>Dr Boylan,
>Please rebroadcast this letter to your lists, thank you.

>As you well know, I get very tired about hearing about people who ARE >OBVIOUSLY NOT PHYSICISTS using fancy words claiming to be physicists.
Now,
>I know a real Theoretical Physicist, name of Mel Peebles. He's at the >Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton, NJ. I'd like to have the >author write up a treatise about what he does that involves "Psychotronic
>post-quantum metric engineering of warps and wormholes" and I'll ask Dr.
>Peebles to respond analytically. I am really tired of this JARGON-FEST >coming at me by email from people who don't know the first THING about >Quantum Science, or Sub-Atomic/Atomic Particle based computing.
>Its really tiresome hearing all these comments about "reverse engineering >flying saucers for the military industrial complex" by people who've never >done the homework and found out what WE know and what IBM, Sandia and >can confirm...
>Next, they'll be telling us that there are UFOs at AREA 51 again.
>Area 51 is an empty plot of desert on the unoccupied flood plain next to >Groom Lake. On the OCCUPIED SIDE is something called the Johnson
Airbase
>Nevada Experimental Test Facility, also known as JANET. People have >erroneously called this facility Area 51 for years. Which, of course, is >why the Air Force has claimed that Area 51 doesn't exist. Because the Area

>51 Floodplain on the OTHER SIDE of Groom Lake, is an unused parcel of >Nuclear Test facility, that is unoccupied. People need to get their >identification straight. Now, to confirm JANET, just contact the Air >Traffic Control Tower at the main airport in Las Vegas, and ask them >to >switch you to the controller on the JANET Flights, out of Vegas.

Those are >the civilian unmarked air craft that ferry people from Vegas to the >JANET

>A Brief History of JANET Facility, >Known today only as the

>Johnson

>Airbase

>Nevada

>Experimental

>Test

>Facility

>what many people like Glen Campbell call "Area Fifty One", is simply >the

>Air Force's most supersecret War Craft Development Test Flight >Laboratory

>Facility, known as JANET Facility. The term "Johnson" commemorates >the

>base's founder, which was formerly called "GLANET" (Groom Lake >Airbase

>Nevada Experimental Test Facility).

>* Location

>The name, Area 51, refers to the area to the west of Groom Lake, >which was

>Parcel #51 on the Tonopah Nuclear Bomb Test Range area maps >maintained by >the Atomic Energy Commission and AT&T/Sandia. But Area 51 is not the >Test

>Facility. Groom Lake, itself, is really adjacent to Nellis Air Force >Base.

>An unassigned flood plain, it was annexed and in 1958 first placed >under >the jurisdiction of the US Central Intelligence Agency (where it >remains >today). JANET's builders, the CIA, had a very special facility some >40 >miles to its west, with capabilities to build something like JANET... and >so, the CIA built JANET (then called GLANET) after requisition requests for >it's allocation were entered by Kelly Johnson of Lockheed Corporation.

>Kelly Johnson is formally the founder of JANET, hence it today bears his >name (although that fact, too, is classified).
>* The Name
>The name JANET continues on today for the GLANET Facility, its a classified >name, but interestingly, Lockheed and other contractors who go and work at >JANET, take jets from a Las Vegas Airport, innocuous white Jets, with a red >stripe, which themselves are only referred to by Air Traffic Control by the >JANET designation.
>* Organization >Historically, JANET (aka Area 51) Facility first came into being in 1958 as >the GLANET Facility under direct orders from President Eisenhower.
>Kelly Johnson (the Johnson in the JANET acronym), master airframe designer >for Lockheed, under contract to develop a supersecret spy plane designed to >give the Eisenhower Administration a working chance at spying on Russian >Military Buildups within the boundaries of the Soviet Union, hired Test >Pilot Tony Levier to scout out locations in the desert where his new >airplane, later known as the U-2, could be test flown.
>Flying a small scout craft, Levier searched the sands of Nevada for a flat, >dry lake bed, as this was a vogue 'natural runway' often found geologically >in the desert where craft could land. He was looking for a naturally >secluded one, and quite accidentally discovered Groom Lake on his tenth >flyover mission while scouting near Nellis Air Force Base. Groom Lake was >perfect, and as it turned out, the CIA, who had responsibility for security >for this new facility, had its own installation some 40 miles to the west, >and agreed to build JANET in the sands between Goom Lake and the adjacent >mountain range, labelled perversely "the Nellis Bombing and Gunnery Range" >on some maps.
>* The Facility
>What you have seen in telephoto photographs ever since, called Area 51 by >the press, is actually the above ground portion of the JANET facility.
>Some of the facility is below ground, but none of it in the basalt >mountains, unlike the reports of Bob Lazar, which were very crafttily >disinformed to the public under control of the Central Intelligence Agency >to use public excitement about Unidentified Flying Objects a chance to take >hold around JANET, in 1996, and for the last three years, to hide tests of >the supersecret high powered Super Stealth Transatmospheric Hypersonic >Warcraft. These test flights have been underway, while all the stories and >rumors perpetrated by the likes of Bob Lazar and Glen Campbell have >continued to circulate creating a perfect SMOKE SCREEN to cover the flights >of the aircraft, while stories about something called Aurora are >circulated. The Warcraft presently under test at Janet Facility (and >several variants along similar lines that can carry different weapons >satchels) is designed to go well above the flight level of the previous >super secret craft that have emitted from the Skunk Works and Dreamland and >been tested at JANET (aka Area 51).
>* Flight Tests on Experimental Craft >These prior craft developed and flight tested at Groom Lake / JANET >Facility, were:

>U-2 capable of flight up to 80,000 feet (memorable as the first camera >bearing high altitude flight craft, which was shot down by Russia >resulting >in the conviction of Francis Gary Powers in the 60's.) 1958-1963 >A-12 (successor to the U-2) capable of flight at Mach 3 and upto >80,000 >feet (which, because of its speed, was felt to be capable of carrying >cameras beyond the range of Russian Missiles) 1963-1966 >SR-71 (successor to the A-12) capable of flight at up to Mach 4 and >upto >88,000 feet, in order to further evade developing Russian missile >interceptor development. 1966-the70's >* Red Hat Era
>During this period, America was able to corrupt certain Russian >officials, >and obtained complete MIG fighters and Russian Radar, and JANET >became a >test flight facility for American Air Men, called RED HATS, who test >flew >Russia's best 'stolen' fighters, using the information in the design >of >American technology. 1970's to 1980 >* Have Blue Era aka the Stealth Development period >Based on information gathered about Russian fighters, and Russian >Radar, >the US continued to develop its Air frames introducing a new STEALTH >design >designed to evade Russian Radar and elude Russian MIGS stolen by the >US by >corrupting Russian figures. late 1970's to 1977 >Tacit BLUE Era aka the Stealth Figher/Bomber Development period >During this period, odd smooth and boxy airframes were tested that >could >easily be mistaken for UFOs, eventually leading to the design of the >Stealth Fighter and the Stealthy B2 Bomber. 1977-1985 >* Introduction of the F-117 and the B2 >After years of development, the Stealth Figher, developed and tested >in the >skys above JANET, using Russian Radar and MIG Fighters to assist in >developing their Stealthy abilities, the F-117 Blackhawk, and the B-2 >Bomber. Launched in 1986, the era lasted from 1986 to 1992 and the >Gulf
>War.
>* The LAZAR / CAMPBELL Strategy >In 1996, four years after the Gulf War, to provide Added Protection >to the >ongoing development of new advanced warcraft, the CIA and the >Pentagon, >used Bob Lazar to spread rumors of UFOs being developed in caverns, >dubbed >S-4, in the mountains adjacent to JANET Facility. Others, such as >Glen
>Campbell and certain news announcers, were influenced to create vast >publicity campaigns for the purposes of promoting the concept. This >Strategy attracted so many visitors to the outskirts of the JANET >Facility
>(aka Area 51), that it gave the Air Force grounds to extend its >RESTRICTED >area to include adjacent mountains and additional air space and >lands. It >also so clouded over what Warcraft were being developed by the Air >Force, >that no one has been able to get any pictures, despite numerous Jet >Aircraft Test Flights ongoing at the base. In addition, 'Sight >Influence >Technologies' were installed at the base to project odd "Lights" into >3D >Space around the JANET Facility, creating the illusion of different >kinds >of 'UFO'-like objects at JANET, in support of the HOAX perpetrated by
>the >CIA and the Pentagon. And, further publication support and truth >obfuscation activities/disinformation campaigns underwent constant >development.
>* The Hypersonic Transatmospheric Warcraft Period >Called by the public "Aurora", presently underway at JANET FACILITY >is the >development of the Air Force's first Transatmospheric Hypersonic >Warcraft, >a plane with NO NAME, so secret that even the Pentagon can't find out

>is responsible for designing or building it. Nonetheless, the HYPERSONIC >TRANSATOSPHERIC WARFIGHTER AIRCRAFT (HYPERSONIC TRANSAT WARCRAFT or HTW) >is being test flown today at speeds of up to Mach 6 within the atmosphere, >and up to Mach 10 using a scram jet accelerator and a limited duration >hydrogen powered rocket for above the atmosphere flight. Capable of >surveillance without detection at low orbit radius, the craft can reach any >part of the globe in under 3 hours. With booster, it also could reach >satellites in orbit, achieving escape velocity (22KMPH) in a special mode >for which it is designed. The HYPERSOINIC TRANSAT WARCRAFT is supposedly >going to be ready for introduction by the year 2004 or 2005, and will be >capable of very large weapons contingents, including directed energy >weapons, and high output miniaturized flight controlled nuclear weapons.
>* Security Today at JANET >Today, JANET Facility has again become cloaked in extreme secrecy, its >notariety keeping the public focus and that of the national intelligence >forces of the World.
>It is unable to be scrutinized from the ground, nothing can fly close >enough to it to take pictures, and it is equipped with SATELLITE BLINDERS, >special weapons which can knock down overflying satellites or, at least, >blind them.
>With the perfectly mischaracterized camouflage of the Lazar/Campbell >Strategy, along with public misinformation campaigns and Pentagon claims of >denial, the activities at JANET Facility are literally a tissue of >deception keeping so-called 'enemies' of the United States at bay with >misinformation, disinformation, smoke screens, and clouds of false >information, all designed to make the technology being developed and tested >at JANET Facility almost ANYTHING that the mind could imagine.
>And, it could be. Nothing better than keeping your opposition off guard and >spending millions developing weapons to defend against what you don't know >exists...
>Humanity is far from a peaceful people, eh. Long before Humanity's >admission to any Galactic Civilized Federation, humans will have to outgrow >these things of war, unilaterally, as a species.
>After all, its a tiny Universe out there!
