I find it interesting that someone claims to have seen a "hovering five story building" in the middle of the dessert and Norio Hayakawa talks about the HAARP project to turn the inosphere into a giant projection screen! HmMMM.

Reference stories concerning Area 51- I was associated with a military member (Air Force Master Sergeant (E-7), a security policeman (law enforcement type-not security)who related one day during a BS session how a former boss/friend of his (allegedly a retired Chief Master Sergeant, security police also, had offered him a job upon his/coworker's retirement. The coworker related this job entailed the wearing of "civilian clothes" and carrying not only a 9mm pistol but also an Uzi. When I asked where he would work, he inferred that it was at Area 51 and the surrounding area/desert. This military member had spent at least four years at Nellis AFB prior to his assignment and this conversation- which took place at a "northern tier" missile base.
