The Darker Secrets

There is something deeper going on with the Glenn Campbell story than just the fact that he is an odd loser who has fraudulently tried to place himself in the middle of ufology. I've had to educate my sons in all facets of life and, unfortunately, nowadays that includes information on drugs, stalking, and child molestation. Following I am going to provide excerpts from a book named "Stalking" written by a very well informed, caring author named Elaine Landau who wrote this book in 1996. Following that, I'll provide excerpts from a book written in 1987 by Margaret O. Hyde called "Sexual Abuse, Let's Talk About It" and another book written by Margaret O. Hyde and Elizabeth H. Forsyth, M.D., called "The Sexual Abuse of Adolescents and Children". These are excellent, informative books that should be read by, or to, every child old enough to understand these problems. After every excerpt I'll cite an example of Glenn "Goober" Campbell fitting the profile of a stalker as well as the profile of a child molester. This man is sick, sicker than you know.

Campbell started in Boston and moved to Rachel, the closest place he could find to where Bob Lazar worked. After the DOD land grab, Campbell moved to an apartment overlooking the EG&G facility where he thought Bob Lazar had flown to work. (The actual facility that Lazar reported to was torn down for the expansion of the McCarran airport, but Campbell didn't know that.) Campbell has now moved to an apartment within a stone's throw of Bob Lazar's house. There are a million people in Las Vegas and hundreds of thousands of homes and hundreds of apartment complexes, and he has chosen to live alarmingly near Bob Lazar. That defies simple coincidental mathematical probability. He is now hold up, living with 2 young boys, in an apartment complex known as the Silver Shadows Vistas apartments at 8301 W. Charleston, Las Vegas, Nevada, 89117, in west central Las Vegas. His gold met allic, Toyota Four Runner truck, license number 584FVB, Nevada plates, can be found parked in space #170. I'll give the young boys the common courtesy of not telling you his exact apartment number, keeping their safety in mind.

EL- "Stalking is the willful, malicious, and repeated following or harassing of another person." "Celebrity's get strange unwanted attention from their fans." "In the past 25 years, there have been as many attacks on celebrities by people with mental disorders as in the previous 175 years." (Probably due to advanced transportation and communication) "There is no way to predict when a stalker will become violent." "A celebrity is more likely to be accosted if the stalker mentions weapons in his or her letters or if the stalker mentions sharing a special destiny with the celebrity."

Campbell has followed Bob Lazar, by his own admission, from Boston, some 3,000 miles from Lazar's house. He then moved to where Lazar went to work and has now moved down the street from Lazar's house. His web page, while now more diverse, originated with Bob Lazar and Bob Lazar has been the focus of Campbell's commentary, both positive and negative, and Campbell literally sells miniature statues of Bob Lazar.

Bob Lazar has only seen Campbell two or three times, amongst meeting crowds of numerous other people, and would not know Campbell if Campbell walked up to him on the street. To say that Campbell's attention is unwanted is an understatement. The vast number of people who have met Campbell feel that he suffers from some sort of mental disorder. The "idiot savant" label is often used as he is proficient at typing and computer programming, yet seems to be at a loss for original thought and peripheral intelligence. In Campbell's letters to Lazar, he's said things like "We've got a dangerous situation brewing" or "We've crossed an invisible line here and I'm worried that things are going to escalate to a disastrous level" and "You can choose to believe what I tell you, or you can ignore it, but there are certain unwritten rules that have to be obeyed, even if we were mortal enemies", etc.. Lazar didn't even know who he was.

Campbell would try and inform Lazar about false upcoming attacks on him. When Lazar and Huff did a local Las Vegas radio show for a short time, Campbell said that they were going to be the subject of a vicious "ambush". Huff and Lazar said "Bring it on". The ambush Campbell referred to was going to be a call from some flake named Mark Farmer who, while milking and/or bilking the U.S. government out of some sort of disability, runs around in camouflage fatigues trying to play secret agent. Farmer and Campbell, two of a kind, were friends and Campbell betrayed his friend and tried to warn Lazar so Lazar would be indebted to him and allow him to communicate with him. It didn't work and Campbell was told to get lost. Another rejection for his books. Campbell then said that he had great contacts at the ATF and they were planning to interrupt Lazar's summer fireworks party, Desert Blast. Allegedly these ATF agents were confiding in Campbell and Campbell tried to betray them to, once again, suck up to Lazar. It didn't work. Campbell was told get lost. Another rejection for his books. Neither at tack happened, whatever these alleged attacks were supposed to be, and Lazar and Huff never gave them a moment's thought. Campbell was rejected and was infuriated that no one takes him seriously, except those on the Internet who don't know any better.

EL- "One common delusion is that they know the celebrity and are an important part of their idol's life". "Fans write strange letters to celebrities". "The stalker writes over ten letters to a celebrity." "The stalker continues writing to the celebrity from more than one place of residence." "Although there may be gaps of weeks or months in his or her correspondence, the stalker writes to the same celebrity for over a year." "Besides writing to the celebrity, the stalker attempts to telephone that person either at his home or workplace."

In fact, Campbell has taken this to new heights. In addition to unwanted letters and phone calls, Campbell uses his newsletters and the Internet's news groups and email to try and evoke a response from his idol. Campbell tried to contact Lazar from Rachel and from Las Vegas. One time Lazar had gotten word that Campbell had printed an unusually outrageous bunch of lies about Lazar and Lazar phoned Campbell and told him that he was a liar. Campbell responded by posting to the Internet that Lazar had opened a hot line with Campbell to help Campbell keep his stories straight in the future, as though as it was a type of comradery. Lazar had done nothing of the sort and ultimately had to change his phone number and email address to get rid of Campbell. Campbell did not give up and started sending hard copy letters to Lazar via regular mail. Campbell wrote letters as though he and Lazar knew each other and even made suggestions on how Lazar should run his life. Lazar had never even met Campbell at this point.

EL- "The demands and claims made by stalker may be outrageous."

During Campbell's attempts to meet Lazar, Campbell suggested that Lazar detach himself from Gene Huff, a friend of Lazar's for almost a decade, presumably so that Lazar would have more time and be able to associate with Campbell instead. Try and imagine a complete stranger sending you a letter telling you to lose your friends so you could hang with them. If defies explanation.

According to Elaine Landau, as stalker goes through three phases.

EL- "Phase One is the tension building phase. It begins with minor intrusions including inappropriate letters and unwanted gifts."

Campbell would routinely send Lazar gifts like signed copies of his Area 51 Viewer's Guide or cloth patches signifying various little clubs or designs that Campbell admired. Lazar threw them away as at his point he had never heard of Glenn Campbell. This was, of course, in addition to the numerous letters, emails, and phone calls.

EL- "Phase Two is the explosive or acutely violent phase of attacks of varying sorts when they don't get the response or attention they're seeking."

After Lazar had rejected all of Campbell's overtures, Campbell posted unlimited lies and innuendo about Lazar on the Internet. He doesn't have the courage to confront Lazar personally. After the last time Campbell posted lies about Lazar on the internet, Lazar called Campbell and told him to come to his house so they could have a conversation and Lazar could straighten him out once and for all. Campbell agreed, but later cancelled. After all of the unwanted attempts this psycho had made to talk to Lazar, when he finally got the chance, he backed down. All of the unanswered questions Campbell pretends to have about Lazar are unanswered because of Campbell's cowardice and insanity, not because of Lazar. Goober had the chance and didn't take it.

EL- "Phase Three is the heart and flowers phase which sometimes comes between phases 1 and 2. Sometimes during this phase, the stalkers switch victims to some more challenging or vulnerable prey who is not yet alert to their dangerous patterns and treachery".

When Campbell had completely failed to get Lazar's attention and had been, once again and as usual, rejected, Campbell tried to find another target. This time it was a kind, retired gentleman named Bill Uhouse of Las Vegas. Uhouse had appeared at an International UFO Convention and later appeared at a get together at the Little Ale' Inn, where Campbell met him.

Uhouse claims to have done metal fabrication for a flight simulator for the ET discs and Uhouse says that Lazar's "sport model" flying disc (which was made into a model by the Testor Corporation) was as good of a representation of one of the ET discs in the hands of the U.S. government that he had ever seen. Uhouse is quite believable as the part of the ET disc program he claims to have been involved in is not worth any money to him, nor is he looking for any stardom. If one would fabricate a story, they would certainly try and grab a bigger piece of the pie than stating that they simply fabricated metal and other components for a flight simulator.

Campbell began harassing Uhouse and trying to solicit information from him so Campbell could write about him and mislead people into thinking that he was the world's connection to Uhouse. Campbell renamed Uhouse "Jarod 2" as Uhouse claimed that the alien involved with the ET disc back engineering program was named "Jarod". Campbell proceeded to reveal volumes of information about Uhouse on the Internet and the unsuspecting Internet readers as though Uhouse was some sort of secret ET "deep throat" as opposed to a kind man who they could here speak at a UFO convention if they chose to. To this day, Uhouse still frequents the alt.conspiracy.area51 news group under the name "waspman" from ix.netcom.com. If Bob Lazar, Gene Huff, or anyone else of relevance appears on a news group Campbell announces it to the world on his web site. When Uhouse appears there, Campbell remains silent. He doesn't want the public to know that they can talk to Uhouse themselves and do not need Campbell as an intermediary. Uhouse does not alter his screen name and right there on top it identifies him as Bill Uhouse. The unwitting dupes on the news groups probably have no idea who they've had the opportunity to talk to because they don't know that Uhouse is the infamous Jarod 2 that Campbell exploited.

Campbell fits the profile of a stalker perfectly. His behavior perfectly fits the Tension Building Phase, the Explosive or Acutely Violent Phase, and the Hearts and Flowers Phase. He is the type of person who ultimately has their fill of perpetual rejections and shows up somewhere with a gun and injures and kills numerous people before he turns the gun on himself. If anyone has ever had the probability of going "Postal" it is, indeed, Glenn "Goober" Campbell.

Stalking is one thing, child molestation is another.

One day in the early 1990's Glenn Campbell showed up, unannounced, at Gene Huff's office. According to Campbell, he had come by to squelch the rumors of him being a child molester. Huff didn't even know who he was and had never met him, much less heard rumors of him being a child molester. Campbell said that at a UFO get together at the Little Ale' Inn, the rumor of his being a child molester was flying around. How that happened remains unknown. Child molestation is not something that routinely comes up at a UFO convention. It is unknown whether Campbell had made a Freudian slip or whatever, but apparently he had been pegged for someone guilty of this form of child abuse.

Here is a little background on that type of abuse from Margaret O. Hyde and Dr. Elizabeth Forsyth:

MOH & Dr. EF- "Sexual abuse is any appropriate suggestion or actual sexual exposing or touching between child and adult. Another interpretation is "forcing, tricking or manipulating someone into sexual contact". The preferred definition by the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect reads: "Sexual abuse consists of contacts or interactions between a child and an adult when the child is being used for sexual stimulation of that adult or another person."

In Biblical times boys received full adult status at age 13, but before that they were classified with women and slaves and were therefore subject to sexual abuse. The rape of a male under the age of 9 was not punishable by law. Boy brothels thrived from the 6th to the 4th centuries B.C. The castration of boys to make them eunuch servants was also a big business in ancient times and castrated children were considered sexually attractive. Eunuchs were also in demand as singers during the middle ages and later."

According to Gene Huff, in 1996, an envelope arrived at the Tri-Dot Productions office which contained information on Glenn Campbell. There were pictures of him in sexual relations with young boys. There was also accompanying information about Campbell being an oddball who associated with boys much younger than him, even as a youth. He had allegedly been seen going into basements with boys some 10 years his junior, and he did this on a routine basis. The pictures were not glossy photos but had been printed out on a computer printer. Since anything like this can be faked, the photos were not posted on the Internet or used to humiliate Campbell in anyway and they were pretty much dismissed. However since the envelope was postmarked from Melrose, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston where Campbell is from, it was still quite curious. The entire package was sent to the police in Las Vegas and no one has heard anything since then.

Around this same time, Campbell asserts that he received an envelope with information about Bob Lazar and, without verifying the contents, posted a giant anti-Lazar attack on his web page. In this attack, while commenting on Lazar's relationships with women, Campbell stated that he thought that sex was the most humiliating experience that a human being could ever endure. That is an unbelievably odd comment. The world's population would tend to indicate that Campbell's opinion is not a consensus. Heterosexual and homosexual sex are the most popular things on this planet.

There are only a couple of things that I can think of that would make a man make a comment like "Sex is the most humiliating experience that a human being can endure". One is the possibility that he was subject to some sort of sexual abuse as a youngster and still retains some of those nightmares to this day, in which case my heart goes out to him. This would, in many cases, cause the person to detach themselves from the friends and family who abused them when they were younger. This type of person could cut off all past ties and move to the middle of the Nevada desert without anyone even caring. The other would be the obvious, that being someone who felt they were totally sexually inadequate, like someone with an unusually small penis, who could not bear to be seen nude by a lover, male or female. This is the type of person who couldn't take a shower after gym class because children can be cruel and they would be laugh at them. This would be a person who would have been ridiculed as a youth, have few friends their own age and have a chip on their shoulder while searching for a way to strike back at the society that had rejected them. This is the type of person who could be caught up with sex with those who were more similar to him sexually, like young boys whose genitalia had not yet matured. This is the type of person who could get caught masturbating to a child porno magazine and be more concerned with hiding the magazine than pulling their pants up.

In either case, Campbell fits the scenario perfectly. A little more commentary from the good doctor:

MOH & Dr. EF: "It is a myth that most child sexual abuse involves strangers. 1 boy in 6 is sexually abused before the age of 18. In a study of college aged boys, 73% did not tell anyone that they had been sexually abused. Experts state that a tell tale sign of a young offender is the absence of activity with boys his own age. 100,000 boys a year report that they have been sexually abused and 90% go unreported." (Causing estimates of actual abuse to be around 1,000,000 per year) "Child abusers have little regard for the rights of other people". Some child abuse offenders are individuals who feel generally inferior or inadequate, have low self esteem, poor social skills and a great need for acceptance."

If a child abuser generally has little regard for the rights of other people, then that person would not be hesitant to stalk someone, like Bob Lazar, without any regard for his right to privacy. If an abuser generally feels inferior or inadequate, then it would not be unusual for that inadequacy to be caused by some sexual abnormality like a small penis. If the offender had a great need for acceptance, then they would be the type to create a non-existent cyber world where everything they said was true and those who believed their nonsense would accept them. After all, computers don't talk back and they don't laugh at you when your pants are off.

We are now brought to the most curious point of the Glenn Campbell saga. Campbell recently married his secretary Sharon. Campbell had never before been seen with a female companion and the odds that two people would find the right mate for them in a village the size of Rachel, Nevada are astronomical, or worse, astrological. I don't know this Sharon but I can honestly say that I cannot imagine any man or woman anywhere wanting to be intimate with Glenn Campbell. Many times homosexual men marry women so they can fit into heterosexual society. These women are called "beards" or the more derogatory term is a "fag hag". However, as I stated before, I do not think Glenn is a homosexual.

Why then, would Campbell get married? Well there's another dark little secret you don't know. Sharon was previously married and has a couple of adolescent boys.

Some more information from the doctor:

MOH & Dr. EF: "It is a myth that most child abuse involves strangers. Most sex offenders are male and the median age is 31 years. Most abuse takes place in the home. 65% to 80% of offenders know the children they abuse. Many pedophiles are more comfortable around children than around adults. Many suffer from low self esteem and feel that adult women would not be interested in them because they are too inadequate. Most have few emotional and social contacts outside the family."

We are not at the end of the dark secrets regarding Glenn Campbell. For reasons unknown, Campbell has arranged that his new wife Sharon stay out in Rachel, Nevada at the Area 51 research center during the week and Campbell stays with the boys in the apartment near Bob Lazar's house. We all know how newlyweds love to stay apart so they can't have sex, right? That's just another curious thing about this "show" type marriage. Campbell has alleged that the reason is because the boys could get a better education in Las Vegas than they could in Rachel. That is quite curious as Las Vegas isn't necessarily known for it's great public school districts. Rural educations have served many people very well. Senator Harry Reid from Nevada is from the little town of Searchlight, Nevada and he went on to become a U.S. Senator. Former Senator and future democratic presidential hopeful Bill Bradley was raised in the rural town of Crystal City, Missouri and has soared to great political heights after being a professional basketball player with the New York Nicks.. President Harry Truman was from Hannibal, Missouri and his rural education didn't fail him when it came to drop the atomic bomb on the Japanese in WWII. The list is endless as astronauts, scientists, doctors and everything in between have come from rural areas and their rural elementary school education has not hurt any of them. Then there's always the option of home schooling where Campbell himself or their mother would teach them, but then their mother would always be around and that might be the whole hangup in a nutshell.

Some more from the good doctor:

MOH & Dr. EF "Child abusers come from all walks of life. In many cases, stepfathers use incest as a way to experience closeness and nurturing in human contacts. Four studies indicate that the most common ages a youth is approached by a family member are 8.5, 10.7, 11, or 13. 1/3 to * of victims are under the age of 7 and adolescents are victims in 71% of cases. Incest occurs at every socio-economic level. A new study shows that in a study of 159 incestuous fathers that 49% had abused unrelated girls and 12% had abused unrelated boys and 19% had raped adult women. Sexual abuse occurs when someone imposes sexual behavior on a young person who may not understand what is happening. 99% of male abusers are known to the child and 62% are fathers or stepfathers. There are also non-touching offenses like spying on a child when it's dressing or suggesting that the child undress. Exposing themselves is also a non-touching offense."

It is unrealistic to think that Glenn Campbell is living 150 miles from the mother of these children, during the week, and that he never sees them dressing or undressing or vice versa. Any parent has seen their children nude and has played with their little butts, but Campbell doesn't know these boys any better than any of us know a neighborhood kid. He is not their father and he is certainly not their parent. He might be their legal guardian, at best. As a mother I cannot understand how Sharon Campbell can allow this to happen, especially with the rumors surrounding her husband, some verified by Campbell himself. I can only imagine that she hopes the Wackenhut security force has Campbell killed for the headaches he's caused them, and she and her boys can inherit the money. But then that would mean that she believes that Campbell is of relevance out there at Area 51 and he is not, that is all in his computer and in his head.

Following is a list of agencies which you can call or write to help sexually abused children. You can notify them about Campbell if you wish. I certainly have.
