Our Review

Opinion of the webmaster, subject to debate

This is a hand-painted sculpture of Bob Lazar doing what he does best: reluctantly explaining anti-gravity propulsion systems at the blackboard. He is wearing a white lab coat, quite useless of course, but it does make him look more like a "scientist." The Research Center commissioned an anonymous artist to produce this work, preserving in rock-like material the "Little Bob" we fondly remember. Forget the missing educational credentials and that sordid brothel case; this Bob is real and will never move from his dignified position. This model is Totally Unauthorized by the other Bob, so it will be available only from the Research Center and in limited quantities. Each model is hand-produced and hand-painted by the artist. This heirloom is not sold in stores at any price! -- Glenn Campbell

Notice

This model was not authorized by Bob Lazar and he gains no profit from it. Because of potential legal problems and inevitable disfavor by the Lazar camp, we cannot sell it to dealers. It is available only from the Area 51 Research Center in limited edition. Therefore, it is certain to become a collectors item.
