Dr. Boylan Foils Nefarious Orbital Sensors

Those who are not subscribed to Dr. Richard Boylan's mailing list are missing a lot of.... interesting material. Boylan never ceases to uncover new ET/government conspiracies.

In this message, Dr. B. foils orbital conversation sensors through the use of "metaphysical positioning" set to the power of 1,500,000-to-1. (I hear tinfoil also works well.)

Conversations about an incident.

> me to DIA (Denver Airport, not Defense Intelligence Agency). :-)
> As we drove south of Rapid City, SD on pretty deserted State > HWY 47, the 'heat' from above came on. We were talking about > extremely-classified matters, including the stuff Colonel Corso

> Suddenly the rental car interior became quite hot, more so

NSA source says:

>sounds like a high proton direct beam "little ear" made by Ratheon and used >by the best of the best-SIR!
>Heat is the biggest giveaway. Janes' has a half of one page on this >hi-tech ear and I am told that it does read or hear any tapes, cd's too.
>Give 'em a blast of Tammy Wynett and watch them spit! Disco really makes >them pissed. Hate Donna Sommers' "I feel love!"

>BTW, what were you thinking from that drive, as I bet they read your >mind.....hmmmmmmmmmm

Richard Boylan, Ph.D. goes on to relate:

The "Rest of the Story", as Paul Harvey would say, is that, upon being painted by the orbiting Raytheon "Little Eye" proton beam conversation scanner, I became annoyed with the heat build-up in the car, and placed my hand up towards the source above and mentally "set" a repulsion field. First I tried 100-to-1 repulsion, without good effect. Then 1000-to-1. Then 50,000-to-1. Finally, when I set at 1,500,000-to-1, the sending source stopped emitting.

A few moments later a secondary source source tried emitting from a farther away and oblique angle, but not very strongly. That source was quickly eliminated by the same strategm.

Friends, when it comes to trying to misuse ET technology for nefarious purposes, human adaptation of ET technology can often be defeated by the proper positioning of oneself metaphysically. It's sort of "surfing the Tao".

Of course such facts won't stop some "defense" contractors from rooting among the Black Budget for mo' money for their whiz-bang toys.
