I will share this, not that it answers anything.....I had lunch recently with an ex-F-117 pilot who now flies for Delta. He recently met another Delta pilot who is currently a member of the reserve F-16 squadron that flew the jamming missions over Yugoslavia the night 806 was downed. The F-16 pilot told my friend that that all of their F-16 jammers were ordered back to base unexpectedly just before 806 was lost. Knowing the importance of their mission, they protested the RTB order but were told to comply immediately. No reason was ever given to them.
