In response to the black triangular aircraft wave of sightings last week, I must add to it. I have seen at least TWO of these aircraft, and I was stunned because the description I read was EXACTLY what I saw. I live north of San Antonio, TX. This is a large city with MANY military bases. Planes are in and out of here constantly. I drive on a stretch of country road every night from work to get home. It's usually fairly late. The planes fly fairly low to the ground, and rather slow. The lights are strangely arranged. I was lucky to have the plane fly DIRECTLY over my car BOTH times. I was looking STRAIGHT up at them both times, and the outline is a perfect, 100% triangle shaped. No doubt about it. I would bet my life on it. This is not a plane that would fly in the day.
