Whoops! I guess I hadn't mentioned this. Courtney Brown, author of COSMIC VOYAGE, A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY OF EXTRATERRESTRIALS VISITING EARTH will be presented by OPUS at the Walnut Creek, California BARNES&NOBLE this Saturday (yes, tomorrow) from 1:00 to 2:00. The next significant event I know about is that I will be speaking (along with Joy Gilbert, author of IT'S TIME TO REMEMBER: A RIVETING STORY OF ONE WOMAN'S AWAKENING TO ALIEN BEINGS, February 13th at 7:00 at Rosebridge Graduate School in Concord, California (the regular OPUS meeting). I'll be talking about local weird stuff (I can do that for just about any area) as well as tools for figuring out why you believe what you believe. I'll be in Sacramento on March 10th at the East/West bookstore, doing the same thing for that area.

I found a new book on the market called "Cosmic Voyage" by Courtney Brown, Ph.D

"Cosmic Voyage" is a book about the search for extraterrestrial life using a procedure originally developed by the U.S. Military as a highly classified and strangely effective spy system called Remote Viewing.

Dr. Brown was trained in this method by a former member of the Military unit that specialized in remote viewing.

The results are staggering and reveal two alien civilizations, one on Mars.

Courtney Brown is an associate professor of political science at Emory University, specializing in nonlinear mathematical modeling of social phenomena.

Dr. Brown gives exact step by step details of how remote viewing works.

The publisher of the book is Dutton.
