Regarding "Jon Nowinski" - Latest First

Fast-growing and quality-based research group is here

SGRA is truly a fast-growing and quality-based research group that has arrived on the scene recently. I commend Jon Nowinski for his tireless effort in bringing the results of his groups' investigative reports out in the media, particularly on the local level, such as local newspapers, radio and TV, which are as important as national media. I am certain that Jon will lead this important research group diligently as it continues to grow and serve the investigative needs of the UFO as well as Paranormal research communities, both national and international.
