V.L. Custer on anti-gravity craft at Area 51

Below are the best excerpts from a talk by "V.L. Custer", who claims to have seen anti-gravity craft operate from Area 51 while he was working at the Nevada Test Site.

The full transcript is found at:

<http://www.all-natural.com/area-51.html>

The transcript is a couple of years old, but I just stumbled on it again. The rest of the talk is fairly routine stuff about the Nevada Test Site and nuclear testing.

"I've also seen things out there that violate most of the laws of physics. My degree is in physics, and we, on a routine basis, used to observe... because we worked at night, it was a 24 hour a day, 365 days a year operation out there. And I worked all three shifts, graveyard, swing and days. I worked at night a lot out there. I've seen things that most aircraft or no aircraft that I know of could do, do. So the news reports that you hear are accurate to the extent that someone is testing either weapons or various vehicles that go through the atmosphere that use technology that we're not really in possession of. Now, if that sounds a bit odd, I would say this. The federal government is afraid... in fact we had a whole division of public relations people to feed the public information that was cleansed. The federal government is afraid that if the population of the United States knew some of the things that we have done and have seen and have found, people would panic. And that's all I can say about that....

"I saw some things in Area 51 that, objects, that were strange, didn't seem to be something that, at the time, we had the capability of manufacturing. I don't know where they came from, I don't know much about them. But I saw what I saw with my eyes. I did ask, on 2 separate occasions, one of caretakers, that's what we called them, and I was told the first time - don't ask. Now, remember, I had to top secret clearance, I had a need to know. Our group, 80 of us, could go anywhere. We could ask any questions because of what we did. But that was one subject that I was told, don't ask. The second time I asked, I was warned that if I asked again, some rather dire things might happen. So I never asked again. I'm familiar with the Roswell incident in 1947 in New Mexico. I have every reason to believe that the federal government found something there. I have every reason to believe the federal government will never tell what they found there....

"The only other things I can tell you about Area 51 is that there will never, in our life times, be any information let out about some of the things that are out there. I will say that it has become a storage area for oddities. That's where, other than Kirkland Air Force Base, the Roswell debris was supposedly taken. All I can say is sometime, during my tenure at the Nevada Test Site, there was debris from Roswell, New Mexico stored away at Area 51. I was lucky enough or unlucky enough to see some of it. I don't take any pleasure in that knowledge because it puts a constrain on me I don't like to have....

"A group of fellows and I were on our way to work one night to the test site. We saw something that to this day....this was an aircraft of some sort, aircraft being defined as an object in the atmosphere that is moving around. There were 6 of us, we were all trained observers, we were not the type of people who see things go bump in the night, I'm pretty skeptical about things, generally. That aircraft that we saw land, which was next to the test site, did some things that with the technology we had then and probably with the technology we have now, were impossible to do. We saw it, I saw it, the 5 other fellows with me, we stopped the car and got out and watched it for 15-20 minutes. I have no idea what it was. I had access to and was privy to a lot of classified information, for instance, the SR-71 was a common place aircraft to us and yet the general public knew nothing about it. But it came in and went and it made a lot of noise, that's the only thing I didn't like about it. It came in hot and it left hot. It came in over the speed of sound and it left at the speed of sound. So it was always making this horrible noise. That was a very common thing to see. Some of the other things I saw were uncommon....

"Everything that goes on at the Nevada Test Site is on a need to know basis. There are 3 words that you will hear over and over, every single working day you're out there, everything is on a need to know. I was going to bring my security badge with me and I forgot it, I still have it. I had a top secret clearance with sigma's on it. These sigma's denoted what informational areas I was privy to and one of those areas was Area 51. I got it as a souvenir when I left, I talked the security people into letting me have it. There are all kinds of people in government that do not have the need to know of what's going on out there, or at least parts of what's going on out there. And they're not told. And that includes the President....

"I can say this, anti-gravity devices exist, where they came from, that's another matter of speculation. They're unwillingness to talk about things like that within the government stems partly from human nature. If you're privy to some information that you hold dear, regardless of what it is, we're reluctant to share it with other people....

"We're talking about now, this Area 51 thing, the government will hang on until the last dog dies before they'll tell you what's going on out there. Even after it becomes irrelevant anymore, even after it becomes where it's no secret. The government still won't talk about the things that happened in W.W.II, I'm not talking about nuclear things, I'm talking about the Philadelphia Experiment, and I shouldn't have even mentioned that. The government will not talk about all kinds of things that they already know about....

"I think I told you all what I could without laying awake tonight wondering if I told you too much, I hope it was helpful. The best thing you can do to keep the society as free and open as possible is to make sure the politicians we elect to office don't allow themselves to be sucked into the vortex of secrecy that the government always wants to have. And if you see anything flying around, believe your eyes, and believe it isn't a weather balloon, if the government says it's something, it's pretty safe to disbelieve them."
