Dear Mr. Wang... please clarify

[This message may be of interest to anyone who has been receiving daily spammed messages from "Ed Wang" in support of Jack Shulman, who himself makes a lot of far-out claims regarding Roswell and alien technology. One prevailing theory is that Ed Wang is Jack Shulman, along with a panoply of other made-up email and domain entities, but we are still seeking a clear analysis. The problem is too much evidence: just tons of email from Wang, dozens of unsubstantiated claims from Shulman, and twice that many messages from people demanding "Take me off this list!" Can anyone summarize, briefly and with clarity, the whole numbing ACC saga? It would also be useful for someone to put together a list of suspect Shulman aliases, along with a sample message from each. --GC]

Subject: Dear Mr. Wang

Dear Mr. Wang,

I am happy to see that you did not lose your e-mail account as you claimed. It must have been a misunderstanding perhaps similar to the misunderstanding below. I might be the cause of ACC's shutdown due to my own computer stupidity.

Please allow me to explain. I joined the ACC message board and not long after I subscribed and made a post, I received a post from ACC that made my computer start making these horrible noises and it was like it was stuck. I posted a subsequent message asking for assistance. I was given a telephone number to call support and I did. I spoke to a very nice gentleman named Jim. He even knew me by name. My reputation must proceed me, I just hope that is good.

He wasn't able to help me with the problem but he made a few suggestions. We talked for quite a while and he told me that they did not know who you or any of the people claiming to be associated with ACC were. He also told me that your address at ix.netcom.com belonged to a Senior Citizen Program at a library located across the street from the ACC company and it was made available to the public (Seniors)

use. He vehemently denied any knowledge of you other than your girlfriend used to be an employee there or something.

I believe that you are impersonating someone that you are not because the gentleman at ACC already told me that they did not know you so why would their president Jack Shullman pass on this information to you? I am going to pass this on to them at ACC so they can see, once and for all, what kind of scam you are trying to perpetrate against them. They know better than AT&T and Lucent doing these things that you claim because the man told me himself that ACC and AT&T were business partners. I think you owe everyone an apology trying to pit the entire UFO Community against these people and making it look like AT&T or Lucent. I have even been physically threatened because of your dirty work by people believing your story and blaming me for working for AT&T because Bell Atlantic is my server.

I hope they throw the book at you Mr. Wang. Why don't you just leave these people alone and stop acting like you have their permission to do what you are doing because the man already told me that you did not. As far as the ACC site having to shut down, Mr. That was probably due to my own stupidity and I am sorry. All I did was send them the post that kept locking up my machine so they could see what I was talking about. I guess it messed theirs up too. Man, you really do stretch things, don't you?

>Ed "Leak of the Day" Wang:

>>The recent petty assaults on ACC by the LUCENT DISINFORMATION TEAM, have resulted in:

>>ACC literally GIVING ME INFORMATION, I was sending out a letter, had sent one to my girlfriend who called Shulman and asked him if he might be willing to provide me more info, in a few minutes an EXECUTIVE from ACC contacted me and said: HERE, with our blessing, here are the facts, say about them what you will... Note: I had warned people that LUCENT was behind all this... now, why else would they be maintaining a "half proxy, half firewall to the rest of Lucent's Bell Labs' computers" if they weren't USING IT TO MANIPULATE THE INTERNET !!!!

>>HERE IS FROM MY ORIGINAL

>>1) Well, here we are. I sat in with my girlfriend and we watched ACC pull off another coup tonight. They are hanging tough against the onslaught of Bell Labs attackers across the internet, who are also posting their attacks on little ACC on UFO Websites, and doing millions of emailings.

>>On their Forum, they caught a LUCENT EMPLOYEE hacking the daylight out of their SHELL ACCOUNTS, and also posting bogus messages on their forum.

>><http://accpc.com/astforum1/forum1.cgi>

>>Lucent is trying to damage ACC by monitoring the FORUM and posting HECKLES, that have to be deleted. When Deleted, Lucent sends them out by EMAIL to everyone under the sun claiming "No FREEDOM OF SPEECH".

>>You will note that ACC is just sitting there 'taking it all in', to attempt to determine what kind of mechanism Lucent put in place, to engage in INFORMATIONAL INFRASTRUCTURE WARFARE on the INTERNET.

>>Apparently, they are using REMOTE LOGINS through various ISPs who license their firewall software (it has backdoors that LUCENT employees can use to get in and create a dummy user, then log back out on the web and tamper with peoples systems).

>>AND NOW MY UPDATES, from ACC (rumors are, approved by Shulman):

>>Apparently, one of Lucent's employees, on Friday night, got through ACC's Solaris Server (one of the older servers on ACC's website - which has the >PC operating system made by Sun) and corrupted a file by good guessing on a >password... ACC actually kept its guard down and recorded what th guy was >doing, playing around on one of their servers, for an hour and a half.

>Using the old "rope a dope" ACC caught him, have a copy of the session used >by the Lucent employee and tracked it back to the PLAN 9 site at LUCENT, >through monitoring software they use to keep track of intruders. It caused >ACC's forum to go off line for a few hours while they archived the servers >records, but they brought it back up, announcing a failure, so as to keep >Lucent from stopping its bizarre, and ineffectual assault.

>ACC has publically stated that they will resist the beseigement on the WEB, >by continuing the forum EVEN THOUGH Lucent and its infrastructure of >MANIPULATORS interfering with the INVESTIGATION OF BELL LABS, which is a >BUSINESS UNIT OF LUCENT, in DAVID VS. GOLIATH FASHION.

>Meanwhile, Lan Lamphere apparently took down his NEXXUS SITE, when he >discovered there were NEVER any DEROGATORY POSTINGS about him on ACC's >website, nor ever made by ACC about him by EMAIL... (That must >have come as something of a shock to Lamphere).

>2) Lucent also announced it was going to "expose ACC as a small computer >company whose opinions should not be listened to", more proof of the >pudding that ACC has discovered the source of the UFO Coverup -

>ITS LUCENT

>- they are manipulating the Air Force, through agents on their payroll: In >New York, Special Agent Santo LoDestri, and in New Jersey, Special Agent
>Dan McNally, of the Office of Special Investigation of the US Air Force, >have been assisting LUCENT in covering up the ACC discovery of the >TRANSISTOR HOAX. In Washington, Acting Director of Information Control, >Carolyn Warner, has been falsifying FOIA replies and altering the records >of the communications and Information Directorate, held out of Maryland.

> In fact, even the regional director of the OSI about them, was overheard >saying "We'll give you whatever resources you need to cover up this leak", >on Wednesday, at a dinner meeting in a resturaunt within the general area >of the United Nations, in NYC. The OSI Office is in Federal Plaza, NY. I >heard that a UFO Investigator, named Larry Bryant, discovered the falsified >reports filed by McNally, which omitted any mention of the breakin at ACC's >office in July, but included a copy of the Skystation fax.

>3) Skystation: is an Orbital Platform which has upwards, sideways and >downwards looking optical, radar and laser guidance and tracking, it >includes surveillance systems, and it, get this, includes Nuclear Tipped >MRV'ing missiles, 50 of them, along with a large rim covered with SDI >weapons designed to protect it. It has a laser hardened skin. It was in >the process of being retasked in July, to move it over the Gulf, placing it >in line with Iraq, when it caused an outage to its own communications >sattelites (or may have been buzzed by an unidentified flying object, more >likely, reported as it passed over Arizona, heading across from its pacific >station towards the Gulf Region, orbitally).

>At that time, its communications went down, sending out a message to >various points of the compass, as it did. It appears that an ACC "onboard >guidance computer" sold to Wright Patterson AFB, was used to develop code >for the platform weapon, and that software was then reinstalled to the >Satellite. It also >appears that the software included remote diagnosis code left in it from >ACC's ground development system. And so, the remote diagnosis code called >down through the down link, to the only phone number it had to transmit its >emergency diagnostic message governing the express conditions required to >treat the kind of failure "in progress" - bingo - it called and was routed >through to ACC's emergency Technical Support FAX machine.

>Hence: the Skystation Fax. There has been some noise about this being a >Skystation, Inc. product emitting the fax, but a quick check will ascertain >that Skystation, Inc. hasn't built a single product, yet. It's the Space >Warfare Sattelite which is now squarely over Saddam Hussein's residence.

>4) I learned that ACC has issued a written set of ultimatae to Lucent, >describing over 300 technological advances it found in its set of the Shop
>Notebook, and has released photos to UFO MAGAZINE, for release on FEBRUARY >28th, >allowing UM to send in a photographer to see the running TCAP and >photog it, for transmittal to the World. Also, ACC has determined that >AT&T and LUCENT have issued offers to buy "significant advertising >increments" to several publications who were approached to carry follow up >stories, resulting in a nationwide blackout on the issue. Lucent, it >appears, is working overtime.

>5) Lucent has continued to tap ACC's phone lines, along with the various >staff's homes they are interested in, ALL WITHOUT ANY FEDERAL >AUTHORIZATION. This could get Lucent put away for a while, if caught, but >the problem is, they provide enough equipment to enough telephone >companies, that it appears that Bell Atlantic is looking the other way. To >stop this, ACC's president had a conference with a Federal Judge asking him >to order Bell Atlantic to cut any Lucent connections to their lines (an >audible buzz can be heard on all lines there, and at key staff's phones, >resulting from hastily spliced junctions redirecting audio to recorders).
>6) Lucent apparently fired its Chairman Henry Schacht, when it discovered >that Jack Shulman had named Bell Labs and Lucent on the Jeff Rense Show and >on the Internet, in a Horrific Conspiracy to Assassinate >Dr. Jack Morton, >who, ACC learned, was the head of the Transistor Project (you won't find >that in most history books). Bell Labs was, at the time of his >assassination, headed by Dr. Morton, who was a maverick who did not play >the political game. Rense may go down in history as the most significant >player in this Shakespearean Play, a war dance between ACC and AT&T, masked >behind the schism created by the legal structure which both >separates and connects AT&T to Lucent (Bell Labs).
>7) On the Dr. Morton Assassination front, Shulman indicated he was "just >warming up the engines" by opening a new forum called "The JFK >Assassination Forum" - Did the KGB assassinate Kennedy. Shulman indicated >on a weekly newsletter, that one of the former "Commerce >Drive Irregulars, Bob Wolf, has recently been given the task of seeking >enough information to reopen the 25 year old murder, which sustained two >convictions, the two murderers went to jail for a time, so that alleged >Executive Involvement at Bell Labs/AT&T in 1972 and 1973, which may >have caused or even ordered the Assassination of Dr. Morton, and the >ruination of his reputation, can be surfaced, examined and if possible, >prosecuted. The sudden firing of Schacht, has raised suspicions that >Schacht, who was an AT&T'er at the time of Morton's murder, reportedly, >may have PERSONAL INFORMATION which could implicate AT&T
>AND LUCENT in Morton's murder.
>8) Liquid Memory. ACC has, while it is completing the TCAP's high density >model, started accelerating the LQ-RAM device. This may result in photos >in an upcoming issue, and a product, sooner than the TCAP.
>9) TCAP and TATA. ACC privately confided in me that it has been "leading >AT&T astray as to the whereabouts of the TCAP semiconductor project, and >misleading them as to where the NOTEBOOK is, by leaking rumors and >misinformation about its whereabouts, causing LUCENT's AGENTS and STAFF to >have NEAR NERVOUS BREAKDOWNS and leading them to >assaultively pester ACC on its forum about this.
>
>10) An email campaign by Larry Rogers, Tom Sanger and two Lucent-guys, was >ineffectual this past few days, mainly causing people who received the >harrasing emails to contact ACC and beg them to put up PASSWORD >PROTECTION. But ACC said it would be ineffectual against software readily >available for spoofing identities. By having kept its site OPEN, ACC was >able to trap unwary LUCENT personnel, who thought ACC unable to do so.
>Their guard was down.
>11) Jack Shulman relayed information to me that said I could tell "Larry >Rogers and others on the net" that he had decided to DELIBERATELY GIVE ED >WANG a heads up on all subsequent information leaks to the Internet, and I >could send them out wherever I wanted. To quote him "Ed Wang should know >that, while we do not endorse his manner of reporting, he is welcome to the >information to report, as it is also available through our Forum and we >hope he gives it to Lucent and to Nexxus.org. Tell him to have him include >a - 'Tell Larry Rogers - we could care less if you think Ed Wang is an >employee - just you produce him and we'll get the department of labor to >verify he's not..."
>Apparently, I was the subject of one of Jeff Rense's segments on Sightings, >the other night...???

>ROFL. For everyone: I am an independent guild writer, who did his early
