Quantum its concept of time can save people

Quantum about people: located and seen in one country then at the same day seen in another country. I read a book about india that someone lost a part of the body..then by thought it came back...but this person a guru...and there power and thought like..like the people behind quantum..plenty of indian people can bio-locate and one person I meet some years ago..he blessed me...so why not use the concept of quantum for saving lives.

The funny thing is that technology is moving too fast and that someone is going to lose control. People havent really learned the full extent that the damage of the devices can do. If nothing is going to be done about this the someone could get badly burned.

This is one of the most incomprehensible sites i've ever seen. very difficult to get to the "real" content instead of wondering hours trough indexes where is all this leading?

Who actually CARES what they get up to in area 51. actually, the obsession is more of an enigma than the site. try putting all that energy into something more practical, like going after the source of the ufo enigma, something worthwhile, like trying to HELP the poor buggers being abducted on a regular basis. come on people, cop on to yourselves, sort your priorities out. time to wakey wake!!
