New directories for /people/ and /people/role/

From: campbell@ufomind.com (Glenn Campbell, Las Vegas)

Date: Sat, 11 Oct 1997 09:30:23 -0800

The preferred directory for all people is now /people/ instead of /ufo/people/. For example...

Try to Use: <http://www.ufomind.com/people/c/campbell/>
Instead of: <http://www.ufomind.com/ufo/people/c/campbell/>

The old /ufo/people/ addresses will continue to work indefinitely, but I would like to encourage the /people/ addresses whenever possible because this naming is more rational. Our people file now includes paranormal and conspiracy figures as well as ufologists, so "/ufo/" does not make sense for everyone.

Both www.ufomind.com and www.psispy.com refer to the same directory structure, so these two addresses are equivalent....

<http://www.ufomind.com/people/c/campbell/>
<http://www.psispy.com/people/c/campbell/>

When referring to our pages from external sources, You should probably use www.ufomind.com when referring to a UFO figure and www.psispy.com when referring to a paranormal or conspiracy figures, but this is strictly cosmetic and makes no difference internally.

Over the next few months, the Ufomind software will be changed to favor the new /people/ directory. In practice, you do not have to do anything differently, since the software will automatically convert /ufo/people/ addresses to /people/ whenever you enter a new link.

OTHER DIRECTORY CHANGES

The preferred directory for "Roles" (like abductee, contactee, etc.) is now /people/role/ instead of /ufo/role/. Again, this is because some roles (like psychics) can often refer to non-UFO figures.

The old /ufo/role/ will continue to work, and you don't have to do anything differently. Conversions will eventually be automatic.

PENDING PROBLEMS

I am aware that the directory names for UFO Government Investigations and UFO Cover-up are a little messy. (For example, all government investigations are under /blueblue/ even if they are not connected with the Bluebook investigation.) I will rationalize this structure eventually, but for now you should enter links into the best existing page.
