Which road? There aren't many major ones around, except for Route 70, where most of your view is blocked by trees. Most of the roads into the facility are small.

As Glenn can attest, I live about 8 miles from the former Fort Devens. There have been no plans announced about the construction of a prison. In fact, ever since the base officially closed, the use for the land has been, and still is, up in the air. They still have these neat white and red "Restricted Zone" signs that remind me of Area 51, though... 8)
