Magonia report on Raelian press conference

From: campbell@ufomind.com (Glenn Campbell, Las Vegas)

A press conference by the Raelians is reported in a British article...

From Magonia 60, Summer 1997.

Off the Tracks with British Rael
by Mark Pilkington

Excerpt:

"The Raelians had picked a bad day for their first British meeting in about twenty years, it being less than a week since the Heaven's Gate suicides had hit the headlines, giving UFO fanatics everywhere a bad name. But this didn't stop the crowd packing its way into the small but glitzy function room. Small papier mache planets and flying saucers hung on wires from the low ceiling, bobbing around in the air conditioned breeze like Pleidian beamships surfing on gravity waves. There were no comets. In the end people had to be turned away, and even a contingent from The Nation of Islam had to stand stoically at the back of the room, looking, with their suits, shades and tiny red bow-ties, like a cross between CIA agents and Pee Wee Herman."
