 OK here we go...how's this:

The skunk-works mailing list was created for discussions of advanced technology aircraft and historical discussions about products of the Lockheed Advanced Development Company (LADC), also known as the Skunk Works, as our list name suggests. However, we also welcome discussions about leading-edge technologies from any other aircraft manufacturer, or university or government sponsored research group.

Primary areas of discussion include:

- Stealth aircraft, manned and unmanned
- New aircraft technology - stealth or non-stealth

Historical discussions about how current technologies came about

Leading-edge technology associated with aircraft, ie: cruise missiles and laser guided bombs

Other uses of stealth technology not related to aircraft

Stealth can be defined as the implementation of ANY technology that allows a vehicle or person to go somewhere undetected (or minimally detected) - this includes detection by any radar, sonar and optical devices.
