- Extremely Heavy Lifting Body - Proposal for a spacecraft - Humor <3/31/98 #1>
 "The Extremely Heavy Lift Body (EHLB) brings heavy commercial and engineering applications to earth orbit and deep space operations. It is not the intent of the paper to address the financial considerations which maintains unlimited private heavy funding to achieve these goals. The designation for this project is the 'MULLET Project'."

Regarding "Proposed Space Missions" - Latest First

Visionary Project equal to the Pyramids

This project is probably one of the foremost visionary project ever developed. The current NASA approach is slow and costly raising about 4000 lbs at a time. It is logical, that massive amounts of tons is needed with new types of spacecraft. Or we visit Mars in small shoe boxes. Let us support this vision and make profits.
