From introduction page: The extreme and repetitive nature of Hubbard's denunciations of his colleagues soon convinced the FBI that Hubbard was essentially a crank. The agent who interviewed him in March 1951 described Hubbard in a subsequent report as "a mental case", and next to another Hubbard letter written to the Bureau on 11 July 1955 is the annotation "appears mental". From that point on, the FBI did not bother replying to his letters "because of their rambling, meaningless nature and lack of any pertinence to Bureau interests."

Reader Comments

Regarding "L. Ron Hubbard" - Latest First

I'm A Dianeticist

I am a dianeticist, and the two books "Dianetics" and "Science of Survival" I have found useful. If you want insight into yourself read these two books only, after that, Mr. Hubbard seems to start smoking crack.

-- Jeditech 12/8/99 (#2)

A Friend of Ron

I am a Scientologist. I have traveled many roads and am proud of what I have learned. Scientologist or not, L. Ron Hubbard has become my dear friend. He worked to help mankind and increase the ability of every man, woman and child. His heart was big, I ask that you learn more of this man as appreciation of his contribution to you.
