnessing directors at a French nuclear plant, said, "It's a UFO, not a drone."

Any unidentified drone monitoring program has a possibility of sweeping up UAP data too.

COMMUNIQUE DE PRESSE RELATIF AUX SURVOLS DE DRONES

27 novembre 2014

Liberté • Égalité • Fraternité
RÉPUBLIQUE FRANÇAISE
Premier ministre
S G D S N

Communiqué de presse

Paris, le 26 novembre 2014

A l'occasion de son intervention, le 24 novembre 2014, devant l'Office parlementaire d'évaluation des choix scientifiques et technologiques (OPECST), le secrétaire général de la défense et de la sécurité nationale a tout d'abord, salué l'initiative des Parlementaires qui permet de mieux informer le public sur la réalité de la menace que représentent les survols des installations nucléaires par des drones.

La sécurité des installations nucléaires est, en effet, un enjeu majeur. Face à la multiplication des survols de drones, le SGDSN a rappelé le cadre réglementaire qui, en application de la convention internationale de l'Agence internationale de l'énergie atomique (AIEA), oblige les opérateurs à assurer, conjointement avec l'Etat, la sécurité des centrales nucléaires.

Le dispositif actuel de « protection en profondeur » de ces installations sensibles prenait déjà en compte la question de leur sécurité aérienne, comme le démontre l'interception, chaque année, de plus de cinquante aéronefs ayant pénétré illégalement les zones d'interdiction de survol. En outre, le survol des centrales nucléaires par des drones a conduit dans les dernières semaines à renforcer les personnels et les moyens de sécurité et à engager des poursuites judiciaires.

Bien que les survols actuellement répertoriés ne présentent pas une menace remettant en cause le bon fonctionnement et la sécurité des installations nucléaires, ils constituent néanmoins une alerte sur les risques potentiels induits par un emploi inapproprié ou malveillant. C'est pourquoi, le SGDSN mène actuellement des travaux portant notamment sur :

- la mise en œuvre et le développement des moyens techniques de détection et d'interception de ces aéronefs de petite taille ;
- l'évolution de la réglementation portant sur ces matériels et sur l'adaptation du cadre juridique relatif à la protection des installations nucléaires.

Par ailleurs, le SGDSN vient d'engager, auprès de l'Agence nationale de la recherche (ANR), un programme de recherche et de développement d'un million d'euros sur la détection et l'interception des petits drones.

Enfin, la France partagera avec ses partenaires européens, également confrontés aux risques que représentent les usages illicites des drones, les conclusions de ses travaux et recherches.

Contact : Secrétariat général de la défense et de la sécurité nationale (SGDSN), 51, boulevard de la Tour-Maubourg 75700 Paris - 07 SP. 01 71 75 80 04.

@Stephen24563580 I think that's clearly CGI.

However you should try to find a sighting in South America where a supposed being reached out from behind a telephone pole and grabbed a boy.

I need to find the details of that, but that one was actually fairly compelling. Needs more analysis tho.

@bryannjones Most compelling to me about Tic Tac is Fravor. Heâ□□s legit. Doesnâ□□t have any hallmarks of disinfo imo because itâ□□s just not fantastical enough of an experience.

Real life UFO encounters have unknowns, theyâ□□re messy. MJ12, SERPO are way more up front and clean.

@MrHustleMCR @blackvaultcom With that said I do think crash retrievals are a legitimate thing backed up by authorized documents that have no ties to MJ12.

Such as the many Project Moon Dust/USAF files that suggest Wright-Patt was interested in crashed UFOs of all kind even, possibly, non-terrestrial.

2020-06-29T23:36:05+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1277747699434098689
@MrHustleMCR Agreed.

It changed my way of thinking.

Which I think is important for anyone, because as @blackvaultcom has said recently, once you ignore the disinfo, you can focus on the stuff that matters.

Disinfo by design is deliberately bias confirming and flashy to distract.

2020-06-29T23:34:26+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1277747283812143107
@knightsabers01 Right, it's interesting how this can be interpreted differently. AFOSI doesn't spend resources trying to mislead civilian physicists, right? or geographers?

So why the focus on ufologists? It would makes no sense if the phenomenon wasn't significant.

#UFOtwitter, Mirage Men is free on YouTube right now.

A must watch about how Air Force OSI deliberately misled civilian researchers about UFOs.

Imo, THIS makes the phenomenon extremely compelling.

Why?

It's significant enough to deceive about.

@PaulJamesDean @blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 I am not saying MJ12 didn't exist or something like it didn't exist, but anyone talking about any document with the words Majestic in it has to take into account that almost everything else has been admitted as fiction (besides maybe one of the early Twining documents?).

https://twitter.com/_/status/1277743197486297089

@PaulJamesDean @blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 I also believe Hastings says he asked Cooper to go public with it to others, but Cooper never responded.

Hastings wrote a very good essay on this here.

@PaulJamesDean @blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 Yep, Hastings blogged about it afterwards too.

But I don't think it's as widely known the latter MJ12 stuff was completely disavowed, because the Woods' website is still up and running and doesn't mention this.

I had to hunt to realize Cooper made up the Burned Memo, etc.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1277699590351921153

@UfoJoe11 (6) it seems very possible given the Moon Dust files we have that are publicly available about their interest in UFOs.

However obviously there's no smoking gun document that's verified authentic that comes out and states this definitively. We just have the bits and pieces.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1277699421136969734

@UfoJoe11 (5) in a lot of these Moon Dust files you can see how USAF Foreign Technology Division was involved.

Imo I think the question is pretty straightforward: how foreign was this technology? Could their focus have extended to extra or ultra terrestrial tech?

@UfoJoe11 (3) now, could this have been a terrestrial disc?

Sure, they don't specify ET.

But (I show it in the video), Moon Dust gathered UFO reports and was interested in the phenomenon. I believe some crash retrievals were swept up in this, but there could've been another program @UfoJoe11 (2) cont...told a source inside Afghanistan that a metallic disc was said to have landed in a NE province. USAF didn't know what happened to it but believed it could've been transported back to Kabul.

They also ask if there were necessary trucks available to move disc.

2020-06-29T20:19:03+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1277698113000681472

@UfoJoe11 (1) yeah, it's an official document from Project Blue Book so it's authentic

You can see Wright-Patt is involved (as they always were for foreign tech retrieval)

In that specific doc it shows how USAF was talking about how a local politician told a source inside Afghanistan @IIeTERNETY I disagree.

Good disinformation has to have some truth tho. Many of them have been admitted to have been written to trick journos.

Get them talking about SERPO when they shouldâ□□ve looked at OES inside State Dept, get them talking about MJ12 when they shouldâ□□ve looked at Aviary.

Is there a UFO information control group? Itâ□□s extremely possible, even likely.

But does that mean MJ12 docs are legit?

No.

Few realize Tim Cooper, who disseminated the later MJ12 docs quietly admitted they were fake to Robert Hastings.

@blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 @Berserk97981716 @rethgifoof I admit Iâ□□ve talked about MJ12 cavalierly, and I will be better. Everyone should be better because there are new people reading this information all the time, and if they get pulled down the disinformation rabbit hole it helps no one.

@blackvaultcom @UfoJoe11 @Berserk97981716 @rethgifoof You both can debate, but anything with the words MJ12 or MAJESTIC needs a healthy disclaimer that 75-100% of the other documents were admitted to be faked and/or part of a disinformation campaign.

What happens to ufology when the UAP subject is taken more seriously by academia and government?

2021-08-06T20:26:39+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1423742337759522817

@InvNightSchool @MadScientistPod @caleb_scharf There also isn't an accredited educational track for those interested in UAP to even follow, so for someone interested in the subject, they're basically accumulating information on the subject from historians of the material and left to decide what is legitimate and what isn't.

2021-08-06T20:24:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1423741810485219335

@InvNightSchool @MadScientistPod @caleb_scharf There aren't commonly agreed upon principals for those working on "ufology" to follow, and the community doesn't self-police itself like other fields.

I think the most gains in future understanding of UAP are going to come from mature fields of study like astrobiology, AI, etc.

@Karenalexphi @caleb_scharf That's like saying we could've discovered heliocentrism earlier in our timeline.

There are hundreds of expertises, industries and corners of the world where UAP study can and will have a significant impact.

Number 4 is key.

We're operating under this assumption it's one "phenomenon" and using terms like "the phenomenon."

But what if it is 100 phenomena? 1,000?

Bucketing these into groups is a better way to establish the science, and is something that will be done. https://twitter.com/itsredactedjake/status/1423673173539708930

Good article.

5 reasons science has a hard time with UFOs per @caleb_scharf.

1. Incidents aren't repeatable.
2. Recording/reporting isn't systematic.
3. Some data is cherry picked.
4. Not sure if one phenomenon or many.
5. Some researchers are biased.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1276168246102818822

@UfoJoe11 Was just thinking about this. Realizing because I personally have a tendency to stick to documents, I have a bias against more abstract aspects of this, including CE5, meditation, etc.

The best approach is probably to mesh both mindsets together.

2020-06-25T14:51:03+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1276166018373685249

@lightisherenow I think people should be empowered to do their own research, for sure, and I would argue one thing blocking that is access to information. It should be easier to find this data and make these connections.

The stock market has dozens of websites pumping out information.

2020-06-25T14:50:04+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1276165769521434625

@lightisherenow Agreed. That's one reason with my channel I am trying to show people where documents are and provide links so they can go down their own rabbit holes. I am also building a new database tool that will let anyone analyze the phenomenon like a stock market analyst analyzes stocks.

@Deepneuron I agree, public consciousness must be on the positives of open access to all UFO information. Clean evergy, contactee implications, etc.

â□□Disclosureâ□□ of the phenomenonâ□□s existence and even what it is wonâ□□t be enough if itâ□□s l behind a classified wall.

@humanoidlord what do you think? why is there (seemingly) a lack of these in US declassified files versus internationally?

Did the files go somewhere else or does the US have fewer CEIIIs than elsewhere for some reason?

@oboy_uf I agree. And the fact that Blue Book has been researched and written about in countless books, but some of that is lost with time. If you take time to go through them on Fold3, every once in a while you find a gem..

In Brazil, CEIII encounters (UFO encounters with humanoid present) made up 5-10% of the cases I came across. In Spain, 3-5%.

But in the US's Project Grudge/Blue Book?

That number is FAR lower. Like really low. I would guess < 0.5%.

Ceteris paribus...where are these files?

Something you may already know, but I noticed while putting together this week's episode: "Unidentified Aerial Phenomena" is at least a 70 year old term.

It's nothing new, but does seem to show up way less often than "UFO" in the old USAF files.

SUBJECT: (Shsl) Radar Sighting of Unknown Aerial Object

TO: Commanding Officer

1. Your AC/W Squadron made electronic contact with unidentified aerial phenomena on 17 February 1953 at 2204 hours EST and notified the Air Technical Intelligence Center by wire of the circumstances surrounding the sighting. In an attempt to uncover a logical explanation for such sightings, this Center has developed a questionnaire for sightings made by ground radar, one of which is an inclosure to this letter.

2. ATIC radar specialists have found the subject questionnaires of great value in attempting to explain these unknown radar tracks when they are filled out accurately by the radar personnel involved.

The top entry in this year's Wastebook is a spaceport—which is just a fancy word to say a rocket launch site—all the way over in Alaska. It has been derided as space pork, not because it is launching an elite unit of porcine astronauts into the big trough in the sky, it is because Congress used earmarks to force the Department of Defense to build the facility, over the objections of the military, as part of an illegal kickback scheme.

A midlevel DOD employee, who was sentenced to prison for masterminding the plot, eventually confessed that building the launch facility ''doesn't make sense.'' He said the Pentagon ''just paid for meaningless work.'' Keep in mind, this was a contractor on that project. After sitting unused for several years, the Pentagon is now sinking another $80 million into the spaceport. This is despite the fact that it is not even equipped with the type of missiles that DOD plans to launch for the site.

Another entry, the National Comedy Center in New York must be laughing all the way to the bank with $1.7 million from the Economic Development Administration, or EDA. This will be spent to bring Lucille Ball back to the stage as a hologram. The three-dimensional illusion of Lucy is formed with light beams from a laser, which will replicate standup routines using existing audio recordings.

Holograms of other comedians who are no longer with us will also take the stage in the center's comedy club. Other features will include a boot camp on how to deliver jokes—maybe I need that one—as well as a heckle booth, which we can do without. This is likely to once again make Washington the punch line of jokes, but it is no laughing matter for taxpayers.

Next up, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, USDA, has a program that allows taxpayer-funded farm loans to literally be paid back with peanuts. This program shelled out $74 million in the past year. In typical Washington fashion, the government pays more for the peanuts than the market price, which has turned the program into a cash cow, or pig—however you want to view it—and the pile of surplus peanuts the government has amassed is so large that government can't even give it away.

Here we have a farm program where we are giving loans to farmers to grow peanuts. If they check at the end of the year and the market price for peanuts isn't very good, they can unload those peanuts on the government and keep the cost of the loan. Then, government has to store these peanuts, which we do in warehouses all over the country.

Based on USDA's own numbers, the Congressional Research Service is warning that the storage costs alone could pile up to $1 billion a year. That is not just peanuts; that is enough to make anyone salty about our debt and deficit.

Instead of filling potholes, $35,000 from the Department of Transportation literally went to pot. The money was paid for a giant glow-in-the-dark doobie displayed in Denver that was intended to remind motorists who smoke marijuana not to drive while they are stoned; $35,000 for a big poster or banner on a building of a giant joint.

Even the Nation's most prestigious science agencies are spending taxpayer funds investigating subjects that most of us would consider obvious or rather offbeat. Studies on the habits of college students funded with $5 million of NIH grants counted more than 500 different drinking games that are popular on college campuses.

According to researchers, ''All of these games have the same goal—causing participants to become intoxicated.'' I think that is rather obvious. They observed that fraternity brothers drink, smoke, and generally party more than other students, and they also sleep in later. This led the researchers to speculate that ''one explanation for this finding is that Greek students recognize their sleep needs.'' A more likely reason is that they are sleeping off their partying lifestyle, but you are paying for it.

NIH is also drilling down to determine why some people are afraid of the dentist as part of another $3.5 million research project. The researchers found that—surprise here—''fear of pain has been shown to be a critical component.''

The monkey business doesn't end there. NIH spent nearly $1 million to study the evolution of monkey drool and another $230,000 to determine if the color red makes female monkeys feel more romantic. In case you are wondering, it does.

As part of an effort supported by both the National Science Foundation and DOD to teach computers how to understand computer behavior, the machines were programmed to watch television shows. After viewing over 600 hours of ''Desperate Housewives,'' ''The Office,'' and other shows, the computers were still unable to predict how humans would behave in most situations. Anybody who has watched those shows realizes that is rather obvious.

A $1 million NASA project is preparing the world's religions for the possible discovery of extraterrestrial life forms—$1 million to prepare the world's religions for the possible discovery of extraterrestrial life forms. Do we need to spend that, really?

A major sticking point for the participants was defining what life is: ''Much of the discussion centered on the question, 'What is life?' It turns out that life is notoriously difficult to define,'' they concluded.

The fishiest study of all tested how long a fish can run on a treadmill. This was part of a study paid for by a $565,000 grant from the National Science Foundation. Everyone remembers the infamous shrimp on a treadmill funded by NSF. It turns out that last year's competitor had a leg, or several, up on the competition. With five pairs of walking legs and five pairs of swimming legs, the shrimp could run for hours. The latest NSF-funded treadmill study participant was literally a fish out of water. The experiment forced mudskippers to ''run'' for as long as 15 minutes at a time on a treadmill. These fish possess the unique ability to survive out of water for extended periods of time, using their fins like legs, although they didn't appear to enjoy running on the treadmill, as you can imagine.

Certainly, we have bigger fish to fry with our Federal research dollars and, I might add, better puns to find as well. I could go on and on with examples of completely unnecessary spending identified by this year's Wastebook. There is waste in every department, every agency. All you have to do is look. Ferreting out every bit of wasteful spending, no matter how small, is the only way to reduce our debt and to rein in the cost of our Federal Government. It can be a daunting task because, much like Pokemon, these programs are good at hiding. Our mission is simple: You have to catch them all.

Madam President, I yield back.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maine.

Mr. KING. Madam President, I rise this afternoon to supplement some remarks I made on the floor last evening about the Affordable Care Act. Last night, I talked about my own experience as a young staff member in the U.S. Senate 43 years ago when, because I had an insurance policy provided by my employer—that policy had preventive care as part of the policy, just as Affordable Care Act policies do today—I had a routine physical checkup. It was the first I had in a number of years, which caught malignant melanoma, a particularly virulent form of cancer. Because it was caught early and because I was treated, here I am today.

As I mentioned last night, it has always haunted me that someone who didn't have insurance, a young man or a young woman somewhere in the country who was in exactly my situation, because they didn't have insurance, they didn't have preventive care, didn't get the checkup, the disease wasn't caught, and they are gone.

I find it very hard to justify that, to understand that. It doesn't seem fair. It doesn't seem ethical. It doesn't seem moral. Today I wanted to also bring to the attention of the Senate some stories from today about the effect of the Affordable Care Act in Maine, where we have over 80,000 people enrolled, many of whom had never been able to have insurance before.

A young woman, Whitney, who graduated from college in 2013, said:

I graduated . . . with a degree in wildlife ecology, [but it was very difficult to find a job.]

Thanks to the ACA, I was able to stay on my family health insurance plan through this period of unemployment. I did finally get employed in my field, but permanent, year-round jobs with benefits are the equivalent of winning the lottery.

The Committee further directs the report to include:

1. A detailed analysis of unidentified aerial phenomena data and intelligence reporting collected or held by the Office of Naval Intelligence, including data and intelligence reporting held by the Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force;
2. A detailed analysis of unidentified phenomena data collected by:
   a. geospatial intelligence;
   b. signals intelligence;
   c. human intelligence; and
   d. measurement and signals intelligence;
3. A detailed analysis of data of the FBI, which was derived from investigations of intrusions of unidentified aerial phenomena data over restricted United States airspace;
4. A detailed description of an interagency process for ensuring timely data collection and centralized analysis of all unidentified aerial phenomena reporting for the Federal Government, regardless of which service or agency acquired the information;
5. Identification of an official accountable for the process described in paragraph 4;
6. Identification of potential aerospace or other threats posed by the unidentified aerial phenomena to national security, and an assessment of whether this unidentified aerial phenomena activity may be attributed to one or more foreign adversaries;
7. Identification of any incidents or patterns that indicate a potential adversary may have achieved breakthrough aerospace capabilities that could put United States strategic or conventional forces at risk; and
8. Recommendations regarding increased collection of data, enhanced research and development, and additional funding and other resources.

The report shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

Critical Aspects of Unidentified Flying Objects and the Nuclear Threat to the Defense of the United States and Allies

In the current political and military situation in which the United States finds itself in the Cold War effort against the USSR, there is the remote possibility within current understanding of the verifiable UFO phenomena that early warning defense systems could err in the identification of unidentified aircraft and missiles. This probability is estimated to fall within a 20% margin for error and could pose possible early attack warnings to be issued within the 30 minute decision window before a DEFCON 2 alert goes into affect. We concur that 2 per cent of UFO cases studied have caused electrical interference with airborne early detection equipment and have caused a confusion and identification factor which could be attributed to enemy ECM. We believe Soviet capabilities in this area are of such sophistication that it is possible that simulated UFO detection could be regarded as an actual attack. We also believe the Soviets have calculated that U.S. ECM capabilities are on a level similar to theirs and are at parody.

There are only six cases in which nuclear materials were involved in the retrieval of unidentified space vehicles of which U.S. intelligence can vouch for that could present foreseeable problems. The most serious are contamination, exposure, and collateral damage inflicted on unsuspecting elements of the population. The less serious involve panic and false rumors of a Soviet sneak attack. It is almost certain that a crashed nuclear powered UFO on Soviet territory could generate misguided suspicions and trigger a retaliatory attack on the United States or its allies within 30 minutes of detection. It is doubtful that China has a nuclear attack capability at the present time and is not seen as a problem area. Nuclear

Basis for Action

In pursuant to Presidential National Security Action Memorandum No. 70 and a separate action item levied against the DCI for the production of a SNIE regarding what information concerning unidentified flying objects has been collected and evaluated in the context of nuclear war possibilities, DCID 5/1 was authorized by the USIB and subsequent action was taken by the Office of National Estimates. DCID 5/1 also identified guidance from NSC Staff for opinions and recommendations of CIA MJTWELVE consultants on a wide variety of issues. Specific TRs were issued to NSASAB, JAEIC, GMAIC, and SIC by appropriate agencies of the USAF to eliminate ambiguity and confusion in the preparation of this SNIE. Based on information collected by authorized contacts within appropriate components of DD/O, O/O, FBIS, and INR, minimal threat warnings are considered classified, and as such, were taken at face value.

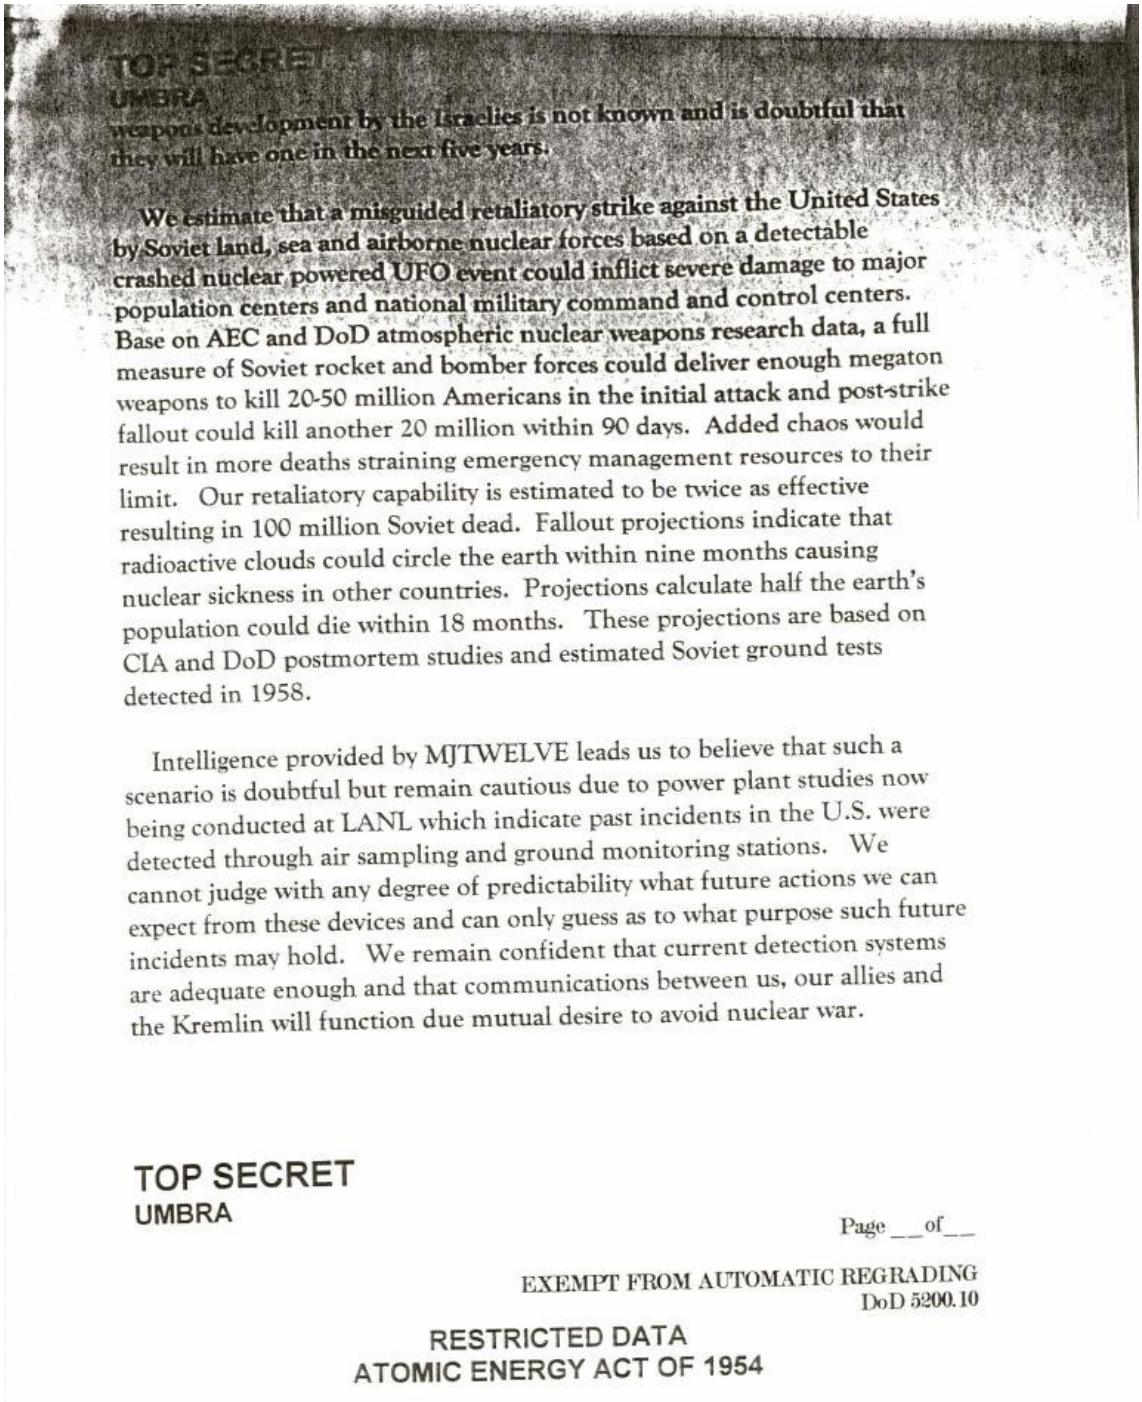

Contributions

Summary reports from USAF UFO project files and estimates from OSI were provided as a basis for evaluating technical challenges and COMINT sorting of relevant data. MJTWELVE advisory group cooperated in summarizing the over all situation as it now stands and assisted in the preparation of historical data. What foreign intelligence was available to IACs were submitted for weapons system analysis and useful integration data was supplied by JNEIC and JRDB specialists.

weapons development by the Israelies is not known and is doubtful that they will have one in the next five years.

We estimate that a misguided retaliatory strike against the United States by Soviet land, sea and airborne nuclear forces based on a detectable crashed nuclear powered UFO event could inflict severe damage to major population centers and national military command and control centers. Base on AEC and DoD atmospheric nuclear weapons research data, a full measure of Soviet rocket and bomber forces could deliver enough megaton weapons to kill 20-50 million Americans in the initial attack and post-strike fallout could kill another 20 million within 90 days. Added chaos would result in more deaths straining emergency management resources to their limit. Our retaliatory capability is estimated to be twice as effective resulting in 100 million Soviet dead. Fallout projections indicate that radioactive clouds could circle the earth within nine months causing nuclear sickness in other countries. Projections calculate half the earth's population could die within 18 months. These projections are based on CIA and DoD postmortem studies and estimated Soviet ground tests detected in 1958.

Intelligence provided by MJTWELVE leads us to believe that such a scenario is doubtful but remain cautious due to power plant studies now being conducted at LANL which indicate past incidents in the U.S. were detected through air sampling and ground monitoring stations. We cannot judge with any degree of predictability what future actions we can expect from these devices and can only guess as to what purpose such future incidents may hold. We remain confident that current detection systems are adequate enough and that communications between us, our allies and the Kremlin will function due mutual desire to avoid nuclear war.

I am going to leave my earlier tweet on AA hypothesis up for transparency, but I absolutely had no idea about this side of the creator of it. Why isn't this more widely known?

Okay, just more clarity on what @JasonColavito is explaining to @nickpopemod about Erich von Daniken â□□ here are some absolutely appalling, racist quotes attributed to Erich.

I think more people should be aware of this because it absolutely adds credence to #CancelAncientAliens http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ea_OjKKXgAEzWE2.jpg

If this is true then I take back what I said about the AA hypothesis...since, well, von Daniken created it. @JasonColavito I don't think many people realize Erich said that, was it in an interview or what was the source so more people can be aware of it?

@cybercatgurrl @AncientAliens (2) And honestly, it'd be better TV if they explained what the locals were advanced in versus just broadly stating 'there's no way they could've done this...because, well, it was a primitive culture.'

They definitely could be more balanced.

@cybercatgurrl @AncientAliens (1) Totally fair point. And to counterpoint my original tweet, it is true many of the more widely known episodes have centered on non-Western cultures.

At the very least they should be better about covering the skills of the local populations.

With that said, they need a bit of a redesign in order to not make the UFO topic in general seem so nutty, because (hint) it's not.

Cheesy production value just makes fewer people take it seriously, and I guarantee if done well, a revamp could get just as high ratings.

@ClownsecHonker Welcome! Thank you Jonas! I shared this on Patreon two weeks ago â□□ we're also working on a modernized UFO/UAP tool that will let you analyze anomalies sort of like a financial news terminal. Thinking of using the Vallee scale to organize them.
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ea16_VCXgAII1qO.jpg

Current Vallee Classification System [4]

This is Vallee's attempt to unify his classification system with Hynek's, and to incorporate those "psychic" or otherwise anomalous reports which he believes have a connection with the UFO phenomenon, and to regularize the classification system.

Class Name	1 Sighting	2 Physical Effect	3 Beings	4 Reality Transformation	5 Injury or Death
AN Anomaly	Amorphous lights, mystery explosions	Poltergeist, materialized objects, areas of flattened grass (i.e. crop circles)	Anomalies with entities (ghosts, yetis, cryptozoological beings, elves, spirits)	Near Death Experience (NDE), religious visions and miracles, Out Of Body Experience (OOBE)	Anomalous injuries or death, including spontaneous combustion and unexplained wounds
FB Flyby	Continuous trajectory	With physical evidence	Beings observed	Witness sense of reality change (such as landscape alteration, telepathy, etc)	Result of fly-by is injury or death
MA Maneuvers	Discontinuous trajectory	With physical evidence	Beings observed	Witness sense of reality change (such as landscape alteration, telepathy, etc)	Result of maneuver is injury or death
CE Close Encounter	Close approach (within 500')	With physical evidence	Beings observed	Abduction	Injury or death

@Deepneuron @AncientAliens Definitely. There is not enough of a critical take in the narrative script imo. and that may not be on the people who sit in as guest experts. Having watched a fair amount, I really think it's more on the editors.

@Pawn37 The reason I bring this up is because it's troubling to see conspiracy-minded, blanket statements wading through #ufotwitter.

There are very nuanced issues worth discussing, and telling people "don't trust authority, but trust me, and follow my Twitter account" is toxic.

@Pawn37 This is a question for a historian, for sure.

I think various aspects are created out of needs at the time, and then work together (or don't work together) depending on need.

For example, look at the intel sharing pre 9/11.

Likewise, there are many different attitudes toward UFOs in "the government."

And within those various areas sit individual people, with their own thoughts and opinions, just like you.

And their own incentive structures that drive their behavior.

Tip for #ufotwitter...

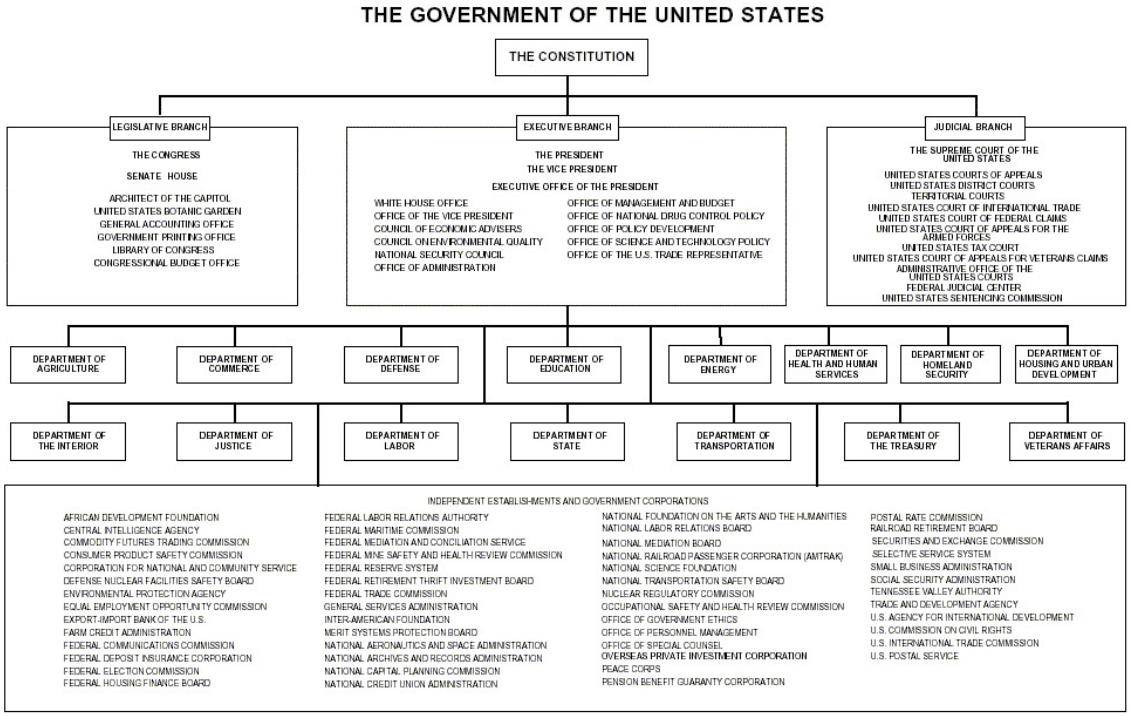

When discussing UFOs or any subject that involves the public sector, it's helpful to community discussion if you distinguish what part of "the government" you're talking about.

Washington, D.C. 20520

FEB 25 1982

Re: Freedom of Information Act Request #8103430

Dear [redacted]

This refers to my letter of October 14, 1981, regarding your request for 41 documents about Unidentified Flying Objects that were addressed by the Department of State in Civil Action Number 78-859 (Ground Saucer Watch, Inc. v. CIA, etl al.).

Based upon the information you provided with that request, the Information and Privacy Staff coordinated searches of the Automated Index to the Central Foreign Policy Records, the records of the Bureau of Intelligence and Research (INR), the Bureau of International Organization Affairs (IO), the Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs (OES), and the Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs (PM). Thorough searches of the records of INR, IO, and PM failed to locate any information pertaining to your request. The search of OES is still pending. As soon as I receive a response from that Bureau, I will notify you. The search of the Automated Index to the Central Foreign Policy Records located a total of 32 documents. Those documents have been reviewed by the Department's Classification/Declassification Center. Enclosed are the documents determined to be releasable. Prefacing those documents is a letter from the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Classification/Declassification Center that further explains the review of those documents to you.

no response to date. 11/17/82

Regarding the 9 additional documents, if you could provide additional information that would reasonably identify them, I will coordinate another search of the Automated Index to the Central Foreign Policy Records.

Should you have any questions concerning your request, please contact me at the Information and Privacy Staff, Room 1239, Department of State, 2201 C Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20520.

Sincerely,

Steven M. Tevlowitz

@Deepneuron Regarding No. 6, SRI remote viewer Ingo Swann discussed a sighting of a triangle UFO in his book Penetration that seemed to "grow" out of "nothing" in appearance. It was small at first and kept growing in size until it reached 40-50 feet.

This was in the middle of Alaska.

En esta ocasión también percibió, dentro de la nave, "sombras como de personas".

Nada más acabada la observación regresó hacia su casa y, cuando estaba a punto de entrar ella, escuchó, como la vez anterior, el ruido de varios aviones a reacción.

@ufophilosopher @tarasmatla Is she at fault or is it the person above her, telling comms people to keep a close grip on UAP videos even if they are unclassified?

I think it's important to consider the structure of how this is probably working and that it's not 'coming from her' etc.

There are 12,000 Blue Book/Grudge/Sign reports, several thousand of which are not properly metatagged in public archives so they're not sortable by location or date. With the benefit of hindsight, we need to be going back through these and doing more justice to the witnesses..

There's a lot to unpack with this, including quantum fluctuations, using an EM generator to interact with the vacuum instead of a laser, and using a plasma lined hull to stimulate macroscopic quantum coherence. The video is 10 minutes but it gives everything ELI5.

@Mabzors @LtTimMcMillan (3) I think this report could mean there is division inside the armed forces about how to handle disclosure, and the AF is far more reluctant to release anything. So much so that they'd write this up and claim it was still classified, when perhaps, it really wasn't.

Preface

(S) This report presents an integrated and systematic approach for investigating psychoenergetics phenomena within the DoD. Psychoenergetics includes classes of human capabilities generally referred to as parapsychological, or PSI, phenomena. There are two main categories, informational and energetic, that can be further defined as[1]:

1. Remote viewing (RV)/Extrasensory Perception (ESP) --- ability to describe remote geographical areas or to describe concealed data via undefined transmission mechanisms.
2. Psychokinesis (PK) -- mental ability to influence physical or biological systems without use of known physical mechanisms.

28 JANUARY 1987

DESCRIPTION OF PERSONNEL ASSOCIATED "E.T" BASES

So far have run into three types of entities associated with bases at various locations within the solar system.

TITAN BASE..... all personnel observed at this base on 20 November 1986 appeared to be no different than native earthlings. There were two male technician-types sitting at a control panel of some kind. Behind them stood an attractive female with brown shoulder-length hair, wearing a pale green lab coat or smock. She appeared to be in some sort of supervisory role.

Supply chain disruption is a longer term #coronavirus fear, but a Pentagon report does show the US government is consolidating supply chain data from the private sector and continually creating a "common operating picture" to ensure stability. #30MoreDays
https://int.nyt.com/data/documenthelper/6819-covid-19-response-plan/d367f758bec47cad361f/optimized/full.pdf#page=1 http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EUYcj4jWkAE8tgv.jpg

Objectives

Key stakeholders will ensure that the following objectives are accomplished to achieve the given end-state:

- Harmonize industry engagement for integration into planning and to enable private-sector situational awareness for ongoing coordination with business, industry, and infrastructure across USG throughout the crisis.
- Provide understanding of economic impacts resulting from COVID-19 and the subsequent aggressive containment and/or community mitigation abroad and/or domestically (e.g., non-pharmaceutical interventions [NPIs]) implemented at the federal, SLTT, and private-sector level.
- Consolidate non-healthcare supply chain data from across the reporting spectrum of federal, SLTT, and private-sector entities, and establish processes to achieve cross-sector assessment and a common operating picture of non-healthcare supply chains.
- Support whole-of-government resourcing alignment by identifying USG (and state government) requirements (including standards) for PPE and other protective measures dependent upon the healthcare supply chain; by closing policy gaps including DPA enabling government intervention as needed; and by balancing workforce protection measures with available, reasonable PPE requirements. Identify, prioritize, and address indicators of degradation of critical infrastructure and supply chains that impact national security and the national economy.

Key Federal Responsibilities

In accordance with the newly established COVID-19 Supply Chain Task Force, the following key federal responsibilities are designed to achieve the objectives and end-state:

- Activate ESF#14 Cross-Sector Business and Infrastructure. As the newest Emergency Support Function, created as part of the update to the National Response Framework, ESF #14 supports the coordination of cross-sector operations, including stabilization of key supply chains and community lifelines, among infrastructure owners and operators, businesses, and their government partners. Coordinated by CISA with FEMA designated as a co-primary agency, ESF-14 is complementary to all other ESFs and to the following sector-specific agencies (SSAs):

#30MoreDays is trending, but a secret Pentagon report assumes "a pandemic will last 18 months or longer and could include multiple waves." #18MoreMonths unfortunately is the reality.
https://int.nyt.com/data/documenthelper/6819-covid-19-response-plan/d367f758bec47cad361f/optimized/full.pdf#page=1 http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EUYZ-WxXsAQQY24.jpg

Assumptions

In the absence of facts, planning assumptions represent information deemed true. They are necessary to facilitate planning development efforts. Assumptions set a baseline for planning purposes and do not take the place of specific activities or decision points that will occur during a COVID-19 outbreak. The following planning assumptions assisted in the development of an operational environment for this plan.

1. Universal susceptibility and exposure will significantly degrade the timelines and efficiency of response efforts.
2. A pandemic will last 18 months or longer and could include multiple waves of illness.
3. The spread and severity of COVID-19 will be difficult to forecast and characterize.
4. Increasing COVID-19 suspected or confirmed cases in the U.S. will result in increased hospitalizations among at-risk individuals, straining the healthcare system.
5. States will request federal assistance when requirements exceed state, local, tribal, and territorial (SLTT) capabilities to respond to COVID-19. This may include requests for assistance of HHS through the HHS Region based on the scope of assistance available through an emergency supplemental appropriation and may include additional assistance under the Stafford Act.
6. Supply chain and transportation impacts due to ongoing COVID-19 outbreak will likely result in significant shortages for government, private sector, and individual U.S. consumers.
7. As the federal response to COVID-19 evolves beyond a public health and medical response, additional federal departments and agencies will be required to respond to the outbreak and secondary impacts, thereby increasing the need for coordination to ensure a unified, complete, and synchronized federal response.

Project Condign was a secret UFO study undertaken by the British Government's Defence Intelligence Staff from 1997-2000. In an appendix they categorize UAPs by shape, and provide imagery of sightings by type: spheres, discs, cigar, star/point, oval and triangle. (img links below) http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EUTM285XgAEo9aw.jpg

COLLECTED IMAGERY AND CLASSIFICATION OF UAP SHAPES

CONTENTS

1. The material in this section has been collected from a number of sources - news reports, photography and video records. The sources are not limited to UK reports, as the intention is to use the material as a reference/correlation catalogue and to hopefully use the material as a filter to separate the explainable from the inexplicable, if possible. In some cases - particularly since the advent of personal video cameras - the original material is in colour. Shape and lights (colours) are invariably the trigger which attracts the eye and results in incident reports. Shapes have been generically categorised as follows:

- SPHERES	(Includes 'BOLS' and multiple spherical lights)	Figures 1 - 7
- DISCS	(Only circular in plan - and thus, on frequent occasions from different aspects, the same events are described by other witnesses as 'balls' or spheres)	Figures 8 to 28.
- CIGAR	These have a larger mid-chord than discs and tend towards 'long airship' shapes, with much less 'sharp' ends than discs	Figure 29
- STAR/POINT	Seen as balls of light, with the star effect due to atmospheric optics	-
- OVAL	Described as a variant of 'discs', but with a wider mid-chord and without the elongation of 'cigars'
- TRIANGLE/PYRAMID/CONE/ RECTANGLE/CYLINDER	The outline shape is formed, not by a solid object, although at times it appears so - see Working Papers) but by three or more coloured lights at the extremities, forming the 'corners'. A cylinder is often described which is, in fact, formed by a row of lights (balls). A vertically oriented cylinder is sometimes seen - see Working Papers No 23 and 24	Figures30 to 35

In 2004, the Mexican Secretariat of Defense filmed 11 UFOs on infrared. The crew reported them at an altitude near theirs, and said they felt surrounded. Later analysis suggested the heat sig. might be explained by distant oil wells but it remains debated.

CHAPTER 3
RECOVERY OPERATIONS

Section I. SECURITY

12. Press Blackout

Great care must be taken to preserve the security of any location where Extraterrestrial Technology might be retrievable for scientific study. Extreme measures must be taken to protect and preserve any material or craft from discovery, examination, or removal by civilian agencies or individuals of the general public. It is therefore recommended that a total press blackout be initiated whenever possible. If this course of action should not prove feasible, the following cover stories are suggested for release to the press. The officer in charge will act quickly to select the cover story that best fits the situation. It should be remembered when selecting a cover story that official policy regarding UFOBs is that they do not exist.

a. Official Denial. The most desirable response would be that nothing unusual has occurred. By stating that the government has no knowledge of the event, further investigation by the public press may be forestalled.

b. Discredit Witnesses. If at all possible, witnesses will be held incommunicado until the extent of their knowledge and involvement can be determined. Witnesses will be discouraged from talking about what they have seen, and intimidation may be necessary to ensure their cooperation. If witnesses have already contacted the press, it will be necessary to discredit their stories. This can best be done by the assertion that they have either misinterpreted natural events, are the victims of hysteria or hallucinations, or are the perpetrators of hoaxes.

c. Deceptive Statements. It may become necessary to issue false statements to preserve the security of the site. Meteors, downed satellites, weather balloons, and military aircraft are all acceptable alternatives, although in the case of the downed military aircraft statement care should be exercised not to suggest that the aircraft might be experimental or secret, as this might arouse more curiosity of both the American and the foreign press. Statements issued concerning contamination of the area due to toxic spills from trucks or railroad tankers can also serve to keep unauthorized or undesirable personnel away from the area.

13. Secure the Area

The area must be secured as rapidly as possible to keep unauthorized personnel from infiltrating the site. The officer in charge will set up a perimeter and establish a command post inside the perimeter. Personnel allowed

REPRODUCTION IN ANY FORM IS FORBIDDEN BY FEDERAL LAW.

10. Description of Extraterrestrial Biological Entities (EBEs)

Examination of remains recovered from wreckage of UFOBs indicates that Extraterrestrial Biological Entities may be classified into two distinct categories as follows:

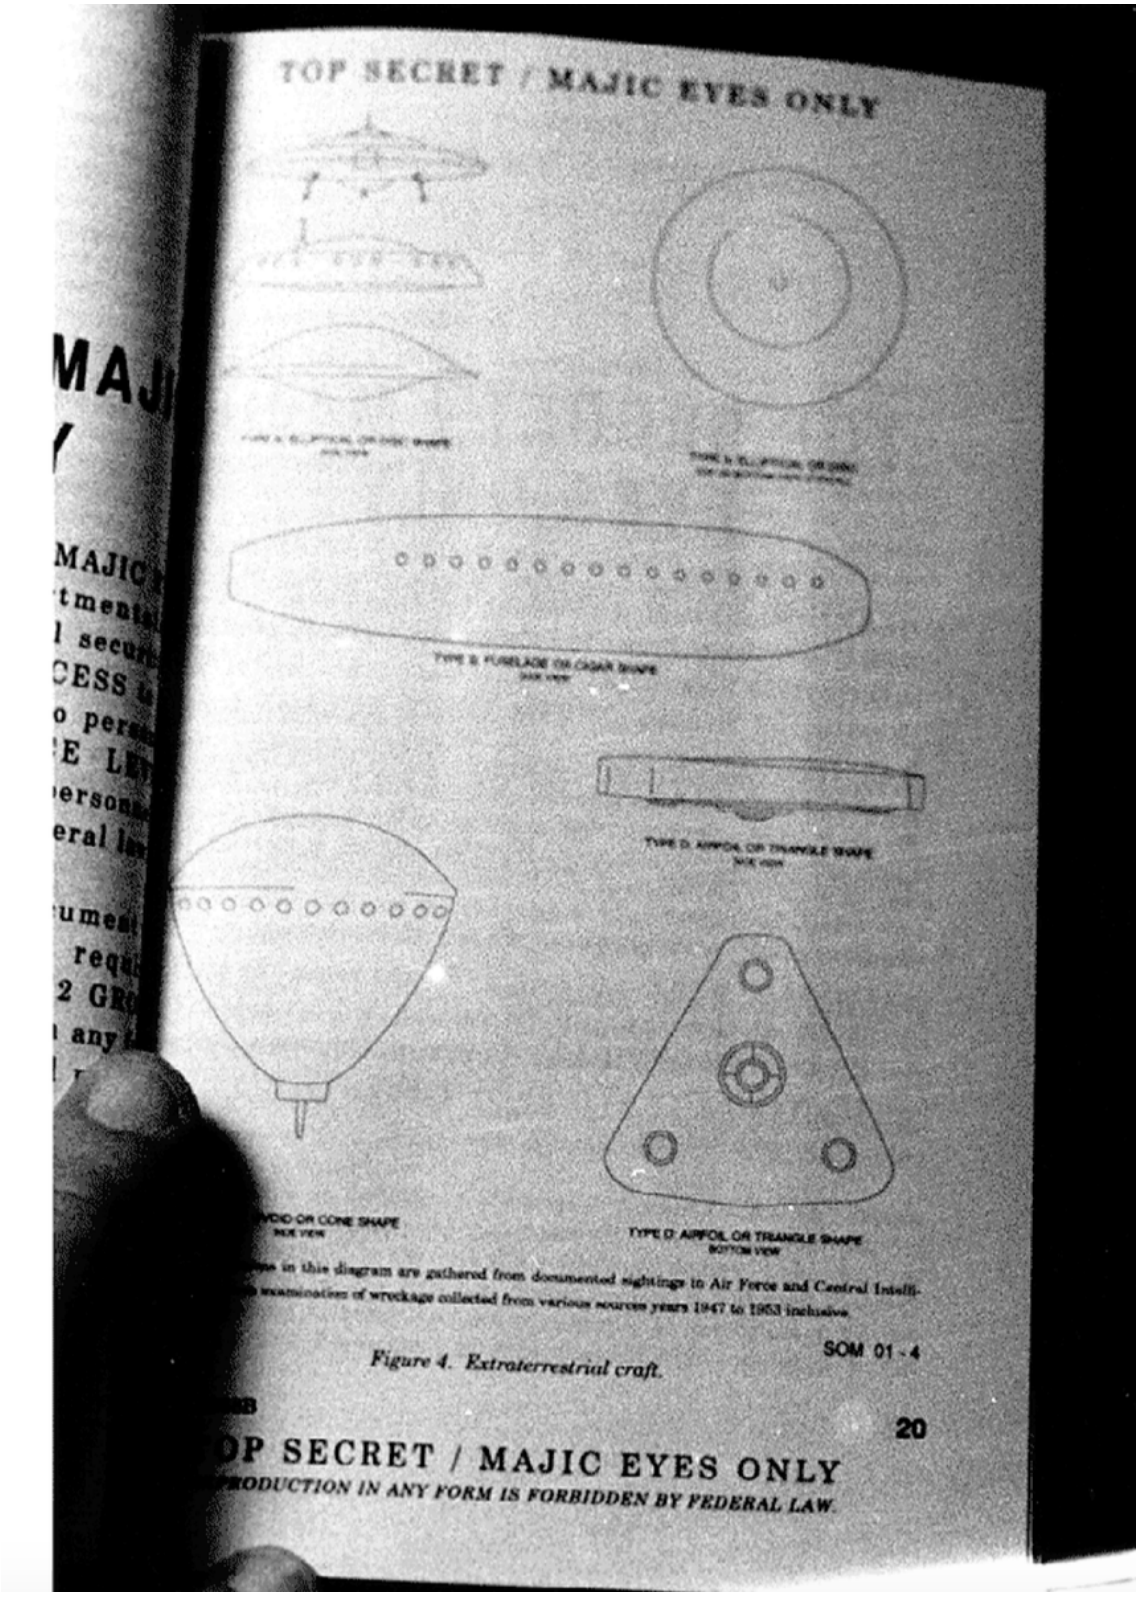

a. EBE Type I. These entities are humanoid and might be mistaken for human beings of the Oriental race if seen from a distance. They are bi-pedal, 5-5 feet 4 inches in height and weigh 80-100 pounds. Proportionally they are similar to humans, although the cranium is somewhat larger and more rounded. The skin is a pale, chalky-yellow in color, thick, and slightly pebbled in appearance. The eyes are small, wide-set, almond-shaped, with brownish-black irises with very large pupils. The whites of the eyes are not like that of humans, but have a pale gray cast. The ears are small and set low on the skull. The nose is thin and long, and the mouth is wider than in humans, and nearly lipless. There is no apparent facial hair and very little body hair, that being very fine and confined to the underarm and the groin area. The body is thin and without apparent body fat, but the muscles are well-developed. The hands are small, with four long digits but no opposable thumb. The outside digit is jointed in a manner as to be nearly opposable, and there is no webbing between the fingers as in humans. The legs are slightly but noticeably bowed, and the feet are somewhat splayed and proportionally large.

b. EBE Type II. These entities are humanoid but differ from Type I in many respects. They are bi-pedal, 3 feet 5 inches - 4 feet 2 inches in height and weigh 25-50 pounds. Proportionally, the head is much larger than humans or Type I EBEs, the cranium being much larger and elongated. The eyes are very large, slanted, and nearly wrap around the side of the skull. They are black with no whites showing. There is no noticeable brow ridge, and the skull has a slight peak that runs over the crown. The nose consists of two small slits which sit high above the slit-like mouth. There are no external ears. The skin is a pale bluish-gray color, being somewhat darker on the back of the creature, and is very smooth and fine-celled. There is no hair on either the face or the body, and these creatures do not appear to be mammalian. The arms are long in proportion to the legs, and the hands have three long, tapering fingers and a thumb which is nearly as long as the fingers. The second finger is thicker than the others, but not as long as the index finger. The feet are small and narrow, and four toes are joined together with a membrane.

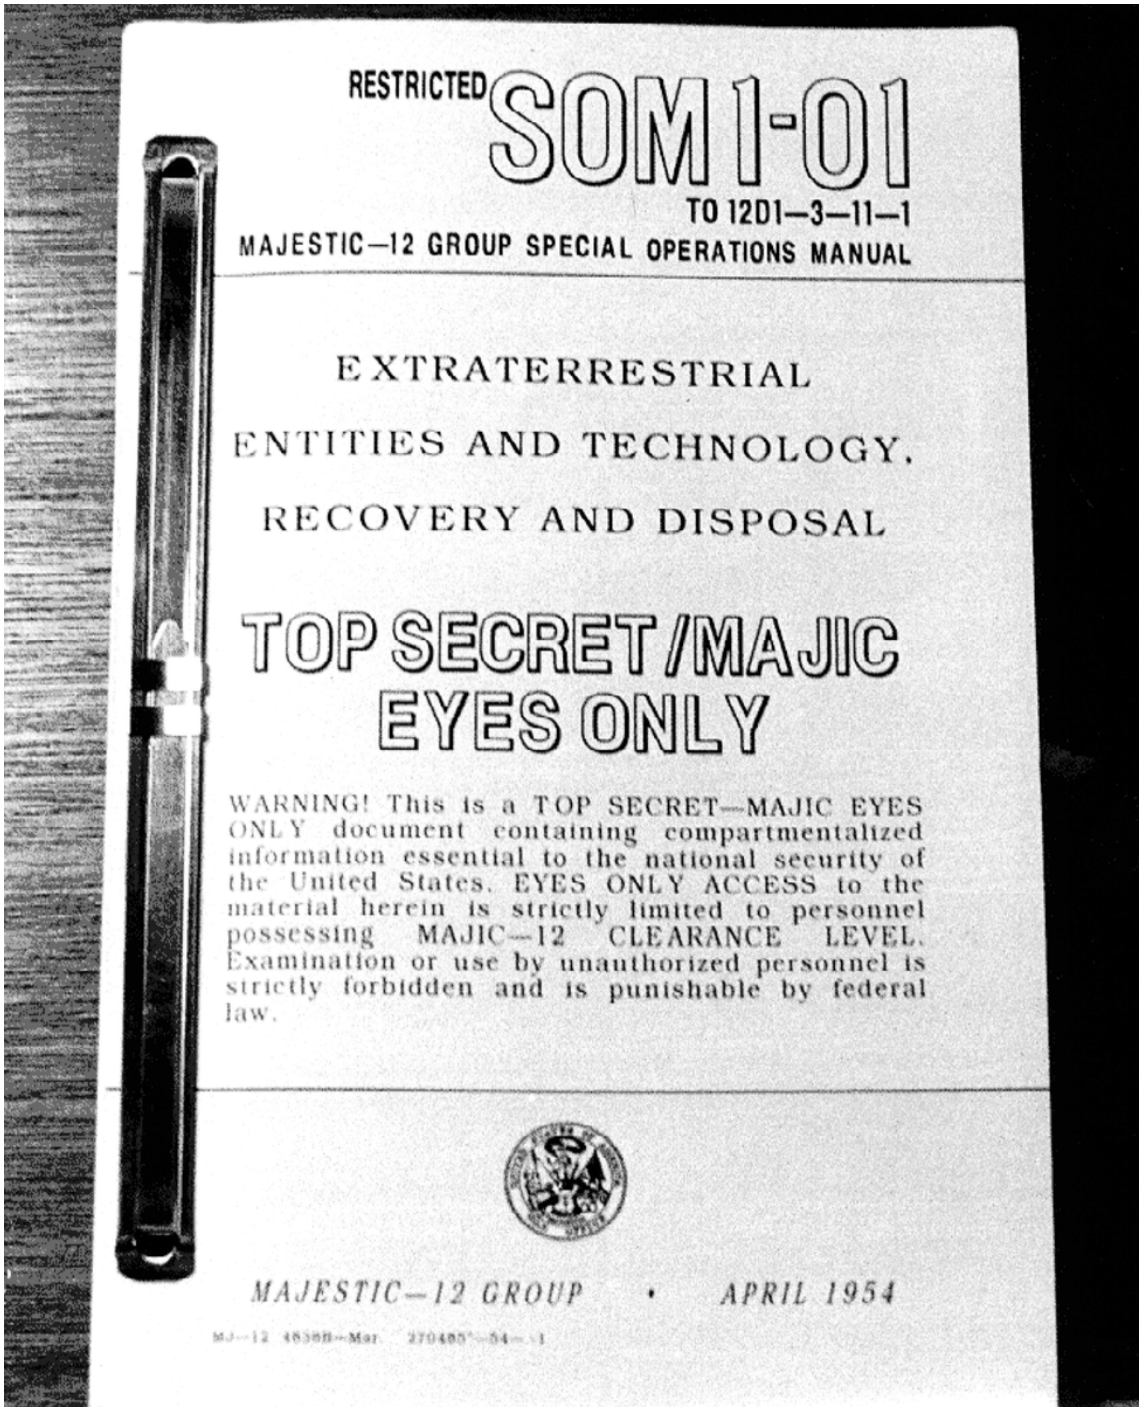

It is not definitely known where either type of creature originates, but it seems certain that they did not evolve on earth. It is further evident, although not certain, that they may have originated on two different planets.

@ChiefofTruth that's a very interesting thought. I was just reading about the September 20, 1965 encounter in Suffolk where an individual driving his car felt "compelled" to stop, exit and walk toward what he described as a humaoid being with large eyes, surrounded by orange flames

@carland27488094 It's still difficult to get some people to agree with the statement "UFOs are real."

Eventually I believe that will be widely accepted and the controversial discussions will center around two questions: "What are UFOs?" and "Are UFOs good or bad?" (answer probably isn't binary)

Also important, if you reach out to any elected official, important to clarify the 'Gillibrand-Rubio amendment' related to Unidentified Aerial Phenomena.

You could argue, sure that's a blanket support for all Gillibrand amendments.

But it's important not to transmute that type of answer to a question as full evidence of support of the UAP amendment.

Perhaps a journalist will direct reach out with a clarification question.

This is hardly the most credible sighting, and does not have official government documentation like some of the later, 1960s-70s Brazilian cases.

But it makes you wonder what may have happened in the mid 1940s that led to an increased number of reports, sometimes with humanoids.

On July 23, 1947, Brazilian topographer JosÃ© Higgins claimed to see a disc land in Bauru, Brazil w/ three occupants.

This marked the beginning of the 'modern' UFO phenomenon in Brazil.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1416157760941604867

@rosscoulthart @TomRtweets @Jay09784691 The final point relevant to this is: if mainstream people understood just how much mainstream science is trying to understand the fabric of our reality, they'd understand that there absolutely can be macroscopic quantum phenomena we haven't discovered yet....possibly UAP.

@rosscoulthart @TomRtweets @Jay09784691 Probably 25-50% of non-QP physicists don't fully understand QP, and those that do sometimes disagree on its implications for our classical realm.

So, it's natural to think people aren't grasping UAP as one thinks they should, because society at large doesn't grasp QP.

> The Black Vault contacted Elizondo for his reaction to this newest development. He expressed his frustration:

> "As for my work behind the scenes to support UAP Task Force efforts, I have been patient in allowing the Pentagon to address this in a manner they are comfortable provided they do not lie. Unfortunately, it now seems they are choosing once again to obscure the truth," Elizondo said. "As in other instances, I have initiated efforts internally that will hopefully encourage the Pentagon PAO to provide more truthful information to the public. Beyond that, I care to withhold additional comment at this point and allow every opportunity for the system to correct itself. However, my reserve is not endless, nor is my patience."

We expect that our analysis will show that certain areas in the United States have had an abnormally high number of reported incidents of unidentified flying objects. Assuming that, from our analysis, several definite areas productive of reports can be selected, we recommend that one or two of these areas be set up as experimental areas. This area, or areas, should have observations posts with complete visual skywatch, with radar and photographic coverage, plus all other instruments necessary or helpful in obtaining positive and reliable data on everything in the air over the area. A very complete record of the weather should also be kept during the time of the experiment. Coverage should be so complete that any object in the air could be tracked, and information as to its altitude, velocity, size, shape, color, time of day, etc. could be recorded. All balloon releases or known balloon paths, aircraft flights, and flights of rockets in the test area should be known to those in charge of the experiment. Many different types of aerial activity should be secretly and purposefully scheduled in the area.

We recognize that this proposed experiment would amount to a large-scale military maneuver, or operation, and that it would require extensive preparation and fine coordination, plus maximum security. Although it would be a major operation, and expensive, there are many extra benefits to be derived besides data on unidentified aerial objects.

The question of just what would be accomplished by the proposed experiment occurs. Just how could the problem of these unidentified objects be solved? From this test area, during the time of the experiment, it can be assumed that there would be a steady flow of reports from ordinary civilian observers, in addition to those by military or other official observers. It should be possible by such a controlled experiment to prove the identify of all objects reported, or to determine positively that there were objects present of unknown identity. Any hoaxes under a set-up such as this could almost certainly be exposed, perhaps not publicly, but at least to the military.

In addition, by having resulting data from the controlled experiment, reports for the last five years could be re-evaluated, in the light of similar but positive information. This should make possible reasonably certain conclusions concerning the problem of "flying saucers".

Results of an experiment such as described could assist the Air Force to determine how much attention to pay to future situations when, as in the past summer, there were thousands of sightings reported. In the future, then, the Air Force should be able to make positive statements, reassuring to the public, and to the effect that everything is well under control.

Very truly yours,

Attention Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt

Dear Mr. Goll:

This letter concerns a preliminary recommendation to ATIC on future methods of handling the problem of unidentified flying objects. This recommendation is based on our experience to date in analysing several thousands of reports on this subject. We regard the recommendation as preliminary because our analysis is not yet complete, and we are not able to document it where we feel it should be supported by facts from the analysis.

We are making this recommendation prematurely because of a CIA-sponsored meeting of a scientific panel, meeting in Washington, D. C., January 14, 15, and 16, 1953, to consider the problem of "flying saucers". The CIA-sponsored meeting is being held subsequent to a meeting of CIA, ATIC, and our representatives held at ATIC on December 12, 1952. At the December 12 meeting our representatives strongly recommendad that a scientific panel not be set up until the results of our analysis of the sighting-reports collected by ATIC were available. Since a meeting of the panel is now definitely scheduled we feel that agreement between Project Stork and ATIC should be reached as to what can and what cannot be discussed at the meeting in Washington on January 14-16 concerning our preliminary recommendation to ATIC.

Experience to date on our study of unidentified flying objects shows that there is a distinct lack of reliable data with which to work. Even the best-documented reports are frequently lacking in critical information that makes it impossible to arrive at a positive identification, i.e. even in a well-documented report there is always an element of doubt about the data, either because the observer had no means of getting the required data, or was not prepared to utilize the means at his disposal. Therefore, we recommend that a controlled experiment be set up by which reliable physical data can be obtained. A tentative preliminary plan by which the experiment could be designed and carried out is discussed in the following paragraphs.

Based on experience so far, it is expected that certain conclusions will be reached as a result of our analysis will make obvious the need for an effort to obtain reliable data from competent observers using the necessary equipment. Until reliable data are available, no positive answers to the problem will be possible.

We expect that our analysis will show that certain areas in the United States have had an abnormally high number of reported incidents of unidentified flying objects. Assuming that, from our analysis, several definite areas productive of reports can be selected, we recommend that one or two of these areas be set up as experimental areas. This area, or areas, should have observations posts with complete visual skywatch, with radar and photographic coverage, plus all other instruments necessary or helpful in obtaining positive and reliable data on everything in the air over the area. A very complete record of the weather should also be kept during the time of the experiment. Coverage should be so complete that any object in the air could be tracked, and information as to its altitude, velocity, size, shape, color, time of day, etc. could be recorded. All balloon releases or known balloon paths, aircraft flights, and flights of rockets in the test area should be known to those in charge of the experiment. Many different types of aerial activity should be secretly and purposefully scheduled in the area.

We recognize that this proposed experiment would amount to a large-scale military maneuver, or operation, and that it would require extensive preparation and fine coordination, plus maximum security. Although it would be a major operation, and expensive, there are many extra benefits to be derived besides data on unidentified aerial objects.

The question of just what would be accomplished by the proposed experiment occurs. Just how could the problem of these unidentified objects be solved? From this test area, during the time of the experiment, it can be assumed that there would be a steady flow of reports from ordinary civilian observers, in addition to those by military or other official observers. It should be possible by such a controlled experiment to prove the identify of all objects reported, or to determine positively that there were objects present of unknown identity. Any hoaxes under a set-up such as this could almost certainly be exposed, perhaps not publicly, but at least to the military.

In addition, by having resulting data from the controlled experiment, reports for the last five years could be re-evaluated, in the light of similar but positive information. This should make possible reasonably certain conclusions concerning the problem of "flying saucers".

Results of an experiment such as described could assist the Air Force to determine how much attention to pay to future situations when, as in the past summer, there were thousands of sightings reported. In the future, then, the Air Force should be able to make positive statements, reassuring to the public, and to the effect that everything is well under control.

@Indagogogo @UFOHermes_17_17 These are questions scientists are asking right now, btw.

It's just stigmatized to discuss in the open because of the fact that we don't yet have a scientific baseline for nuts and bolts UAP, so how on earth do we look at consciousness-and-UAP yet?

We can't.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1415769134818897927
@Indagogogo @UFOHermes_17_17 I haven't seen any compelling scientific evidence to support this yet, but it's not impossible to think a craft with mastery of quantum physics we don't yet have, might also have cracked a mastery of consciousness of surrounding observers we don't yet have.

One category (Five Observables) has very serious and interesting implications that warrant extreme, extreme study.

Great point.

As UAP study advances, the number of "buckets" they are placed into needs to diversify/increase, depending on what science learns.

Categories:

1. UAP that display the Five Observables, beyond next-generation tech
2. UAP that display conventional means of lift

In his 1994 book Shadows of the Mind, British physicist Roger Penrose suggested that the structures involved in this quantum cognition might be protein strands called microtubules, vibrating to adopt a superposition.

These are found in most of our cells, including neurons.

The Navy said when testing concluded in 2019, it was not able to prove it.

But this is still a crucial area of research to explore (the exploitation of macro quantum phenomena for aerospace purposes).

Quantum decoherence takes about 10^-31 seconds.

That happens in less than a millionth of the time it takes for a photon, traveling at the speed of light, to pass from one side of a single proton to the other.

@DavidBWriter @WFSJ Imo there needs to be a clearer understanding of the current state of UAP research within USG and its contractors.

But until that happens, science journalists could explore the AATIP DIRDs more and be braver in their coverage of hypothetical concepts of advanced propulsion..

Another AATIP research report looked at metamaterials for aerospace applications.

This was authored by a Ph.D. in Physics from MIT, who worked at Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory and the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory.

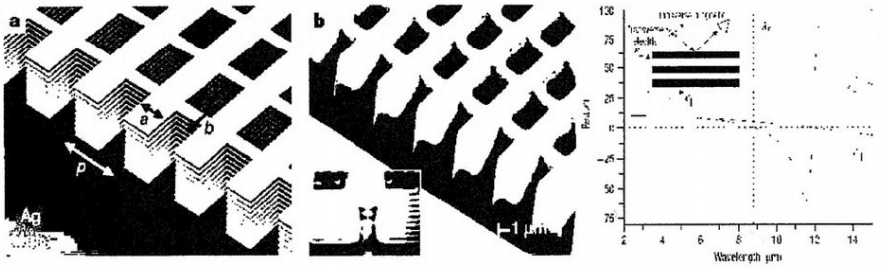

Figure 4. Recent Optical Metamaterials for Telecommunication Wavelength λ = 1.5 μm (Left and Middle) and Mid-Infrared IPM. The multi-layer fishnet is made of silver films separated by a dielectric spacer. A focused ion beam was used to produce the prism-shaped fishnet. The IPM was obtained by depositing interleaved 80 nm layers of $In_{0.53}Ga_{0.47}As$ and $Al_{0.48}In_{0.52}As$. The layers, approximately 8.1 μm thick, grown by molecular beam epitaxy on lattice-matched InP substrates. The InGaAs layers were uniformly doped to create different values of permittivity in alternating layers. (Reference 10 and 11)

That is not to say that there is not ongoing theoretical and experimental work on designing optical metamaterials for practical applications. The author's research group at UT- Austin, has designed the first Plasmonic Negative Index Metamaterials (P-NIM) super-lens (Reference 14), developed novel techniques for analyzing optical properties of plasmonic nanostructures, (including band-structure calculations of periodic nanostructures) (Reference 15) and quasi-static calculations of plasmonic resonances

Mystery Men Flash Government Credentials

UFO Witnesses 'Silenced'

By JOHN A. KEEL

NEW YORK (NANA) Mysterious men dressed in Air Force uniforms or bearing impressive credentials from government agencies have been "silencing" UFO witnesses, according to Col. George P. Freeman, Pentagon spokesman for Project Bluebook.

"We have checked a number of these cases," Freeman said in an interview this week, "and these men are not connected with the Air Force in any way."

HE CITED one recent case in which the police officers and other witnesses at the UFO sightings in Wanaque, N. J. were allegedly collected together by a man wearing an Air Force uniform. They were told that they "hadn't seen anything" and that they shouldn't discuss the incident.

"We checked with the local AFB," Freeman declared, "and discovered that no one connected with the Air Force had visited Wanaque on the date in question. Whoever it was, he wasn't from the Air Force."

Another mystery man, this one bearing credentials from the North American Air Defense (NORAD), turned up at the home of Rex Heflin, a man who had taken a series of UFO pictures in California in 1965, and demanded the originals. Later, NORAD denied having anything to do with the incident.

REP. JAMES B. UTT
. . . Hears from NORAD

MAJ. GEN. M. M. Magee, NORAD's chief of staff, later told Rep. James B. Utt, R-Calif., that, "for your information NORAD does not have the responsibility for the evaluation of UFOs and therefore would not knowingly be in the business of collecting UFO pictures for evaluation. In addition, the office of primary interest for UFO matters is the Department of the Air Force."

Heflin's photos have never been returned and the Air Force has never been able to determine the identity of the mystery man who took them.

Similar mystery men, according to other sources, have turned up and confronted UFO witnesses in the states of Washington, Texas, Connecticut, and on Long Island, N. Y.

IN FEBRUARY, 1960, Joe Perry, a restaurant owner in Grand Blanc, Mich., took a series of UFO pictures and was soon visited by two men posing as FBI agents. They seized a photo of a dome-shaped object with a green tail.

More recently, a man claiming to represent "a government agency so secret that he couldn't give its name" appeared in a school in Norwalk, Conn., and grilled two 12-year old boys for two hours about the disc-shaped object which they said had pursued them at ground level in April, 1966.

"We haven't been able to find out anything about these men," Freeman admitted. "By posing as Air Force officers and government agents they are committing a federal offense. We would sure like to catch one."

WHEN ASKED if any efforts have been made to track down the elusive imposters, Freeman replied: "Unfortunately, the trail is always too cold by the time we hear about these cases. But we're still trying."

Freeman also commented on the numerous reports of sightings of low-flying unmarked planes over areas where UFOs had recently been seen. "That's a federal offense, too," he said. "All Air Force planes are clearly marked. We don't know anything about these unmarked planes. We'd like to catch one of them too."

Many witnesses swore that they saw several Air Force helicopters maneuvering over Wanaque reservoir following a UFO sighting last October. Freeman said that a careful check had been made and that no formation of helicopters had been in that area at that time. "Besides," he continued, "most Air Force bases have only one or two helicopters for rescue work. I just don't know where a whole formation of them could have come from."

New statement from Daniel Sheehan on Lue Elizondo and Chris Mellon:

https://www.facebook.com/danielpetersheehan/posts/1683177385219798

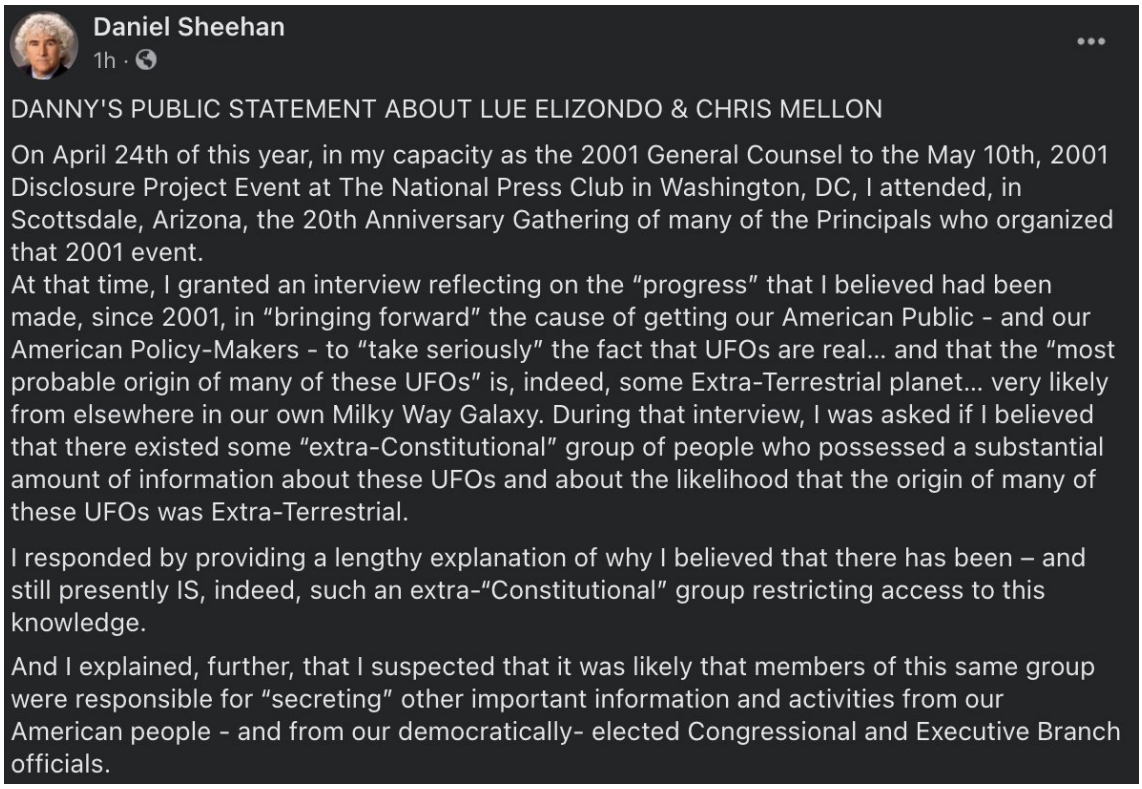

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E534qziXsAQHiTo.jpg

Unfortunately, THIS portion of my interview was extracted from what I understood to have been a “20th Anniversary Documentary about the 2001 Disclosure Event” and it was inserted into a documentary film dedicated to promulgating what I expressly stated, in that interview, was, in my judgment an incorrect theory on the part of Dr. Steven Greer (the Founder of The Disclosure Project) with which I most emphatically DIS-agreed. Moreover, that portion of my “20th Anniversary Interview” in which I criticized what I believed to be an un-Constitutional “Cabal” (as I referred to it) was “spliced into” the midst of a later-recorded interview of Dr. Greer in which Dr. Greer was aggressively attacking Mr. Lue Elizondo, the former Director of the entirely Constitutional, Congressionally- authorized, “Advanced Aerospace Threat Identification Project” - whom I happen to legally represent - and attacking Mr. Chris Mellon, the former entirely-Constitutionally-authorized Assistant Secretary of Defense for Intelligence for both President Clinton and President George “W.” Bush, Chris Mellon being a man whom I personally greatly respect for the courage he has displayed in joining with my client Lue Elizondo to “move forward” the strategic objective of revealing government information authoritatively verifying: (A) that a significant percentage of the reliably-reported sightings of UFOs over the past decades are, in fact, REAL, PHYSICAL vehicles; and (B) that the “most likely origin of these real UFOs is Extra-Terrestrial.”

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E534qzhWEAkNzjv.jpg

I am issuing this official public statement to make it unequivocally clear that I do NOT agree with Dr. Steven Greer's theory that the recent confirmation, by our U.S. Defense Department, that a clear majority of the 2004 to 2017 reports of UFOs are "REAL physical vehicles" is part of some secret plan on the part of our National Security State Bureaucracy to stage some imminent "False Flag" "Fake Alien Invasion". Nor do I agree with Dr. Steven Greer's public assertions that either Lue Elizondo or Chris Mellon are part of any such covert plan. I, instead, am firmly convinced that both Lue Elizondo and Chris Mellon are engaged in an entirely good-faith effort to expose the fact that some members of our United States Government are in possession of information that reveals not only that UFOs are REAL, but that the significant majority of the experts within our United States Government who are "briefed in" on any significant portion of the information that our government agencies possess regarding the UFO (or UAP) phenomenon hold a good-faith and well-founded belief that a substantial portion of the reliably-reported sightings of UFOs are, indeed, "off-world vehicles" of an "Extra-Terrestrial" origin. And I expressly stated my disagreement with Dr. Greer's representations to the contrary in my April 24th Interview. But this statement was edited "out" of my interview. And what I said about the "Cabal" that is secreting this information. Was inserted into Dr. Greer's attack on Lue Elizondo and Chris Mellon – that made it look like I was attributing them some role in Dr. Greer's projected "Planned Fake Alien Invasion." I want it made clear that I am expressly publicly DIS-agreeing with Dr. Greer's characterization of Luís Elizondo and Christopher Mellon. And I am publicly stating that my statements of April 24th, 2021 made about an entirely different "unconstitutional Cabal" were placed out of context in the documentary film entitled "The Great Hoax" which gave the false impression that I was indicating that I believed that my own client, Lue Elizondo, as well as Mr. Christopher Mellon were privy to – and part of – such an unconstitutional conspiracy. They are NOT.

Another interesting theory considers the use of negative matter to create a bubble in space-time that a craft can then sit inside of.

Such as this paper by Dr. Hal Puthoff.

It discusses the idea of a craft interacting with the quantum vacuum, to allow itself to behave anomalously, as if it were a macroscopic quantum object.

I'd love to hear a pro/con debate about this thoery.

“This is an end-around to cut the legs out from Sen. Gillibrand in her amendment to the next defense spending bill,” says Robert Spearing, MUFON’s director of international investigations, who is based in Costa Rica. “She wants a government office that utilizes input from civilian organizations. In essence, the Pentagon doesn’t want this.”

“It is clear that the Pentagon does not want any civilian interference in this,” says Clas Svahn, chairman for the Sweden-based Archives for the Unexplained, among the most comprehensive digital libraries for UFO sightings and investigations into them by governments worldwide. “This is a power struggle over who should have access to UAP information.”

“It represents a brazen step towards completely stifling the burgeoning demand from both the public and Congress for increased UFO transparency,” says Peter Whitley, a researcher based in Japan and a member of the Mutual UFO Network, or MUFON, which considers itself one of the largest and oldest of its kind. “Clearly, the DOD is attempting to reverse course on this trend and shut the door on further disclosure of any kind.”

DOD now requiring all of its members to report any UAP activity within 2 weeks of sighting!
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E4wxdmNWYAA5Rk9.jpg

DEPUTY SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
1010 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20301-1010

JUN 25 2021

MEMORANDUM FOR SENIOR PENTAGON LEADERSHIP
COMMANDERS OF THE COMBATANT COMMANDS
DEFENSE AGENCY AND DOD FIELD ACTIVITY DIRECTORS

SUBJECT: Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Assessments

A recent report from the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) highlights the current challenges associated with assessing Unidentified Aerial Phenomena (UAP) occurring on or near DoD training ranges and installations. It is critical that the United States maintain operations security and safety at DoD ranges. To this end, it is equally critical that all U.S. military aircrews or government personnel report whenever aircraft or other devices interfere with military training. This includes the observation and reporting of UAPs.

The report also confirmed that the scope of UAP activity expands significantly beyond the purview of the Secretary of the Navy, who heads the Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force (UAPTF), and suggested process improvements to ensure timely collection of consistent data on UAP. Consistent with these recommendations and to improve partnership with the ODNI and other non-DoD organizations, I direct the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security to develop a plan to formalize the mission currently performed by the UAPTF. The plan should:

1. Establish procedures to synchronize collection, reporting and analysis on the UAP problem set, and to establish recommendations for securing military test and training ranges.

2. Identify requirements for the establishment and operation of the new activity, to include the organizational alignment, resources and staffing required, as well as any necessary authorities and a timeline for implementation.

3. Be developed in coordination with the Principal Staff Assistants, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Secretaries of the Military Departments, and the Commanders of the Combatant Commands and with the DNI and other relevant interagency partners.

All members of the Department will utilize these processes to ensure that the UAPTF, or its follow-on activity, has reports of UAP observations within two weeks of an occurrence.

And before you rest on your accomplishment in pushing for UAP study and activism, just know that past studies (Condon, Blue Book) haven't kept this topic permanent.

So let's keep pushing for resources to be devoted to this and participation from all of government, science.

Schiff Statement on Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Report

Washington, D.C. – Today, Congressman Adam Schiff (D-Calif.), Chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, released the following statement on the release of the unclassified unidentified aerial phenomena report from the Director of National Intelligence, which includes contributions from elements of the Intelligence Community and Department of Defense:

"Through the Intelligence Authorization Act, the Congress and the Intelligence Committee required the preparation and release of today's report, as it has become increasingly clear that unidentified aerial phenomena are not a rare occurrence and our government needs a unified way to gather, analyze, and contextualize these reports.

"We should approach these questions without preconceptions to encourage a thorough, systematized analysis of the potential national security and flight safety risks posed by unidentified aerial phenomena, whether they are the result of a foreign adversary, atmospheric or other aerial phenomena, space debris, or something else entirely.

"We look forward to reviewing the report and will host a classified briefing for the Members of the House Intelligence Committee later this year based on its findings and to build on the Member briefing held last week. As we continue to receive updates, we will share what we can with the American people as excessive secrecy will only spur more speculation."

Cloaking

Cloaking[4, 5] is a universal strategy for invisibility that works for objects of arbitrary compositions and shapes within a given size. In cloaking, the hidden object is enclosed by the cloaking device, a transparent shell that guides light around the object as if the light would propagate through empty space. In this way, both the interior of the cloaking device is hidden and the act of hiding is concealed.

And a Handful of UAP Appear to Demonstrate Advanced Technology

In 18 incidents, described in 21 reports, observers reported unusual UAP movement patterns or flight characteristics.

Some UAP appeared to remain stationary in winds aloft, move against the wind, maneuver abruptly, or move at considerable speed, without discernable means of propulsion. In a small number of cases, military aircraft systems processed radio frequency (RF) energy associated with UAP sightings.

The UAPTF holds a small amount of data that appear to show UAP demonstrating acceleration or a degree of signature management. Additional rigorous analysis are necessary by multiple teams or groups of technical experts to determine the nature and validity of these data. UAP PROBABLY LACK A SINGLE EXPLANATION

The UAP documented in this limited dataset demonstrate an array of aerial behaviors, reinforcing the possibility there are multiple types of UAP requiring different explanations. Our analysis of the data supports the construct that if and when individual UAP incidents are resolved they will fall into one of five potential explanatory categories: airborne clutter, natural atmospheric phenomena, USG or industry developmental programs, foreign adversary systems, and a catchall "other" bin. With the exception of the one instance where we determined with high confidence that the reported UAP was airborne clutter, specifically a deflating balloon, we currently lack sufficient information in our dataset to attribute incidents to specific explanations.

Airborne Clutter: These objects include birds, balloons, recreational unmanned aerial vehicles (UAV), or airborne debris like plastic bags that muddle a scene and affect an operator's ability to identify true targets, such as enemy aircraft.

Natural Atmospheric Phenomena: Natural atmospheric phenomena includes ice crystals, moisture, and thermal fluctuations that may register on some infrared and radar systems.

USG or Industry Developmental Programs: Some UAP observations could be attributable to developments and classified programs by U.S. entities. We were unable to confirm, however, that these systems accounted for any of the UAP reports we collected.

Foreign Adversary Systems: Some UAP may be technologies deployed by China, Russia, another nation, or a non-governmental entity.

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

Other: Although most of the UAP described in our dataset probably remain unidentified due to limited data or challenges to collection processing or analysis, we may require additional scientific knowledge to successfully collect on, analyze and characterize some of them. We would group such objects in this category pending scientific advances that allowed us to better understand them. The UAPTF intends to focus additional analysis on the small number of cases where a UAP appeared to display unusual flight characteristics or signature management.

Quantum vacuum interaction is an area that deserves FAR more study.

Some teams are attempting to "break' the vacuum using high energy lasers, but the real interesting area of research has to do with using the vacuum for propulsion.

:thinking_face: Two external biproducts of a craft operating in a spacetime altered region using quantum vacuum-interaction tech:

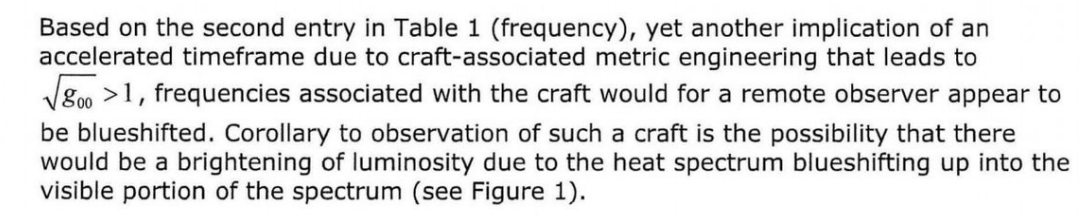

1. instantaneous acceleration, jumping from point to point

2. luminosity

Via Dr. Hal Puthoff, from the AATIP DIRD on vacuum propulsion (via @blackvaultcom).
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E4ntg2wWQAMueOq.jpg

An additional implication of time speedup within the frame of an exotic craft technology is that its flightpath that might seem precipitous from an external viewpoint (for example, sudden acceleration or deceleration) would be experienced as much less so by the craft's occupants. From the occupants' viewpoint, observing the external environment to be in relative slow motion, it would not be surprising to consider that one's relatively modest changes in motion would appear abrupt to an external observer.

@336jimmy Plenty of scientists make significant discoveries that advance their sub-disciplines and don't make a name for themselves.

Don't confuse publicized scientific communicators like Tyson with those in the trenches that number in the tens of thousands doing scientific research.

@PoliticalGeeker @336jimmy Yeah, that's why a bridge needs to be built. In some cases intel reports don't need to understand the science behind what's happening to catalogue it.

It's harder, and takes more time to formulate an opinion based on scientific research, but this is what readers interested in science communities like r/biology, r/space, r/physics and r/science do.

The people interested in UAP can have these quality of discussions too.

However, going forward, we need a more significant bridge to be built between mainstream academia and the U.S. intel community/military.

@SKEPTICLBELIEVR @LisaRob23467689 @MickWest Great example from my own channel. I forgot about this one.

Unfortunately these recordings don't give us much basis to understand what happened that night...but my reaction to that is to try to figure out how science CAN discover what happened.

Not just ignore it.

2021-06-22T01:29:23+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1407148680499564551
@LisaRob23467689 @MickWest It's easy to say "the recordings" don't exist in a character limit tweet and get engagement.

It's just weird and indicative of a closed mindset to try and figure out what's happening.

A responsible journalist or content creator would find the available audio and share it.

2021-06-22T01:26:51+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1407148041761665028
@MickWest There are plenty of others too, but from what I've seen they're just kind of scattered everywhere. NARCAP chronicled some of these but they weren't great about audio availability.

O'Hare audio: https://youtu.be/JVqKTETJfnk

@MickWest This is such a strange line of logic to take because there are cases of ATC hearing about anomalies pilots can't explain.

I don't know if they're in a centralized database at the FAA but there are certainly examples.

unidentified phenomenon at Site 7. While watching a sport competition between Canada and the USSR on television, he stepped outside for some air and observed an unidentified sharp (bright) green circular object or mass in the sky. The object was situated west of the site at an angle of sighting of approximately 70 degrees. The altitude of the object was undeterminable. (Field Comment: Although there were no clouds in the sky that evening, Source believed that the green mass would have been higher than cloud level. Source could not estimate the diameter of the object.) Within 10 to 15 seconds of observation, the green circle widened and within a brief period of time several green concentric circles formed around the mass. Within minutes the coloring disappeared. There was no sound, such as an explosion, associated with the phenomenon. (Field Comment: Source had no opinion as to what this phenomenon was. There was no resultant rumors. Source could not provide any further details.)

The San Carlos de Bariloche, Argentina UAP of July 31st, 1995 is a very interesting case.

Pushing for full transparency from the FAA and aviation administrations across the globe on this issue is important.

And it is possible to make positive progress. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E3JgLrkXIAEJHbZ.jpg @JohnELTenney @GamingHabit101 @ufologyresearch @TheUFOTrail It's definitely a challenge to get hardcore documents about this subject into the mainstream. Do you think a streamer could ever handle a document heavy show on high strangeness?

2021-06-05T03:25:04+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1401017198974492673

@GamingHabit101 @ufologyresearch We just need to keep our foot on the gas and engage, engage, engage in media, with scientists, elected officials, etc.

Part of the motivation behind founding @SkyfortStrat is the concept of formalizing this effort into a consistent organized structure that lasts generations.

@GamingHabit101 @JohnELTenney @ufologyresearch @TheUFOTrail Yeah! The New Mexico document is neat for several other reasons, including that observers were seemingly a decently sized group (!) and they were reputable scientists, AFOSI SAs, etc.

And for the mainstream, this is definitely a sort of 'WTF' level document!

@ufologyresearch Fyi, there was a small mixup with the document that was supposed to be shown at that spot.

Here are some more relevant examples of Tic Tac-esque objects being seen in the 50s and 60s.

Flee Air Cond reports military jet pilots vic Fairbanks while over Weeks International Field at an altitude of 8000 feet observed a flash of light, yellow in color at an altitude between 25,000 and 30,000 feet. Horizontal distance to object was aprx 50 miles. Soon after flash a dark brown smoke appeared to [illegible] or climb at an angle of 40 degrees. At the leading edge of the smoke at aprx 100 feet appeared an object either cigar shaped or a fuselage without wings travelling at terrific speed. Pilots started pursuit on heading of 210 degrees mag, indicating 380 at a very steep climb. Pursuit continued until pilots reached village of clear and lost sight of object. Meantime object gained altitude and speed and disappeared because of distance of aprx 50 to 55,000 feet. Color of smoke brown, color of object dark and no reflection from sunlight. Pilots assured of shape because of perfect silhouette against the sun. One pilot had object in view aprx 4½ mins. First sighted at 1500262. Coordinates 64 degs 13 mins North, 149 degs 30 mins West. SUBJECT: Unidentified Flying Object [redacted] b6

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

The following information was received 12 August 1947 from [redacted], New Hyde Park, Long Island, relative b6 to the sighting of a possible flying disc 4 August 1947.

On 4 August 1947, [redacted], an [redacted] with Pan American Airways, Inc., was the first pilot of a Constellation type aircraft on a flight from Gander, Newfoundland, to La Guardia Field, New York. [redacted] took over the aircraft at Gander, Newfoundland and departed at approximately 1230 P.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time for La Guardia Field, New York. At 1600 P.M., at a position approximately midway between the Everett (Mass) Fan Marker and the Bedford Radio Beacon (Everett is 3 miles NW of Boston, Mass., and Bedford is 15 miles NW of the same city) both [redacted] sighted unidentifiable flying objects. To the best of [redacted] the following weather conditions existed at that time: Visibility was good; cloud coverage was from 6-8/10ths, with tops at 10,000 feet; and the wind at the 8,000 foot level was estimated as being 270/25 miles per hour. The aircraft was at 8,000 feet; airspeed 255 mph; and the course was 244 degrees, magnetic.

[redacted], who was sitting in the co-pilots seat (the right side of the cockpit) first called [redacted] attention to a bright orange object, which was on the right side of the plane, and slightly below the level of the aircraft. [redacted] was unable to see the object, as he had no visibility to the right and down, from his position. [redacted] immediately glanced out his side window and noticed, at a 45° angle to the left, and unidentified flying object. It was about one mile away at an altitude of approximately 7,800 feet. [redacted] banked to obtain a better view of the object. The object was under observation for approximately 30 seconds, and during this time was viewed by [redacted] described the object as being about the length of a P-40 fuselage, blunt at both ends, cylindrical in shape, and having a bright orange hue. [redacted] stated that the object had a definite shape, and that there was no suggestion of gaseous dissipation as there would be if the orange color were the exhaust from a rocket, or a jet aircraft. [redacted] estimated the course of the object to be 300° magnetic, and that the object was travelling at approximately 160 mph. [redacted] lost sight of the object, when a cloud came between the aircraft and the object. The pursuit of the object was not continued, inasmuch as it would have necessitated a departure from the established airways.

More to come soon. The Tucker shoutout was unexpected.

You guys want the flying lozenge file CNN just showed?

Here you go.

This was a case from 1953. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/E3FhslyWUAU0khC.jpg

00-W-29745

Over Hässleholm, I saw an object -- on my right and obliquely in front of me, flying at a somewhat lower altitude -- which at first I thought to be a jet plane. The silhouette was thin and it approached me at a very high velocity. Olle Johansson and I have discussed the matter of its speed, and comparing its speed with, for example, that of the "Flying Barrels" [J-29], we have estimated the speed to be about that of sound. The whole business took place fantastically quickly, but I believe that I was able to see the object for 4 to 5 seconds.

"When the object got closer, I was able to ascertain that it was symmetric and metallic. It is very difficult to describe something that one has never seen before, but I would say that it looked like a flying lozenge. The object did not seem to have a crew, but seemed more to be a robot. When it passed under the wing [of the DC-3], I could no longer see it. The mechanic, who was able to observe it for five more seconds, confirms the fact that it was circular or possibly somewhat elliptical in form. At the time of the incident, we were flying at an altitude of 2,150 meters and the cloud ceiling was about 1,500 meters. Thus, the object should have been flying at an altitude of between 1,500 and 1,600 meters. We estimated the size to be about 10 meters in diameter. It left no exhaust or condensation trail.

"We are both absolutely convinced that it could not have been a meteor or other celestial phenomenon. We did not see any distinct light but were only able to see that the object had a metallic lustre. Immediately after the observation, we reported to F5 in Ljungbyhed and to the regional civil air security service at Bulltofta. The course of the object was south-southwest. The whole thing happened so quickly that we could not have managed to change course [and follow the object]..."

Olle Johansson's statement was as follows: "I was sitting forward in the right-hand seat of the pilot's cabin when Captain Christiernsson pointed to the object. What I saw was an ellipse with sharp outlines and something between silver and white in color. I saw it for about 10 seconds. It was approaching from the north in a direction opposite to ours, at a speed of about 1,200 kilometers per hour. It was flying entirely above the clouds. From Malmö northward, we were able to see the ground for only a few myriameters and after that there was a cloud covering all the way to Stockholm. We were flying at a speed of about 270 kilometers per hour. Ten minutes after the incident, we met an SAS (Scandinavian Airlines System) DC-4. Thereupon, we estimated the object's speed at about three times that of the DC-4. There seemed to be no flames or smoke trail from the object. Since we had the automatic pilot on, we had no chance to turn quickly enough to see where the object went."

The Defense Staff's short communique on the incident read as follows: "At 1457 hours on Thursday, the crew on a civilian commercial plane observed, in the vicinity of Hässleholm, an unknown object which moved at a high speed in a direction opposite to that of the plane. The object was viewed for 6 to 7 seconds. At the time of the incident, there was clear weather at the altitude at which the plane was flying. Because of the low cloud ceiling, the object could not have been seen from the ground. Within the knowledge of the Defense Staff, there was no Swedish plane in the area concerned at the time of the incident. Investigation continues."

Reports of "flying saucers" have arisen in both Europe and America on countless occasions in recent years but, according to a statement to Dagens Nyheter by a member of the Air Staff, these observations over Skaane can be termed the clearest and most detailed which heretofore have been made regarding mysterious, unknown aircraft.(1)

There have also been a disturbing number of cases where UAP come very close to nuclear plants or weapon storage facilities.

Here is one from 1988 where a large black triangle came over the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station, NE for two consecutive nights.

Allegation Number: RIV-2010-A-0101

Concern: 1.
		*RX Code or Functional Area:	Security
Responsible Branch:	PSB 1	*Discipline:	Security
*OI Investigation Priority:		OI Case Number:	4-20XX-0XX
*OI Priority Basis:

Concern: (A concern is one or two sentences.)

Sometime between 1986 and 1989, an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) violated the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station and was not reported to the NRC as required.

Concern Background, Supporting Information, & Comments:

The CI described an event that occurred during his employment as a security officer at Cooper Nuclear Station. He was employed there from 1986 through 1989 and did not remember specifically when during that time the event occurred.

While posted at the intake structure one night, he observed an "unidentified flying object" fly down the Missouri River about 150 feet in the air and hover in front of the intake. He observed it for a few moments and then contacted a fellow security officer who also observed it (he could not recall the individual's name exactly but his first name was (b) and his last name was either (b)(7)(C). After they together observed the UFO, it turned and went back up the river and did not come back that shift. He and the other officer shared their observation with their peers who did not believe them.

The next evening he again was posted at the intake and observed the UFO return again. This time he didn't call anyone until the UFO had traversed into the protected area and hovered above the protected area just north of the Reactor Building. He said it was roughly triangular in shape with a circle of rotating lights on the bottom. He could not hear any propulsion noise from the UFO. He believes that it was roughly 1/3 the size of the Reactor Building. Once the UFO hovered in the protected area, he called the security break room and most of the officers on shift observed the UFO. These individuals included (b)(7)(C) and (b)(7)(C) (both of whom were security officers), all of whom still work at the plant today. After hovering there for a few minutes, the UFO exited the protected are and returned back up the river to the north as it had the previous night. The CI said that he never saw the UFO at the plant again after that evening.

The CI believes that this incident should have been reported as a violation of the protected area space but was not reported.

6/23/10 UPDATE: The SRI at Cooper conducted a search of the corrective action program between 1/1/1986 – 12/31/1989 using the words: "ufo", "flying", "unidentified", "protected area", and "hover". The search yielded no entries associated with this concern.

Regulatory Requirement: (fill in below)

No security violation. Possible reportability issue 10 CFR 73, Appendix G, I.(a)(3)(b).

*Safety Significance:		HIGH		Normal	X	N/A

Basis: Describe the concern's safety significance (current, on going issue; level of individual(s) involved; etc.).

Past event that has no impact of current safety or security of the station.

Check each question as applicable to this concern.

X	Is it a declaration, statement, or assertion of impropriety or inadequacy? Is there a potential deficiency?
X	Is the impropriety or inadequacy associated with NRC regulated activities or policy (e.g. SCWE)?
X	Is the validity of the issue unknown?

If all of the above statements are checked, the issue is an allegation.

Radar-confirmed UAP events have been happening for 50+ years.

Here is the declass account of an event at Malmstrom AFB in 1967.

Things to note:

1. Missile cap was temporarily negatively affected
2. Radio was interfered with
3. "UFO" climbed from low alt to 100k ft quickly

k. SHAW, CHESTER A., JR., Major, USAF, Base Director of Operations. Comments: Capt Smith (Missile Combat Crew Commander) on duty at Missile Site (MIKE Flt) sixty (60) feet underground indicated that radio transmission was being interrupted by static, this static was accompanied by the UFO coming close to the Missile Site (MIKE Flt). When UFO climbed, static stopped. The UFO appeared to be S.E. of MIKE 6, range undetermined. At 0512Z, UFO climbed for altitude after hovering for 15 minutes. South Radar base gave altitude as 100,000 feet, N.W. of Minot AFB, NDak. At this time a strike team reported UFO decending, checked with Radar Site they also verified this. The UFO then began to swoop and dive. It then appeared to land 10 to 15 miles South of MIKE 6. "MIKE 6" Missile Site Control sent a strike team to check. When the team was about 10 miles from the landing sight, static disruppted radio contact with them. Five (5) to eight (8) minutes later, the glow diminished and the UFO took off. Another UFO was visually sighted and confirmed by radar. The one that was first sighted passed beneath the second. Radar also confirmed this. The first, made for altitude toward the North and the second seemed to dissappear with the glow of red. A3C SEDOVIC at the South Radar base confirmed this also. At 0619Z, two and one half (2½) hours after first sighting, an F-106 interceptor was sent up. No contact or sighting was established. The Control Tower asked the Aircraft Commander of a KC-135 which was flying in the local area to check the area. He reported nothing. The Radar Site picked up an echo on radar which on checking was the KC-135. No other sightings. At 0645Z discontinued search for UFO.

@WitnessCitizen @SicCoP1 @strategic_doubt It actually seems more paranoid to do what's being done on this thread...

Which is to overthink a pretty basic crowd response on a social media platform that is filled with short-term reactionary takes, mind you, a crowd that's highly focused on govt transparency.

@SicCoP1 @strategic_doubt Also.. Adam probably has a greater understanding of DOD politics than the average (or even well read UAP user), so...while his point that the collective outrage makes users look paranoid, I think some of it is unintended confusion over how Congressional processes work/don't work @SicCoP1 @strategic_doubt Twitter is a reactionary platform..

The history of subject suggests past obfuscation, which does make some (many) in the userbase paranoid.

I don't think it is much more complex than that.

Is the paranoia justified? Counterproductive?

Maybe those are the better questions..

@Munook You're right it does sound contradictory and I think that's a reason Jacques' late career conclusions haven't proliferated as much as they should.

because, it's such a foreign concept to have something in the physical world that can also be ruled 'psychological' by investigators @Munook Yes, I agree. They're solid. They leave radar returns. Affect water. Are recorded on sensor suites.

But that solid technology can also impact observer consciousness.

2021-12-02T22:06:08+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1466529138571894789

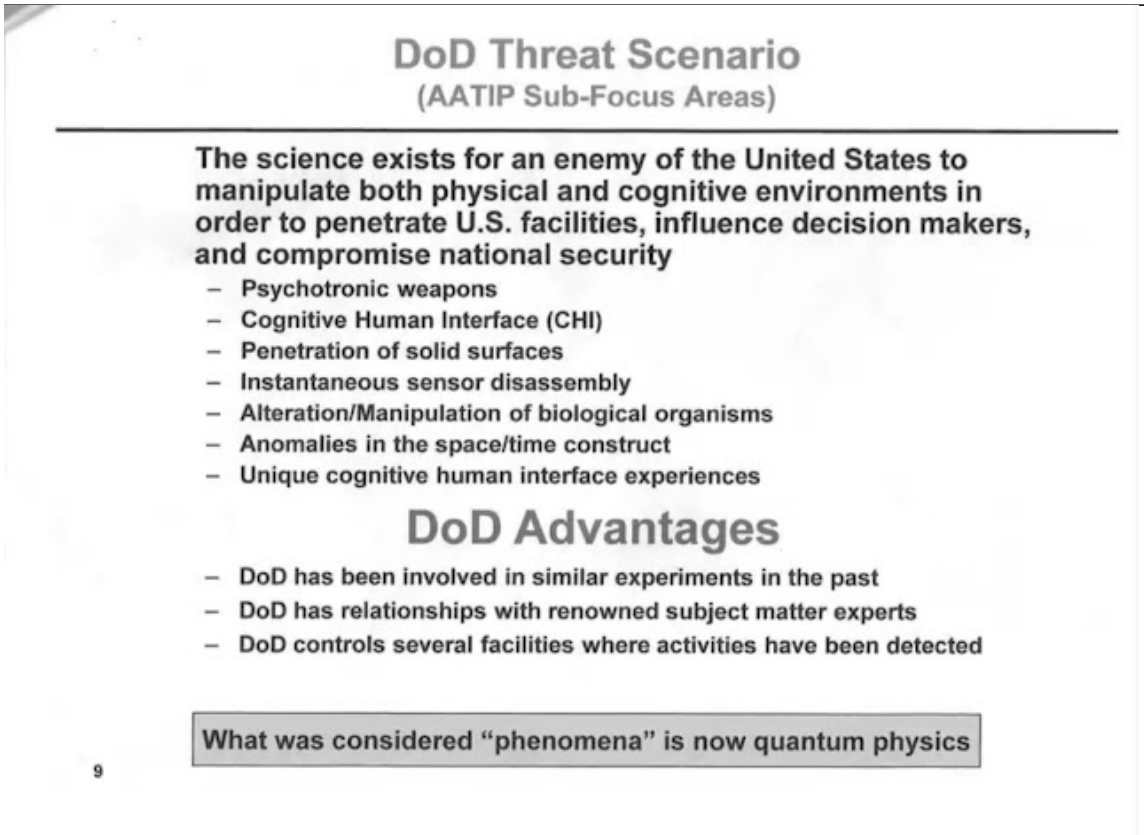

This opens up an entire conversation about what type of technology might be able to achieve this level of consciousness interaction and how advanced it might be.

But the how it works and why it is used (if there is an answer) are extremely important things to figure out.

UFOs "werenâ□□t flying saucers, they werenâ□□t tic tacs...they were something that possessed the ability to make your mind see what makes sense to you."

It's why we need to take a serious look at the medical effects of events on observers, and one reason why recent Congressional language (right) is significant.

November 4, 2021 CON

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Director and the Secretary shall each, in coordination with each other, designate one or more line organizations that will be primarily responsible for scientific, technical, and operational analysis of data gathered by field investigations conducted under subsection (d), or data from other sources, including testing of materials, medical studies, and development of theoretical models to better understand and explain unidentified aerial phenomena.

(2) AUTHORITY.—The Director and the Secretary shall promulgate such directives as necessary to ensure that the designated line organizations have authority to draw on special expertise of persons outside the Federal Government with appropriate security clearances.

The second aspect is psychological. It is debatable whether anybody has seen the actual technology that supports the phenomenon. What is seen, and reported, is an image; that is, the perception of a UFO by a human witness. Reports of UFOs show all kinds of psychophysiological effects on the witnesses: perception distortions, unconscious barriers, and mental blocks. Witnesses also show evidence of suggestion and post-hypnotic effects. Exposure to the phenomenon causes visions, hallucinations, physiological effects, and long-term personality changes.

The three big questions from @LueElizondo's resignation letter re: UAP still ring true today.

1. Who else knows?
2. What are their capabilities?
3. Why aren't we spending more time/effort on the issue?

INTELLIGENCE

OFFICE OF THE UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
5000 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20301-5000

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT: Letter of Resignation & Differed Retirement

Mr. Secretary;

It has been my sincere honor and pleasure to have served with some of America's finest men and women in both peace time and in war. For over 22 years, I have been blessed to learn from, and work with world-class leadership, you certainly being among the very best.

With that in mind, bureaucratic challenges and inflexible mindsets continue to plague the Department at all levels. This is particularly true regarding the controversial topic of anomalous aerospace threats. Despite overwhelming evidence at both the unclassified and classified levels, certain individuals in the Department remain staunchly opposed to further research on what could be a tactical threat to our pilots, sailors, and soldiers, and perhaps even an existential threat to our national security. In many instances, there seems to be a direct correlation the phenomena exhibits with respect to our nuclear and military capabilities. The Department must take serious the many accounts by the Navy and other Services of unusual aerial systems interfering with military weapon platforms and displaying beyond next generation capabilities. Underestimating or ignoring these potential threats is not in the best interest of the Department no matter the level of political contention. There remains a vital need to ascertain capability and intent of these phenomena for the benefit of the armed forces and the nation.

For this reason, effective 4 October 2017, I humbly submit my resignation in hopes it will encourage you to ask the hard questions: "who else knows?", what are their capabilities?", and "why aren't we spending more time and effort on the issue?". As I transition to a new chapter of my life, please know it has been an honor and privilege of a lifetime to serve with you. Rest assure, no matter where the path of life may lead me, I will always have the best interest of the Department and the American people as my guiding principle.

The work continued, and AAWSAP was renamed AATIP sometime in 2011, according to former Department of Defense official Luis Elizondo, who took over leadership of AATIP in 2012. By then, the program had narrowed its focus to study threats to the US military.

The funding disappeared in 2013, but AATIP continued to operate under the Defense Intelligence Agency — and is probably still operating, according to Elizondo.

Congressional leaders — former US Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid of Nevada, Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska and Sen. Daniel Inouye of Hawaii — secretly funded AAWSAP in 2007. BAASS won a $10 million contract that year to spearhead some of the work.

In 2018, a list of the funded projects was released publicly.

@AFSUnidentified To expect it to be centrally housed anywhere is a simplification, imo.

DOE probably very likely has files related to nuclear incursions, if I had to guess.

Look at the late 80s Cooper Nuclear encounter for example. NRC accounted for that, I had to think DOE would've been cc-ed Exactly.

As Former Sen Majority Leader Harry Reid recently confirmed, Elizondo was the head of AATIP.

Not sure how or why anyone could get it confused with AAWSAP.

HARRY REID

Senate Majority Leader, 2007-2015
Senate Democratic Leader, 2005-2017

United States Senate, 1987-2017
United States House of Representatives, 1983-1987

April 26, 2021

To whom it may concern:

As the United States Senate Majority Leader, I worked with Republican Senator Ted Stevens of Alaska and Democratic Senator Dan Inouye of Hawaii to secure $22 million of funding for what would become known as the Advanced Aerospace Threat Identification Program (AATIP), an unclassified but unpublicized investigatory effort dedicated to studying Unidentified Aerial Phenomena.

As one of the original sponsors of AATIP, I can state as a matter of record Lue Elizondo's involvement and leadership role in this program. Mr. Elizondo is a former intelligence officer who has spent his career working tirelessly in the shadows on sensitive national security matters, including investigating UAPs as the head of AATIP. He performed these duties admirably.

Sincerely,

HARRY REID

Five years after the closing of Blue Book, U.S. intel was still paying attention to unidentified aerial phenomena.

Declassified files from 1974 show something else: monitoring of a CEIII, a case involving 6 1/2 foot tall occupants of disc-shaped craft.

@poopadoopis We can believe different things, sure. I hate the packaging of UAP to look so scammy. I'm talking about keywords and messaging here.

there is real risk of more blanket bans on UAP topics as a whole the more it is associated with conspiracy keywords online.

@Deepneuron @SBrownelTF Could definitely be many things! What I don't know is if witnesses of different faiths have prayed and if the effects vary.

These sorts of sociological studies could be theoretically run on large UAP databases if they actually tracked these types of things.

It's arguable that of the topics related to UAP, remote viewing (RV) is the most interesting.

@benjimaan22 from a 100,000 foot view, burning the bones of dead animals who lived before us is far more absurd than using energy from the sun, wind, or hydro.

obviously it's not that simple due to our economic system and what was invested in first in the industrial revolution

There's something so barbaric referring to bulk of Earth's current energy usage as "fossil energy."

Makes you wonder what (possible) UAP occupants think of our habits.

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Ev-8jhSXMBM4N8M.jpg

Today, fossil energy contributes about 85% of the world energy supply. It is the cheapest, most readily available energy source. Thus, fossil energy is likely to remain the dominant energy resource for satisfying the growing world energy demand. World energy demand is growing rapidly as the developing countries are becoming industrialized. The

The review panel consisted of Von Eshleman; Thomas Holzer, High Altitude Observatory in Boulder, Colo.; Randy Jokipii, professor of planetary science, University of Arizona, Tucson; Francois Louange, managing director of Fleximage, Paris, France; H. J. Melosh, professor of planetary science, University of Arizona, Tucson; James J. Papike, professor of earth and planetary sciences, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque; Guenther Reitz, German Aerospace Center, Institute for Aerospace Medicine, Cologne, Germany; Charles Tolbert, professor of astronomy, University of Virginia, Charlottesville; and Bernard Veyret, Bioelectromagnetics Laboratory, University of Bordeaux, France. Eshleman and Holzer served as co-chairs of the panel.

The UFO investigators who presented evidence were Richard Haines, Los Altos, Calif.; Illobrand von Ludwiger, Germany; Mark Rodeghier, Center for UFO Studies, Chicago; John Schuessler, Houston; Erling Strand, Ostfold College, Skjeberg, Norway; Michael Swords, professor of natural science, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo; Jacques Vallee, San Francisco; and Jean-Jacques Velasco, CNES, Toulouse, France.

The study was initiated by Laurance S. Rockefeller and supported financially by the LSR Fund.

Stanford University panel concludes some UFO evidence worthy of study.

Published way back in 1998.

Their findings are still relevant today.

The reviewers also made the following observations:

• The UFO problem is not a simple one, and it is unlikely that there is any simple, universal answer.

• Whenever there are unexplained observations, there is the possibility that scientists will learn something new by studying them.

• Studies should concentrate on cases that include as much independent physical evidence as possible.

• Continuing contact between the UFO community and physical scientists could be productive.

• Institutional support for research in this area is desirable.

IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Establishment of Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force

AUG. 14, 2020

On Aug. 4, 2020, Deputy Secretary of Defense David L. Norquist approved the establishment of an Unidentified Aerial Phenomena (UAP) Task Force (UAPTF). The Department of the Navy, under the cognizance of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security, will lead the UAPTF.

The Department of Defense established the UAPTF to improve its understanding of, and gain insight into, the nature and origins of UAPs. The mission of the task force is to detect, analyze and catalog UAPs that could potentially pose a threat to U.S. national security.

Branch Evaluation, Plan & Recommendation

Allegation Number: RIV-2010-A-0101

Concern: 1.
		*RX Code or Functional Area:	Security
Responsible Branch:	PSB 1	*Discipline:	Security
*OI Investigation Priority:		OI Case Number:	4-20XX-0XX
*OI Priority Basis:

Concern: (A concern is one or two sentences.)

Sometime between 1986 and 1989, an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) violated the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station and was not reported to the NRC as required.

Concern Background, Supporting Information, & Comments:

The CI described an event that occurred during his employment as a security officer at Cooper Nuclear Station. He was employed there from 1986 through 1989 and did not remember specifically when during that time the event occurred.

While posted at the intake structure one night, he observed an "unidentified flying object" fly down the Missouri River about 150 feet in the air and hover in front of the intake. He observed it for a few moments and then contacted a fellow security officer who also observed it (he could not recall the individual's name exactly but his first name was (b) and his last name was either (b)(7)(C). After they together observed the UFO, it turned and went back up the river and did not come back that shift. He and the other officer shared their observation with their peers who did not believe them.

The next evening he again was posted at the intake and observed the UFO return again. This time he didn't call anyone until the UFO had traversed into the protected area and hovered above the protected area just north of the Reactor Building. He said it was roughly triangular in shape with a circle of rotating lights on the bottom. He could not hear any propulsion noise from the UFO. He believes that it was roughly 1/3 the size of the Reactor Building. Once the UFO hovered in the protected area, he called the security break room and most of the officers on shift observed the UFO. These individuals included (b)(7)(C) and (b)(7)(C) (both of whom were security officers), all of whom still work at the plant today. After hovering there for a few minutes, the UFO exited the protected are and returned back up the river to the north as it had the previous night. The CI said that he never saw the UFO at the plant again after that evening.

The CI believes that this incident should have been reported as a violation of the protected area space but was not reported.

6/23/10 UPDATE: The SRI at Cooper conducted a search of the corrective action program between 1/1/1986 – 12/31/1989 using the words: "ufo", "flying", "unidentified", "protected area", and "hover". The search yielded no entries associated with this concern.

Regulatory Requirement: (fill in below)

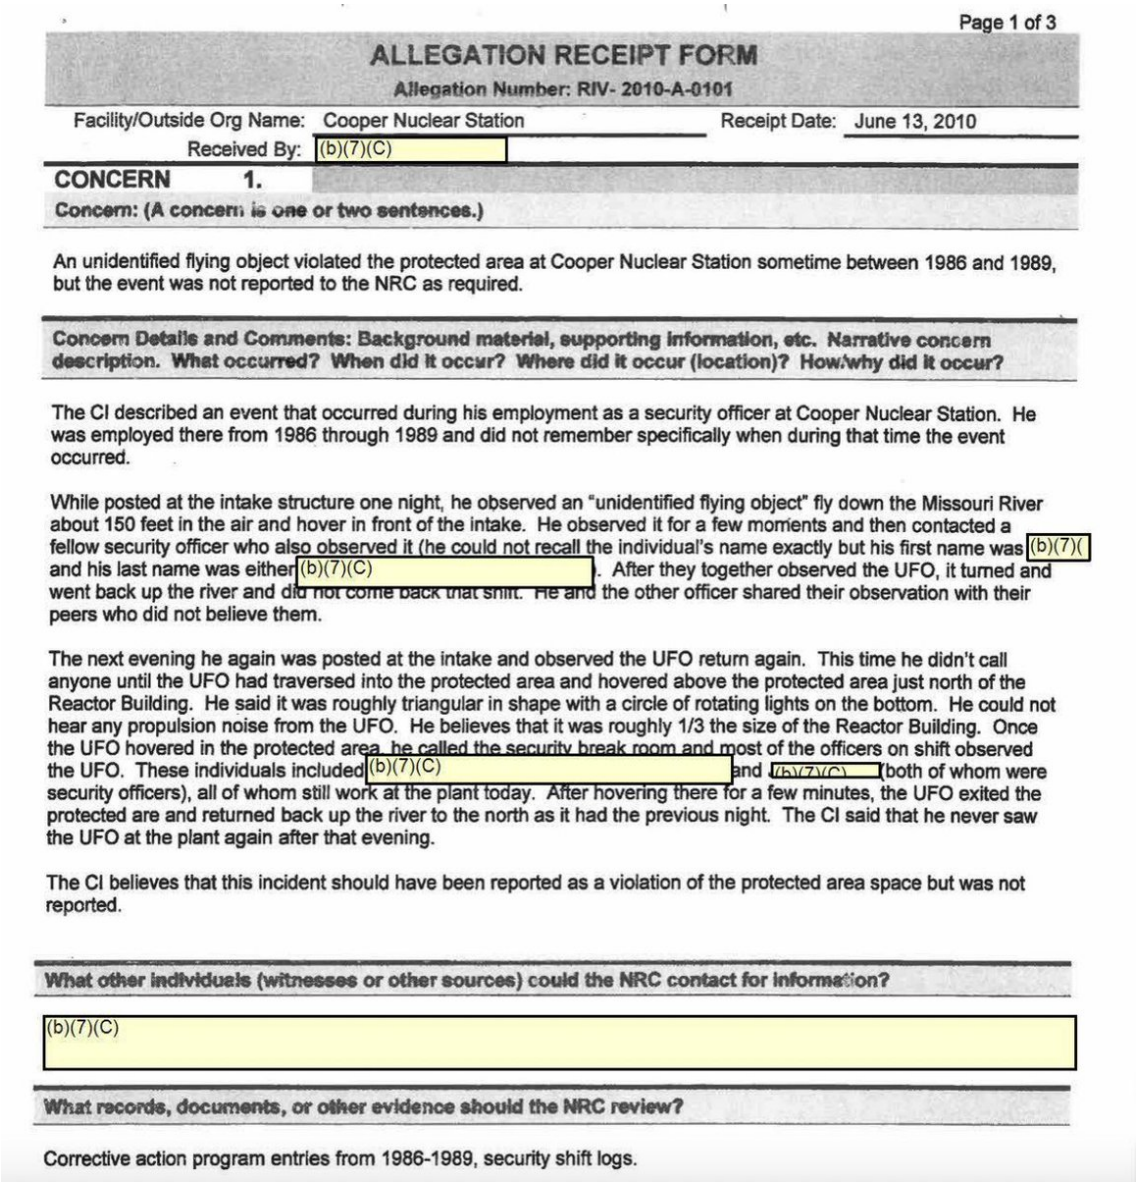

No security violation. Possible reportability issue 10 CFR 73, Appendix G, I.(a)(3)(b).

*Safety Significance:		HIGH		Normal	X	N/A

Basis: Describe the concern's safety significance (current, on going issue; level of individual(s) involved; etc.).

Past event that has no impact of current safety or security of the station.

CONCERN 1.

Concern: (A concern is one or two sentences.)

An unidentified flying object violated the protected area at Cooper Nuclear Station sometime between 1986 and 1989, but the event was not reported to the NRC as required.

Concern Details and Comments: Background material, supporting information, etc. Narrative concern description. What occurred? When did it occur? Where did it occur (location)? How/why did it occur?

The CI described an event that occurred during his employment as a security officer at Cooper Nuclear Station. He was employed there from 1986 through 1989 and did not remember specifically when during that time the event occurred.

While posted at the intake structure one night, he observed an "unidentified flying object" fly down the Missouri River about 150 feet in the air and hover in front of the intake. The CI said that he never saw the UFO at the plant again after that evening.

The CI believes that this incident should have been reported as a violation of the protected area space but was not reported.

What other individuals (witnesses or other sources) could the NRC contact for information?

(b)(7)(C)

What records, documents, or other evidence should the NRC review?

Corrective action program entries from 1986-1989, security shift logs.

Re: the 180-day report, the original Senate Intel Committee language should be top of mind too...

Here are all of the things the report was asked to include.

When you get into the implications of each item, it's pretty damn interesting.

#ufotwitter https://twitter.com/mintyhyperspace/status/1366595024817844225

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/Evc5sckWgAEFQFm.jpg

The Committee further directs the report to include:

1. A detailed analysis of unidentified aerial phenomena data and intelligence reporting collected or held by the Office of Naval Intelligence, including data and intelligence reporting held by the Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force;
2. A detailed analysis of unidentified phenomena data collected by:
    a. geospatial intelligence;
    b. signals intelligence;
    c. human intelligence; and
    d. measurement and signals intelligence;
3. A detailed analysis of data of the FBI, which was derived from investigations of intrusions of unidentified aerial phenomena data over restricted United States airspace;
4. A detailed description of an interagency process for ensuring timely data collection and centralized analysis of all unidentified aerial phenomena reporting for the Federal Government, regardless of which service or agency acquired the information;
5. Identification of an official accountable for the process described in paragraph 4;
6. Identification of potential aerospace or other threats posed by the unidentified aerial phenomena to national security, and an assessment of whether this unidentified aerial phenomena activity may be attributed to one or more foreign adversaries;
7. Identification of any incidents or patterns that indicate a potential adversary may have achieved breakthrough aerospace capabilities that could put United States strategic or conventional forces at risk; and
8. Recommendations regarding increased collection of data, enhanced research and development, and additional funding and other resources.

The report shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

And regular cadence of updates could be anything. 180 days, quarterly, etc. Just SOME formalization of regular communication with the public, so we can get continual engagement with average Americans now, and far into the future.

Asking for a full unclassified roster of compelling UAP video and data is wishful thinking, but why not a handful of previously unknown (to the public) high-quality cases to generate more mainstream support for the subject?

To elaborate...

No. 1 will most likely be fragmented, but it's important to get a scope for:

a) the date ranges IC were cataloguing UAP, the numbers we're looking at, and I suppose, what methodology the agencies were even using to determine if something was unidentified.

2. Full declass. of 20+ specific cases within basket where UAP were deemed threats/why conclusion was reached.

3. Establish cadence for UAPTF to continually update public on UAP cases/findings.

@WitnessCitizen @mintyhyperspace No, but FBI data was one of several things the Committee asked the report to include. http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EvWuLxnXcAAPdGA.jpg

The Committee further directs the report to include:

1. A detailed analysis of unidentified aerial phenomena data and intelligence reporting collected or held by the Office of Naval Intelligence, including data and intelligence reporting held by the Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Task Force;
2. A detailed analysis of unidentified phenomena data collected by:
   a. geospatial intelligence;
   b. signals intelligence;
   c. human intelligence; and
   d. measurement and signals intelligence;
3. A detailed analysis of data of the FBI, which was derived from investigations of intrusions of unidentified aerial phenomena data over restricted United States airspace;
4. A detailed description of an interagency process for ensuring timely data collection and centralized analysis of all unidentified aerial phenomena reporting for the Federal Government, regardless of which service or agency acquired the information;
5. Identification of an official accountable for the process described in paragraph 4;
6. Identification of potential aerospace or other threats posed by the unidentified aerial phenomena to national security, and an assessment of whether this unidentified aerial phenomena activity may be attributed to one or more foreign adversaries;
7. Identification of any incidents or patterns that indicate a potential adversary may have achieved breakthrough aerospace capabilities that could put United States strategic or conventional forces at risk; and
8. Recommendations regarding increased collection of data, enhanced research and development, and additional funding and other resources.

The report shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

Jeff,

Thanks for reaching out….

Megan is correct, from a Public Affairs perspective, all media inquiries on UAPs go to DOD Public Affairs,
Sue Gough (cc'd)…. keeping me in the loop, as we coordinate closely.

To date, we have not authorized any media interviews on the subject.

Make no comment. The nuances of all this are such that any deviations from the statements that DOD makes result in multiple news stories… and additional FOIA requests at various levels.

If we need to, we'll coordinate with you on specific responses, depending on the questions asked!

Also, generally speaking, we let the normal FOIA process work as it is supposed to… but we have been requesting that FOIA offices coordinate with us on UAP-focused FOIA responses before they hit "reply" so that new terms/language/etc. aren't introduced that complicate the overall messaging efforts.

Additionally, there is now a Security Classification Guidance document (at the SECRET) level, that addresses the UAP issue and what may/may not be discussed publicly. Happy to get that to you if you see the need.

Any questions, feel free to call me!

Joe

@MiddleOfMayhem @nickpopemod there is one CE3 case out of Spain where soldiers shot at an entity vaguely resembling Santa Claus.

Here is the file:

"A tierra que nos matan"

Un ser de casi tres metros y fuerte luminosidad apareció tras una patrulla militar. Dos de los soldados dispararon sus ametralladoras contra él. Con el presente texto culmina la serie elaborada por J.J. Benítez sobre los humanoides.

una intensa radiación luminosa.
Se han registrado también ruidos similares a los escuchados por los centinelas, así como el resplandor observado en el cielo.
Todo ello me lleva a pensar que el caso de la Base Militar de Talavera la Real, en las inmediaciones de Badajoz, puede ser catalogado como la aparición de un "tripulante".

Attn: Major H. Quintanilla, Jr. Re: UFO of 18 December 1966, Bear Mt. State Park, New York. Evaluated originally as hoax.

Dear Major Quintanilla:

On re-examination, I find no substantiation for the evaluation of hoax, particularly in view of the photo-analysis report, No. 67-10, dated 20 February 1967, which contains no information upon which a hoax can be based. To the contrary, the report states that close examination of the negative has negated double exposure and/or retouching. The photographs appear genuine insofar as content is concerned, however, no satisfactory explanation of the unidentified object could be made. The lack of a satisfactory explanation of the unidentified object does not constitute sufficient reason to declare it a hoax. Further, the interviewer considered the witness to be a "reliable source."

After examination of the print by myself and by Mr. [redacted] of the University of Chicago, we feel that the original negative should be requested for further examination. Mr. [redacted], a qualified photo-analyst, disagrees with the photo analysis presented in the report as to the distance of the object. He points out that the depth of field extends much farther than indicated in the report. It will be noted, from the print, that the focus is poor in the entire periphery of the picture regardless of the distance; only in the center of the picture is the focus good, and this good focus extends essentially to infinity. Consequently no judgment can be made as to the real size of the object, if this judgment is based solely on the quality of focus.

My recommendation is, therefore, that the evaluation by changed from hoax to unidentified.

Sincerely yours,

J. Allen Hynek

the thing is, does Galactic Federation trending really hurt UFO subject?

Pros = more people considering humanity is not alone, and social/environmental/nuclear issues may prevent contact.

Cons = people getting into subject are funneled into possible BS instead of quality cases.

@TheDude02329094 @LtTimMcMillan "Aliens" is inherently more trend-worthy than "UFOs" because it's tangible in people's minds, right or wrong.

Ufology had nothing to do with the "Federation" article, and all I meant to note is that this isn't anything new, it shows up in RV belief structures repeatedly.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1336360902703140864

@MiskaDellinger @pharmarjohn AOL stands for analytic overlay. It is an alleged phenomenon that happens during RV when the viewer's analytical mind can interfere with the session and affect the accuracy of the raw data.

I.e., the target reminds the viewer of the Washington Monument, so he says AOL obelisk.

Doesn't definitively prove anything, but adds to the hundreds of cases where trained personnel just don't understand what they're seeing.

The Galactic Federation item trending reminds me of something i've wondered...

1. #ufotwitter probably won't be able to control the when/how/what of the mainstream adoption of the subject.

2. the idea of "aliens" is inherently more trend-able than "UFOs"

For better or worse.

Not saying this means anything.

But not the first time the (admittedly very general) phrase "Galactic Federation" shows up tied to a military source.

A search through CIA archives yields this purported 'remote viewing training document' titled "Galactic Federation HQs." http://pbs.twimg.com/media/EorFaSqW4AEgPzm.png

SESSION SUMMARY

SG1J [redacted]

SESSION: 13 JAN 88, 1020-1145HRS
COORDS: 1698/1009
SITE: Galactic Federation HQS

.....impression of a round structure....located on the flat top of what seems to be something like (AOL) a mesa. There are streaking rays emanating from, or going into this structure (AOL) like "Sun Streaks". Inside this structure it is dark, cool, rough, stone.....cavern-like.

From one mile overhead, the view is dark, black, empty....a feeling of nothingness. Upon descending we get the impression of very high, rugged peaks. There is a flat, plateau-like area, and below this is a blue body of water that seems to be surrounded by a flat, open, grassy plain (AOL - Lake Titicaca).

From 200 miles up, I find myself moving up an inclined causeway with rough, stone walls on both sides.....(AOL - Egypt). At this time I sense a presence nearby. At the end of the causeway is a long, dimly-lit, rectangular corridor constructed of smooth, dressed stone on all sides. At the end of the corridor is a steep incline with a very high ceiling, also constructed of smooth stone (AOL - pyramid). At the end of this inclined corridor is a large room with a very high, vaulted ceiling. There is a large, polished stone platform in this room (AOL - like an altar). There are white-robed entities in a semi-circle to one side. Their attention seems to be focused on the platform. The room is dimly lit. There is a feeling of something sacred, holy....almost religious about this place. This place seems familiar....as if I've been here before.

.....climbed onto the platform and laid down. I was then illuminated by a brilliant shaft of white light from head to toe. The light was coming from overhead. A robed figure then moved from behind the group and stood next to me with a hand out-stretched over my solar plexus.

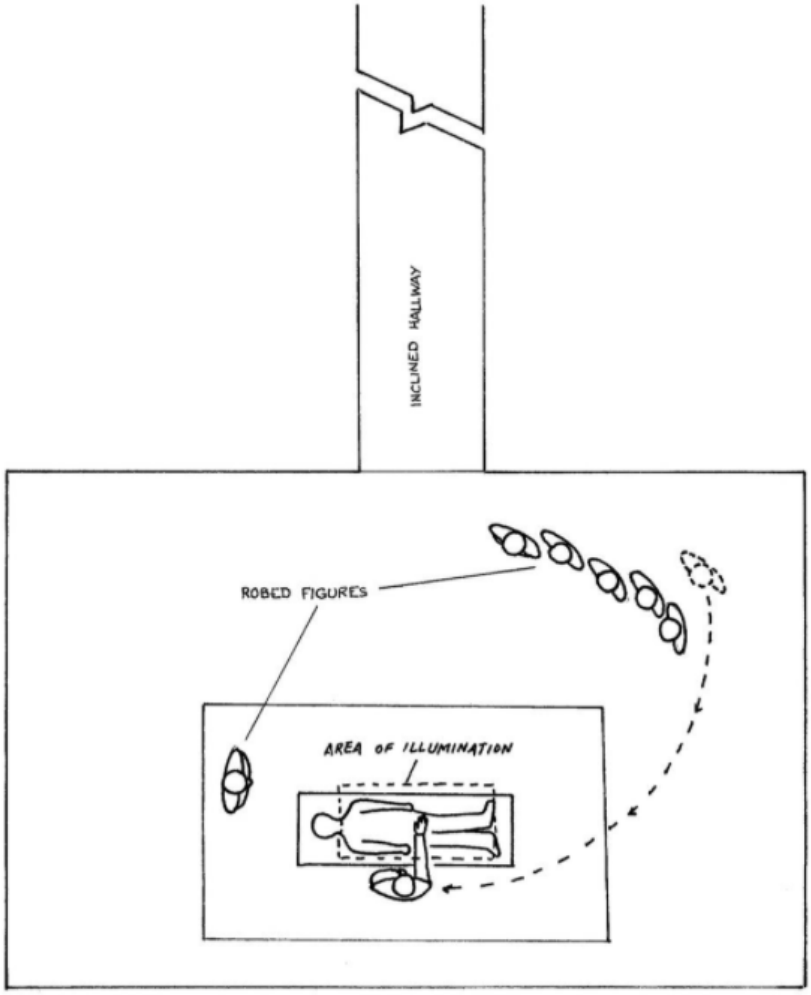

Approved For Release 2000/08/10 : CIA-RDP96-00789R003800200001-8

Another section says in 1977, 170 troops experienced equipment jamming and EM effects during a UAP sighting.

France began measuring magnetic effects and close proximity to sightings in the 1950s.
https://twitter.com/itsredactedjake/status/1463294647967563778
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FE6rqf_XIAMXWBg.jpg

4. France is known to have measured magnetic field strengths in the vicinity of sightings as early as the 1950s when an extensive field measurement system (network of sensors) was set up for nuclear effects and the earth's geomagnetic field. Measurements to 1 part in 1000 established the change in field (in the presence of a UAP) and extraordinarily-high magnetic fields were sensed. When this level was translated (i.e. scaled) to a reported distance of a few hundred metres between UAPs and radio receivers, from other reports elsewhere, the magnetic flux was consistent with the levels needed to cause the radio receiver effects reported.

5. High frequency magnetic fields, presumably from nearby UAPs, are reported as causing battery acid heating (conducting medium), and other conductors to warm-up, while non-conductors, e.g. rubbers, plastics have reportedly remained cold to the touch.

6. French reports suggest that the slowly varying magnetic fields suspected do not appear to noticeably cause any body-currents in humans. The effects of EM fields on humans is covered at Annex F.

7. A report from Finland in 1977, which involved 170 troops on the Finnish border reported RF equipment 'jammed' and no telephones.

One paragraph in the UK report stated Soviet pilots died chasing UFOs.

https://twitter.com/itsredactedjake/status/1463294165584916484

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FE6quERX0AMXjiZ.jpg

8. Former Soviet Union Aircraft Incidents Sokolov reported. "We had 40 cases where pilots encountered UFOs. Initially they were commanded to chase, then shoot. When our pilots would engage the UFO it would speed- up, our aircraft would give chase, loose control and crash. That happened 3 times and twice the pilots died. After that the pilots we told to observe and change course and get out". "The pilots viewed UFOs as a definite threat". Sokolov says "the military were interested in UFOs including the belief that if the secrets of the UFO could be described they would be able to win the competition against prospective enemies by incorporating the technology". The incidence of 'Foo Fighters' or 'BOLS' (i.e. BOLIDES) is perhaps higher than reported. In Russia, airline crews, it has been suggested, are reluctant to call passenger's attention to these as it is bad for business! (U) @HappyAtomsPress this is awesome. OK.

One hotspot I know is in southern Illinois.

Marler's research would be great to implement once we have a fleet of trackers to deploy.

@futruaultra @SkyHub10 but who cares about public attention now, I care about getting the sci community to review the data and analyze it.

It flows outward from that Ufology has been a psuedoscience too long... and it's sad because there are real witnesses affected by this.

SH can make it a science.

And I think there might be some confusion, it's entirely volunteer...

Everyone donating their time or money (to support data storage costs) is tired of guessing over blurry photos/videos.

if we get a critical mass of trackers deployed we can move beyond the speculation.

Literally.

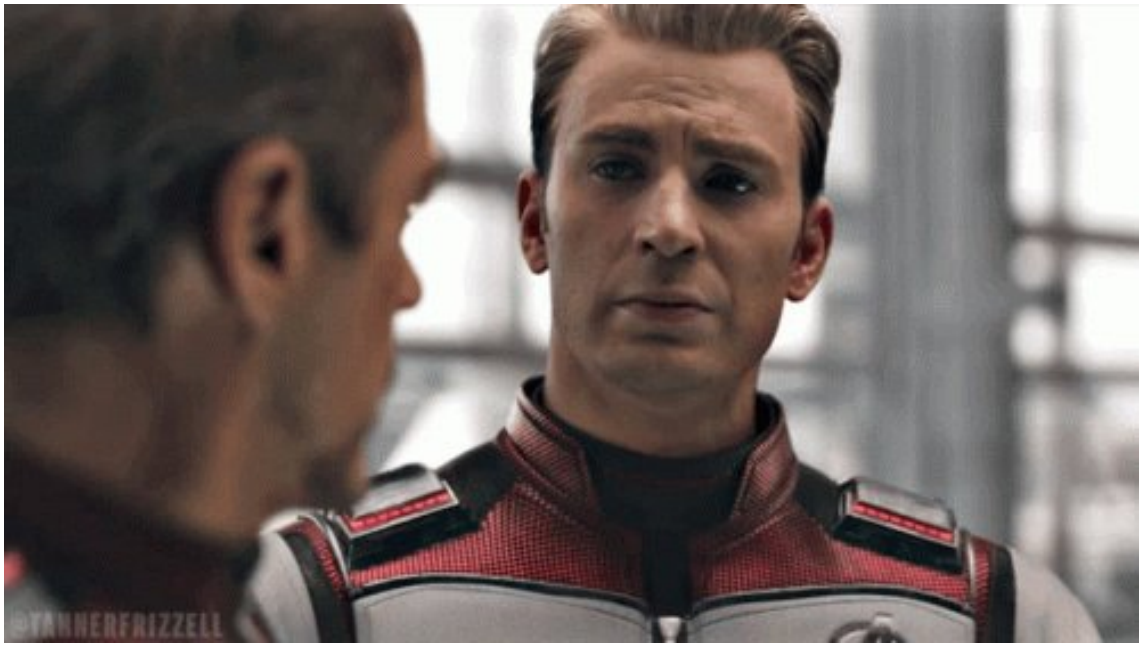

If @SkyHub10 can get proper support from the scientific and UFO communities, no more speculation. Just data, filtered by AI.

Don't really get why it's not this clear to the rest of #UFOTwitter.

Join us and we can move past this stuff.

But yes, objective evidence. Tested and re-tested.

Historical documents are great, they tell us there is something to this. Witness testimony is helpful too.

May 3, 1975.

CUFOS files allege a Piper 24 near Tequesquitengo, Mexico sees a large, grey disk with flattened dome near one wing.

Soon, another appears on the other side, and a third in front.

The objects next merged into one and disappeared toward a nearby mountain.
http://pbs.twimg.com/media/En-RS0jXYAE9mdp.png

May 03, 1975 316 1200

MEXICO, near Mexico City. On a flight from Zihuatenejo, flying at 15,000 ft. in a Piper 24, pilot Carlos Antonio de los Santos Montiel had just passed a check-point over Tequesquitengo when he saw, suddenly, a few inches over one wing, a grey object as large as his wing, 10 to 12 ft., disc shaped, with a flattened dome on top. He tried to tip the plane to dislodge the object, but his controls would not respond. He then noticed an identical object over his other wing, tried again to wobble his wings, again with no response. Soon a third object like the others appeared above and in front of his plane, and dropped down and collided with the under part of the fuselage, jolting the plane and the pilot, and disappeared from his view.

The pilot began calling "Mayday! Mayday!" on his radio. The traffic controller responded and told him to attempt to decelerate but he was not able to do so and exclaimed over the radio that his plane was out of control. The objects on the wings presently rose up and merged into one and moved off in an easterly direction, whereupon the radar operator could see the object for the first time. It disappeared in the direction of the mountain Popocatepetl.

When de los Santos attempted to land, he was at first unable to lower both wheels of his landing gear, and made a dozen passes over the runway until he finally succeeded in lowering both wheels, the ATC meanwhile holding off all other traffic until he was able to land safely in a grassy area, with emergency equipment standing by.

When the plane was inspected after landing, dents and scratches were found in the fuselage that the pilot declared were not there before. (CUFOS - investigated by J.A. Hynek)

But UFOs aren't a science.

This is an interesting reddit comment on the issue and how some outsiders seem to perceive it: https://www.reddit.com/r/ufo/comments/jynxz1/serious_what_is_holding_ufology_back_from_being_a/gd7br76?utm_source=share&utm_medium=web2x&context=3 but i still feel like you'd run into the issue of 'is there anything to this witness testimony' from a lot of people.

@RealSassyKat another idea that's interesting is forming a super PAC to run UAP ads...

if you had the science, the transparency activism becomes easier imo...

@RealSassyKat agree with you.

but a scientific effort can pressure the release of more stuff..

i run a channel focused on declassified files so i get it....i have 4-5 new military witnesses willing to come forward.

but how many of these do we need? I'd argue it's looking at problem wrong.

Ruppelt comments: http://www.nicap.org/docs/castle/cast_rufoswatch.htm

Correction: Ruppelt wrote that in '56, he was referring to Project Ivy which was in '52 (at Enewetak Atoll, 190 mi west from where Castle was.

THE REPORT ON UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS
EDWARD J. RUPPELT

First of all, in November or December the U.S. was going to shoot the first H-bomb during Project Ivy. Although this was Top Secret at the time, it was about the most poorly kept secret in history - everybody seemed to know all about it. Some people in the Pentagon had the idea that there were beings, earthly or otherwise, who might be interested in our activities in the Pacific, as they seemed to be in Operation Mainbrace. Consequently Project Blue Book had been directed to get transportation to the test area to set up a reporting net, brief people on how to report, and analyze their reports on the spot.

Interesting.

During the Castle nuclear tests in 1954, the USS Curtiss reported an "unidentified luminous object" pass overhead.

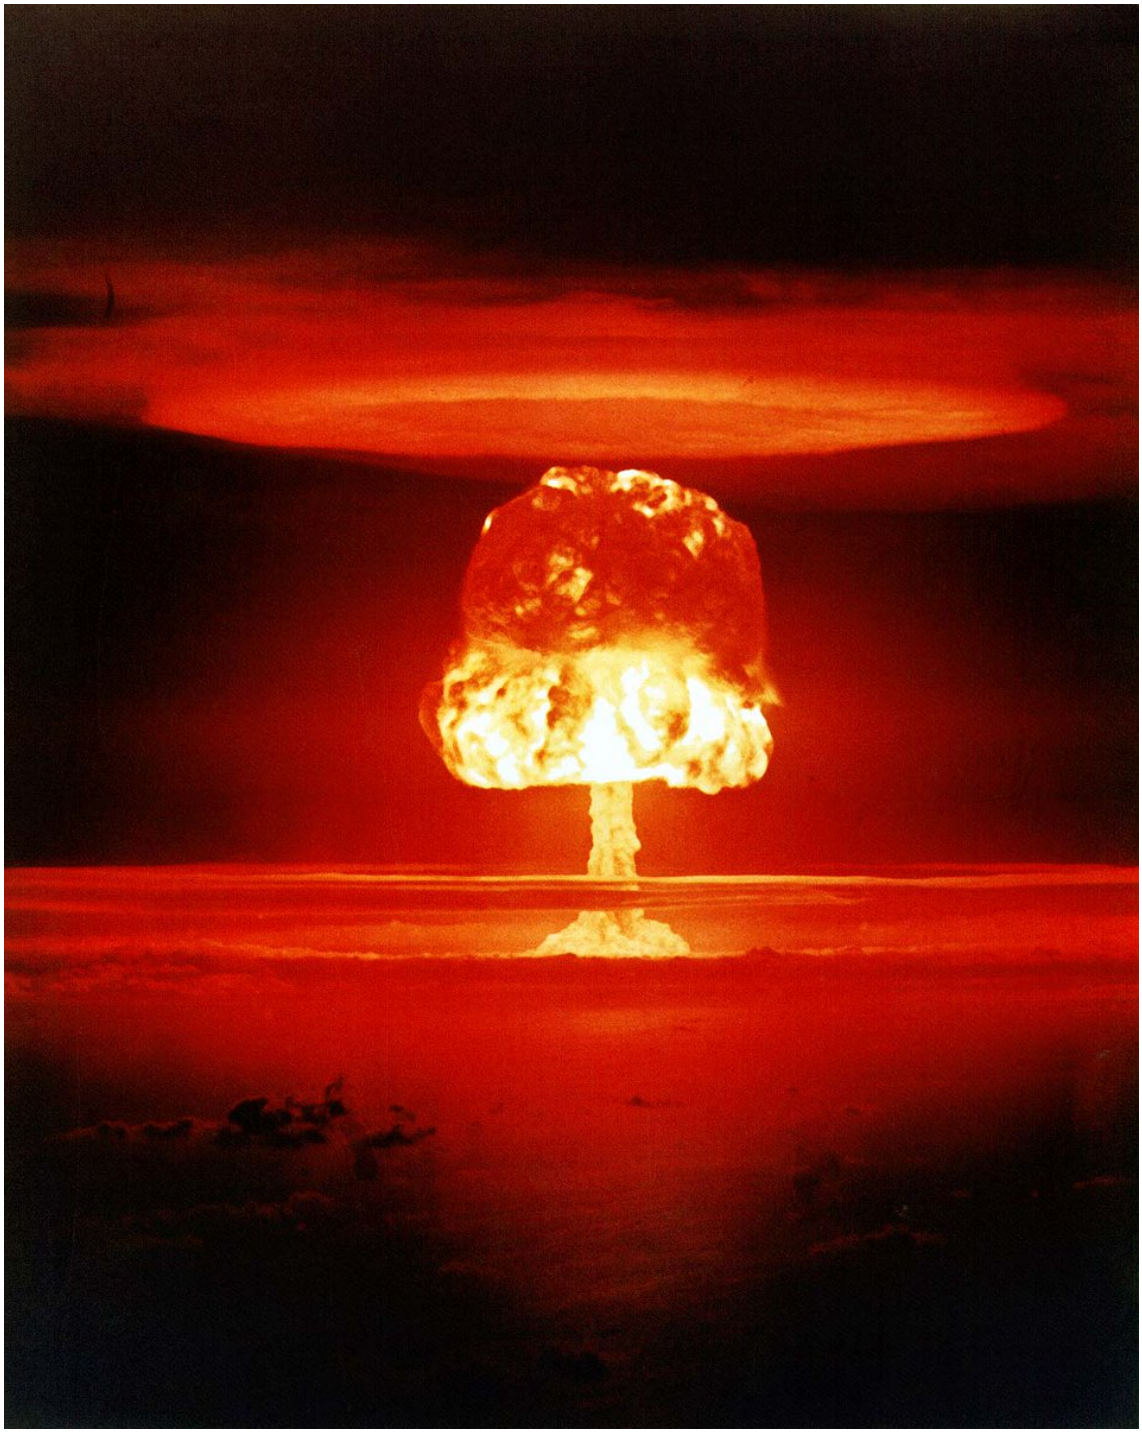

In '52 USAF Grudge director Edward Ruppelt wrote "there were beings, earthly or otherwise, who might be interested in our activities in the Pacific."

What if this is the path to do that?

2020-11-28T21:23:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1332797306085761028

@interloc15 Right now we are at step 0.

But I think 1 and 2 are possible.

3. is difficult.

4. is extremely difficult.

5. is more difficult stll.

6. this part is easy and would happen automatically.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1332796843181404165
@interloc15 The chain of action I thought was:

1. Small limited study, not peer reviewed
2. Interest among optical physics team
3. Pre-print
4. Peer review
5. publishing in journal
6. covered by mainstream science media

If this happens it could actually force more govt transparency @murnut @PostDisclosure I don't "know" anything though...

I am compelled by a TON of witness testimony, and physical effect cases.

CE5 people believe they've experienced something.

But we live in a 21st century society because of science, that needs to be embraced with UAP too.

If @g_knapp has proof of a substantive Soviet study of UAP, why not release them?

Article:

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/En7-uCLXIAAgXT9.png

> It is the next part of the story that is difficult. Knapp then proceeded to largely sit on these documents, for what is now a period of decades. Moreover, he appears to have given them over to Mr. Bigelow's "proprietary" interests. With due respect to Mr. Bigelow, state documents of a now non-existent nation cannot ordinarily be considered to be "proprietary." They are valuable historical records, originally paid for by the Russian people. If released, the documents would supposedly provide clear evidence of Russian state programs and information about UAP – so, why would a journalist dedicated to this issue instead decide not to release the material, and only tease their contents?
>
> In doing so, Mr. Knapp has arguably deprived the world of an important story. Alternatively, if the documents are not of high quality – if they contain significant misinformation or are outright fakes – we should know that, too.
>
> Why? Because, in Dr. Puthoff's estimation, the documents appear to be the publicly available evidence for serious state interest in UAP. Except, they are not really public, and there are many obvious issues with their legitimacy.

@murnut @PostDisclosure Think about it like this...

In 1970, would it be possible for, say, Cal Tech to roll out a giant sensor network to study the nuts and bolts aspect of this?

Sure, but it would've been expensive, and the stigma certainly prevents any department from green lighting that money.

2020-11-28T19:58:59+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1332776018910842892
@murnut @PostDisclosure Science hasn't failed, it hasn't even really tried.

Stigma and lack of proper affordable technology has prevented it from doing so.

2020-11-28T19:50:59+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1332774005586219010
@PostDisclosure And this includes looking my channel in the mirror and realizing some of my own stuff wasn't up to the standards I'd like to see.

It's hard to keep a level head about a stigmatized topic because it's so easy to get emotionally invested.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1332773197486436353

@PostDisclosure There is no way to police it, but I do think one can make very good arguments journalism and science get us where everyone wants to be. and that's all I've been trying to express.

There are legitimate reasons to fear if entertainment is too significant of an entry point to....

2020-11-28T19:46:01+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1332772755360583680
@PostDisclosure Fair point, UFO info is split into several areas....history (old case files, old witness testimony), journalism (new witness testimony, FOIA), activism, entertainment, and science.

2020-11-28T19:33:52+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1332769697645793281
@LtTimMcMillan @0mega_Point @PostDisclosure @UfoJoe11 Not to mention if a ufologist has spent years on the subject and left other fields, they're heavily invested in 'justifying' their decisions, sometimes by being totally subjective to one hypothesis.

2020-11-28T19:09:59+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1332763688667934722
@LtTimMcMillan @PostDisclosure @UfoJoe11 And even, extracting oneself is a really good way to stay objective.

The implications of UFO/UAP are potentially so significant, it's hard not to go down a rabbit hole or two, or become emotionally invested.

But that doesn't make good reporting/study/etc.

@John53515911 @ChristopherKMe4 Never said that.

But scientists would prefer data they collect (primary data), not sourced from govt records.

That likely wouldn't able to be used on a peer reviewed study.

@John53515911 Many of those sighting rpts are wit testimony (unverified), and even if there is radar track data, it's most likely not going to be robust enough for any serious scientist to cover it today.

They would rather gather new data in a controllable, reliable way, not rely on old files

This hasn't been possible at large scales for a group of civilians throughout most of human history.

Tech was too expensive.

But now it's not!

@SkyHub10 is working on an idea that can legitimately figure out what is happening with this subject, without govt. 'disclosure.'

2020-11-28T18:32:31+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1332754261252448257

The first step of those interested in UFOs shouldn't be to convince others of 'the phenomenon,' watch a docu or even a YouTube channel...

It should be to establish the scientific validity of UFOs.

Not with unverifiable witness testimony, but hard, optical data.

How?

@taptaptap_fr thank you.

the issue i'm noticing is over time, a collection of pure UAP cases still appears somewhat fringe.

i'm wondering if adding in: 1 debunked cases, 2 or changing the feel/standardized format a bit to make it look like a modern day Blue Book would be smarter.

"Gigantic flash bulbs."

At 40 minutes after midnight, June 26th, an Atomic Energy Commission test station located in eastern Idaho was suddenly lit up by a blinding glow that exploded in the night sky, illuminating the countryside for miles around the facility. Night-shift workers Kelly Brooks and A.L. Tayor told the Idaho Falls Post-Register the source of the dazzling radiance was motionless for a few seconds and then shot vertically at a tremendous velocity.

There were several of these mysterious "flashbulb" incidents in the skies above AEC plants during the months of April, May, and June 1954. 80.

In October 1970, the aircraft of maj. William Schaffer was recovered in the North Sea.

The cockpit was closed, ejector seat in place, but no sign of pilot.

He was attempting to intercept an unknown radar contact.

EVENING TELEGRAPH, Tuesday, October 13, 1992 11

THE loss of the Binbrook Lightning and its American pilot had simply been reported as just another air crash by newspapers along the north-east coast of England. Reporters were used to handling stories like this, which occurred with some regularity. The ditching of XS894 provided front-page stories for the Grimsby Evening Telegraph and the Scarborough Evening News on September 9, 1970. But they only told part of the story. PAT OTTER concludes our investigation into the Riddle of Foxtrot 94.

SHROUD OF SECRECY ON XS894

WHEN the wreckage of XS894 was finally lifted from the sea bed some five miles off Flamborough Head, it was taken in some secrecy straight to RAF Binbrook.

Air crashes in the North Sea in those days were relatively common and much of the wreckage found its way into Grimsby where often Evening Telegraph photographers were on hand to record the event. But not with XS894.

the North Sea.

The ejector seat also seemed to be 'wrong' and there was a suspicion later among the investigators that it was not the one fitted to the aircraft when XS894 took off from Binbrook on its final flight. They were even given an assurance by the OC of 5 Squadron that the seat had not been tampered with. But some of the investigators were not convinced.

Interestingly, an Evening Telegraph reader, who was serving at Binbrook at the time, told us in 1980 that he recalled seeing an official report on the crash which suggested that the seat was finally

And that's where the trail of the mystery of XS894 goes cold. Well, almost.

There is just one further item of information available.

On the night of September 8, 1970, a couple and their daughter were walking their dog along the coastal path at Alnmouth Bay, Northumberland — almost opposite the point over the North Sea where Schafer made his interception — when they saw and heard something strange.

"We had been walking for maybe 10 minutes when we heard a very high-

New revelations on the watery fate of Foxtrot 94

AT PRECISELY six minutes past 10 on the night of September 8, 1970, a single Lightning jet fighter took off from RAF Binbrook.

Ground crew on the flight line were accustomed to Lightnings being scrambled in a hurry at any time of night or day. Binbrook, after all, was a frontline fighter station and its aircraft shared QRA (Quick Reaction Alert) duty with other East Coast airfields to provide cover should any unidentified aircraft appear on the radar screens.

By PAT OTTER

But there was something different about this scramble.

For a start, it was normal for QRA aircraft to take off in pairs. Two aircraft were kept at a state of instant readiness at all times, ready for just such an emergency. But on this occasion only one aircraft took off. And it wasn't one ditched in the sea off Flamborough Head. The ditching was witnessed by the crew of a Shackleton reconnaissance aircraft. Flares were spotted by the Grimsby trawler, Ross Kestrel. But no trace of Capt Schafner was ever found.

More than a month later the wreckage of promising to help, but then became very reticent.

Similar inquiries to the United States embassy and to the US Air Force at Alconbury proved also to be dead-ends. Calls were not returned. Contacts were unavailable.

At that stage I enlisted the aid of Bob

RT @Spacecowboy781: The Valentich UFO event transcript from the cockpit is unsettling to say the least: http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FEwikBkWYAM1QZ5.jpg

---

Frederick Valentich was flying a Cessna 182 from Morabbin, Australia, to King Island, Tasmania, on October 21, 1978. As he started across the Bass Strait in the vicinity of Cape Otway, shortly after 7:00 P.M., he reported seeing an apparently metallic object with a green light. Using his code name Delta Sierra Juliet, he radioed Melbourne air traffic control (V = Valentich; M = Melbourne Air Traffic Control):[72]

1906:14 (V) Melbourne, this is Delta Sierra Juliet. Is there any known traffic below 5,000?
1906:23 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, no known traffic.
1906:24 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet, I am . . . seems to be a large aircraft below 5,000.
1906:46 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, what type of aircraft is it?
1906:50 (V) I cannot affirm; it is four bright [lights?]. It seems to me like landing lights.
1907:32 (V) Melbourne, this is Delta Sierra Juliet. The aircraft has just passed over me at least a thousand feet above.
1907:43 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Roger; and it is a large aircraft? Confirm?
1907:47 (V) Er, unknown due to the speed it's travelling. Is there any Air Force aircraft in the vicinity?
1907:57 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, no known aircraft in the vicinity.
1908:18 (V) Melbourne, it's approaching now from due east towards me.
1908:28 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet . . .
1908:42 [open microphone for two seconds]
1908:49 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet, it seems to me that he's playing some sort of game; he's flying over me two, three times at a time, at speeds I could not identify.
1909:02 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Roger. What is your actual level?

http://pbs.twimg.com/media/FEwijxFXMAEUW5f.jpg

1909:06 (V) My level is four and a half thousand, 4-5-0-0.
1909:11 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, and confirm you cannot identify the aircraft?
1909:14 (V) Affirmative.
1909:18 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Roger. Stand by.
1909:28 (V) Melbourne, Delta Sierra Juliet; it's not an aircraft, it is . . . [open microphone for two seconds]
1909:46 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Melbourne; can you describe the, er, aircraft?
1909:52 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet, as it's flying past it's a long shape [open microphone for three seconds]. Cannot identify r right now, Melbourne.

1910:07 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Roger; and how large would the, er, object be?
1910:20 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet; Melbourne, it seems like it's [stationary? chasing me?] What I'm doing right now is orbiting and the thing is just orbiting on top of me; also it's got a green light and [is] sort of metallic. It's all shiny [on] the outside.

There was a further exchange for about a minute, during which Valentich reported that the "aircraft" had suddenly vanished. Then the encounter resumed and took a sinister turn.

1911:23 (V) [It's now] approaching from the southwest.
1911:37 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet.
1911:52 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet; the engine is, is rough idling. I've got it set at 23, 24, and the thing is [coughing].
1912:04 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Roger; what are your intentions?
1912:09 (V) My intentions are, ah, to go to King Island; ah, Melbourne, that strange aircraft is hovering on top of me again [open microphone for two seconds]. It is hovering and it's not an aircraft.
1912:22 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet.
1912:28 (V) Delta Sierra Juliet; Melbourne [open microphone for 17 seconds]
1912:49 (M) Delta Sierra Juliet, Melbourne.

No further transmission was received from the aircraft, which vanished. Despite an extensive search lasting several days, no trace of the airplane or pilot was found. The disappearance remains a complete mystery to this day. However, thorough investigation has revealed many interesting details.

I have little patience for those creating conspiracies out of thin air, or framing narratives to generate outrage against people bringing UAP issues to light.

When domestic aircraft incursions happen repeatedly, for 50+ years we need coordination.

It's an obvious natsec threat. https://twitter.com/itsredactedjake/status/1461843400215478279

Here's the FBI file from the American Airlines 2292 case.

An Airbus encountered a cigar-shaped UAP above a remote portion of New Mexico this past February.

A domestic passenger flight....

We gotta get on top of this issue...the ASTRO office can't come soon enough.

@brinkman_b @PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan The UFO subject has been faced with ridicule and misinformation for long time...it sucks.

But all I'm asking is: what is the problem with acting like the very mainstream media we want to cover the topic?

2020-11-24T20:03:37+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331327635448852488

@brinkman_b @PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan on the contrary...i think discourse improves if everyone is playing with the same set of rules.

maybe the better question...why do we want MSM exposure but not always want to act like MSM?

2020-11-24T20:00:44+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331326906709532681
@TheOuts32200170 @blackvaultcom @PostDisclosure @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan for example, I made this video a while back.

It did mention MJ12, but I thought it was fair.

in hindsight i would avoid making this video, @PostDisclosure.

am i wrong to think this way? does this kind of content help?

@TheOuts32200170 @blackvaultcom @PostDisclosure @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan okay @blackvaultcom i will ask: did you have a recent podcast on with Bassett?

was there speculation on it?

i am just trying to not express a double standard and figure out where speculation is OK and where it isnt'. Is it how it's presented? The optics?

or soemthing else?

2020-11-24T19:48:10+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331323747559739399
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan Popular biologists usually wait for Scientific American to break a big paper because they know it will have more impact that way.

and out of respect to the researcher.

sometimes it fails, sure.

but it seems to be generally frowned upon to speculate versus report.

2020-11-24T19:46:44+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331323387130548227
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan i mean i don't think it's subjective.

plenty of sciences have standards for how papers are presented in media.

2020-11-24T19:40:49+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331321897850728449
@TheOuts32200170 @blackvaultcom @PostDisclosure @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan I honestly don't think so and I don't think that's fair to @PostDisclosure.

i think it's just a difference in opinion over what helps this topic and what doesn't.

2020-11-24T19:40:05+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331321710600212488
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan i think it's a binary thing.

the less speculation ufologists do, the more reporting they do.

i would rather have that.

i am just expressing frustration that from what I've seen, speculation stories don't seem to move the needle.

Sourced, well vetted stories do.

2020-11-24T19:34:30+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331320305139200002
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan i am not trying to control the narrative.

i am just dreaming about what could be achieved if every person with a UFO audience pursued stories like MSM journalists.

2020-11-24T19:33:08+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331319964045807621
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan it's fair, for sure.

just a difference of philosophy.

i would sit on it personally until i could add something to it with a comment or extra context.

but i know this is debated.

2020-11-24T19:31:43+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331319604581425155
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan by this tweet i was just speaking more broadly for the type of content the field should want to produce.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331317212708298762
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan you're a smart guy. i can tell by watching you talk.

i think you could add more value to ufology by pursuing stories, sources, trying to get witnesses or military on the record.

you have more connections than I do.

2020-11-24T19:20:43+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331316837360013319
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan I get it hindsight is 20/20, but some of those things were debunked day 1.

1990s MJ12 stuff was struck down by Ja Aldrich very early and circulated for 10 years until Tim Cooper told Hastings it was fake.

And it's still presented on TV shows.

2020-11-24T19:19:18+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331316479636156419
@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan ehh..i guess that's where we disagree then.

didn't speculation over all of this waste the time of readers?

MJ12
SERPO
Secret Space Program
1990s Salina documents

etc

2020-11-24T19:17:44+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331316086483144704

@John53515911 @PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan okay, you're focusing on the first part of that...fine. Forget the USAF.

but shouldn't we be extra careful of speculation in a field subject disinfo and misinfo?

2020-11-24T19:15:03+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331315410969489413

@PhantomKush @DrStevenGreer @Wenger_Knows @PostDisclosure @LtTimMcMillan @UfoJoe11 did he go public with his identity?

2020-11-24T19:14:08+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331315179351642117

@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan A retired USAF official told me a couple months ago the UFO field is its own worst enemy.

Maybe speculation is fine in other things, but shouldn't we be extra careful of it, in a field subject disinfo and misinfo?

shouldn't our standards be higher?

2020-11-24T19:13:19+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331314976166977536

@PostDisclosure @blackvaultcom @SilvaRecord @LtTimMcMillan I would rather have that photo have context and comments.

the photo is cool, yeah....but what about the witness? leaker? intel community? DOD?

some, or all of these comments get changed or removed if there is too much hype, the story is too hot, or the narrative is uncontrolled i have no access to these types of sources. I have a YT channel.

but i sat on it because i figured sources might be scared off if it went live the wrong way.

legacy ufologists sometimes have great sources they can take advantage of.

2020-11-24T19:07:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331313526674247685

@physicsufo @alejandrotrojas @OKftl @EngagingThe @mintyhyperspace Mr Physics, in plenty of fields, content creators are given the trust of the viewer/reader to pursue stories to their end, and then report on them.

It's different in ufology.

I think the field would be further if legacy ufologists tried to act like journalists.

@MrHustleMCR @FoxCrow5 @EngagingThe but what you're saying is 1,000% a fair point. there are many sincere, intelligence non military people out there who would talk if it's not presented crazily

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331311555997261826
@MrHustleMCR @FoxCrow5 @EngagingThe fair point too!

you are right that there are many non military people who are great witnesses!

I like the military background if they've been around aircraft before tho...

@LyndaRVA_UAP @Julesofthwood always open to the idea that my approach is completely wrong. i think others should be open to that too...

this entire field is still growing and changing, so fair to have a debate over how information is shared/presented.

looking forward to it :grinning_face_with_big_eyes:

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331309667096649731
@FoxCrow5 @EngagingThe in a topic subject to disinformation, I had always thought would be agreed upon by the masses to want to be extra sure of information we publish under our names/bylines.

even more so than other subjects. but that is not the case.

2020-11-24T18:49:43+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331309036193673218
@MrHustleMCR @FoxCrow5 @EngagingThe this is fair.

i guess i always thought more govt. comment would eventually lead to more declassification.

but yes, these witnesses are sitting out here, available for anyone to talk to/interview. And as i'm learning, some are ex military.

@FoxCrow5 @EngagingThe i don't want to control what people say or speculate on at all.

i think the debate, or discussion, if it ever happens, should be very open.

ufology is a different sort of topic than other topics, so maybe i am wrong about all of the rumor stuff. i'm just trying to understand @WarrenRPrice @GrantCameron @LtTimMcMillan for example, I don't want to know what Adrian Wojnarowski is working on, I want him to break NBA stories.

I want him to use his sources to deliver information that is new.

@WarrenRPrice @GrantCameron @LtTimMcMillan i understand the perception. reasonable to be frustrated by that.

however, in sports, finance, other topics, the media has the Implied consent of the audience to discuss things in private, to get to the bottom of stories.

@truthbearer20 And no, it is probably not what you describe.

The pain point is where you want a source, or sources to comment on the photo.

Getting that might've been GREAT context over what it was.

But there are sources who won't go public if they feel a story is too hot.

2020-11-24T18:16:14+00:00

@truthbearer20 no.

this thing was circulating from multiple points.

i heard it with the understanding a journalist was working on it and was going to try to get comment.

i knew i couldn't get that level access so i sat, i'm just a YTer. i assume others sat too for this reason.

@NeedleBodkin it could be as simple as having different priorities over what moves ufology forward.

i doubt they did it for the view counts.

i can imagine a scenario where some won't talk if a topic gets too crazy..

i am trying to convince witnesses to go public, and if i asked them to comment publicly on a topic speculated about on ufotwitter/blogs they would feel more nervous...

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331296189086568452
@bobofango86 @GrantCameron a handful of us could've made (great!) speculative content on this, with more details even.

but it was sat on with respect for the story to need to get follow through.

i knew I couldn't get access to the comments I'd want to see on photo, so i held off for good of the field.

@BobMcGwier_N4HY @mesolithicguy @LtTimMcMillan And scoop isn't a pride thing.

I know that if something is scooped it sometimes stops a source from wanting to talk more.

But clearly i am out of the loop on this one, and bc of that I never tried to break the rumor.

i'm simply asking why ufology likes to speculate so much.

@BobMcGwier_N4HY @mesolithicguy @LtTimMcMillan i never said he told you anything...

I heard this same rumor, with more details than have gone public yet.

but sat on it because I knew I couldn't add anything to it by way of sourcing and didn't want to scoop the journalist said to be working on it.

@WarrenRPrice @GrantCameron @LtTimMcMillan 3. my qualifications are I am not a career ufologist but journalist, and I have a backlog of UFO content that shows I can think rationally about this subject.

4. I never intended to make channel about myself, hence the brand. too many personalities in UFO world...

@WarrenRPrice @GrantCameron @LtTimMcMillan 1. not that simple, info didn't go from Tim outward. info was circulating among a private group and it got out multiple ways. i sat on it because I knew I couldn't add to the story and get proper follow through.

@blackvaultcom @PostDisclosure @AFSUnidentified @SilvaRecord @foiaboi @UfoJoe11 @LtTimMcMillan @rpowell2u @TheProjectUnity @TheUndeadGaucho think a NYT source backed off because some of it went public?

Joe seems to not think so, but I can think of like, 4 reasons, why one would back off

1 source becomes afraid
2 source sees stigma
3 editor's stigma of it being on blogs
4 editor's annoyance of it being scooped

@TheProjectUnity it's not that simple....

the information was circling in a group, privately.

this group was the source for different people, separately.

As I understand it, it's not that McMillan told Bob, it's that this information came to different people at different times.

Maybe we need this.

Maybe we don't.

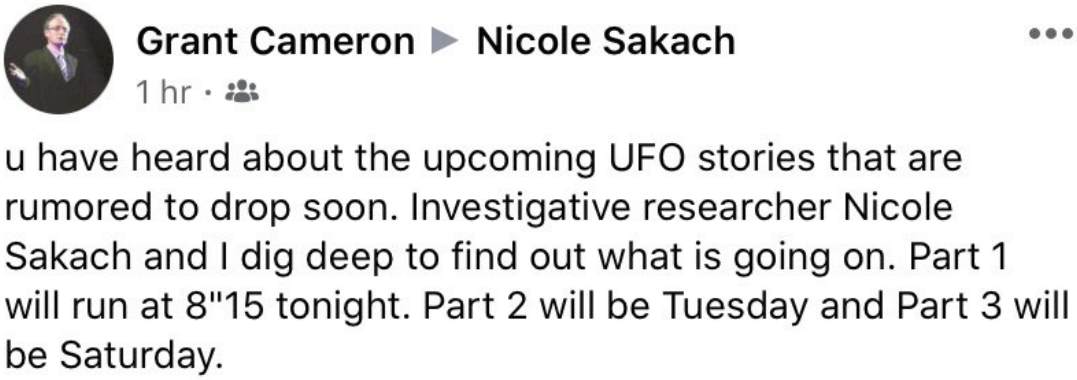

Would really love a fair debate on the place of speculation in the modern state of UAP, and if it achieves the goals people want.

Would love to have an honest debate with @GrantCameron if he would engage.

1. Is speculating on stories "rumored to drop" fair to be suggested as investigative?

2. Does the modern UAP topic benefit from in-depth rumor milling? Or not?

3. Does it improve mainstream acceptance?

@HamidAbubakr2 @mesolithicguy i heard about this three weeks ago. i could've gotten a giant view count on a video about it, but knew that (1) publishing it on YouTube, (2) scooping a MSM journalist and (3) sharing it without the full story or comment from DOD, would limit the story's reach.

@Phenomenology19 @Tom73629519 But I think it's a grey area.

Tom's point is valid because I can easily imagine some sources would only want to participate if they think their information is known by a journalist they trust.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331205166855561216
@Phenomenology19 @Tom73629519 I would have to look this up. I believe it has something to do with publishing frequency and authorship history.

I'm not a legal expert but I believe in the US it seems to legally hold up if you're a blogger, you're still journalist.

@UfoJoe11 @LtTimMcMillan @BobMcGwier_N4HY is it OK to scoop journalists working on stories?

what is the devil's advocate argument: just that rumors don't harm stories in development?

I know that for a fact to be true, and one other reason is editor stigma. I.e. not wanting to be associated with a lower tier outlet.

@UfoJoe11 @LtTimMcMillan @BobMcGwier_N4HY .....he apologized for calling him Bartman but not that the publishing of the rumor could affect sources.

I'm familiar (in other areas, not UFOs) with sources backing out because of a story getting too hot. Or put out in an uncontrolled way.

But I'm curious on your take:

@AFSUnidentified @SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure one can't blame ufologists though...

they're trail blazers!

open minded when others suggested they were crackpots.

they've just filled a hole that no others filled, and there was no academic pathway or agreed upon standards (besides some like the invisible college, right?)

@AFSUnidentified @SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure if full disclosure happens, what becomes of the amalgamation that is ufology?

wouldn't UAPs stop being fringe and be integrated into normal human history?

Abductions = criminal law
Sightings = optical science
Witness testimony = psychology
Declassified docs = historians

2020-11-24T09:51:42+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331173641938198529
@AFSUnidentified @SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure i always assumed ufologists would only exist as historians and no longer cover news or speculate on science.

because we'd then have

1 scientists covering UAP tech
2 journos covering UAP present day
3 historians/ufologists doing history

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331173307891277830
@AFSUnidentified @SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure one thing i think might help frame a debate is:

what does UAP media look like when there is more acceptance?

are there more ufologists? less?

regular coverage in MSM alongside sports?

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331170817640714241

@SilvaRecord @truthseekerAU @PostDisclosure but there's a stigma...so i can understand if they are already wary of anything on UAP. More wary if it touches a ufologist.

Blumenthal suggested as much to @TheProjectUnity about the NYT/offworld vehicle story.

I believe his comments were "it didn't help" but have to check @mesolithicguy well, there are still things UAP space could accomplish if more ppl behaved like journalists.

1 more military witnesses on record
2 more FOIAers like @blackvaultcom
3 more analysis of what is declassified
4 more civilian witnesses on record

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331157463991775235

@SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure why that would be is a fair question.

idk i guess i tdepends on the situation.

maybe some sources are just so on the fence if they can't (try to) control how it will turn out, they back off.

so the CEO backs off.

idk it's all hard to know for sure.

2020-11-24T08:46:00+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331157107392049155

@SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure i get that, for sure. a ton of rumors go out in finance

but if i were working on a story about a merger between SUNE and SPWR for example and could've gotten the CEO to comment privately, and someone scooped it with a rumor, that might've eliminated the ability of him to comment

---

2020-11-24T08:42:45+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331156288257073152

@SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure re: control? that's a debate i guess...

i just always learned from M&A stuff that sources were so quick to depart if anything went wrong.

i have never worked with UAP sources to that caliber, but have collected witness testimony who are concerned about messaging.

2020-11-24T08:40:12+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331155644607500289

@SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure i think there's a line between circulating on a network privately and being published by a major ufologist.

i think sources might not want to comment if it's broken in a way they don't want.

or sources might be so controlling they want it to appear exactly how they want.

2020-11-24T08:37:41+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331155011515142150

@taucircumambul1 @officialsource we could have this same debate about why legacy ufologists have 100x more followers than SCU, for example.

2020-11-24T08:33:34+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331153978701328384

@SilvaRecord @PostDisclosure just my guess:

1 some sources are cagey who won't want to go public if they can't control the narrative of the initial story

2 some sources are afraid of the stigma of a lower tier outlet or blog covering a story first

(3)

why are the most respected names in ufology often not journalists?

is that because of a long distrust of journalism? perhaps...but isn't that a problem?

don't we need to all follow the standards of trying to finish stories to completion before publishing on them?

the bigger question..

why are self proclaimed "ufologists" hosting videos that speculate? spread rumors?

how about you guys spent one ounce of that effort on finding new witnesses? Sources? Documents? FOIAs?

that's what we need.

not speculation.

@paulsanderson @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @LtTimMcMillan The stigma is something we all have to fight against.

It's why I have continually been tweeting that ufologists need to act like journos. But the goals and methods are different.

2020-11-24T08:05:37+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331146944794734592

@paulsanderson @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @LtTimMcMillan I don't claim to know the entire story.

But I do know witnesses who would never want to go public if something they were commenting on was on a wacky UFO channel first.

The truth in this situation is probably more than just that tho.

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331137791028301824

@SK1LLLS @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @paulsanderson @LtTimMcMillan @JazzShaw 3 now we're in a phase where journos and ufologists can work together, and do!

4 but it's not always smooth, and sometimes they don't work together when they should.

5 goals of ufologists and journos are sometimes different.

6 processes of vetting stories are different.

2020-11-24T07:28:20+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331137560983302145
@SK1LLLS @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @paulsanderson @LtTimMcMillan it's a complex question. and one i've thought about a lot after debating @JazzShaw.

in the past I've generalized ufology vs journalism and it's not that simple.

i think one answer might be:

1 journalists ignored UFOs for so long
2 ufology learned to get along without them

2020-11-24T07:25:41+00:00
https://twitter.com/_/status/1331136895536001024
@SK1LLLS @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @paulsanderson @LtTimMcMillan What's funny about Wilson docs is I would've MUCH RATHER had them break with a journalist.

Imagine BIlly Cox getting it first. Then he simply cross checks with all the sources.

Ufology and journalism can mix, theoretically, and does, but in cases like this it doesn't.

@UfoWatchdog @LtTimMcMillan @Aleut1985 @SicCoP1 @paulsanderson imo, it's about wanting these stories to have proper follow through.

do we want UAPs to be a subject where journos operate, or not?

Not just this story. But also NYT/Kean story. And Wilson Docs?

Why didn't the ufologists who had those do what Cox did and interview Wilson?

@BrianX0067 @LtTimMcMillan @ar_aliens @UltimaTheKing @PostDisclosure @Julesofthwood @BobMcGwier_N4HY @SkyHub10 All I'd say is consider how some sources won't talk if a story is already too hot.

I used to be an M&A reporter and it was VERY common.

These guys get cagey.

Not saying it's all that, but for UAPs to move forward we gotta support journalism. Proper follow thru on stories.

@BrianX0067 @LtTimMcMillan @ar_aliens @UltimaTheKing @PostDisclosure @Julesofthwood @BobMcGwier_N4HY @SkyHub10 Brian tbf the rumor is out now. just consider the implications of this kind of story if it were reported properly, with all the bells and whistles properly done by a journo.

if it's just a rumor or message board fodder it's screwed.

2020-11-24T06:45:48+00:00

https://twitter.com/_/status/1331126857983520769

@nathanatkinson @paulsanderson @LtTimMcMillan @SicCoP1 Also consider wanting a story to be presented properly. Some sources may not participate if it isn't presented properly.

It leaks, and it's over. (Again speculating, but it happens in other subjects)

2020-11-24T06:44:58+00:00

@paulsanderson @LtTimMcMillan @SicCoP1 Now imagine that rumor, but with fewer, or no sources attached to a story about it.

Might have less impact.

Just thinking out how a journalist would be thinking about this story.

THAT's why these rumors shouldn't be shared, journos (or good ufologists) need to get comment.

@DrAdamKehoe @BrandonFugal @Modus_O @MC05A @UfoJoe11 perhaps because ufology has been so media focused for so long, it's just become the norm.

@DrAdamKehoe @BrandonFugal @Modus_O @MC05A @UfoJoe11 i myself am trying to switch over into this mindset.

for a year my entire goal has been to accumulate an audience with a nebulous goal that this might somehow 'change opinions on UAP' on day.

but now I realize that mindset is wrong, the change comes through science.

@DrAdamKehoe @BrandonFugal @Modus_O @MC05A @UfoJoe11 good questions Adam.

I would personally say that ufology seems to have been so media focused for so long, that it requires a different mindset to try to shift it into science-mode.

I.e., not caring about how many people follow a topic, or think something, but proving it.

@SpheresRealist @Berserk97981716 i've gotten leads on here from people i've never spoken to before.

and more recently i am finding a surprising amount of witnesses (some military) from my tweets for casting calls.

the ability to DM people you don't know after directing a tweet on a specific subject is awesome @Berserk97981716 it's also been helpful to filmmakers/writers/etc to get in contact with witnesses.

and that leads to more exposure and hopefully less stigma long term (depending on how witness is presented) clearly giving priority to one segment of people (journos) over researchers (ufologists) won't work in cases like this.

@MadScientistPod another optical study idea:

once SH has catalogued a robust # of unknowns, have them just compare the speed/movement data to control group objects (planes, drones, etc).
