Dear "AGENT X"

Gosh, that name sounds so intimidating....

Well, "AGENT X", I am very surprised that the phrase PSYOPS has never entered your train of thought.

When you want real information, you always "leak" bits of information some true, some conjecture. Usually, and I use the word usually, for in most cases, people like you have no understanding in relevant thought, some of the more REAL information will come out. You may want to read my comment to "PSYCHOSPY" AKA: Glen Campbell, regarding his "cute comments".

I am an investigator, have been in law enforcement, have been trained through the New Jersey State Police, BATF, FBI and other, let's call them "nameless" organizations for now. I have served in the field of Corporate Intelligence work for more Fortune 500 companies than you can even name, and presently, offer specialized services to over 450 law firms throughout the United States. I kinda think I don't have a problem with credibility.

Now, I am making it a point to go up to Rachel every weekend. I have full intentions to provide truthful information, not information that is being blown out my ass like some other people I know. And a good part about this is, I HAVE the sources to get my information, and they are not Mr. Clark, nor are they the people who own the Little A'Le'Inn.

I will not be writing a "Tour Guide" that tells of my likes and dislikes about the hotels in Las Vegas, nor will I show that I have no life like other people and give tours of the greater Rachel area. I WILL be offering solid information, not only of Area 51, but, of the so-called "experts" in the field, getting down to brass tacks as to what their REAL motivations are.

Respectfully,

Al Cutillo
