DEFENSE FINANCE AND ACCOUNTING SERVICE

Subject: Re: AREA 51: Defense Finance and Accounting Service Web Site

This is not true, supplies, (anything from toilet paper to a-bombs) that are needed by covert operations (military or not), are NOT always secured via normal supply chains. The NSA as well as the CIA and other government agencies operate their own supply infrastructure.

While Area 51 may in fact get toilet paper, and floppy disks from dfas. The really sophisticated equipment generally comes from companies that are funded in part or totally by intelligence agencies of our government. Their primary customers are the NSA (US National Security Agency, the CIA, The CSE (Canadian Equivelant to the NSA), and GCHQ (The British equivelant to the NSA). However, some extremely high tech equipment used by the military is also procured via these high tech companies operated by or for the government.

Normal supply channels are to easily traced, especially if you are trying to hide what you are doing.

HAVE FUN, BRING A GUN!

Subject: 1,000 man march. idea, very important

I was just thinking. I have a very important idea, that could save lives.its just a simple idea, that may have been overlooked. but very important.anyway. When the 1,000 man march occurs, no doubt there's gonna be area51 gaurds everywhere or something, and They ARE Authorized to use DEADLY force. I just saying, If they decide to kill everybody (that would suck) You would need to BRING A GUN to "PROTECT YOURSELF". If you are being shot at, you have the right to FIGHT BACK!!! You should just recommend to everyone, BRING A DAMN GUN! (its good to have a License), But DAMNIT the US government has BROKEN so MANY damn Laws, its not gonna hurt if we bring guns.

so Bring a Gun! (just in case)

In Peebles "Dark Eagles" book, page 155, he says regarding the protestors, "It was widely believed this incident caused the government to take action." (Meaning the 1984 land grab.)

LAZAR THEORIES

Subject: Your critical remarks

I don't know what to think about Lazar, but your critical remarks seem very shallow leading me to question your motivations. UFOlogists certainly don't have anything on you when it comes to wild theories. Russians using Lazar to undermine Area 51 operations? Yes, and I'm Hilary Clinton's half alien brother. You persuade me not.

Then again, on the other hand, it could be our own government trying to disseminate "false information". In an attempt to cast doubt on those in the UFO community.

Having also served in the Armed Forces for 22 years, I can tell you that our government will go to great lengths to maintain control over its people.

Subject: Access Denied

Recently visited your site. Question regarding access to the area under general reference section, specifically jpg/gif file archive. Upon attempting to enter to view images document stating that access denied to cgi/bin/ popped up. I noted nothing on the site that indicated one must be a "member" or what. So my curiosity piqued as to why access would be "denied" to a general section of material on a website that at least on appearance supports access to government files and opposes the governments denial to the general public on matters involving ufo/extraterrestrial issues. Thank you for any insight to this question.

[When the computer says "access denied" you don't have to take it personally. The /cgi-bin/ area of ANY server contains cgi programming and is usually not read-accessible to anyone, friend or foe. I looked at ours and don't see any .jpg's or .gif's... but that's just what I want you to believe. What's REALLY in that /cgi-bin/ and WHY WON'T THEY LET US IN???? -- GC]
