

Glenn Campbell Clichés

Horrible clichés suffered by Glenn Campbells everywhere whenever they give their name:

- "Hey, where's your guitar?"
- "Do you sing?"
- "How's Tanya?"
- "Hey, it's the Rhinestone Cowboy."
- "It's the Lineman for the County"
- "Are you related to the real Glenn Campbell?"

Instant retort: "I am the real Glenn Campbell."

- "Hey, Campbell Soup."
- "You make fine whiskey."

(Said by a French border guard who had never heard of Glenn Campbell, but had heard of Campbell brand scotch whiskey, which is sold in France.)

---

 [International Glenn Campbell Society ]

Size: 1k

File Created: Apr 7, 1997