Red Cross Sees =91Superdisasters=92 Ahead...06/25/99=20

(MSNBC) GENEVA, June 24 =97 Last year=92s natural disasters were the = most damaging on record but it=92s likely we haven=92t seen the worst, = the International Federation of the Red Cross reported Thursday. Climate = change, deforestation, poverty and overcrowded cities will likely mean = more frequent and more severe =93superdisasters,=94 the charity said in = its annual report on disasters around the world.=20

=93EVERYONE IS aware of the environmental problems of global warming = and deforestation on the one hand and the social problems of increasing = poverty ... on the other,=94 said Astrid Heiberg, president of the = International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies. =93But = when these two factors collide, you have a new scale of catastrophe=94 = =97 one the report described as the age of =93superdisasters.=94=20

=20 Peter Walker, head of disaster policy for the federation, predicted = =93more extreme events, and this is the stuff of disasters ... If we = look at 1998 it gives us some sense of what we are going to get in the = future.=94=20

=20 CHAIN REACTION=20

=20 The =93World Disasters Report=94 said more natural disasters occurred in = 1998 than in any other year on record, leaving an overall bill of more = than $90 billion. Climate change, it added, has made the consequences of = the disasters more complex, creating chain reactions.=20

=20 Scientists agree that Earth=92s climate has natural cycles of change, as = does El Ni=Flo and its La Ni=Fla counterpart, and many but not all = believe humans are having a significant impact via =93greenhouse=94 = gases like carbon dioxide that trap heat inside Earth.=20

=20 One chain reaction cited by the report is El Ni=Flo=92s impact on =

Indonesia, where it caused the worst drought in 50 years.=20 =93The rice crop failed, the price of imported rice quadrupled, the = currency dropped by 80 per cent, food riots erupted in the capital = Jakarta and in the countryside, massive forest fires burned out of = control, paralyzing parts of the country with a toxic layer of smoke=94 =
the report said.=20
