Hi Glenn,

I manage a mailing list that is supplied by Pobox.Com and so I'm subscribed to a listowner list (mandatory for all Pobox.com listowners).

Imagine my surprise when I found some 20 messages from "Harvest Trust" aka William Cooper blowing his top about some problem or other he had with his mailing list. I've collated his messages together and am sending them attached in a text file FYI. Posting to the Area-51 list is at your discretion.

Regards,

Dear Jack,

Normally I just read the posts here and don't comment... BUT I'm getting just a little fed up with your perpetual ass kissing. You must be living under the protective umbrella of almighty God himself. Do you think all of us other list owners are crazy? Do you think we are liars? What exactly is it with you?

No one else but you seems to be getting good service from pobox... our problems are real and we are injured when our lists do not work... nevermind that we paid for the service. When I pay for something I expect it to work as promised. Whenever I have had a problem it has eventually been solved but getting it solved is like pulling teeth from a hens mouth... and it takes a long time. How is it that your list operates so perfectly and all your inquiries and complaints are answered and dealt with so promptly? What are you doing and for whom are you doing it... that we don't know about? As long as I don't have to blow somebody I'd like to get the same service.

I have never been answered promptly except once by anyone when i have attempted to communicate with the management. That once was when i got fed up and sent a message directly to Reuven... which no one should ever have to do. Every communication I have attempted with pobox has gone unanswered for a week and sometimes more... many were never answered... assertions to the contrary notwithstanding.

The last thing I or the rest of us needs is an apologist for the management telling us that we are all imagining our problems. I've seen guys like you everywhere and I have never liked them. This isn't school and ass kissing won't get you a better grade... and it isn't your employer so you won't get a promotion or a raise... so why don't you just shut the fuck up?

Nobody gives a damn how fast your complaint was answered or how well your list is working. We care only how fast OUR complaints are answered and how well OUR lists are working. YOU GOT THAT JACK?

We also know that management is trying Jack... we don't need you to tell us. I have been involved in many start-ups and expansion projects and I understand the peculiarities of such endeavors Jack... and I resent your elitist, know-it-all attitude. If I did not know these things Jackie baby I would have told them to stick it a long time ago and left to find better service elsewhere. I can be patient Jack... and I can work with them. But I can't you... I don't have to take you... and I won't take you.

Don't bother answering Jack, because quite frankly, I've had it with you... I don't ever want to open my mail and see another love letter from you to management again telling us why we are so wrong and the management is so lilly perfect and how your service is so fucking good... and while I'm thinking of it Jack... wipe that brown stuff off your fucking nose.

Pardon my language folks... this asshole has really pissed me off... I could vent it here or go beat my kids... and I NEVER beat my kids.

In the first place no one directed anything to you. Must be YOU do not read this list... most of us are or have had serious problems with our lists... I am happy that you have had no problems... I and many others have had and continue to have problems. My list has been blown up a total of 4 times due to pobox. My subscriber list has disappeared a total of 3 times due to pobox.

> You bitching someone out for saying something pleasant says a lot about

It is not his "saying something pleasant" that I'm fed up with... it is his perpetual ass kissing and telling us that because his list works there must be something wrong with us because ours doesn't. What it says about me is that I've had it with Jack's busybody elitist attitude and Jack can go stick it where the sun don't shine... and if you don't like it you can do the same.

Oh yeah... Jack... the service is so damn good here that I am getting TWO of every post to this list... now tell me how your list never gets two posts and how management could not possibly be allowing this to happen Jack...

Come on Jack this is an opportune time to kiss some more ass...

I have unsubscribed from listowners-d mailing list to which I never subscribed in the first place and for which I have never had any need. Would someone please make sure the "unsubscribe request" goes through in an expeditious manner... i kid you not I cannot take even one more of Jack's sanctimonious posts.

That will solve my problem... don't know why I didn't think of it before this... maybe in hopes the list would actually serve some purpose.

Well it looks like I'm not going to be able to unsubscribe from listowners-d after all. Below you will find the majordomo's answer to my three attempts to unsubscribe from this list. Then I get a post from a fellow named Larry White (post included at end of this post) who tells me he unsubscribed, quit pobox.com and went elsewhere for better service and is still to this day subscribed to this list and he has not been a listowner here for some time.

I guess Jack has an answer for that... don't you Jack? You gonna tell me that you have no trouble unsubscribing and that it is just my imagination... huh Jack? Come on Jack... let's hear your routine on this one.

Better yet... let's NOT ever again hear your BS.

Just what we need... an instant expert. Too bad you haven't been around this pobox group long. I've been here going on two years and may be one of their first group of customers. My list has crashed 4 times due to pobox and my entire subscriber list has been wiped clean 3 times resulting in months of work lost... not to mention weeks of getting floods of duplicate, triplicate, and quadruplicate messages... and then there was the time when no one received anything posted to the list for three weeks... and much, much, more. You sound just like another busybody, nose where it doesn't belong Jack. If you knew even one one-hundredth of what you think you know you would probably be changing again.

I stuck with these people through all the problems and didn't run away like you did from your last server. Until you have been through what I have been through with this pobox and its management don't you even think about telling me anything about how good or bad it may be. I have demonstrated my loyalty and my willingness to be patient and stick it out untill all the bugs have been dealt with. Meng was fabulous in the early days of my association with pobox and, thought slow at times, always helped me solve my problems. Reuven is fast and thorough and I commend him... BUT if his staff were doing their jobs no one would have to go to the top to get things done around here. My problem is not with them... as I stated in the post that you apparently did not read... I have been involved with many start-ups and expansion programs and know full well the unique problems involved.

That is not the issue here and it never was the issue here. Jack is the issue. I'm sick and tired of seeing someone post a message begging management to at least answer their posts much less deal with the problem and then see "good ole ass kissing Jack" post a message telling us all how he never fails to get an immediate answer and how his list never has any trouble and how management is responding to our needs. Our list problems are real and we want an answer within a reasonable amount of time and we want the problem fixed and it is between us and management and not "good ole ass kissing Jack" or you. When we have to go to Meng or Reuven to get an answer or to get a problem solved it is a clear signal that there is something terribly wrong with staffing and personnel and not with the software and ole Jack doesn't know what he is talking about most of the time and it is none of his business anyway. If I ever want a partner it sure won't be ole Jack... and partnership is the only way my business will ever become the business of ole Jack.

Apparently you cannot read english... my problem is not with pobox or with the management... it never was... it is with ass kissing Jack. When I have a problem with pobox or its management I take it up with them. They have asked us to be patient and understanding and, for the most part, I have done that... and I stated as much in the posts you apparently "think" you read.

> In short, they aren't perfect, but they're working on the problems, at least.

You don't even know what you are talking about... rookie. Pay your dues here before you tell me they "aren't perfect, but they're working on the problems," Nobody knows that better than me... Those of us who have been here for a long time know more about the problems of pobox than you ever will... and now that they are finally getting the problems worked out they tell us they are going to switch software and start all over again. Thankfully they will allow us to choose whether to stay with pobox or switch... it might surprise you to know that I will elect to stay with pobox as I know that they have worked out most of the bugs and that the problems we experience now are personnel and management problems and not pobox problems.

I was here to make the history... and while others bailed out I stayed... I know the history... I helped make it... Jack wants us all to pretend it didn't happen and that because he apparently doesn't have any problems that somehow ours are all imaginary... and you wouldn't know the history of this pobox group if it hit you upside the head. So I advise you to read and accept the advice of your own cutesy little quote before giving any advice to any of us. And I bet that somewhere along the line your mommy told you to mind your own business... didn't she?

Thank you kindly... whoever is responsible. See what a few well chosen words can do... this is the fastest response I have ever had from anyone at pobox other than Reuven, who's answer has always been instantaneous.

Thank God I won't have to see anymore of Jack's ass kissing messages.

Goodbye
owner-caji

You are most certainly welcome.

Here we go again... another long nosed puppet that cannot read english. If you are a good little wooden head you might turn into a real boy someday.
My post was clearly addressed to "Dear Jack"... or did you get that far in your grade school corespondence class? I'll complain about anything I please whenever I please when I am PAYING for the service.

There is a big difference between my list and listowners-d. The major difference is that I PAY for service here which includes listowners-d and that service that I pay for does NOT include being constantly bombarded by kiss ass Jack's constant flow of BS. I have never received any rules for listowners-d list although there probably should be rules. How I handle so-called "flame wars" on my list is simply not applicable here. How the Afghanistan tribes milk their goats also has no bearing whatsoever on the listowners-d list. This is a part of the service for which I PAY MONEY and that gives me the privilege to speak up when I think my money is being wasted by jerks like Jack..

That answer your question? Anybody else want to stick their nose in my business?
