Regarding "Groom Lake Security Manual" - Latest First

Maybe...Maybe not... But use common sense.

I'm not very knowledgeable about the military, and, to me, this "manual" looks more like some sort of training book or something like that, judging from the cover of it and the material inside. However, when I look at the comments posted here, common sense tells me that there are more people on the believers side that seem to know what they are talking about, as opposed to the debunkers. But, then again, that's just my humble honest opinion.

Security Manual is authentic!!

I am a prior Air Force Security Policeman. 18th SPS KAB. Okinawa. And have been investigating the illegal burning of materials at this facility. I can say without a doubt, that the manual is actual and not contrived. Do a little homework, and you also may know the truth.

Fake?

If the manual is fake, and Groom Lake doesn't exist, then no research is going on, therefore, the camo dudes, and the signs in the desert are imaginary, therefore we attempt to argue imagination... SO, the question of if the manual is a fake, is moot... The camo dudes are the security force, the signs indicate deadly force... Who cares if the manual is fake, and fabricated? The facts remain.
