Regarding "Carl Sagan" - Latest First

Do the math

You quote Sagan as saying "There are 400 billion stars in our galaxy alone. If just one, out of a million of those had planets, and if just one out of a million of those had life, and if just one out of a million of those had intelligent life... there would be... literally... millions of civilizations out there." Have you done the math on this? One millionth of one millionth of one millionth of 400 billion is less than one!

-- Anon 4/20/99 (#2)

You are doing the memory of Carl Sagan an injustice by putting information on a web site containing subjects which he has spoken out against, namely conspiracy theories and UFO/"alien" misinformation. Most of all I dislike the way you swallow this tripe about aliens, conspiracies, and mind control when none of it could possibly be true. I see this as my hero Mr. Sagan saw it, as a substitute for the more interesting reality. This is no better than an organized religion, which you say you are against. Try presenting your information in a less bias manner, by presenting ALL the facts, not just those which support your argument, and please, change the color scheme.
