

Subject: Groom Hits Headlines (U.K.)
From: S.D.Silver@ncl.ac.uk
Date: 4 Dec 1994 18:36:31 GMT
Message-ID: <3bt27f$los@whitbeck.ncl.ac.uk>

Over here in Britain, The 'high brow' broadsheet The Observer has just this morning published an article about the 'Motion To Compel' the American Government in to admitting that the base exists. This would mean that the case against the site for burning toxic waste, If it is admitted that the place exists, can go through with a chance that it may succeed.

It also mentions Psychospy, and shows the 1988 Russian satellite picture of the non-existent base.

Apparently the Government are having some headaches over there. :)