Fast Eddie told me one would go into "flyable storage" just like 831 and 844, mostly on account of we figure that people are more likely to want a straight A instead of the B (831) or the A (844) with its mods to carry LASRE. In fact, 844 is the best candidate for long-term storage along with the other A.

Being the Acting Chief Test Pilot as well as the LASRE project pilot, Ed's a fairly reliable source.
