In addition to my blackworld investigations, I am the host of "Oil of Dog" a weekly, two-hour new music/talk/trash radio show broadcast throughout Southeast Alaska.

During the past couple years I've found a few interesting tunes worthy of your consideration:

"The Happening" by the Pixies from their 1990 CD "Bossanova"
By far the best A51 song around.

"They've got a Ranch they call number 51
Just lying there square-baking in the sun
Can't see it at all -- less you're flying by"

Also from the Pixies -- "Motorway to Roswell" from the 1993 CD
"Trompe le Monde" -- Tasty.

Frank Black from his solo debut disc "Frank Black". Frank is the former Pixies leadman though in an interview with him he said, "I'm not the only UFO singer around". Not the only--but the best. The song: "Parry the wind High, Low". Vegas, alien abduction, etc.

"And if a ship meets your car. You know you can't go too far.
They could treat you real nice or put a tracking device...
Way down inside"

Mr. Black told me that he would like to visit the Area someday.

Not A51 specifically, but good;

Husker Du "Books about UFO's" from their compilation disc "The Living End"

Stan Ridgway "Heat Takes a Walk/Lonely Town" from the CD "Misquitoses". Nice desert mood piece

And of course;

MEL TORME and the MEL-TONES -- "Hit the Road to Dreamland" from the record "Back in Town"

Other songs that suck:

"Escape from the Prison Planet" by Clutch. Terrible
-- Bob Lazar is mentioned as "Coming Over"

"The Area 51 Nucleonic Mix" by Eat Static.

Trance/techno is bad, but this painful. 'Welcome to Area 51'
compilation CD by Sire Records...really awful.

A travelling Rave company recently conducted a western states tour...
the "show" featured multiple "quadrants" with names of "Mail Box Road" -- "Zeta Reticular Dub Dimension" and "The S-4 Test Lab".

Government less-than-lethal/chemical weapons experiment?

If you know of anything else, please don't hesitate to post it.
