AREA 51 EVENT TO KICK-OFF COUNTDOWN TO THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ROSWELL UFO CRASH.

NASA'S startling announcement of the existance of life on Mars arouses a ground swell of interest in aliens not seen since tho initial government coverup began in 1947.

On August 24, Rachel, Nevada, the closest privately owned property to the hyper-secret Area 51 complex, will be the site of an all night political action rally and watching vigil. It is focused at young adults to increase their awareness of the probable of extraterrestrial visiting our planet. This event, sponsored by the recently formed Center For The Study Of Aerial Phenomenon, is expected to attract more than 500' people to the Rachel area. It will begin a year of discussions and events culminating in the largest celebration of alien interest of all time when Roswell' New Mexico is host to 150,000 participants the 50th anniversary celebration of the famous Roswell, New Mexico UFO crash.

History will recall that the week of July 4, 1947 brought a bazaar series of events to the Roswell area. A violent electrical storm brought an extraterrestrial spacecraft, apparently the victim of a lightning hit, crashing to the ground 75 miles northwest of the city. A local cattleman found remains of the craft, loaded some of it into his pick-up truck, and took it to the Roswell sheriff. The sherriff notified the nearby army base which dispatched an intelligence team who retrieved more pieces of the spacecraft. The base commander then issued a press release saying that the Army had captured a flying saucer. Within hours the government went into damage contol posture and tried to pass the captured debris off as a crashed weather balloon.

Eye witness reports and clandestinely received government documents indicated that there had indeed been a crash and that autopsies were performed and the remains of the dead aliens as well as live captured aliens were taken to the highest security facility in the United States.

Further information was sketchy until 1989 when a Las Vegas television station imeviewed a forrner government physicist who told of aliens being held about 100 miles from Las Vegas at Area 51, Rachael, Nevada. Although his allegations have not been oonfirmed because of the government secrecy, area residents near Rachel, Nevada talk matter-of-factly of alien encounters and other strange phenomenon. Area 51 itself remains so secrct that it's existence is still denied by the military despite the release of countless photos taken before the adjacent property known as Freedom Ridge was seized by the miilitary and closed to the public last year.

Mr. Lawrence Suttle, of The Center For The Study Of Aerial Phenomenon says; "This event designed to attract the interest of a younger generation to the probability that we have been, and quite possibly corminue to be visited by extraterrestrial." Noting that the Roswell incident happened almost a half century ago, Mr Suttle added; "Most viewers of the movie ID4 were not even born when all this happened, they don't know the movie is based on some pretty oompelling evidence or the significance of the July 4th date. We intend to calmly and factually inform this younger generation of incidents that have occurred and ask thern to sign a petition to be presented to our leaders insisting our government release any and all information with no more cover up's. If life, as NASA say's, has existed on Mars it is obvious that it exists in other parts of the universe".

The Center is emphatic in stating that it doe's not intend to embarrass the Government or point fingers at the lack of inforrnation given in the past. "We are sure that legitimate and compelling reasons exist for the past cover-up's but our leaders should know that wc are adults. We have faced world wars, nuclear threats, terrorist attacks, and countless natural disasters from Volcanic eruptions and earhquakes, to humcane's that have destroyed entire cities. We are smart, we are tough, we are reasonable, and we can take any news without fear or panic."

To call attention to these concerns and to attract the younger generation, the rally is planning to have music performances, native American drummers, concessions, and the sale of locally as well as native produced arts and crafts. Although the techno music, a modem day version of progressive jazz, is one of the main attractionss, another very interesting activity will be a tented area where interested people can sit and talk one-on-one with area residents and UFO enthusiasts about ominous activities they have personally observed. Mr Suttle says, "I think this kind of one-on-one discussion will bring home the real information better than any other method." A light show simulcast with techno music will simulate UFO's on giant screens along with actual footage of aerial phenomenon. Mr. Suttle says; "make no mistake, this is to be a great fun event. We are leaving VIP passes at the gate for any aliens now living on the base, and we are planning a special 'landing pad' should any low flying saucers decide to stop by. The music is for the young adults and I know the older generation will enjoy it too. As for the light show, and I am sure the local residents have never seen anything like this because, frankly, neither have I. I have been told by people who have seen it that it is absolutely spectacular." Tickets for the event can be purchased through Ticketmaster. Starting August 1, 1996.

The Strange Events Of The Summer Of 1947

The week of July 4, 1947 brought a bazaar series of events not only to the Roswell area, but the entire southwest.

- On July 2, 1947, Mr. Dan Wilmot, a storekeeper were sitting on his front porch when he suddenly saw a "big glowing object" appear overhead traveling northwest toward the town of Corona, New Mexico. He described it as "two inverted saucers faced together". On that same night, Mac Brazel, who owned a ranch about 25 miles from the town of Corona, heard a great explosion nearby.
- The next day Mac went to investigate and found the wreckage of a downed craft of some kind. He inspected the materials and said that some pieces had strange writing that he could not recognize. He described the material as a very light metallic substance that was pliable but very strong.
- The following day, July 4, he told several people in Corona about his discovery and then learned about the rash of UFO sightings in the area.
- After thinking about it for a day or two, On July 7, Mac loaded some of the debris into his pickup truck and took it to Major Jesse Marcel at the nearby Roswell Military base. Major Marcel and a counter intelligence officer followed Mac back to his ranch where they also collected some fragments of the downed craft and took these items back to the base.
- On July 8, Mr. Grady Barnett, a civil engineer, was working in an area about three miles from the crash sight when he noticed the wreckage. He went to investigate it, as did a group of nearby archaeology students. Suddenly an army jeep roared up and told the students and Mr. Barnett to leave the area, and say nothing of what they had seen. Before the jeep arrived Mr. Barnett had time to carefully observe the wreckage. He said the craft was "some sort of disk shaped object about 30 feet in diameter". Scattered around the saucer were "several small humanoid creatures. They were small, gray in color, wearing a sort of jump suit, and they had large eyes".
- Later that day the base commander at Roswell authorized a statement saying a flying saucer had been found and recovered at a range 25 miles away. It was obvious the government suddenly had a situation that they wanted to keep very very secret because the Army called two press conferences within hours to refute the statements of the base commander.
- Witnesses recalled that over the next few days secret cargoes were taken to Fort Worth, Texas and to Wright Patterson AFB.
- Major Marcel recalled in a statement he made in 1978 that the material he saw was like "nothing made on earth". He said that a blowtorch could not penetrate it and a sledge hammer could not dent it.

During seven week period surrounding the Roswell incident, over 850 sightings throughout the U S were reported to the Air Force alone. Of all the sightings, the following reports are the most respected:

- On June 28, 1947 a air force pilot named Lt Armstrong was flying over Lake Mead, Nevada, when he encountered a formation of five or six white disks flying at an altitude of 6000 feet. Four hours later two pilots, two Air Force intelligence officers watched an unidentified object streak across the base at a high rate of speed.
- On June 29, 1947 Dr. C. J. John, a U.S. Naval Laboratory rocket expert along with two other rocket experts saw a diver disk moving faster than the speed of sound flash across the White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico.
- On June 30, 1947, the pilot of a U.S. Navy aircraft flying near the Grand Canyon observed two silver spheres moving at "inconceivable speed" dive and appear to land about 30 miles south of the Grand Canyon.
- July 8, 1947 brought the most amazing number of reports from respected and trained observers.

- At 9: 10 AM when three officers at Edwards Air Force Base (then Muroc Field) in California watohed three silver UFO's heading across the base they observed them westbound for several minutes.
- Just 10 minutes later At the same base but some distace away, Lt. J. C. McHenry was warming up his jet when he saw a UFO heading west at an altitude he estimated to be 8000 feet and a speed of 300 miles per hour.
- At 11:30 AM. an Air Force major and five othet air force personnel saw a round object, aluminum in color, descend toward the ground then rise again and leave the area. This observation was corroborated by a USAAF captain flying out of Rogers Dry Lake, east of Muroc who made the same observation.
- At 4:00 PM, another USAAF pilot flying 40 miles south of Muroc saw a "flat object of light reflective nature" flying above him at an altitude unattainable by him.

It is of significance that all of these observations were made by either military personnel or civilian expens workig for the government whose powers of observation are rarely disputed.

Techno Music - The New Jazz

While the steady decline of jazz continucs, A new type of music har appeared recently that has taken on a following that continues to grow. techno music, as it is callod, seems to be the latest in a series of steps that has moved jazz from progressive, through jazz fusion and now to techno This new sound has brought new audience interest to 'improv' music. In a manner similar to the way jazz artists adds their own lines or variations to the music, techno music's DJ's do this by manipulating two record turntables so that the beats of two different records match while the main music lines are made to enhance the harmony of each other. Because each melding of sound requires an artist to run the turntables who has a feel for how the sounds will mesh together, no two performances are ever exactly alike.

Much like the original jazz backgrounds that it embraces, techno is usually played without a lyric. Unlike jazz, it is very danceable and that seems to be it's greatest attraction to the young adults who dance for what seems to be hours on end.

The audience that seems to like the techno sounds the most are young professionals. At any techno music festival, you will see parking lots full of BMW's, Explorers and other vehicles generally associated with the new urban lifestyle. The choice of beverages is also indioative nf the typical techno music aficionado with bottled watet outselling alcohol by large margins much to the dismay of club owners hosting these events.
