Subject: "Hangar 18", the song - connection w/ Area 51?

I have a question about something. I have just recently been wondering about Area 51 and everything connected with it. I have been listening to music for years and one of my favorite bands is Megadeth. On their album "Rust In Peace" (1990, Capitol Records), they have a song called "Hangar 18". The song deals with a government base with alien research going on, just like Area 51. In a show on MTV from around 1991 they were skydiving in Nevada and Dave Mustaine, the lead singer, pointed to some mountains and said that Hangar 18 was located over them. I was wondering if Hangar 18 is a part of Area 51, maybe the exact location on the base of the ship recovered at Roswell or something like that, or if it's a completely different deal, maybe something Megadeth made up to use Area 51 in a song without mentioning it directly. I've been all over several websites on both Area 51 and Megadeth and haven't been able to figure it out yet. I can only assume that it's part of Area 51 but I've just recently begun learning about it so I thought I'd ask some people who knew a lot more about it to find out. Anyone with any info on this who could let me know, I would greatly appreciate it.
