I have enjoyed reading your articles. I just thought I'd pass a couple of stories along to you. My ex-employer is a computer programmer. A few years ago, he was responsible for installing computer systems at area 51. During one visit as he was driving through the restricted area he glanced out into the desert and saw what appeared to be a five story building hovering along the desert floor. When he approached officials about this, they just smiled and said that it was nothing to worry about. He also said that there was a certain building which was guarded 24 hours by strangely dressed armed guards. These guards would sometimes show up at the cafeteria while he was there. They all sat together and spoke to no one, including each other. You've probably heard stories such as these already, but I figured you might as well hear these also. I have some other stories he told be, but I don't want to waste too much of your time .

You may certainly post these stories on your mailing list. I know alot of people often hear about these stories and are quick to judge them as false. I too was quite skeptical about some of the rumors I have heard about places such as area 51. Though, when my former employer told me these stories, I knew that there was indeed something strange going on out there. I will try to pry some other stories out of him if I can, but in the meantime, feel free to share these stories with others. There is no doubt in my mind that the stories he shared with me are genuine. He is a very intelligent straight-foward family man with nothing to gain by stretching the truth.
