The Orlando Sentinel newspaper (Orlando, FL) had a page 1 feature Article on Sunday June 29 concerning USAF Col Joe Kittenger (Ret), who now lives in the Orlando area. The article/interview suggests that Kittenger was intimately involved the the "dropping of dummies" from high altitude balloons, and that many stories of lore about Roswell/aliens describe an unknown red haired Col being present at the scene, who was probably Kittenger.

I believe the article is available at <http://www.orlandosentinel.com>

Summary

Growing criticism prompted the Air Force to launch a full-scale investigation, which ended in last week's report, optimistically titled, The Roswell Report; Case Closed.

Still, McAndrew and Kittinger believe the witnesses are simply confusing 40- to 50-year-old events, and they note that no one claimed to have seen or heard of alien bodies until the 1970s.

An 'alien' with a large head seen walking on the base after the crash was actually a pilot whose head was grotesquely swollen after a parachuting injury, they said.

'People want to believe that there are UFOs, people want to believe that there are aliens.'
